A. F. OF L. PROPOSES TO OUT-DO COMPANY UNIONS IN EFFICIENCY BY CLASS COLLABORATION PLANS

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL. (Special to The Daily Worker)

CONVENTION HALL, Detroit, Mich., Oct. 13 .- Forced into a realization of the startling fact that two million workers are today organized into the so-called company unions under the American plan or "open shop" plan the delegates to the American Federation of Labor here today took action to combat this threat to the trade union movement.

Instead of instituting drastic measures, however, to build up the labor unions as class organizations of the workers, to combat the capitalist employers, the convention resolution unanimously adopted pleaded for greater class-collaboration with the exploiter with the expectation that the substitution of the trade unions for the company unions will "be of service not only to the American workers but to the American industry in all branches and to the American public in general."

U. S. Strike-Breaking Leads the World

By GORDON CASCADEN.

(Special to The Daily Worker) BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 11 .-- All previous monthly records for shipment of scab coal to break the British miners' strike were passed by September loadings.

With one day less in which to load, last month's total tonnage of coal shipped to the British Isles and other overseas' markets exceeded August, a record month.

Last month also marked the entrance of two additional ports into the coal-exporting trade, Philadelphia and Charleston, joining Hampton Roads and this port.

But the shipments from Philadelphia and Charleston were small indeed when comparison is made with the two large coal-shipping ports.

Supply Previous British Market. Coal was exported from Philadelphia to all parts of the world, Coalladen vessels sailed for the Canary Islands, Azores, Cuba, Porto Rico, Arzentina. Brazil. West Africa, France, Italy and the British Isles. The total tonnage however, was not large, ships carrying part cargoes of coal.

The British steamer Trevose, which sailed from Charleston for Buenos Aires. Argentina, on Sept. & was the first vessel to leave that South Carolina port with a full cargo of coal. The total Charleston tonnage during September reached around 100,000 tons, and part of it went to Cuba and South America. Dredging at the Southern Railway company's coal pier to a depth of 30 feet helped September coal export.

800,000 Tons a Week.

But more than 800,000 tons of bituminous coal are leaving the United States weekly for places hitherto supplied by British mines.

Hampton Roads, with its twin ports of Norfolk and Newport News, which ships most of this coal, did not beat its monthly record of August, altho-September passed the total for the first thirty days of the previous month,

Hampton Roads' September Record. September coal dumpings for all the Hampton Roads piers totalled 2,710,-992 tons, as against 2,762,031 tons for August.

Like the previous month, the Norfolk & Western railroad led in dumping records, piling up 1,107,815 tons. The Chesapeake & Ohio total reached 908,876 tons while the Virginian Railway dumped 694,301 tons. The Norfolk & Western's record was the greatest in the history of any railroad dumping coal for export. This railroad has bettered the million mark for three months in a row

Baltimore Shipments.

Baltimore coal shipments for September exceeded those for any previous month in this port's long his-Incomplete returns for the month put the total at approximately able to get the kind of answer he 800,000 tons.

Preliminary figures show aggregate export coal loadings of 782,468 tons, carried in 125 vessels. August exports, which established a record, reached 753 629 tons carried on 117 vessels.

782,468 Tons to British Isles. Ninety-eight vessels transported 628,069 of the 782,468 tons, to ports in the British Isles, smaller amounts stated that he opposed recognition going to Italy, Spain, Egypt, Argentina, France, and Porto Rico.

The first nine months of 1926 place Baltimore's total overseas' coal exports at 2,537,274 tons, as compared with 257,827 tons for the same period last year and 290,887 tons for the whole of 1925.

U. S. Leading Scabbery. The United States has the unenviable record of supplying nearly half the total amount of soft coal imported into the British Isles during the coal strike. Figures compiled by the Minerals Section, United States Department of Commerce, show that 3,500,000 out of 8,000,000 tons of soft coal imported by Britain from the beginning of the strike until the end of August came from this country.

