CHICAGO LABOR DEMANDS RECALL OF AMBASSADOR

"Release Cuban Labor Leaders," Workers' Cry

Pleading the plight of Julia A. Mella and his under the shoulder of American imperialism, a mass meeting of Chicago workers at Northwestern Hall, corner North and Western avenues, Sunday night protested against the intrigues of the American sugar trust on the United States government recall Ambassador Crowder.

The treaty which forces Cuba to maintain the notorious Platt amendment to her constitution is the instrument of American imperialist domination. The meeting was one of many to be held in the important cities of the United States, under the joint auspices of the All-American Anti-Imperialist League (Chicago) and International Workers' Defense.

The meeting further demanded immediate release of all those kept in jail in Cuba by American influence. Quick action is necessary, it pointed out, if Mella and his comrades are to be saved. Mella is in a desperately serious condition as a result of the long battle which he has been carrying on in prison.

William F. Dunne, the principal speaker, gave a scathing account of American imperialist history with regard to Cuba, beginning with the unprovoked acts of aggression in 1895. One of the slogans of this war, he declared, was "Viva Cuba Libre" (Long live free Cuba).

The executive council of the American Federation of Labor favors the world court. William Green is instructed to keep in touch with delegates from St. Raphael, France, Foch and Joffre of France were shown in conversation. The caption said: "The speaker, William Green, is breaking reverses in the world war and 'happier remembrances of glorious triumphs'."

Workers Must Fight Imperialism.

"The greatest share of the responsibility for fighting American imperialism," declared the speaker, "rests upon the workers of the United States. The official bureaucracy of the trade unions does not take up this task. Instead it strives to extend American imperialism by poisoning and rendering harmless the labor movements of the subject countries, while at the same time sharing the filigree gains of imperialism thru the profits of colonial banks, insurance schemes, etc. This makes our responsibility for determined struggle all the greater."

Other speakers included Manuel Gomez, secretary of the All-American Anti-Imperialist League, and a young Negro who told of the struggle of the Negroes against race discrimination and oppression in this country. Vicente Orbet, a Filipino, who described the iniquities of the rule of Gov. Wood, and George Master, secretary of the Cuban branch of the "Labor Leader."

Adopted Resolutions. A resolution demanding complete and immediate independence for the Philippine people was unanimously adopted. Copies of the resolutions were forwarded to President Coolidge, to the Filipino independence Mission now in Washington and to the Philippine legislature.

TITLED BRITISHER SPILLS THE INDIA RUBBER BEANS IN PRESS

(Special to The Daily Worker)
LONDON, Dec. 21.—Government circles were not too pleased today with a frank discussion of the rubber situation which appeared yesterday in Lord Riddell's News of the World under the heading, "Rubber is Wiping Out England's Debt to the United States."

"With rubber fetching today a dollar a pound, American in four years will have paid this country the equivalent of the British war debt of 'two billion dollars,'" said the News of the World. "Every American who is prudent enough to buy his motor car will have a longer life than the American rubber tyres he is helping the British pay off the debt they incurred to save their lives."

Reports that Secretary Hoover plans to encourage the planting of rubber in the United States are described by the newspaper as "moonshine." The government has been prone to deny that there is any artificial increase in the price of rubber, and such frank discussion as this in the News of the World is discouraged, lest it calls for American retaliation in the form of restrictions that will raise the price of wheat and other staples to Great Britain.

Membership of the Amalgamated Called to Act for Union

time and again, three times in succession, but in vain.

"They only made a fuss that they would 'organize the unorganized' miners, but have failed to do so under the cloak of the finger of the 'manufacturers' association (the organization of the miners' union). As it looks now the leaders of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers have made themselves a committee of the 'unorganized' association."

The Reign of Terror. The most active members of the union have been suspended. Workers are thrown out of shops when they dare protest against the criminal behavior of the employers. Terror has been instituted by not only the expulsion policy has been put into effect, but the membership has been broken up.

The official press of the Amalgamated is lured into sheets by which the Hillman leadership is shown up its criminal activities with ethical and radical phrases. No word has been said about the strategy that the membership leads against the bureaucracy. Not a syllable has been said about the criminal behavior of the tailoring industry. Everything there had been planned in 1917.

The unbearable conditions in the shops on the one hand, the continuous concoding policy of the Hillman machine on the other, and the terror against the membership as a good third, were the forces that followed the war. Still another picture shows German drives with a new drive apparatus trying to raise a new Hitler's "embarment." What do the workers care? They are taught to hate the workers of other nations and to assist the capitalists of the same nations when hate longer serves.

