New York, June 17.—The steel tower, 216 feet high, erected by Mikola Tesla, the inventor, at the eastern end of Long Island, together with his enrire property there, was advertised for sale by the sheriff of Suffolk county to satisfy a judgment for $1,080. The judgment was obtained four years ago by Dr. James S. Warden and now belongs to his heirs.

that he would have to pay the judgment.

"This is an old case, which has been dragging in the courts for years," he explained. "I took an option on 400 acres of land down there at some distance from my property on which my plant is located. I intended to use this land for an agricultural experiment, in fertilising soil by means of electricity. I thought that by the use of certain electrical principles the productivity of the soil could be increased very nuch. I agreed to take a certain option, out subsequently discovered that the person who entered into the agreement had no right to make such a disposition of the property."

Their "Failure."

"For this reason the duma either failed to discuss important measures that were drawn up by the government or delayed their discussion, or else rejected them, not even recoiling from the rejection of laws which punished the open support of crimes, and particularly the disseminators of trouble, having evaded condemnation for assassinations and acts of violence.

"The duma did not lend its moral support to the government in the restoration of order, and Russia continues to suffer the shame of an epoch of crimes and disasters.

His "Needs."

His "Needs."

The examination of the budget created an obstacle to the timely satisfaction of many of the vital needs of the peopla. The right of interpellation was transformend by a considerable party in the duma into a means of fighting against the government and exciting distrust toward it among large classes of people.

"Lastly, an act was committed unheard of in the annals of history. The judicial authorities discovered a plot by a section of the duma against the state and power of the car, but when our government demanded the exclusion, until judgment had been passer, of fifty-five members of the duma implicated in the crime, and the arrest of those among them most compromised the duma falled to carry out immediately the lawful demand of the authorities, which admitted of no delay.

"All this compelled us by ukase to the senate to dissolve the second duma, fixing Sept. 14 as the date of the convolution of the new duma, believing, however, in the patriotism and national scirit of our people.

"We find the cause of failure on two occasions of activity in the duma in the fact that, owing to the work and imperfection of the electoral law, the legislative institution was composed of members who were not truly representative of the needs and desires of the people; consequently, while leaving in force all the rights granted to our subjects by the manifesto of Oct. 30, 1905, and the fundamental laws, we have decided to modify the procedure in choosing elective representatives of the people may have its own representatives.

Austrian Election As Seen On Battle Ground

By Nicholas Klein.

Demberg, Galicia, June 1.—The strength of Socialism, if law-makers are any therinometer by which to measure, has received the greatest advance in the history of the movement. Yesterday a telegram from Helsingfors, Finland, announced that the Socialists of the Finnish parliament elected one of the two vice-presidents in the person of Dr. Ursin, an able and well-

Just a few hours ago the second election (Stichwahl) for members of the Austrian parliament came to a close, and none were more surprised at the results than the Socialists themselves. The Socialists will have the largest assembly room for the first time in history and they will occupy the center seats in the house. To snow how close others came to election I need only to give you one example. In the Landstrasse district of Vienna, like in every district of Austria, all the other parties united against us in the second election, but the results are as follows: Franz Silberer (Socialist), 6,822 votes; Julius Prochazks (Anti-Semite), 7,648.

Edison Predicts Time When Coal Will Give Energy Direct; Give Ten Times Present Energy

New York, June 17.—Thomas A. Edison in an interview today predicted that before long science will enable the farmer to enrich his lands by means of nitrogen from the air. He said: "Until recently the utilization of atmospheric nitrogen was regarded as merely a laboratory demonstration. Business men said it would never be obtained cheaply enough to sell to the farmer as fertilizer.

Already Done in Norway

"In Norway a plant has been established which has been conducted with such good results that I expect to see atmospheric fertilizer on the market in this country within the next ten years. That such a product will also be impersively necessary there is no doubt. Every shipload of wheat and corn which goes abroad leaves the United States so much poorer, not in gold, but in nitrogen."

There was no body to them. Then I saw them fill out; my receiling out in the Twenty-minth ward the other night was a rail splitter and Roosevelt aspires to become a labor union split-

A man walked into the Twenty-fourth ward headquarters at 724 Lincoln avenue this week and, throwing down a dollar, said. "Here, give this to the Daily. We must have the paper."

Asked for his name, he said, "Just say from a believer in Socialism."

The first one under the wire with the bunch of ten three-weeks' subscribers was Dr. E. Cyleitsman, of Chicago, but he was followed by a whole bunch of others only a neck behind. Among those who were in at the finish Saturday were George Chant, O. Huradewitz and Carl Andrews.

