But old debts will return. They must be taken care of and in view of the good work that has been done and that can be done in the future, every comrade should make the greatest sacrifice that he can to support the paper now.

A new company has been formed, not to supersede the old publishing company, but to act as an auxiliary to The Daily Socialist and other Socialist papers.

It will also do a general Socialist and labor printing and publishing business.

This new company can not pay the old debts of The Daily Socialist, but it can guarantee the continued publication of the paper

If this company is formed, thus guaranteeing that the paper will continue and be able to pay off its debts, a number of Chicago Socialists will undertake the responsibility of keeping the creditors' hands

The profit-sharing certificate holders will have the power to name the directors. Thus they are in the same position as if they owned the stock, which will be held in trust for them.

It is intended to issue profit-sharing certificates to the amount of $500,000 and work the company up to the point where it will do an nse business for the Socialist and labor movement of America.

The advantages are apparent, To start the company quickly the first ten thousand dollars of certificates must be sold.

The company can then begin on the "Daily." Soon afterwards it will have sold enough certificates to print other papers desiring its

TO MAKE THIS START.

The proposition before us now is to make this start. The money invested will be reasonably certain of a good return.

For instance, the difference in purchasing paper in larger quanti-ties or paying cash will amount to one thousand dollars a year at least. One or two thousand dollars' worth of metal in the linotype room makes possible a profit of five hundred to one thousand dollars a month by operating the machines on job work when they are not in use for the paper.

Tons of printing can be done for labor and Socialist organizations the moment a job plant is ready.

The consolidation of the various Socialist papers now published in Chicago would pay a profit of 5 per cent on the certificates.

WILL CANVASS CHICAGO.

Chicago Socialists will canvass all their wards within the next few evenings and on Sunday and get the "yes" or "no" of every member on the purchase of certificates. Several thousand dollars' worth ought to be sold in this way.

The Socialists at other points, and especially the party locals, should take up the move at once.

The Daily Socialist is a help to the entire country.

It will be invaluable in the presidential campaign.

PANIC MOBS ARE FEAR OF BANKS

The real purpose of wicked little pipe jets decorating the ceiling of the vaults of the new Harris Trust and Savings Bank, 115 West Monroe street, were explained today by a workman who had been employed in the erection of the building.

"To the casual visitor to the bank one would suppose that the jets were a part of the ventilating system," he said. "That is not the real purpose, however."

"The little jets have a direct connection with the live steam generator used ers of the bank seem to think is coming some day.

"For instance, if there was a serious outbreak in the downtown district the mob wouldn't have a chance against the live steam, which would virtually reast them alive. Nobody would be able to stand the heat for a minute.

"All that the officers of the bank would need to do would be to turn on one of the four switches secreted in the building, depart, and let the steam do the rest.

"I really can't see how any mob cotil have any effect against the big sixteenton door to the safe, much less the live steam."

"Are all the banks protected in the same way?" was asked.

If France goes, Russia will certainly do so, too, and England will be left alone, with Germany at the head of the strongest alliance that Europe has England Must Pight

But before this happens England will have to fight, whether it wishes to do so or not. And there is a strong party among the British which opposes waiting until the last moment for a declaration to hostilities.

Logically this party has a strong argument. Germany is building warships at such a rate that it is gradually overhauling the English navy.

Not to be overhauled very soon, the English are compelled to build, on their own side, at a terrific rate. The burden of this growing armament is crushing the country press, to death the country nearly to death.

Interests of Countries

Just as it is to England's interest to unite as many nations as possible against Germany, it is to Germany's interest to break these combinations up.

This is the explanation of its persistently hostile attitude towards France. Of France alone, Germany is not afraid. It would even like the Republic as an ally of its own. But as England's friend it is very much opposed to it indeed.

At the present time, the English navy being something like twice as strong as Germany's and England being an island, it is impossible for the Fatherland to get at its arch-foe.

But it is not impossible for it to get at France, which lies across no more serious obstacle than an imaginary line with a defensive army almost as England weaker than the German as the Ger-children, especially the children, from the strike district, and leave the mea untrammeled in their battle to abolish the horrible conditions under which they have been forced to labor.