CHICAGO recently "honored" Bar... "I am not sure if you are a worker, but I was shocked surprised about the German bourgeoisie bringing the remains of a popular hero from St. Raphael, France in order to feed the nationalistic ego of the people. But did the entire purpose to see a representative of Great Britain's military force offering tribute to a soldier on whose head they had set a price a few years ago. No doubt, the Communist Party of Germany would be the first to welcome the ease with which the capitalists can forget their differences when it comes to the profits of the war. The workers have no clashing to resent any try clash. They are and this was shown plainly in their recent election. This is the situation in the Amalgamated Clothing Workers in our trade against the Amalgamated machine.

Pres. Green, of A. F. of L. Took Two Months to Get Out Letter to Aid Miners

By J. LOUIS ENGDHAL.

TODAY, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, finally issues an appeal to all affiliated organizations to contribute funds for the striking anthracite coal miners in Pennsylvania.

This is an example of the efficiency of the Green regime in control of an American organized labor. It has taken two months for Comper's successor to write this letter.

It was two months ago, while the sunshine and warmth of October days were still beaming over Atlantic City, that the A. F. of L. convention by unanimous vote, all delegates organizations to contribute funds for the striking anthracite coal miners in Pennsylvania.

BRITISH MINERS DEMAND RELEASE OF COMMUNISTS

Denounce Jailings as Political Acts

(Special to The Daily Worker)
LONDON, Dec. 21.—The executive committee of the British miners' union demanded the release of the British Communists in jailing the twelve Communists, who joined the miners in the labor movement of England, and joins with the other British unions in their demand that these working class fighters be immediately released.

The committee unanimously protests against the altogether unwarrantable and senseless interference with the freedom of the Communist leaders, but the whole proceedings were influenced at every stage by political bias.

"We unite with the other trade unions in demanding the immediate release of the Communist leaders, and we demand that no attempt to interfere with the freedom of the press, free speech, and free labor of opinion."

"Signed on behalf of the executive committee of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain: Herbert Smith, president; Hal. Hun T. Richards, vice president; W. P. Richardson, treasurer; A. J. Cook, secretary."

Mr. Lowden—Farmers' Advocate

Since Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, received a staggering political blow in the primaries leading up to the republican presidential elections in 1920, he has been diligently trying to recover his standing.

Now this discredited darling of the industrialists comes forth as the advocate of the interests of the farmers while in reality endeavoring to destroy them. He proposes a federal farm bill which would utilize government resources for the farmer as the federal reserve board aids the banks.

As is well known the federal reserve system "to aid the farmers" is a means of sucking the farmers' money out of their pockets.

Government agents will advise farmers to purchase new machinery and nitrate and other chemicals for replenishing the soil.

With the industrialists falling in line with the bankers for a general expropriation of the farmers, which will proletarianize millions of them, it will be impossible for the capitalist news papers and politicians to baffle the minds of the agricultural workers with the illusion that their interests are opposed to the interests of the workers.

In this respect it is significant that in North Dakota, where large scale farming is proceeding at a rapid rate, we have a mass impulse toward independent class political action.

The Next Step

Now that Col. Edward M. House has returned, after almost five years, to his old room in the White House, so that he can "advise" the president as to how to advise Wilson, there can be no doubt that the world court project is really the threshold (whether it be called back or not) into a new phase of the Wilson administration.

It is the ideal union in the eyes of the "open shop" employers. Stated in brief, the "open shop" plan is a plan for the mutual cooperation between employer and worker.

Compare the foregoing statement of "open shop" principles with the principles of the "B. & O. Plan," which were formulated by Wm. H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists, and Otto S. Beyer, Jr., consulting engineer for the railroad shop unions.

THREE LEFT WINGERS ON EXECUTIVE BOARD OF GARMENT WORKERS

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 21—The following were elected to the executive board of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union at closing session of the convention here:

- Louise Hyman, of Local No. 9; J. Borokhov, of Local No. 2; Julius Perkowski, of Local No. 22, representing the left wing in the union; and Grigori S. Nifko, J. Halperin, D. Dubinsky, L. Antonin, H. Greenberg, E. Reichberg of Philadelphia, M. Andrus of Canada, Molly Freedman of Chicago, C. Kreidler of Cleveland, J. Hochman, D. Goddes of Boston.

Delegates to the American Federation of Labor including B. Deist, Negredo, and Greif, respectively, all present the right wing.

It can be said without hesitation that the convention was, in testimony submitted by the reactionary press, the most convincing proof of the victory of the general line of the left wing in the L. G. W. as far as the struggle against the open shop labor movement. We must look upon the fight merely as part, an important part, of the broader struggle in which we are engaged through the American labor movement.

The period from the appearance of the T. N. E. L. up to the Boston convention of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union was authorized.

From the Boston convention until the suspension of Locals 2, 9, and 22, the left wing of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union was authorized.

From the organization of the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations until the suspension of the suspended locals until the convention.

With the end of the convention the left wing fight for a militant program was out of control of the union enters a new phase. Its successful issue depends upon strategy and tactics as well as upon the correct estimation of the strength and weaknesses displayed by the various forces.