Before the strike very, very little soft coal was shipped from the United States to British ports. During August, Great Britain imported 1,510,761 tons of bituminous coal from this country, a slight increase over the total for July.

The debate that ensued was not without its comical features. In his contribution Green tried to rouse the delegates to fear and trembling by reading a report, evidently taken second anniversary memorial of the death of Lenin, held in New York City. He read of speeches made by Charles Krumbein and William W. Weinstone, in which these speakers urged a soviet government for the and then they'll buckle down to

United States. Oh, William! How Shocking! Green commented: "These speakers showed they understood their instructions from the Red International." In A. F. of L. conventions the term "Red International" is used interchangeably for both the Red International of Labor Unions and the Communist International. Then Green continued reading the report stating that "the audience rose as Ben Gitlow entered the hall" and later told of Communist work in the unions, which Green of course considers very reprehensible.

Pulls an Anti-Climax. He read on, to the effect that M. J Olgin had spoken in Russian, and then with face flushing deep crimson, Green read in a loud and strident voice the closing paragraph of the report to the effect that the speakers had stated the the time would come when "the Red Flag would be the national emblem and the White House would be painted red."

Green had very evidently expected a wave of horror and outraged patriotism to sweep the convention. Instead the delegates had a hearty good laugh at Green's extreme seriousness, and his very miserable attempt at redbaiting. He should take lessons from Lewis.

Green failed again quite lamentably on another occasion when he tried to heckle Tim Healy, after the head of the stationary firemen had finished histalk. Healy is one of those mentioned as a member of the proposed unofficial labor delegation to the Soviet Irishman Won't Be Bluffed. "If this resolution is adopted will you, Brother Healy, still persist in being a member of the proposed delegation to Russia?" asked Green.

"You're seeking information, Mr. President," replied Healy, with an Irish smile, but fearing that the delegates might misinterpret this indirect reply, Healy declared, "As a citizen and as a member of the American Federation of Labor, I intend to go where I please, when I please and to what country I please."

"As a delegation claiming to repre sent the American Federation of Hayes Defends Eddy.

Delegate Hayes came next, opening with a defense of Dr. Sherwood Eddy, whom he claimed "was a friend, is a friend and will remain a friend of the trade union movement." He said that Eddy had not espoused the cause of the Communist revolution.

"Dr. Eddy only said what dozens of others had stated they seen in Soviet Russia, and what they had reported when they returned to this country,'

Where Was Federation During Czardom.

Then he denounced the fascist tyrannies in Spain, Italy and other countries, asking the committee why it had not prepared resolutions attacking these governments.

"If we are not in favor of relations with the Soviet Union," he said, "then we ought to be in favor of annulling our relations with all these other countries. Why not apply the same principle to all. No one in any American Federation of Labor convention ever got up to demand the recall of the American ambassador to Russia under the czardom.

For a Delegation,

"Let us approach this question open minded. Let us send a commission to Russia to investigate and make a report on what they find there. We owe this duty to ourselves and the world at large.

"The time is here," he concluded "or ought to be here, when we ought to designate some one to go to Europe to investigate conditions to see how much Russia is progressing."

They Know It All. Delegate Frey got the floor and claimed there was nothing about Russia that the A. F. of L. leaders did not already know. He declared that the purpose of the Russian Communist Party was to bring about, thru a world revolution, the same kind of a Soviet government the world over. He stated that, "The experiences we have had with the Communists in this country ought to be enough. We don't need to know more than we know now." and Frey is touted as the mos

Walker Didn't Like Us. Walker then denounced The DAILY WORKER, from first issue to last, claiming it never had a friendly word for the officials of the labor move-

It was here that Delegate Healy got the floor, declaring: "I can't understand the attitude of the A. F. of L. toward Russia."

He cited the visits of labor delegations from other countries to Russia and said: "The A. F. of L. should take the same action in that line. I am not an advocate of the Soviet form of gov-Russia."

