WAYCROSS 1S IN THE FIGHT

(Mail Correspondence.) Waycross, Ga., Oct. 5. — Waycross business men and citizens have organized what bey term a Citizens' Protective association, the object of which shall to be to conserve the best interests of Wayeross, and particular interests of Waycross, and particularly counteract the effect of "labor agitators" who have invaded the sacred precincts of Waycross and produced some awakening among the working class.

class.

The business interests of Waycross, with that fatuity that has made some Georgia towns famous, believe that it is unwise for laboring men to know what is good for themselves. Consequently Waycross will combine to keep them from knowing the trath. In the meanwhile the organization of unions is continuing and the unions are progressing finely.

There are far more picturesque places in France, but there is none with happiness written so large all over it. Imagine a multitude of gardens, each of about half-an-acre, each with a comfortable, clean, whitewashed one-story cottage, all more or less alike and yet each different.

Every cottage overflowing with life. Men, women, children, cats and dogs, and chickens, all prosperous-looking. Not rotously happy—that does not run in the northern blood—but placidly and soberly happy.

"Thus then lives this folk in much plenty and ease of life, though not delicately, nor desiring things out of measure. They work with their hands and weary themselves; and they rest from their toil and feast and are merry; tomorrow is not a burden to them, nor yesterday a thing that they would fain forget: life shames them not, nor does death make them afraid."

VARIED SLIGHTLY.

George E. Dunning was then recalled and his evidence, though substantially the same as last Friday, varied slightly in favor of the Western Union.

After Dunning's testimony the lotter was admitted in evidence.

The Western Union at the session of last week evidently found out what it is up against, for a wire chief, F. W. Webber, was brought in. He testified that the wire trouble was located and testified to finding the trouble beyond (Clybourn Junction, which does not tally with the previous evidence of F. E. Murrin, the lineman, who said he went direct to Mayfair, not knowing but that the trouble might have been at Clybourn Junction.

F. E. Murrin was recalled, but did not materially change his testimony. The Western Union then rested its case and Attorneys Ramsey and Bottum moved that it be diemissed, which was denied.

THIS IS GOOD; BOY MAYOR FIG-URATIVELY SPANKED BY S-I 3

(Mail Correspondence.) BY E. H. THOMAS.

Milwankee, Wis., Oct. 5 .- The Mil-"boy mayor" got a calling down at the last meeting of the city council at, the hands of Alderman council at the hands of Alderman Beddel (Social Democrat).

The boy mayor has been traveling over the state lecturing and working up his 'boom' for governor instead of recending to the duties of his office. Seidel accordingity introduced a resolution calling attention to this fact and also to the promise of the mayor (made before he was elected) to 'stay in Milwaukee and attend strictly to business."

The resolution of Seidel therefore re-quested the mayor to return to the lity treasury so much of his salary as as has drawn while absent from Mil-city treasury so much of his salary as he has drawn while absent from Mil-waukee.

Nobody made any serious objection to this just claim. As the Free Press (Republican) naively admits. "Had not the measure rmanated from the Socialists, there is little doubt it would have been passed."

But being a Socialist proposition, of course it was voted down.
"Do you suppose." said one Republican alderman. "I want the Socialists to make campaign material out of this next year? Do you suppose I want their paper to have it all over its front page that Becker has had to pay back the money he did not earn?"

Alderman Melms (Social Democrat) is continuing his fight against the unjust and illegal garnishes processes inflicted on Milwaukee workingmen. Big disclosures will be made later, proving that this practice has been very extensive and that certain judges and constables have derived a considerable revenue from this extortion practiced on the working class.

And this extortion might have gone on in Milwaukee till doomsday if there had been no Socialist aldermen to let in daylight on such legal blood-suckers.

Says the Free Press (Republican): ping at the will of the steersman, an-swering its helm like a ship in a smooth sea, the new English war bal-loon today gave startled Londoners the finest exhibition of the possibilities of aerial navigation ever witnessed. In the streets below the thousands watched the maneuvers of the big fly-ing machine, too much awed to even obser.

Says the Free Press (Republican):
"In more than one way the Socialists sometimes show that their work in the council has been mapped out in the city central committee."

However, the people of Milwaukee are beginning to understand that the best guarantee for the integrity and efficiency of Social Democratic officials is just this very fact that the Socialists party is behind them. A Milwaukee

Loria's Economic Foundations of Society

No Socialist Local or Branch need ever impose a dull meeting either upon its own members nor upon chance visitors, nor need it worry over the lack of subjects for discussion, if it possesses a copy of THE ECONOMIC FOUNDATIONS OF SOCIETY, by Achille Loria.