Carl Andrews.

This plan should add a thousand subscribers a day for the next two weeks. If you are too busy to hunt up the subscribers just write down the names of ten friends that ought to be Socialists, and all your friends ought to be, and drop a dollar in the envelope along with the list. If you are not busy just take the list out and collect a dime aptece from ten of your neighbors. Pass this blank along in the shop and you will get the whole bunch. You can adsome more blank paper when all the lines are used up with names. Tell those you ask to subscribe about the reports of the Haywood trial. Show them that the Daily Socialist is the only paper that dares to tell the truth.

them that the Daily Socialist is the only paper that dares to tell the truth only paper that dares to tell the truth. There are nearly 7,000,000 farmers in the United States. It is manifestly impossible to carry anything at the election without their votes. Their interests are with the working class. They are beginning to recognize this fact. They are starting another wave of organization, that like the Grange and the Alliance, will sweep over this country as fire sweeps over the western trairies. Now is the moment to present the farmer with the truths of Socialism that this great move may not sepend its strength in foolish exercions and accomplish nothing, as did the others. Thousands of the subscribers of the Daily Socialist are living on farme or in small towns where they know many farmers. If everyone who can do so will make a special effort to secure at least one farmers subscription during the next week thousands more can be placed upon our list.

Most farmers are now within the reach of daily rural free delivery and are ready to take a daily paper. There is no other Cully that gives anything near the amount of news that can be secured for 22 a year. Bring these things to the attention of your farmer friends. Just to help you do this we will give a copy of A. M. Simons "American Farmer" with avery dollar's worth of subscriptions sen. before July 16. This is a work that has been translated into most of the Europe languages and is recognized as the very best book with which to make Socialists out of farmers. "Somer or later, and possibly tomorrow, the Russian people will rise in open revoil and will forever whe the scepter and crown from Russia and the fact of the globe."

These were the concluding words of an address by S. Lapinsky, delegate from the Polish Socialist Party, shows the religious at Workmen's hall, Waller and Twelfth streets, last night.

The meeting was the most tense affair which Russians of Chicago have seen for a long time. The news that the duma is on the verge of dissolution drove hundreds of Russians from all parts of Chicago and suburbs to the hall in the hope of hearing something from the speaker, who is only two months from Russia, which will throw light on the present situation.

Lapinsky likewise had prepared another address, but when the news of threatened dissolution of the duma and the denand of the government for the expulsion of sixty Socialists from the parliament reached him the speaker at conce went over to an interpretation of the pending event.

On the Eve.

"While I am speaking to you," Lapinsky said, "Russia is on the eve of the polish, and the denance of the government is today not the government is today not the government of the Russian people, but of this class of fand owners. Protest Against Tortures

The speaker here called the attention the audience to the recent protest of order of the czar.

A tragic moment came when the speaker began to picture the bumillation to which the Russian Socialist deputies, who are ready at any moment to lay down their heads proudly for the cause of the people, have endured in order to prolong the life of the duma and thereby gain some reforms which should serve as a basis for further demands.

The government, the speaker said, has all along made the life of the deputies intolerable in the hor, that they will tose patience and by some rash act. the government the opportunity to flavoive the duma. Finally, getting tired of waiting, the government has taken up such a coarse pretect which simply is a demand that the duma turn traiter against its own

Dire Prediction.

A. Litman spoke in Yiddish and said that the crar is now pulling the crown over his ears so as to keep it tighter on his head. He will find, however, that when the people are thoroughly aroused they will pull down not only the crown, but his head also.

A storm of prolonged applause drowned the speaker's remark. Tonight Lapinsky leaves for Milwau-kee. He will leave for Warsaw Rus-sia, his home city, in a few weeks.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 17 .-- Ame the startling things brought out at the national charity convention here were facts on the tramp problem. Major J. C. Pangborn, of the Battl-more & Ohio railroad said: "Since passes were cut off we cannot get police possess were cut off we cannot get police protection against tramps. In eighteen years it has been estimated that 40,000 ramps have been killed or injured by allroads. The annual property loss to alroads in the United States due to he depredations of tramps has been 18,000.000."

Major Pangborn added that not over one-third of the tramps killed are re-ported. Every railroad right of way is a private burying ground, he said.

It is asserted a formal warning was served on the Dutch authorities of the plot, with such details as were known, so that it could be frustrated. The greatest precautions are being taken at The Hague, the paper asserts, to see that the plot is not carried out.