Many of the dependents of the strikers have been already conveyed to other districts to be cared for by unionists, and it was a memorable day in Rome when thousands of union men and women gathered at the railroad station to receive a group of children who had been consigned to their care. Strong men shouted and wept when the little ones arrived. The women gathered them in their arms and they were carried away amidst cheers to be housed and fed and comforted until their fathers had gained the victory that would insure comfortable homes and sufficient food and raiment for them.

Italian unionism is marching on. The members of the union are showing a spirit of soif-sacrifice that will carry their movement to victory.

Before J. Stitt Wilson was elected mayor of Berkeley some of his enemies predicted that he wouldn't be able to master the details of everyday work in the city hall and that it would be a grave miscake to elect such a dreamer to such an important position.

Just because I wanted to know what some competent person would say about how this prediction had materialised I contrived to get the opinion of the city clerk W. J. Seaborn.

Seaborn is a keen young man, twice a hero, by the way, and the bearer of a gold medal for bravery.

He expressed himself as astounded with the manner in which the mayor had grasped the details of his work.

It may be taken as some index to the fiber of the men in office in Berkeley to know that smong those whose welfare they first thought of were the children—who possess no votes, but who have little bodies to develop and young minds to be kept clear and clean.

The Sad Case of an Editor Who Sits in His Den and Thinks

He Should Get Out and See What Is Going On in the World Before Writing On Living Subjects Like Socialism.

With much disappointment we come upon an editorial attack on Socialism by the Coast Seamen's Journal, published by the Sailors' Union of the Pacific. The spread of Socialist literature among the labor organizations has been so raypid during the past few years that there are few official organs that do not contani more or less matter in sympathy with the Socialist movement. The discoverr of one that not only opposes Socialism, but resorts to the simple, fallacious arguments that are now abandoned by capitalist papers, is a distinct

Notwithstanding the fact that the Socialist movement of America is a living thing, an active support to union labor, notwithstanding the fact that the seamen's unions have received much help from the Socialists and the Socialist press, the editor of this journal knows no better than to say: "Socialism is mere sound and fury. signifying nothing except the desire of some men to pose as political economists, or others to do politics on a popular platform, and the disposition of still others to give ear to high sounding hunbug."

If the editor of the Coast Seamen's Journal ever gets out of his sanctum and mingles with the rank and file of the union for which he is supposed to write, if he ever gets down among the workers when they are in the actual struggle with their employers, he must do so THR with closed eyes and ears.

The following is his argument against Socialism: "Socialism offers the menace of a calamity without parallel in history. Society under Socialism would give us all a job paid for at the price of our right to own ourselves, which is just what society now does to those of us whom it sends to jail for one reason or another. Our friends the Socialists sneeringly define liberty under the present system as the 'right to quit one's job and starve.' Under Socialism liberty would mean compulsion to stay at one's job with the assurance of certain pensation to be fixed by 'society.'"

The seamen are paying dues into the organization that supports the Journal for the purpose of compelling their employers to permit them to "stay at their jobs" and to secure "the assurance of a certain ensation" which shall not be fixed arbitrarily by their employers. Would it be a calamity if the workers got control of the industries and secured the right to stay at their jobs and the right to all the compensation that the job could give?

Would it be compulsion if the necessity for begging for work was taken away from the toiler and he could get work whenever he wanted it and generally at whatever occupation he chose to follow?

The union seamen should take the editor of their Journal by the hand, lead him forth into the sunlight and introduce him to the world. He needs to get acquainted with what is going on in this century.

More About "Theft"

We have mentioned in these columns the fact that the editor of Catholic paper tells his readers that a Catholic can not become a Socialist because, in his opinion, the Socialist party stands for theft.

The following quotation from a standard Roman Catholic work will help the editor to formulate some new ideas on what is theft, or when the rights of society supersede the individual's right to property. The quotation is from the "Compendium of Moral Theology,"

By Aloysio Sabetti, S. J.:

"In cases of extreme necessity the value of life itself must be considered above that of property. In such extremity a man has the right to appropriate unto himself sufficient to satisfy his necessity. In cases of such extreme necessity all things become common, as at all times it must be remembered that life itself is of greater value than the things of fortune."

