SEES GREAT INDUSTRIAL REVOLUTION

Prof. Graham Taylor Predicts Economic Revolt of European People.

It is doing so all over Europe and in the United States. It will produce a great economic revolution.

"When Tom Mann said, 'Sympathy, we don't want sympathy; we are here to abolish poverty,' he expressed the meaning of the great movement of laber's army which is being felt in the parliaments of Europe and in its great industrial centers.

"It not only will be felt in the United States, it is being felt here," said Professor Graham Taylor, wellknown Chicago sociologist, who has just returned from Europe.

Continuing, Professor Taylor said: Signs of Revolution

"The greet railroad strike in England is only one sign of impending change, of a revolution in economic conditions. This fact is being felt all over Europe. The United States feels it, too.

Europe. The United States feels it, too.

"After a study of the English railroad strike from the inside, I shall watch with the greatest interest the system federation strike now going on here. The political power of the labor men, many of whom are Socialists, in parliament was a great protection to the strikers in England.

"Winston Churchill, the home secretary, had been responsible for sending warships to Liverpool harbor.

"All over the country the army was in readiness. The labor group in parliament averted a terrible crisis.

"They, together with the power of the strike itself, forced the government to make the railreads deal with the strikers' representatives."

Economic Pressure Heavy

Economic Pressure Heavy

Economic Pressure Heavy
Economic pressure all over Europe, according to Professor Taylor's statement in an interview with a representative of The Chicago Daily Socialist, is forcing labor to drastic action. Before the railroad strike, declared Taylor, the cost of living in the United Kingdom had increased 30 per cent in ten years and the wages of the railroad men had increased only 6 per cent.

He asserted that for the most part the general railroad strike affected the operating men on the railroads, men who hold jobs which correspond to rail-way conductors, locomotive engineers and trainmen in the United States. The wages of such men in the English rail-way service averaged, he asserted, as follows:

Wages Very Low

That 134,000 men earned the equivalent in American money of $5 a week and less; 107,000 received from $5 to $7.50 a week; 78,000 received $7.50 a week. Only 11 per cent of all the railroad employes received over $1 a day, he said.

The purchasing power of the equiva-lent of an American dollar in England, asserted Professor Taylor, is equal to the purchasing power of $1.50 in the United States.

'I believe," said Professor Taylor, "that very few people in England really appreciated the power of that general railroad strike. It was like the discovery and use of some new and tremendous natural force. Its power was so great that the British army and many was placed in complete readines for action. For this step, I believe, that Wineton Churchill, home secretary, was proposed to take up arms the moment an Italian force

"The power of the labor group in parliament was felt when the labor men served notice on Lloyd-George that unless the government brought pressure on the railway managements to settle, a vote of censure for the government's action in the strike would be moved.

"Lloyd-George said that even if the labor men by themselves would not be able to carry such a vote, still in the next crisis, when the labor men might otherwise be counted on to vote with the liberals, they would hang back and throw the liberal party out of power.

"For many hours the political issue was the dominant one. Then, over night, the government chagend and induced the railroad managers to meet the representatives of the strikers. The real thing which the railway men gained was recognition of their union."

The article shows the true attitude of the Hearst papers to organized labor. It was written solely to prejudice the American people against the strikers and to create division and strife among unions themselves

Paducah Strong Point

The Paducah machinists' union has The Paducah machinists union has always been regarded as one of the strongest points in the system federa-tion, which called the strike. The Paducah union was the first to adopt J. D. Buckalew's proposal for

The alleged disaffection among the Paducah machinists was characterized as absurd by all the union officials con-

J. D. Buckalew, vice president of the International Association of Machin-ists, issued the following statement denying that the Paducah machinists want the strike called off: the unions themselves.

It was hoped that if there are any workers at distant points wavering in their allegiance to the unions that the article would induce them to return to work as strike breakers.