When your speaker fails to me terialise and the well of membership ideas runs dry, read aloud a few pages from a live chapter of this book, hrimming over with ideas, throw the meeting open to discussion, and watch the members begin to think and to talk.

Loris takes the raw material for a revolutionist, teaches him the Socialist viewpoint, and starts him thinking. He does not elaborate a whole system for us to swallow, but he does present, in straight-from the shoulder fashion, subjects for no end of study, observation and discussion.

No Socialist study club should be without this book, for it shows the origin and the real meaning of cap-italist morality, capitalist law, and capitalist politics.

New York, Oct. 7.—John D. Rockefeller has "Divine-Right" Baer kyboshed when it comes to a high valuation of self and a badly swollen personality.

John D. s conception of himself is something flerce. The Rev. R. S. Me Arthar rector of Calvary church, in the course of a talk with his Sundsy school class said yesterday:

"A few years ago some one asked Rockefeller privately why it was, since he had such a tremendous fortune, and his tastes were so simple that be could not possibly use consetenth of his income, he did not retire. Rockefeller them made a reply which he did not intend should be made public and which gives an attitude of his mind naver before appreciated by the public.

ASKEW'S RESUME OF THE GERMAN CONFER-ENCE; FEATURES OF THE BIG MEETING

BY JOHN B. ASKE'N.

BY JOHN B. ASKE'V.

(Special European Mail Corre pondence.)
Berlin, Sept. 23.—Coming as it did immediately after Essen, even the annual conference of the German party was bound to lose in interest and that that was felt to be the case is proved by the fact that this year in comparison to previous years only two representatives of the parties abroad were present, and those both from Austria, while the foreign hourseois press
while the foreign hourseois press

As a matter of fact, it is obvious enough that parties who have just been conferring with the German party at a common conference have no need to send a representative to a national conference of that party three weeks later.

The influence and importance of the German party rests on the recognized superiority of the party organs and the fact that both on the sphere of theory and practice the German party has in many respects at least been the model for other European countries. While it has its weaknesses and no doubt these are sometimes serious, no party has been so thorough in its work or has for many years before that word was known in England acted on the ideal of "efficiency," the highest efficiency in all departments.

The importance and interest of this year's congress was much increased by the fact that it was held in a place where for years the wealth and terroriam employed by the firm of Krupp was able to prevent either the trade unions or the party from obtaining a footing.

One of the most important questions ith which the congress had to deal as that of the members of the so-tilled local organizations of trade nions to the party.

man trades unions was absolutely at one with the party.

The reports on the parliamentary work of the party and the internation-al congress by Sudckum and Singer, respectively, were less harmonious and caused a most wordy debate on the relations of the party to the questions of militarism and colonial policy. SAXON DELEGATE.

Notably a speech by ohe of the Sax-ony deputies went very far in assert-ing the particism of the party and their readiness to take part in the work of national defense which from the fact that it had been put forward by one of our representatives in par-liament called forth lively indignation in the party.

while it has its weaknesses and no doubt these are sometimes serious no party has been so thorough in its work or has for many years before that word was known in England acted on the ideal of "efficiency." the highest efficiency in all departments.

The importance and interest of this year's conferes was much increased by the fact that it was held in a place where for years the wealth and terrorism employed by the firm of Krupp was able to prevent either that trade unions or the party from obtaining a footing.

However, that has ceased and at this congress nothing was more remarkable than the number of working men who sacrificed a day's work or more to crowd the galleries and to hear what was being done at their own partys congress.

I may add that the hotel keepers deliberately charged in many cases extra prices for rooms when they knew that it was delegates and these had to pay exorbitant prices for rooms when they knew that it was delegates and these had to pay exorbitant prices for rooms when they knew that it was delegates and these had to pay exorbitant prices for rooms when they knew that it was the relic apparently of the old feelings which had been so sedulously nourished by the firm of Krupp against the party.

One of our representatives in party would seemed to held forth lively indignation in the party.

The colonial question gave rise to an even more lively debate. As to what had occurred in the German group in the party and the matter was passed over, but no doubt the partial mentary over will take better caire that on future occasions the speaker will not guestion for the second in the representatives in party.

The colonial question gave rise to an even more lively debate. As to what had occurred in the German group in the international congress there were developed to the nemark of the second to the enemy.

BEBEL'S SPEECH.

that was felt to be the case is proved by the fact that this year in comparison to previous years only two representaines of the parties abroad were present, and those both from Austria, while the foreign bourgeois press equally in contrast to other years was equally conspicuous by its absence.

