INDUSTRIAL CHARITIES MAKE BIG PROFITS

Continued from page 1. In accordance with the charitable practices which they advertise, the stores were informed that the price of the shoes was ten cents, and that they could do nothing for her. Miss Syde then applied at the Salvation Army headquarters in the Elliott Square...

STATE OF NEW YORK. County of Erie, City of Buffalo—

Miss Helen Syde, being duly sworn, deposes and says, that I live at 401 Prospect Avenue, and that on the tenth day of October, 1913, I was called to my home by a woman who said she was Miss Syde...

When Mr. Hagg told me I was leaving the city I told him that I was giving my time gratis to the cause. Mr. Hagg responded, "You may do time before we get through with you."

WILLIAM M. CATTELL, Commissioner of Deeds in and for the City of Buffalo.

Major Sammons, in charge of the division of the Salvation Army of which the Buffalo District forms part, gave testimony of such an unimpeachable and contradictory nature as to practically convict the institution which he represents.

Up to April 12, 1912, the books of the Salvation Army show that they actually gave away three or four dollars worth of clothing to the poor every week, but since that date they have no record of charitable donations of any kind.

After listening for several days to testimony given by the Salvation Army, Judge Hartzell finally became enraged at the fraud which is being perpetrated on the people of Buffalo and in court Saturday morning he denounced the organization and its operators in the strongest terms.

It is not known whether or not the men are forced to steal and to sell the articles which they collect to second hand dealers, and the temptations to which they are exposed to sell the clothing which they collect to second hand dealers.

A rather interesting fact has developed as part of the investigation, and the effect of its announcement herewith will be noted with interest. It has been found that Judge Hartzell, who has been authorized as a sponsor for the Salvation Army, his name appearing at the head of the list on the Salvation Army literature as one of the "directors."

SAN FRANCISCO.—The unemployed situation here again took on a serious aspect last week, following a clash in the street between police and unemployed, during which one policeman and four unemployed men were injured. Chief of Police White forbade street parades of unemployed.

Detroit, Mich.—Police estimated there were 15,000 men in the crowd that stormed the Ford plant in Highland Park, seeking work under the $5 minute wage scale recently awarded.

REGINA, Sask.—Chief of Police Yates has about 200 people at his command in battle with the unemployed, if necessary.

TUGMEN ELECT OFFICERS At the last meeting of the Tug Firmen's Union, Local 6, the following officers were elected: Wm. Ferline, president; Louis Courtney, vice president; Charles E. Smith, recording secretary; T. H. Sloan, financial secretary and treasurer; F. J. McCarthy, Robert Hixon, Robert Hastings, Jerry H. Kirby, Edward H. Houghton, trustees; delegates to convention to be held at Toledo, January 27th, F. J. McCarthy and T. H. Sloan.

WORKING MEN'S FOR OURSELVES, BALANCE FOR FOREIGNERS

So Says Chamber of Commerce Lecturer—Buffalo, Explaining His Things at Talk.

The Buffalo section of the Citizen's Alliance, or small merchants, with a few of the big fellows there, in a session held a very enjoyable 'tea and talk' last evening.

Some of the big fellows were invited, to give the affair the credit necessary for the next day's writers.

Ed-Judge Kenefick was toastmaster, and the meaning thing was so nasty as to get sarcastic when praising the work of an Chamber. The Judge's claim is as follows:

"I might go further and enlarge upon your work in the field of charity. The people of this city are so helpful and charitable disposed that all they ask is that one of your bureaus command a worthy charity to bring forth ready and liberal response. That you are doing this, the fact has been established by the investigation now on in our city court."

A lawyer by the name of Goulder, who works for the Lake Carriers' Association told me that a wonderful city they lived in from the point of view of the amount of business his company does on the lakes. Then came the business man who said that all they ask is that one of your bureaus command a worthy charity to bring forth ready and liberal response.

FACTORIES OF THIS COUNTRY IN NINETY DAYS CAN TURN OUT A YEAR'S SUPPLY FOR THIS COUNTRY. YOU MUST SEE THE NEED THERE IS.

PULLMAN PENSION SCHEME

Carefully Arranged So That Very Small Proportion of Employees Will Ever Benefit.

The daily press carried the following dispatch last Friday: "Chicago, Jan. 9.—Plans of the new pension system of the Pullman company were made public today. They call for the distribution of nearly $250,000 to the employees."