The charge that the strike was brought about by the Socialists of the system federation also is false, as 97 per cent of the shopmen at Paducah that the machinists of Paducah, Ky.,

Buckalew issued the following state ment in reply to the charge that the machinists of Paducah feared the gov-ernment would prosecute the system federation for violating the Sherman anti-trust law:

"We are not atraid of the Sherman anti-trust law or the injunction. Taft is running for the presidency again and in looking for votes for a re-election hopes to fool the people cace more. "If the Sherman law is ever going to the first extendible water federates."

PREPARING FOR

Fears Tremendous Upheaval May Follow Strained Situation in Europe.

Washington, Oct. 5 .- It is believed here today that the great naval maneuvers and mobilization to be held in the Atlantic and Pacific next month are the result of the widespread international unrest, apparent throughout the world, and especially the strained situation in Europe. Students of international affairs fear that the world is passing into one of the periodical stages when all races and nations become restless—such a period as some historians believe always precedes a tremendous upheaval.

Throughout the world, the nations now are, as by common agreement, looking to their defenses.

Prepared for Crisis

The uncertainty of the situation in Europe, with the vague possibility of developments that might involve any nation through some unexpected even is fully realized by the government at

Secretary Meyer denied today that there was any significance further than a desire to give the men the training involved in such a movement.

The fact is, however, that the usual long winter cruises, which are severe in wear and tear in ships, have been shan-doned, and the big sea fighters will be kept close to home ports, near the navy yards and in perfect repair.

Quiet Display Effective

American naval authorities believe that the Atlantic battleship fleet is the most effective fighting machine affoat. Whether there is any more definite reason for the mobilization at New York and Los Angeles of the Atlantic and Pacific fleets could not be learned, but the impression was strong that the plan was adopted merely for its more plan was adopted merely for its more effect on the international situation. Secretary Meyer at first announced that the mobilization would be accomplished by a sudden order at a time not previously announced so that ships would race to the point of concentration in war fashion.

Later he decided that such action might be misconstrued, and today he was still uncertain as to the exact plan of mobilization.

Rail Kings in Last Resort to Crush Workers in Big Struggle to Establish System Federation.

STRIKERS NOT AFRAID

"We are not afraid of the Sherman anti-trust law or the injunction. If the Sherman law is ever to be used against the system federation, now is the time."—J. D. Buckalew, vice president of the International Association of Machinists.

RAILROADS ARE BUSY

"There are certainly grounds for prosecution. At least it looks that way to me. The Sherman anti-trust act prohibits a combine in restraint of trade and the action taken by the labor forces is a direct violation of this law. Our attorneys are looking into the matter and comparing the present situation with the Danbury Hatters' case."—Charles H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central Railroad.

Will President Taft dare order the prosecution of the officials of the Harriman and Illinois Central system federations under the Sherman anti-trust law?

The answer has already come from the rank and file as well as from the officials of the strikers. They do not fear prosecution along this line.

Railroads' Last Resort

But that the railroads are planning such action loomed big today, after every effort thus far tried to intimidate and discredit the Before the men went out on strike President Taft, as pointed out in the Daily Socialist, promised Wall street that he would aid the rail kings crush the workers in case of a struggle.

The Daily Socialist today exposes the suppression of a dispatch to the San Francisco Examiner, one of the William Randolph Hearst Pacific Coast sheets. The story is as follows:

Shotwell's Dope Suppressed

Thomas C. Shotwell, an authority on Wall street financial transactions, whose statements are considered so reliable that they are received at their face value by the interstate commerce commission, sent out the following dispatch as a part of his story a few days before the strike was called:

There may be more threats of a strike, but now that the Sherman anti-trust law is really and truly going to be enforced by the administration at Washington the first labor union that strikes will be prosecuted, if the administration means what it says.

"The threat of a strike is not a violation of law, but an actual

"The threat of a strike is not a violation of law, but an actual strike will prove a consummation of a conspiracy, under the terms

"The administration at Washington has finally been brought face to face with the real issue involved in the Sherman anti-trust

"President Taft has said that he will enforce the law, and therefore Attorney General Wickersham will be the first to proceed against any labor union calling its men out on strike."

The above dispatch was received at the office of the San Fran cisco Examiner while an official high in the International Machinists' organization was present. Through a friend he obtained a printer's proof of the complete dispatch, including that part which was suppressed and is quoted above.