I mention these facts because one or two bourgeois papers have selzed on the mas showing a feeling that, in consequence of the eo-called defeat of the party at the last general elections, the party at the last general elections, the party itself has lost in importance for the brother parties abroad as well as for the bourgeois press.

As a matter of fact, it is obvious enough that parties abroad as well as elements from the party if we cannot get them to join the trades unions.

There were several motions to this from the party is do join the trades unions.

There were several motions to this expectations this and acting the point the dangers of alcoholism. All measures such as prohibition and high license climation of public houses, etc., are condemned as to give their chidren under no circumstance in the question was indefinitely post-party at the last general elections, the party at the last general elections which are till abor movement to do their beaution of the opinion of, one of the executive and also the party and is promother than a recogn where through the arms consumed. ### CRAFTSMAN'S SAD END.

CRAFTSMAN'S SAD END.

A weird combination of circumstances occurred in the Olympic theater last night. J. B. Schall aged 55, 16 South Water street, a barjo manufacturer, died of heart failure while his own banjos in the hands of two specialists, Lamont and Millman, were thrumming the notes of "Don't You Remember Sweet Alice, Ben Bolt."

The aged musical instrument maker attended the performance because his own instruments were to be used Suddenly he raised in his seat and collapsed with a cry.

Three-fourths of the house saw him and realizing that a panic was imminent, the musicians on the stage broke into a wild medley of music. As the strains of the old air died away Schall's life passed out. He lived alone over his shop in South Water street. Two sons survive. They reside in New York.

BUNCO A LA NEW YORK.

BUNCO A LA NEW YORK.

The Metropolitan street railway company of New York paid 595,507,19 for a phantom railroad, the Fulton, Wall and Cortlandt Street Ferries Co., although the company had no tangible existence, never paid a cent for construction and was absolutely on paper. This phantom property figures in the affairs of the Metropolitan company, which are attracting general attention, owing to their tangled circumstances. How the Met. was hornswoggled into paying nearly a million dollars for a name does not appear. The transaction stands as one of the oddities of light finance in New York. If you have a chatter for a railroad, an airline, or a wireless telegraph company ask the Met. company to help you get rid of it. The money's there and it's yours for the asking.

DENTISTS ACT PIGGISH.

Chicago deatists are a jealous set. They have caused the arrest of the only up-to-date barber in town, J. K. Gratowski, owner of a shop at 106th street and Avenue M. He studied dentistry in Germany and when he came to Chicago opened a barber shop and pulled teeth on the side. This is what a man could get any hour of the day; hair cut, shave, shampoo, teeth pulled gum boils reduced. All this without leaving the chair. Yet along comes a lot of jealous Chicago dentists as aforesald, and ordered the arrest of this homogenous benefactor of mankind. He will be prosecuted for practicing dentistry without a license.

AND A DETECTIVE, TOO.

Charles Sprecht, a detective of the Robey street station kept the savings of his life time in a bureau drawer. It amounted to $1,975. What a nice haul for a sneak thief. When he returned home last night he saw the marks of a limmy on the rear window. He looked into his strong box. The money had flown. The detective would not trust the banks and the sneak thief decided that the detective could not be trusted longer with his own banking system.

WINE DROWNS RESPECT.

The Roosevelt gulping of a glass of wine the other day in the Jefferson hotel at St. Louis bids fair to become as famous an episode as the Fairbanks cocktail stunt. Rev. A. C. Dixon, pastor of the Moody church, has spoken and grilled the president for taking that one glass of wine. Dixon declared he was a Roosevelt man no longer. He had always been an admirer of the president, he said, but that incident drowned all his love and respect for the chief executive. He declared the spectacle was an unutterably bad example to set before the 100,000 drunkards of the country.

Is It Your Fight?

The eighth week of the telegraphers' strike finds the situation almost as it was on the opening day. The te egraph communications of the United States are well-nigh paralyzed. Messages are being sent by mail and express, while telegraph rates are charged. The ranks of the strikers show a practically unbroken front. All the desertions since the fight began would not man a single office in one of the medium-sized cities.

All the branch offices in the great cities are still closed. The scabs are still herded in closely guarded hotels, and escorted to and from their work under the pretense of protecting them from the strikers. The men and women that have proven traitors are largely incompetent. The number of errors is so great as to make what telegraphic communication is still maintained almost useless.

It has now settled down to a question of endurance, the matching of flesh and blood against dollars. In this struggle the telegraph companies are depending upon their exhaustless resources, accumulated from years of merciless exploitation, to win the fight.