Got Truth from British. Healey then told of his visit as frathe British Trade Union Congress and of the prisoner. getting his first real information about conditions in Russia from British labor spokesmen, especially from James O'Grady, who spent some time in Russia as chairman of a British mission there. After narrating some of the difficulties facing the Russian workers. he said:

COMMUNIST INTERNATIONAL ISSUES APPEAL FOR MINERS' STRUGGLE

By JOHN PEPPER

(Special Cable to The Daily Worker) MOSCOW, Oct. 12.-The Executive Committee of the Communist International has issued an appeal stating that the mighty social struggle in Great Britain is growing more acute every day. The last conference of delegates of the Miners' Federation, which rejected with an overwhelming majority the insolent provocations of the conservative government, decided to continue the struggle in the most energetic manner. The manifesto points to the fact that the challenge hurled at the mine workers is now accompanied by a challenge of the British capitalist class against the whole working class by the decision of the conservative party conference in Scarborough against the right of the trade unions to exist.

Communist Party Demands.

The Communist Party of Great Britain demands the driving out of the conservative government, the dissolution of parliament, the establishment of a real labor government under the control of the workers, and an embargo on coal. . The workers of the world must hurry assistance to the British miners, to help frustrate the treach- them. erous machinations of the General Council of the Trade Union Congress and of the leaders of the labor party. They must oppose the treachery of the reformist leaders of the Amsterdam Miners' International.

Support to Miners.

The struggle of the British miners is of tremendous importance to the fate of the workers of all countries. In spite of predictions be employers willing to enrich themof defeat in the bourgeois press of the world, and in spite of all ef- selves temporarily at such terrific and forts of the reformists, the British miners will win, if supported by appalling cost to the masses of their the world proletariat.

In the east the French ambassador in China, de Martel, has been negotiating with the White Guard Russians of the "Russo-Asiatic Bank" for the exploitation of the Chinese Eastern Railway. This is to be "compensation" for the Russian debts.

According to the Harbin Observer while in Mukden, deMartel stated that French capital could give 43,000,000 Mexican dollars in an internal Mukden loan. He discussed the question of financing the Chinese Eastern Railway in view of the imminent taking over of the railway by Chang. Another version is that the financial operations will be entrusted to the Russo-Asiatic Bank, "as it has experience in this field." Allusion is evidently made to the period when the railway was in the hands of the Russian White Guard emigrants.

HERE'S ONE CASE!

"One fellow-worker in my shop said to me: "Well, maybe you guys are all right for the time when there'll be a revolution here like in Russia. But there ain't any revolution now-so what have you got to say. I guess nothing."

"I soon showed him he was wrong. I gave him a copy of the CON-GRESSIONAL PROGRAM OF THE PARTY and proved to him that we have something to say about every question that is of interest to the workers. He read it and then the next day he said that he was for us and was going to vote for us and try to get others to vote for us. He liked the stand we took and he said that maybe he'd join the Party."

We must tell every worker the stand of the Party on the big issues of the present election campaign! We can do this by distributing met Tuesday, Oct. 5, to consider agi- in the period 1919-1923. tation plans to crystallize the local interest and support in the struggle for the two imprisoned workers.

It was decided to hold a monster demonstration, if possible in Madison from $24.05 to $24.38. Square Garden, immediately after the announcement of Judge Thayer's decision on the pending motions for a new trial, which is expected within the next few weeks.

Expect Victory Fete.

In the event that the decision is a favorable one, which all the facts would warrant but which the known prejudice of Judge Thayer makes unlikely, the meeting will be a celebration of victory and a pledge to Sacco and Vanzetti that New York labor will not cease its work on their behalf until they are vindicated and liberated. The slogan of the committee is that Mine Owners Hope to Sacco and Vanzetti must not suffer the fate of Mooney and Billings. They must not be commuted to life imprisonment and forgotten. A new trial will result in an acquittal and freedom. Nothing less will satisfy labor.

Prepare For Worst.