Other Papers Get Orders

According to the best information that can be secured the above mentioned extract from Shotwell's financial story was ordered suppressed from the White House, at Washington, D. C. Similar orders were received by the other Hearst papers.

The desire was to keep the workers in ignorance of the real in tentions of the administration. Now, however, it seems that the time for silence is over.

The morning papers today hint at the federal prosecution of the union officials, something that the Hearst papers have been harping on for several days in an off-hand way.

It is believed that this is merely an effort to test public opinion on the proposed greatest outrage ever perpetrated on organized labor in the United States.

The railroad officials have tried injunctions, hired thugs, personally conducted riots, strike breakers and every other well known method for crushing the workers. They have all failed. Now it is next grand mass meeting will continue to be held at the Grand Crossing Turner hall. The method for crushing the workers. They have all failed. Now it is next grand mass meeting will be held. Shorman anti-trust law. to be the Sherman anti-trust law.

Workers Not Afraid

If so, the workers are ready. The Daily Socialist in another column quotes Vice President J. D. Buckalew, of the International Association of Machinists, as saying that he does not fear federal rosecution, that the strikers are ready even for this. This is the spirit of all the union officials, and the rank and file

SHOPS AT BURNSIDE ARE TIED UP TIGHT

The Illinois Central shops at Burnside are tied up tight. The efforts of the road to bring in 159 strike breakers to take the place of the machinists ended in failure. Not a machine in the machine-shop is in operation.

Conditions in the blacksmith shop are the same. The engineers and firemen are insisting that the engines they operate shall be kept in repair, but the engineers and firemen refuse to do any of that work themselves.

While they are still at work they are giving the road no real help in breaking the strike of the shopmen.

As a result the yards are becoming filled with anxines in need of repairs and which are not being touched. The strike breakers sent out are utterly incompetent.

McNamaras Have Little Money; Millions Back of Prosecution

John J. McNamara, secretary of the Structural Iron Workers' Union, and his brother, J. B. McNamara, are laboring against appalling odds, preparing for their trials for murder this month, on charges growing out of the explosion at the plant of the Los Angeles Times last October.

Two thousand miles from home, harassed by all kinds of outside attacks to prejudice their defense, and with but a few thousand dollars at hand, the brothers face a powerful nation-wide combination of private interests with hundreds of thousands of dollars ready for supporting and pressing the murder charges.

Charges.

Besides private interests, and naturally in the foreground of the prosecution, is the governmental machinery with its detectives, officers and funds.

But back of the public machinery is, first, the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association of Los Angeles, an organization pledged to the principle of open shop, and which for years has been engaged in bitter assault on organized labor there.

Dor there.

In the background, also, is the still richer and more powerful National ectors' association, in reality the Steel Trust.

AGAINST THE UNLIMITED FUNDS, PUBLIC AND PRIVATE, THAT REI IMMEDIATELY AVAILABLE FOR USE AGAINST THEM, THE NAMARAS HAVE NOW ON HAND FOR THEIR DEPENSE APPROXIATELY $15,000.

The total sum that has been available for the defense of the McNamaras since their arrest has not reached $100,000.

The expense incident to such a case as this is heavy. The establishment of a law office in Los Angeles was a necessity.

During the months since the arrests in Indianapolis, public officers and private detectives in the employ of the interests backing the prosecution have covered the country, preparing evidence. These detectives and other agents of the prosecution had to be watched by the defense.

Lack of preparation on the part of the lawyers for the McNamaras, lack of knowledge of the activities of the other side, knowledge upon which to base preparations for cross-examination and refutation, might easily mean a terrible miscarriage of Justica.

Such activity, though expensive, by the very nature of it cannot be dis-

Such activity, though expensive, by the very nature of it, cannot be discontinued without expesing the McNamaras to dangers at the trial.

The McNamara defense sees clearly that fair trials involve not only the continued maintenance of the Los Angeles law office, but even increased watchfulness up to and during the progress of the trials, which will consume four months or more for each defendant.