If the employers do win this fight, if they succeed in crushing this body of resolute, determined men and women who have made such a magnificent fight, it will mean that every effort to improve the conditions of workers for the next ten years will be made harder by the defeat of the telegraphers.

These men and women of the key are now upon the firing line. If they are not furnished with ammunition, if their supplies are restricted until they cannot fight to advantage, the results will soon be felt in the great army that is not now in action.

ORGANIZED LABOR CANNOT AFFORD TO SEE THE TELEGRAPHERS DEFEATED.

If they are defeated it will be because the workers in other lines have not given the support that they should. It will be because the main army of labor has sat supinely quiet while their advance guard was being cut to pieces.

Organized labor will not do this unless it is done ignorantly. If the workers throughout the country can be made to realize what is at stake in this battle they will gladly give their assistance.

They are beginning to realize the need and are sending in recause the main army of labor has sat supinely quiet while the enforcements. The unions of Chicago are to hold a meeting this week to adopt means of gathering and furnishing aid.

Meanwhile the telegraph companies are losing what is fat learer to them than life-profits. Profit is the blood of a corporation. If the flow of profits fails it dies.

The strike has shut off this blood supply, this flow of profits, and sooner or later the corporation beast must die or surrender in order that profits may once more flow in.

Now is the critical period in the strike. Now is the time to show the solidarity of labor. Now is the time for those who are in the their week's wages. They had received reserve to step into the fight.

Thousands of those who read this will have to decide during the next week as to what they will do in this matter. The appeal of the telegraphers will come into your union, be presented at your meetings. In deciding what to do remember that there are no divisions in the army of labor and that the defeat of one is a blow at all.

What a Difference

When the Chicago & Great Western Railroad advertised for former soldiers in order to form a private army with which to shoot down strikers there was no wild protest from the defenders of law and order. President Roosevelt did not feel called upon to make a speech about "undesirable citizens." There have been no frenzied editorials for the preservation of our sacred institutions.

But when Ed. Boyce of the Western Federation of Miners suggested a few years ago that it would be a good thing if all the miners owned rifles and knew how to use them-something which they had a perfect right to do, a right indeed which the founders of this government thought of sufficient importance to place it in the constitution-his statement was at once seized upon as indicating a lawless, murderous attitude, and was treasured up to be repeated in an effort to hang men years afterward who had not even been present when Boyce made his statement.

Attention has already been called to the altered attitude toward the use of bombs by gamblers, and their alleged use by working men—for the latter has never yet been proven, while the former is granted by all.

The Young People

One of the livest wires in the International Socialist movement is the organization of the young that is spreading in all directions with the speed and enthusiasm that is characteristic of youth.

The Chicago Young People's Socialist League is the pioneer of these organizations in the United States. At least, it seems to be the first that has become of sufficient size and strength to insure permanency. Steps are now being taken to extend this organization throughout the country. Cincinnati is preparing to fall in line with the energy that seems to be characterizing everything Socialist tion throughout the country. Cincinnati is preparing to fall in line with the energy that seems to be characterizing everything Socialist in that city.

There is nothing of which there is greater need than this. If the young men and women can be brought into the Socialist movement the future is assured.

It would be well if the National Executive Committee of the Socialist Party would take steps to systematically organize the young on a national scale.

Today there is the closest co-operation betwork in the Socialist Party and the Young People's Socialist League. Now is the time therefore, to cement these ties into some sort of an organic union that no misunderstandings may ever arise, or that there may never be even the appearance of rival organizations.

Writing out a speech has many adone precision or, as Bacon puts it makes an "exact" man. It gives on experience in finding the correct word. If you have not learned to find the right word at your desk where you have time to reflect, how do you suppose you will find it on the platforn where you must go on. Writing is also a great test of the

Probably the best form of lecturing is to speak from a page or a few pages when Huxley required a simile or a of notes. A clearly defined skeleton, good word, his resources never failed in a lecture as in an animal, is the sure sign of high organization. While himself on any subject unless he has it is desirable to fill in the flesh and read about all there is of value on clothes with a pen beforehand, it will be well to learn to deliver it to the puble with nothing but the skeleton before you.

A good plan is to write out the skeleton of the lecture fully at first, say seven or eight note book pages, then 'ttok it carefully over and condense weighing and it will bear condensing again to say two pages. A really good, well organized lecture where the lecturer has had ample time or when he has already delivered it a few times, should be reducible to one page o This skeletonizing is a good test of