Employees who have served twenty or more years in the employ of the company will be retired at the age of sixty-five on a pension of $100 per month. The new plan applies to 33,000 employees, including the employees of the plant at Pullman, Ill.; 7,000 porters, employees of the shops at St. Louis, Wilmington, Buffalo, Lullow, Ky., and Richmond, California.

Here we see the latest idea of the capitalist to pacify his slaves. The bosses are viewing with alarm the legislation which has been forced by the Socialists after years to compensate the soldiers of the industrial as well as the military Army.

This explains the activity of the Pullman men in the capitalist's organizations. They want to put the workman's mind at ease, and we regret to say that a great many workers will be deceived by this move. As a matter of fact, not one man will be benefited will be insignificant.

In the first place they have ruled that nobody over forty-five years of age will be employed. This means that they are forty-five and then are fired, putting young blood in their place. The fact that they want no one over forty-five proves conclusively that after a man has once passed that age they will get rid of him as quickly as possible.

Another ruling states that the pension will not fall due under any circumstances unless the employee is seventy years old and has served the company twenty years as a continuous worker. It is not a pension but a reward for long service.

MILITIA AND GUARDS TORTURE STRIKING MINERS IN COLORADO STRIKE

Denver, Colo., (Special).—Probably the most pernicious lie ever circulated by the capitalist class, that sent out by the coal operators to the effect that the disaster at the Vulcan mine, New Castle, Colorado, was the result of a labor plot, was nailed by the coroner's jury which found that violation of the state coal mining laws was the cause of the death of thirty-seven men.

The horrible catastrophe had no occasion to break the spirit of the men. Strikers reported the story that the explosion was caused by sympathizers with the coal miners who have tied up the mines by a strike.

The strike of the Colorado coal miners conducted by the United Mine Workers of America under the supervision of International Vice-President Frank J. Hayes, has been so successful that the Wall street interests were able to procure but 20 per cent of their normal tonnage of coal in November. This was the first time since the outbreak of the strike began, September 23, that the coal barons are desperate.

No despicable act has been perpetrated to break the spirit of the men. Hundreds of Baldwin-Peltz thugs and gun men were brought into the State to intimidate and tyrannize the miners. Although they murdered striking miners in cold blood, the men's stock and the operators were forced to have the militia sent to the field to commit greater outrages.

Strikers were arrested by wholesale and sent to the penitentiary. Guards kept them awake five and six nights at a stretch in the hope that, driven almost insane, these men would sign fake confessions. Burines and his henchmen, including the Baldwin-Peltz gun men were enlisted in the militia and the soldiers began looting houses, insulting women and as a climax perpetrated the famous outrage of making Andrew Colnar, a humble Crockett, dig his own grave. But with all of this, the spirit of the miners was not to be broken.

Driven to desperation, the coal operators have risked the lives of hundreds of men in their effort to get out coal. Cotton pickers, free lunch grabbers and hundreds of others who have nothing about mining coal were sent into the mines. These men violated all of the laws of the state regarding practices within the mine, and the operators, in their disregard of the laws by the coal corporations, sent thirty-seven men to their death in an explosion at the Vulcan mine in New Castle two weeks ago.

Knowing full well that the lack of experience of their men and their own disregard of state laws caused the explosion, the coal operators, by the use of their tools of Wall street started a report that the explosion was the result of a plot of union sympathizers. Scidom, if ever, has more unscrupulous attempt to discredit labor laws than this.

It was one attempt in which they failed. An impartial coroner's jury fixed the blame and fixed it where it belonged.

The jury summoned at Glenwood Springs, by Coroner G. A. Hopkins, returned a verdict charging that the blast was the result of negligence on the part of the Baldwin-Peltz Coal Company, a subsidiary of the Rocky Mountain Fuel company.

The verdict recites that the operators were negligent in that they did not permit the mine property, that they permitted the use of open lights, that smoking by the men was permitted, and that the firing of shots while the men were on duty in the mine was a common practice.

The verdict further recites that the recommendations made by Deputy Sheriff John W. Gunn, on October 2, 1913, were not complied with.

Throughout the inquest the evidence indicated that the men were in the habit of smoking cigars and pipes and that because they were not experienced coal miners they violated many laws of the state, regarding practices within the mine.

Under the law the men should have been provided with copies of the state mining statutes. This the law the verdict says, failed to do.