The funds are lacking. The first trial is scheduled to begin Oct. 10.

MISREPRESENTATION CONTEST IS GOING MERRILY ON

The great misrepresentation contest yesterday resulted in a neck-and-neck fuish, with the Hearst papers only slighly in the lead.

Here is the way the various papers handled the so-called riot of strikers at McComb City, Miss.

How They Did It

The Chicago Journal: "Strike Mob Kills; Hurls Dynamite." Thea follows a "hot story." after appropriate sub-headings have disclosed the alleged which the morning papers somehow neglected.

The Journal story is a real thriller, especially because its facts do not support the headline. It reads in part:

"McComb City, Miss., Oct. 4.—A riot in which a striker was shot and killed said a dynamite explosion in the rall-road shops near where 100 nonunion men were quartered, marked the progress of the railroad strike here before daylight, and caused a reign of terror in the town.

The Chicago Dafly News, giving the Associated Press account has a still more "thrilling" story. In the course of the narrative, which is very similar to the Journal account, this paragraph occurs:

"Fully 1,000 shots were exchanged and the belief is expressed here that not a few of the strike breakers were wounded. This the railroad officials deny.

"Before the arrival last night of the troops armed citizens patrolled the troops armed citizens patrolled the streets under orders of Sheriff Holmes."
One thousaid shots fired and one man killed! Only a pross agent's imagination could reconcile such an assortment of "fact."

The Chicago American had a directly similar story describing the McComb "riots" under the heading, "Bombs and Bullets in Railway Strike."

OF PROMISE Western Canada Beats All Records for Money Made

The world is a rather old place for anything new to happen in, but out in Western Canada there is a wonderful condition of affairs which could not have existed in any other than this modern year of 1911.

Other new countries have been developed before, but with comparative slowness, because the railroads have been slow to extend their lines, but in Canada things are not done that way. When they once start they never stop until the job is done and the tremendous energy and wealth of the people drive every project through with almost increditable speed.

Everything points to an even greater development here than in Caigary, which, a few years ago, was opened up by the Canadian Pacific Railway and now has 40,000 people—and original $100 to $500 lots are new worth from $1.500 to $30,000.

Fort Fraser gives every indication of starting out to make a new record in the rise of land values. Its splendid location on the new railroad in the center of a vast rich territory and bounded on two sides by a big navigable river and gives it every natural advantage necessary to quick growth.

But so fast do things move that few people yet realize what tremendous opportunities confront them in this future great city. Lots there can be bought now from $100 to $150 and up on easy terms of 10 per cent down and 5 per cent a month, with the splendid chance that they will double or triple in value before the last payment is due. IT IS NOT GENERALLY KNOWN that President Taft has presented the world with his views on many great problems of Economics, History and Politics. Yet such is the case, and next Sunday afternoon, at the Carrick Theater, Lewis will submit Taft's opinions on the great questions to a pitiless scientific analysis. Doors will be opened at 2 o'clock. Meeting at 2:30 sharp.

"A CRITIQUE OF THE ECONOMIC, HISTORICAL AND SOCIAL THEORIES OF PRESIDENT TAFT"

A Magnificent Educational Enterprise

The greatest working class educational scheme ever launched on the American paltform will enter upon its career Sunday after next—Oct. 15—at the Garrick Theater, at 2 o'clock. All previous lecture enterprizes in the field of radical and revolutionary education will be thrown into eclipse. The confident tone of this assertion is based on the following facts: 1. THE PROJECT. Just as Biology—the science of life—was the great science of the nineteenth century, so Sociology—the science of social life—will be the master science of the twentieth century. The tremendous progress which has been made in this latest and most commanding field of human thought in bourgeois universities is simply amazing. An immense body of exceedingly valuable data, illuminated with brilliant generalizations, has been accumulated by the occupants of the chairs of sociology in these institutions.

2. NOT UTILIZED. Socialist literature, instead of keeping pace with this immense development of thought has fallen to the rear. We have simply failed to assimilate these magnificent results. And this is not only true of this country, which would not be surprising, but it is true of Germany and France and Italy, which countries have heretofore kept Socialist thought in the van of the world's thinking. To remedy this great and important oversight is the task undertaken by "The Workers' University Society." We will now proceed to the method.