Russian terrorists are described as the instigators of the plot. Dynamite was to be placed under the Knights hall and blow up the whole congress. The opening day was selected to carry out the plot because visitors will then be admitted and the anarchists wished to kill as many people as possible.

Once more there seems to be sweeping over the country one of those great waves of organization and protest among the farming population that has been so characteristic of American history.

The farmer is popularly supposed to be incapable of organization. Just how this idea originated it is hard to say, but it is one of those accepted premises of newspaper reasoning that is lacking in the one rather necessary quality of truth. So far as the farmers of the United States are concerned no other class has ever shown anything like the same capacity for sud-

The Patrons of Husbandry, or the "Grange," first began to be heard of in 1870, and five years later they had 25,000 local organizations, with a membership larger than any trade union ever formed. They owned elevators, steamship lines, co-operative stores by the hundreds and a host of other enterprises.

Nor did they confine their activities to industrial lines. They went into politics in many states and captured a half dozen state

Then the movement disappeared almost as suddenly as it had arisen, to be followed in a few years by the "Wheel" and "Alliance," which had a similar meteoric career ending in the Populist uprising and consequent fiasco.

It is noteworthy that each of these movements was more "radical" than its predecessor, and showed more of a tendency to unite with the wage-workers of the cities.

The organizations that are at present growing with such rapidity are advancing still further along this line. The "Farmers' Union' of the Southwest and the "American Society of Equity" of the central and western states, which seem to be growing with a rapidity paralleling the earlier organizations, have from the beginning shown a readiness to co-operate with organizations of wage-

Moreover in some sections they are strongly effected with Socialist thought and are showing a willingness to co-operate politically with the wage-workers.

Industrially it is possible to see a nearer approach to trade union methods than was shown by the Grange or Alliance.

These earlier organizations were principally interested in efforts to reduce the price of the articles they purchased. The Grange sought to do this by co-operative purchases at wholesale. The Alliance directed its efforts largely toward reducing the price which the farmer must pay for transportation for his products.

The new movement seems to be directing its energies toward controlling the price of the products which the farmer has for sale. In this effort it is pursuing much the same methods as are those adopted by trade unions in their efforts to raise the price of the commodity which they have for sale-labor power.

The farmers are making agreements to hold their products out of the market (a sort of "strike") until they shall receive a minimum price. They have made it decidedly warm for "scabs" who have sold their products at less than the union rate and seem to have had a fair degree of success.

They must meet with all the difficulties that confront the wageworker in his efforts to control the price of his product, as well as some additional ones peculiar to the farming industry. Because of these facts it is doubtful if the farmers will be as successful as the It is inconceivable that such flagrant wage-workers in this field.

Therefore it is certain that sooner or later these farmers will be dave into the political field. Because these farmers are not mainly despaining debtors, as was the case with the other two movements, and because they are not confined to the frontier as most such farmer uprisings of the past have been there is reason to believe that they will take a different political tack from that taken by ear-

There is little reason to believe that they will be interested in any of the "cheap money" propositions that have served as the rallying cry of farmer movements in America for more than a cent-

There is no possibility of success for the farmers without the co-operation of the wage-workers. (The reverse is equally true.) There are means by which these two can co-operate politically in defense of the interests of both.

THAT IS THROUGH THE SOCIALIST PARTY.

THE SOCIALIST PARTY DEMANDS THE POLITICAL TRIUMPH OF THE WORKING-CLASS, IN FACTORY, MILL MINE AND FARM.

It insists that the producer should get the full value of the product, and that he should have charge of the process of produc-

On this platform the workers of farm and factory are already uniting all over the world. The farmers will join with here if they can be reached with the truths of Socialism.

If the workers of the city but grasp the present opportunity and point out to their fellow-workers of the farm at this time the necessity of Socialist political action, this latest of the farmers' uprisings may be the last victorious one that shall mean the downfall of exploitation for all workers.

The Socialist movement of today means not only a transformation in in-lustry, but as well in all those things having their roots in economic condi-nation of the state of th naving their street and politica. It means not alone a revolution in the position of the laboring man, but a complete change for woman, economically and politically. Mrs. Raymond Robins on Waste of Human Life

That the present industrial system is killing the father before the child is able to work and as a consequence fills the factories with mothers, will be asserted by Mrs. Raymond Robins, national president of the Woman's Trade Union league, before the national conference of charities and corrections, which is now in session at Minneapolis. Mrs. Robins, who is the Chicago delegate to the convention, will speak today on the "Health of the Factory Wumen," and in her address will give a scritching view of the unnecessary waste of human life in industry.