Society, as well as individuals, may be confronted by extreme necessity. It may be confronted by the necessity of choosing between the rule of a few trust magnates and taking the trusts away from those magnates. The very life of society and the liberties of the people composing society may become dependent upon taking away from some few men the enormous industrial power they have.

men, women and children and still receive the respect and plaudits of the "civilized" world. Witness the way in which the American press speaks of Stolypin's statesmanship and how lightly it passes over the long record of killings he has ordered. One man, enraged by the sight of such slaughter of human beings, takes a shot at Stolypin and the incident is heralded throughout the world as indicative of the spread of anarchy and disorder. Thousand of learning time for thinking and for studying. The long days and the in-tense speed that the working class are working people departed from their forced to conform to means that men homes, daughters of the poor deand women with fertile minds go home to deny the idle rich, preachers led to deny the very teaching of their Christ. If the means of production were made collective property this criminal-natures is art, or music, or invention, its would stop among the rich. As long as a man acts "legally" he may murder thousands of tive of the spread of anarchy and disorder. Thousands of legal murders cause little comment. To the capitalist's mind there is no danger to society in such things. But one shot at the man who is responsible for such crimes is considered a great danger to the continued peace of mankind.

The idiot who has held up one thousand copies of the Chicago Vice Commission's report in the Chicago postoffice on the ground that it is obscene is entitled to the bun. That report is the mos comprehensive and instructive work on the social evil ever issued It was not written for the prurient, but for the use of intelligent people who are making a study of the question. If the department decides against the reports going through the mails, this thousand copies, all that are left, will be burned by the government authorities.

Socialism means to stop the criminality among the poor on the one hand and the criminality among the rich on the other hand by taking all forms of wealth used by society or by the many away from the few, and making this wealth collective property, to be owned and controlled by the people collectively.

It is an unavoidable condition of what is termed "business" which forces the owners of the machinery of production to hire labor at its cheapest figure. The poor are born with all assurable human ambitions and upon a very low wage they cannot keep up with the standard of dressing, the standard of culture. This leads the sensitives to stealing. It leads girls to prostitute their sex in order to get good clothes, jewelry, etc. It is now conceded that "Barney Grogan" is the ruler of the West Side vice district. A reporter for The Daily Socialist mentioned the fact to Mayor Harrison last June and his honor replied: "Why, Barney Grogan is anxious to have the West Side district cleaned up That is the kind of a man he is." It seems that Barney really has been "cleaning up" everything in sight.

Socialist victories are gained only by the efforts of many, each doing his part. Assign yourself a task and keep at it. Distribute literature, get subscriptions to the Socialist papers, help at the street meetings do something.

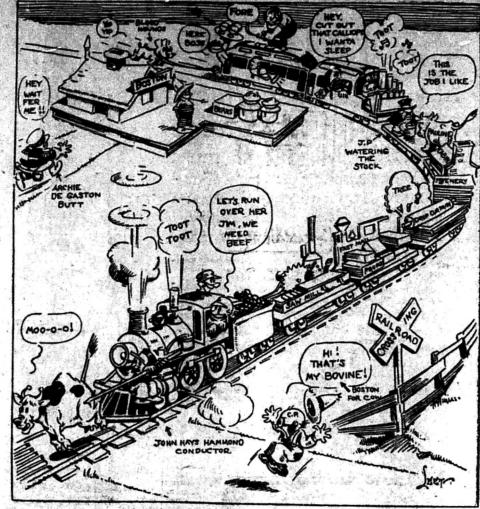

stealing. It leads girls to prostruite their sex in order to get good clothes, jewelry, etc.

Many men and women necessarily cannot be employed under the present system, where the workers produce more than they can buy back. The unemployed problem is the mother of thieves, robbers, highwaymen, and, is extreme cases, murdeeres. If the means of production were owned by the government the government would have no use for profits.

The product of labor in general would go back to the producers of it. Each producer would have more than he could even waste if he worked eight hours a day. He would not heed to steal! steal:

Pittsburgh, Pa.—In a wild effort to out Fred H. The capitalists fall to realize that there are plenty of other men to take his place. Afraid to send him to jail on account of the great Socialist sentiment that it is thought would result, an attempt was made to have Merrick's father de-clare him insane. The lever used in this manner was the fact that his fa-ther was not a Socialist. The attempt R. D. Tompkins, a Socialist writer,