3. THE METHOD. This great labor will be carried out by the delivering of a special course of eight lectures on Sociology, which will bring our literature up-to-date in this field. This course will analyze all existing concepts and theories of the science and will synthesize the results into a Socialist Sociology.

4. THE PRICE. The financial side of this scheme has already been presented in detail and all who have considered it seem to think it must fail financially, because of its astonishingly low price.

A course ticket for the entire series of eight lectures is sold for one dollar. This ticket must be shown at the door at each lecture, but never given up. After the lectures have been delivered they will be published in a good cloth bound, dollar book, and the lecture admission course ticket will be just as good as a dollar for this book. The lecture course will be cheap at a dollar, but by this arrangement one dollar will buy both.

5. SUCCESS ALREADY. When you think of these terms you will not be surprised to learn that over six hundred course tickets have already been sold and it seems almost certain that course ticket holders will buy the entire seating capacity of the Garrick Theater. The tickets already sold will take the entire main floor. If enough are sold to fill the balcony the 10-cent single admissions will be limited to the second balcony. We can only guarantee good seats to course ticket holders.

8. JOINT ENTERPRISE. As a fitting recognition of the important part played by the Garrick audience in this project the names of all course ticket holders will be printed in a special section of the book provided for that purpose. You are requested to write your name very plainly on return postal half of the ticket so that the printer will get it correctly in the book. 7. THE TIME. The opening lecture of the course will be delivered Sunday afternoon, Oct. 15—one week later than next Sunday—at 2:30 o'clock. Doors open at 2 o'clock. The course ticket, entitling holder to admission to all the eight lectures and also to a copy of the book containing them, entitled "Twentieth Century Sociology," are on sale at The Chicago Daily Socialist office and the box-office of the Garrick Theater. If you cannot call for one before, be sure and get one at the lecture next Sunday.

CHICAGO, ILL., OCTOBER 5, 1911.

Comrades in the Social Revolution:

Chicago Socialists ask that every local in the United States, at its next meeting, set aside fifteen minutes as a special order of business for a discussion of the following questions:

- 1. Is it worth while for the American Socialist movement to make some sacrifice to maintain a daily Socialist newspaper in the storm-center of capitalism?
- 2. Can we expect to have a Socialist movement of great national importance until we have such a newspaper on a financial foundation that will enable it to successfully compete with the most modern newspapers?
- 3. Can we follow the practice of the magnificent German Socialist movement, in which each member and local organization responds automatically and promptly to the needs of the party or its press whenever the word is given? If so, how are we to begin unless this local acts now upon this proposition of manifestly national importance?
- 4. Shall we waste time discussing how our present daily Socialist newspapers might have been managed or edited more effectively on the small incomes which they have had, or shall we realize that their principal shortcomings are due to lack of capital with which to undertake improvements and employ sufficient editorial forces to meet the demands of the movement?
- 5. Shall we say that the establishment of a daily Socialist newspaper through five years of struggle and opposition and its development to a point where it is within a few hundred dollars monthly of self-support is a feat to command the confidence and support of every Socialist?
- 6. Shall we as a local of the Socialist party and as individual members of the party pledged to the overthow of capitalism, quit now, when we are most needed, or shall we stay with the fight to the finish, giving of our time and means until there exists in the city of Chicago a great Socialist printing and publishing house that will make possible the publication of The Daily Socialist as a modern newspaper, able to successfully compete with all other newspapers and that will bring to the American movement all the advantages of a financially solid publicity plant?

7. Shall we now vote to buy profit-sharing certificates in Labor's Co-Operative Press Association from the treasury of the Local and individually to the extent of our ability?

Comrades, if you discuss these questions as Socialists should, we are confident that before your fifteen minutes are up you will reach a decision that Labor's Co-Operative Press Association, as an auxiliary to the Daily Socialist, deserves all the support which you can command for it.