"The careless waste of human lives," Mrs. Robins said, reviewing the main points of her addrers to a reporter of the Chicago Daily Socialist, "is the great American wrong.

"It is all the more criminal because The Socialist movement of today means not only a transformation in inment have been subjects that so far have received only a secondary attention.

Since the present social problem is a political one and since the woman has no power in politics it has been presumed that her influence is too small to need reckoning with.

This is a serious neglect of the truth on the part of the Socialist workers and means that a force in society that might be utilized to good purpose may, from lack of proper consideration, become a difficult body to deal with.

In no other country has capitalism utilized so extensively the economic power of won-en as in America. In no other country laz she, to so great numbers, entered trade, manufacturing industries clerkships and professious. To a certain extent the is filling industry at the expense of men, especially in manufacturing and mechanical industries and in trade and transportation. She is today a factor in industry that must be reckoned with among other industrial forces.

To neglect this large and powerful body means the loss of what could be used for the most effective propaganda work for Socialism. It means that when Socialism is once realized we shall have a vast part of the population still in a backward stage. This will hinder the realization of the best in art, in science and in the home life.

Thus looked at from the broader view the inclusion of women in the Socialist program and propaganda m. is far more than the advance of the whole race. Any system of society that would secure the advancement of humanity must stand for the social equality of its members and tox give over the remaining of its young to those either mentally or socially inferior.

The Socialist party is the only political organization that demands the politic of the fact that this waste could be easily eliminated and will be eliminated as soon as the workers of this country get rendy to defend their own lives and the lives of their children.

"Among men this criminal waste of life is seen in the thousands of accidents which are reported daily. You see it on the streets in the great army of legless and armiess men. The reflex of it you see in the large army of women and children which is compelled to seek work to support their husbands and the fathers of their children.

"In women this waste of life is not apparent to the careless eye. There are not as many cripples among women workers as among met.. But this waste of life is telling on the woman's organism. The heavy machinery which the working woman is compelled to handle because of the fact that the fathers have been killed off, in most cases makes her a nervous wreck for life."

Mrs. Robins said that the United States is leading the werld in the number of women whose vitality is ground into cash.

"And the worst of it is," she added. "that out medical profession has not yet begun to investigate this field or

Good for the Federation of Labor

The Chicago Federation of Labor held a session yesterday of which it may well be proud. It took a firm stand in support of the Teachers' Federation and the Firemen's Union, and denounced the actions of Mayor Busse, and prepared to fight the Chicago charter. This was a good beginning. But it is only a beginning.

To make their action effective it must be followed up with energy. Now is the time to arrange for a series of meetings to protest against the prostitution of the schools of Chicago to the forces of capitalism. A definite systematic campaign along the lines laid down yesterday will stop the victimizing of public employes and prevent the adoption of the proposed reactionary charter.

Such a fight must be conducted on principles and not persons. Labor is little interested in the question of whether some particular individual official or "representative" of labor has any particular

But labor is deeply interested in the question of the prostitution of the public schools for the purpose of encouraging scabbing, and furthering the interests of the various capitalist interests. So long as organized labor continues only to be "REPRE-SENTED" in a capitalist government it will be the football of those WHEN LABOR HAS SENSE ENOUGH TO UNITE PO-

LITICALLY AND CONTROL THE GOVERNMENT IT WILL NOT NEED TO BEG FOR "REPRESENTATION" Let the Federation of Labor and the various unions affiliated with it arrange for an agitation in the interest of labor that will fill this town with the voice of the workers. Do not make this a movement to ask favors from the masters, but a MOVEMENT TO TAKE WHAT LABOR WANTS.

The Socialist Party is here to serve the interests of the workers. It has no other reason for existence. Its organization, its powers of agitation, its press, its speakers, all are at the disposal of labor in fighting its battles.

The workers of other lands have realized the possibilities of such an organization. They have recognized that the Socialist Party is as integral and important a part of the labor movement as the trades unions. It is the political expression of the working class revolt, just as the unions are the industrial expression.

Only when the Federation of Labor recognizes that fact will its efforts to accomplish the ends outlined at its meeting yester ay be But even though the trade unionists of Chicago remain indifferent to the Socialist Party, that party cannot remain indifferent to the things for which the trade unions are fighting. The Socialist Party must stand for the demands of organized labor because its members are themselves workers, and have the same interests as all other workers. The Socialist Party, therefore, does not come to the trade unions in any spirit of political trading. It does not say to the Chicago Federation of Labor, "If you will support the Socialist Party we will support your measures." On the contrary, the Socialist Party says, "We support those measures because they are OUR measures and were ours long before you made them consciously yours." There is a splendid opportunity before the workers of Chicago. Old political machines have gone to pieces. Capitalism has solidified.

