

BOSSSES' COURTS JIAL STRIKE PICKETS

Uphold Ruling of Injunction Judge Sullivan

The sentences imposed on the eight garment workers arrested for picketing in the International Ladies' Garment Workers' strike in the Market St. district in 1923 by Superior (Injunction) Judge Denis E. Sullivan and Charles M. Foll and Circuit Court Judge Ira Ryan were upheld by the appellate court.

Eighty women, most of them mothers, who were from five to forty days for picketing the struck shops in the Market street district in Chicago's injunction judges. The women will be forced to start serving 30 days in the next two weeks. Seven men, who aided the strikers, will also have to start serving 30 days in the next two weeks.

During the appeal it was brought out that copies of the pickets' names were in the hands of the pickets and that the names were not in the hands of the judge.

Left Wing Active. During this strike all attempts were made by the left wing in the needle trades to have the entire Chicago Federation of Labor throw its support behind the girl pickets, who were clubbed by drunken policemen.

Attorneys were also made to get before the city council, to force an investigation of the police brutality. Attempts were made to get Fitzgerald and Nockle on to the picket line and to organize mass demonstrations against the injunction.

Due to the failure of the heads of the Chicago Federation of Labor to back the striking garment workers to the limit, the heads of the Chicago Federation of Labor to take care of, more so than children from five to forty days.

VARGA EXAMINES CAPITALISM IN THE U. S. IN ITS RELATION WITH THE WORLD ECONOMIC SITUATION

The proper understanding of the economy of capitalism, both in its general aspects and in its form at any given time, is the first requirement of those who claim to lead the struggle for the overthrow of capitalism. It is not enough to stop at the knowledge of the general trend of capitalism economy, to understand merely that capitalism, like all other systems preceding it, is doomed to perish.

While the nations of Europe are all passing through some special crisis of their own, the United States continues to differ from all these European struggles in that they are enjoying a continuation of prosperity. America is the only country in the world of capitalism, the sole country whose production has a rapid upward tendency.

The depression observable in America in the spring appears to have appeared once more before the approach of a renewed boom. The upward tendency is however, not yet so clearly defined, as would be seen from the following figures, which give a survey of economic conditions on the whole.

Table with 2 columns: Month/Year and Value. Rows include August 1924, January 1925, March 1925, June 1925, July 1925, August 1925.

The degree of employment sank by 1 per cent in July, and rose again in August. On the other hand, production increased by 3 per cent in July, to sink again by 4 per cent in August.

Although the economy has improved considerably, the Iron Age reports the steel works to be working one more at 50 per cent of their capacity than other departments (the plate rolling mills) even up to 50 per cent.

FRENCH-SPANISH MURDER RIF TRIBESMEN

Participant Tells of Brutalities

By ARMINIUS G. J. FARIES. (Special to The Daily Worker) The strategy used by the Spanish and French garrisons which witnessed while fighting on the side of the Rifians in two campaigns, consists in advancing from a concentration camp and taking advantageous positions about some village whose defenses they seek.

The French and Spanish armies use all the modern weapons and are well equipped. All that the tribesmen had was rifles. The attacked village is reduced to ruins.

Many of the defenseless villagers are killed as they flee their homes. Many more are killed when the airplanes suddenly attack some small village.

Those killed by airplanes are blown piecemeal into the air, I have seen many bodies which could not be buried because the bomb was dropped.

The French take the prisoners and beat them with sticks. They also cut their thumbs off the prisoners in order to force obedience to the Sultan at Fez, who is the puppet of the imperialists.

The Spanish commanders have a habit of saying to their men: 'Moros muertos,' which translated means: 'The best Moor is the dead Moor.'

The soldiers sent here commit all kinds of barbarities—without restriction. The only law is that of the sword.

CHARITY HANDS G. O. P. FEARING OUT FREE MEAL TO UNEMPLOYED WORKERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The crying need for food and shelter among the unemployed is the greatest city in the world which also boasts of being the richest was denounced today by the poorest who led by the brazen hordes who led the world to know that charity has turned out to be a bitter-sweet.

The admission that there are over 10,000,000 unemployed in this country is a fact which they have to be thrown out on the sidewalk because they cannot pay their rent and are so hungry they will accept the hypocritical hand of puffed charity does not seem to impress the brainy preachers and editors who spout about the "unprecedented poverty" that has gripped the country.

Our meal-it is something to brag about. But 30,000,000 need three meals a day as a rule. In a year each month needs somewhere about 1,925 meals. The 30,000,000 need 3,600,000,000 square meals a year.

PORRIDGE PLUS PILLS AT C. M. T. C.

Many American youths having found wonderful fatty salts (about the C. M. T. C.) in the schools, in the press and in the streets, followed for a month or so, and that their much advertised Ulling Sam was sometimes capable of telling untruths.

An time went on, the quality of the food improved a bit. I suppose it was not the fault of the camp authorities that this was so. Many were taken ill, all suffered at one time or at another attacks of constipation, and there were long lines of sick to get their camp supplied with C. M. T. C. pills to what they came to be known as. I could understand the poor quality of the food, when the government appropriated approximately seventy cents a day for food for a person. I once heard the top sergeant of our company tell a group who was discussing the problem that the food in the regular army was much better than the food in the army. I was given thirty cents a day for food for such regular army men. It looked like someone was raking off profit.

They are promised wonderful pay if they work hard enough, so they work early and late, from eight in the morning to all hours of the night. After ten or twelve years of this, they find out to their dismay the meaning of this promise. Just as soon as they ask for a raise they are fired, and new victims are acquired. Workers Write About the Workmen's Life

WORKER BESTS VERBOND LEADER IN CONTROVERSY

By H. VANKLES (Worker Correspondent)

A couple of painters and myself went out on a job, our house in Devonport. My boss told me that the owner of the house, which was called the house, was a member of the Jewish Verbond of the socialist party.

When we started on the job all there was was just the painters. The family was away on a vacation. I had heard from some folks that they were very close to the socialist movement that this fellow was very active in the "House of Russia."

After getting the kind of a library and the staff he reads, I spoke to one of the men on the job about it. The other painter, who attends a night college, answered "This guy is in a bad way. He's got a lot of money."

One day at lunchtime, while I was sitting at the table, I saw a man reading THE DAILY WORKER. The owner of the house, who had just returned from his vacation, saw me reading THE DAILY WORKER and said:

"Yes," I answered, "Every class conscious worker is a Red." The man said: "What do you think about Russia?" I asked this socialist:

"What's wrong in this country?" he asked. "Probably nothing for me and there is a lot of things wrong for me and my people."

"Who else Russian workers are marking to death while you are here making a good living?"

Workers Must Join Communists. The Workers' Communist Party and the Young Workers' Communist League are the only organizations for workers.

For the anniversary edition, we want you to write 200 words of appreciation of Comrade Lenin's services to the working class and the world revolution. Please do not write more than 200 words as we will have to cut your articles down in order to get in the paper.