Opportunity after opportunity for great gains in circulation and great improvements in the character of the Daily Socialist passed by because of the lack of a few dollars with which to pay expenses therefor. With a fund of $25,000 at hand at one time during its life, The Chicago Daily Socialist could have made sufficient additions to its equipment and staff to have trebled the circulation and made it self-sustaining for evermore.

Instead of having such a fund, however, the paper has been confronted with ever recurring situations in which its existence was imperiled and which had to be met by donations of the membership of the Socialist party.

The regular circulation and advertising income of the paper is now nearer to equalling the expenses than ever before. The annual subscription list is greater and the general reputation of the paper more widely and favorably known. It only remains for us to go forward.

We can now place sufficient capital behind our daily newspaper to enable it to take its stand among the foremost newspapers of the United States. It is primarily for this purpose that Labor's Co-Operative Press Association has been established.

Profit sharing certificates are issued in denominations of $1 and up. In this way the workingman who has only his week's wages from which to make an investment may purchase a profit sharing certificate for $1.

The board of directors will be elected annually by the trustee according to the vote of the profit sharing certificate holders. In this election any person holding profit sharing certificates aggregating from $1 to $100 in face value will be entitled to one vote. Additional votes will be allowed to profit sharing certificate holders only in the ratio of one vote for each additional $100 in the aggregate of the value of their holdings. This places the controlling power in the rank and file of the Socialist movement.

All annual profits of Labor's Co-Operative Press Association amounting to more than six per cent upon the profit sharing certificates will be appropriated to the general purposes of the Socialist movement.

The treation of an indestructible weapon of publicity and economic power of this character will be a task for which the Socialists of America may well make sacrifices of greater magnitude than they ever creamed of before.

The new company has been formed, not to supersede the old publishing company, but to act as an auxiliary to the Daily Socialist and other Socialist papers.

This new company can not pay the old debt of the Daily Socialist, but it can guarantee the continued publication of the paper at a reasonable cost and with the best of service.

To start the company quickly the first ten thousand dollars of certificates must be sold.

The company can then begin on the Daily. Soon afterwards it will have sold enough certificates to print other papers desiring its services.

The proposition before us now is to make this start.

The Daily Socialist is a help to the entire country.

It will be invaluable in the presidential campaign.

It must be taken care of.

We have presented the best and safest proposition that could

"Respecting Property"

A Cry That Is Raised Whenever the Working. men Try to Get a Little More Property for Themselves—By John C. Carroll.

When a trust sees some effort being made to curb its greed, it cries out that the widows and orphans who have invested their scant savings in its gilt-edged securities must not be robbed.

A similar plaint is raised when the employes of a trust seek higher wages.

It is the hypocritical way of saying : "Dividends are sacred." Naturally the larger dividends the greater the sanctity they

With the same purity of intention with which the trust bides behind the "widows and orphans" when it wishes to be undisturbed in its career of plunder, the railroad, in time of strike, scours the slums of the great cities for thugs and gunmen to "protect

The strikers want a better chance to gain homes for themselves. They want a form of labor organization which will protect them against wage reductions and arbitrary treatment. Therefore, in the logic of the railroad, they are the natural "destroyers of property," destroyers of the most sacred kind of property—high dividends.

It must be made known that these strikers are dangerous persons, and that thugs are gentle creatures interested only in the up building of society and the maintenance of property.

A few facts will prove this:

A trainload of strike breakers, guarded by armed men, passed through McComb, Miss. Incidental to their duties in the "protecof railroad property, they insulted some women who were on the railroad station platform watching the train pass.

This action on their part did not make any appreciable hit with the people on the platform, who were benighted enough to resent it. The strike breakers and guards then opened fire on the crowd. One man, Lee Haley, who had a wife and two children at home, dropped dead, two bullets having pierced him from behind.

It then became expedient for the trainload of "protectors" of property to leave town. The citizens showed marked signs of losing respect for the noble and gentle character of the men in the special train.

Undoubtedly the widow of Lee Haley cannot agree with the railroad's methods of "protecting" property.

From the railway point of view Mrs. Haley must be wrong, for her husband was a striker.