The Democratic party is no more. If the organized workers will but seize upon this opportunity and utilize their energies in the political field through the Socialist Party they can carry the programme of yesterday to victory.

If, on the other hand, they continue to beg and threaten and trade with the parties of their masters they will be begging and threatening and trading to the end of time and will have received nothing but promises and threats and scorn in return.

The Eye and the Brain-What They See

By Charles H. Fitch

By Charles H. Fitch

We Socialists will never come into our promised land until we can receive with gentleness and good feeling every criticism of motives and methods which springs honestly from the hearts of those who suffer and desire better days and salvation from existing evils, such as can be remedied.

We speak of the eye as wonderful in its organism, but most people are ignorant of the marvelous details of sist construction which make it a thousandfold more wonderful than is commonly to appreciated. And the faculty of self-criticism and correction of image which to possesses is an object lesson in practical science and practical Socialism.

The retina of the eye, which corresponds with the sensitized plate of the sponds with the sensitized plate of the common photographic camera, is a livent to be receiving instrument connected with the brain by a branch of cables, hundreds of thousands of them. There are hundreds of thousands of extremely minute cones: each cone surrounded by many more projecting tubes with functions apparently similar to those of the soherer tubes in systems of wire-less telegraphy. These are a of different proportions so that some will register the vibrations of white light only others the vibrations of the prismatic elements of white light only others the vibrations of the prismatic elements of white light only others the vibrations of the prismatic elements of white light orange, red and many are a solutions and the properties are also different proportions so that some will register the vibrations of the prismatic elements of white light orange, red and may are solved many to be for us and columns as being for certain lamps architectural design for certain lamps architectural criticism and correction of image which it possesses is an object lesson in practical science and practical Socialism. The retina of the eye, which corresponds with the sensitized plate of the common photographic camera, is a living receiving instrument connected with the brain by a branch of cables, hundreds of thousands of them. There are hundreds of thousands of extremely minute cones; each cone surrounded by many more projecting tubes with functions apparently similar to those of the soherer tubes in systems of wireless telegraphy. These ar a of different proportions so that some will register the vibrations of white light, orange, red and violet and all their shades and tints. Consider the infinite variations of presented by the simplest picture, the commonest scene. The retina is a bureaucratic organization for registering all these in all their relations.

but the eye is involved in the far greater wonder of the brain. It is said that the camera cannot ite, while the eye excels the camera as Mark Twain claimed to excel George Washington. Mark said that George could not lie, but that he could tell a lie but would not.

The Hindu fakirs are able to deceive The Hindu fakirs are able to deceive the eye by delusions which the mera letects, so that where the eye thinks it sees a man climbing to heaven on a cope the camera of the photographer rope the camera of the photographer shows sothing.

But the eye has a much larger job than the camera. It seems to see what is seen at once, but its divisions of time of ar more minute than we can consciously recognize. In the wonderful brain are stored away images of all the things that we have ever seer in this life, perhaps some that we have seen in other lives, for we are forced to think in multi-millions and realize immortality in a way that dogmatism can never compass.

Before the eye can see it must take the image, send it to the brain, have the receiving force there compare it with what is already on file, note and with what is airedy on file, note and compromise and arbitrate the differences between the new image and those mearest akin to it which have previously been received. It must again and again and again gret the w image, and again and again compare it with the images in store, and at last the instant of vision is passed, when we conclude what we have seen.

This is the "wonderful wonderful way" in which eyes and brain work together, and always by criticism and comparison, and the basic principle of art criticism is thus defined: What we say we see is not the image before us simply, but that image modified nearest approaching thereto which we have previously seen.

Two examples will serve in a crude way to illustrate this infinitely refined

An old man was sitting in a railroad accomplished.

An old man was sitting in a railroad car. Beside him sat a young man. The old gentleman waved his handkerchief out of the window, "Why did you do that?" asked the youth. "Why," said the old man, "I wanted to be gallant to that lady under the tree who waved her handkerchief to the train when we pulled out. "There was no lady under the tree," said the young man. "What you saw was an old gray mare waving her tail to-brush the files off."

We may laugh at such illusions, but we must consider them seriously. The old man saw an image from his own brain. He was a "sweetheart still," to borrow an expression from the title of Dendy Sadler's famour painting.

I will not ridicule him, for I, too, have a brain full of sweethearts "pictures, and never went out to serenade a girl's boarding school but that I was able to see an angel in any piece of white dry goods that might be hanging at a window.
