

Larry Stewart's review of "Rebellion in Newark" by Tom Hayden will soon appear in The Militant.

The first issue of Black 67, a mimeographed Houston magazine, has just appeared. It contains a long interview with Paul Boutelle, followed by a note by the editors (SNCC activists) that concludes, "He is a good choice for the Socialist Workers Party candidate for Vice President." Copies cost 25¢ and may be ordered from Black 67, P.O. Box 88012, Houston, Texas 77004.

A Western Regional Black Youth Conference is slated to be held in Los Angeles Nov. 23-25. It is one of a number of regional gatherings supposed to precede a National Black Youth Conference in Chicago by the end of this year. Further information can be obtained from Black Youth Conference, 711½ West 49th St., Los Angeles. 231-0339.

Judy Watts of Detroit will speak at the YSA's Midwest Fall Conference Nov. 19 on "Is the Russian Revolution of 1917 Significant for the Black Struggles of Today?"

Prof. Robert S. Browne of Fairleigh Dickinson College, N.J., an anti-war activist and participant in the Newark Black Power Conference last July, has written an article on partitioning the U.S. into two nations which is scheduled to appear in the December Ramparts. Prof. Browne will speak on this subject at a symposium on "Black Separatism" to be held at the New York Militant Labor Forum Dec. 1. Other panelists at this symposium will be Robert Vernon and John Wilson, SNCC field secretary.

The Worker of Nov. 12 carried the text of a statement that discusses the Communist Party's attitudes toward the uprisings.

H. Rap Brown recently issued a message urging Afro-Americans to support the South African and Rhodesian liberation struggles. (The only place we have seen the full text was the second, Nov. 16, issue of Inner City Voice of Detroit. Brown urged that money be collected and sent to the African National Congress of South Africa at its headquarters-in-exile in Dar Es Salaam, Tanzania. More recently, according to a Reuter's dispatch in the New York Times of Nov. 5, the African National Congress headquarters in Dar Es Salaam accused Stokely Carmichael of "preaching race hatred" and "meaningless and arrogant demagoguery."

Merit will soon publish as a pamphlet "Myths About Malcolm X," Two Views by Rev. Albert Cleage and George Breitman, which originally appeared in the ISR.

Recent non-fiction: "Black Power: The Politics of Liberation in America" by Stokely Carmichael and Charles V. Hamilton (which we'll review soon); "The Burden of Race" by Gilbert Osofsky. Fiction: "The Man Who Cried I Am" by John A. Williams; "dem" by William Melvin Kelley; "Tales" by LeRoi Jones; "The Confessions of Nat Turner" by William Styron.

If this kind of report is thought useful, we'll send it out occasionally. Let us know, and send us items to be included.

--Black Fraction in New York