The utter disregard of capital for human life, and the belief that they can milk the working man of his very heart's blood, and then send him to the death is shown by the insulting offer of the Rocky Mountain Fuel company to contribute $75 toward the funeral expenses of the dead. Capital has gotten all it out of these men. They were real philanthropists, in their minds, when they offer to bear part of the funeral expenses of the widows and orphans of those men who were killed by the operators' negligence can starve.

The Rand Correspondence Course

As much has been said and written about the way other study classes are conducted, a few words from Branch Three may be in order. Branch Three has a registered class of 36 members.
We receive 40 copies of the lessons each week and we would appreciate from our comrades or non-Socialists taking advantage of this opportunity as we provide the full set of lessons.
This study class meets every Sunday afternoon at La Touraine Hall, corner of East Utica and Verplank streets.
Our last lesson consisted of a thorough discussion of the feudal system and outright lesson, which is number six, will be the decline of feudalism and the beginning of capitalism.
This class was organized immediately after the election. At the first meeting each member was provided with a copy of lesson number 1. The instructor read the lesson aloud. Three members were then appointed to come prepared to give three minute talks on the introduction.
Three more were appointed to come prepared to talk on the paragraph relating to the law of the baronage. Three more were appointed to talk on the next paragraph which deals with cause and effect, and so on with the following paragraphs which treat of things and ideas, man and the beast, and two kinds of evolution.
After the members who came prepared to talk on the first paragraph had each held the floor for three minutes, anyone who had further information to offer on this paragraph, or in any way disagreed with the statements made by each held the floor for three minutes. The instructor was very careful not to pass on to the next paragraph until all possible questions were answered. The instructor also tries to draw out the opinions of the class by asking questions on points which they have failed to touch.
When the whole lesson has been gone over in this way the lesson for the next meeting is read aloud either by the instructor or a member of the class and again members are appointed to come upon particular paragraphs prepared to talk upon them.
In this way we are not only bringing out discussion, but we are also developing a powerful power of speakers. This course suits the needs of the Socialist movement of the United States.

Time Is Money

The old saying that time is money has a deeper meaning than is generally attributed to it. Not only that time may be sold in certain values, it is the measure of values, goods are valued by the time employed in their production. The worker is paid for the time he labors, and the cost of the disposal of his employer. And life itself may be said to be a process whereby time is transformed into action, into some form of human activity and expression. The worker who wastes his time, neither wastes his time nor allows others to do so, for wasting a man's time is robbing him of part of his life.
The worker who wastes his time, and thereby wastes the time of others, is making a fair price for the time they place at the disposal of others, and also using their spare time profitably in the service of the nation. It is of the utmost importance for a person to spend his time so as to find genuine satisfaction in it. The man who wastes his time, wastes the time of others, and thereby wastes the time of his life away which is certainly the climax of absurdity; for while other things may be replaced, lost time can never be replaced. Time is dead, and the dead never come back.
Time is money and those whose time is of the greatest value, the producers of all values, are the most precious any of his time, with barely the time precious position. The best part of their life is stolen from them to enable others to waste their own lives in senseless amusements, dissipation and riotous living.
Society has yet to learn to economize time, which does not mean to economize every hour, but to make the most of every minute, to profit-making and acquiring of power, but to make life a joy for everyone.

FOR DEVELOPING FOREIGN MARKETS

What do you think of that?
Here's a man belonging to the set who churns that and who ready to die for his country, and who whenever there is a strike, or a fight for free speech, or ever ready to condemn the workers as foreigners, as in San Diego, Seattle, Lawrence, Paterson, Calumet and Colorado, telling us, or rather his set, that we can produce all we need in sixty days and that we must have a foreign market so that we may work for these foreigners the other 275 days of the year.

Then, again, is there any wonder that we have panics if such is the case?
Don't you think that there is something wrong with the brains of the working class of this country if they are so benevolent that they are willing to work for 275 days of the year for people of other countries when by doing so their own families are left in want of proper food, shelter and clothing?
If we can produce enough in three months to last us for the year the busness can be run off the balance of the year and live on the fat of the land, while we starve through overproduction.
Needless to say the banquet was a success.

YOU AND I
(By L. J. Lash)
You are the master,
I am the slave.
You have the things
For which I but crave.
You own the means
By which I must live,
And force me to take
What you choose to give.
Your automobile
Is the work of my hands,
I toll while you travel
In far distant lands.
The you produce nothing,
You eat and you drink,
Will this last forever?
It will—I don't think.