Haley was one of those extremists who thought more of his wife and children than of high dividends for the railroad company. From the railroad point of view it is regrettable that there are such unenlightened persons.

Haley had mates in the shops of the Illinois Central railroad at McCemb who also thought more of their wives and children than of high dividends.

Many of these men were engaged in making installment paynts on their homes, small cottages, the fruits of a life of toil, skilled, useful toil, the kind of toil that makes it possible for the Illinois Central to earn an equivalent of 10 per cent on its stock.

It must be clear to anyone, who will seriously listen to railroad arguments, that men who will work a lifetime to get a home for their families are flighty and irresponsible persons.

It follows then that when such men strike to protect themselves and their wives and children from the growing power of organized capital they act without knowledge of how dearly the railroad loves

Can there be anyone now who doubts the sincerity of a railroad which hires thugs to "protect" itself against men so fanatical as to think their wives and children to be superior to dividends?

Obligingly the federal courts in several of the states have taken the railroad view of "protecting" property.

If workingmen dislike the railroad view of "protecting" property, they may grow to dislike corporation methods of running the They may refuse to use their ballots for protecting the most sacred kind of property, high dividends, and use their ballots

The fight to keep up wages and keep down prices is the immediate concern of the working class of the world. These are the two points at which the workers' share of the products of their own toil is affected. They ought to have it all, instead of a mere share, and they are uniting into Socialist parties to get it all. Meanwhile they are fighting against the tendencies of capitalism to reduce the wages and raise the prices, or to raise the prices more rapidly than wages

Professor Graham Taylor says of the conditions in England: The cost of living has increased 17 per cent in England in the last thirty years and wages have increased only 6 per cent. There are 134,000 employes of the English railways who receive $5 or less a week, 107,000 who receive between $5 and $7.50 a week and only 78,000 who get more than $7.50 a week."

In spite of the magnificent labor unions that have been built up in England the proportion of their own products received by the third vice president. workers has gone steadily down. There is no telling how much lower it might have gone without these unions, but the fact that they have been unable to hold their ground by means of unions alone proves the necessity of action at the ballot box, where, with the conquest of political power, more effective measures of offense and defense can be taken.

If you stand before a man's house day and night and in a loud voice demand food, clothing and shelter, it is inevitable that after trying to drive you away with stones and sticks he will offer you a sandwich. That is why we hear so much semi-Socialist talk nowadays. The sticks and stones have been tried and some people who have tired of that method are passing out the sandwiches. But stick till you get all that you asked for.

A Democratic president is the prediction for 1912 freely indulged in. The last Democratic president we had sent federal troops to Chicago. If the railroad situation continues to grow more acute another Democratic president may be just in time to send the troops again. Oh, the Democratic party has reformed, has it? Yes, they always reform when they are out of office.

Organization of the working class into a political party of their own, with a definite understanding of what is to be done, is the important work of the hour. Help build. It is easy to talk, but it is portant work of the nour. Help build. It is easy to harder to build. The patient, hard working builders are the heroes

A committee of one hundred Republicans has been formed to clean up the state of Illinois. We hardly suspected that anything had been left lying around loose, but from the personnel of the new committee we should judge it will not overlook anything.

The class struggle is just a fight with highwaymen along the road of human progress. We will lick the holdup men soon and the stage of civilization will move along at a lively clip.

A pure food show is being held in Madison Square Garden, New York, and it costs fifty cents to get a look at the pure food. The exhibits are probably locked up in glass cases to prevent any workingman getting a smell of them.

It is unnecessary to impoverish the English lan-guage in paying compliments to the ability of Maple as a writer. He is known throughout America as one of those exceptionally brilliant men whose word-paintings of conditions that exist, leave indelible impressions upon the minds of men.

He has the courage of the Spartan, the pen of a Brann and the logic of a philosopher. As the National Rip-Saw under the editorship of Maple achieved reputation from ocean to ocean, so vill "The World's Butt-Cut" sustain the reputation of the man, whose pen in the past has punctured hypocrisy and torn off the mask from the brutal features of an industrial system that has saturated civilization with tears and blood.