However, those who have participated in the long, bitter struggle of six years to save Sacco and Vanzetti has no false illusions about justice in Massachusetts. They are prepared for the worst and realize that Judge Thayer's decision in all probability will be unfavorable and a new trial course has been added to the list of will again be denied. Some Things Left Out. This organ of the mine owners quotes the most optimistic figures as to the number of persons who own corporation stock in industrial enterprises. It estimates that the wage workers in America now control nearly $1,000,000,000 of stock in the industries wherein they are employed. It omits any discussion of the percentage of this sum to either the total capitalization of these industries or the average annual earnings of the stock to the employe-owner. But quoting from the plea the mining congress made to the senate finance committee for favors in the tax bill last winter, the journal emphasizes the "stabilizing influence of the selling of small bits of stock to employes."

ACTION NEEDED TO

Miners Ready for Revolt Against "Rump"

By HARRY KLETZKY.

The situation that exists in Colorado, principally that of the "Rockefeller Plan for Industrial Democracy,' the first company union, is a challenge to the American Federation of Labor as well as to the United Mine Work-

If the company union "disease" is to be cured in the United States, it must be cured first in Colorado. The policy of "watchful waiting" in Colorado has been carried out for 12 years. The time has come for the offensive. The Colorado coal miners themselves are beginning to demand it; it is time that the entire labor movement look to the "cancerous growth," which received its birth in this state.

Effort Needed.

If the A. F. of L. is sincere in its fight on the company union, then no amount of effort or money should be spared to wipe it out in Colorado Circumstances could not be more propitious. Twelve years of the plan have revealed to the workers themselves the inherent weakness, the sickening flatness, the discouraging futility of maintaining such a program.

With the miners realizing the failure of the company union in Colorado, the principal foundation of the plan has been torn down. As long as the miners themselves were debating the plan's merits, undecided as to its real benefits and disadvantages, the trade union organizer was handicapped. But today that is changed. The workers art ready. Why is not the A. F. of L. or the U. M. W.?

Strong Argument,

In the failure of the Rockefeller plan, and it is a failure, the labor movement has its strongest argument against the company union. To destroy it all together, and again help the Colorado miners back to unionism, would strike a blow at the entire company union movement which would be staggering. For Colorado is the foundation of that movement.

The entire state of Colorado is rapidly slipping into the ranks of the "open shop" state. Nothing could bring it back more quickly and more certainly, than a victorious attack on raro, union organizer, tells of a manufacturer in Brooklyn who has been I., controlling the largest industries in state labor law limiting women's work to 54 hours per week. Supposedly Neutral Railway Arbitrators

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.-(F. P.) -Edgar E. What Are "Neutral Arbitrators?"

Some Information and Conclusions About the Wage Dispute on Eastern Railway Lines

By WILLIAM F. DUNNE.

THE conductors and trainmen, members of the Order of Railway Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen respectively, having failed to agree with the executives of the eastern roads on the personnel of a mediation board, have had two arbitrators appointed by the committee which administers the Watson-Parker bill to hand down a decision on wages and working conditions on these railroads.

The first important dispute to be handled by the machinery of the Watson-Parker bill, the records of the afbitrators appointed by the Coolidgechosen committee are of great importance to railway workers as indicating the type which the so-called mpartial machinery picks to "adjust" disputes between the railway capitalists and the workers.

The two "neutral' arbitrators are William D. Baldwin and Edgar E.

Baldwin is the head of the Otis Elevator Company, one of the most otorious open shop concerns in the Inited States and which organized, in co-operation with "friendly" labor leaders, the so-called Elevator Constructors' Union in order to get around the working rules of the building trades.

The Otis factory is completely pen shop, the company has fought the International Association of Machinists and has hired the Sherman Service, Inc., to disrupt unions with which it has had conflicts.

Edgar E. Clark, a member of the aw firm of Clark and La Roe of St. Louis, has held high offices in the Order of Railway Conductors and this fact has been played up to the exclusion of other more interesting and significant details of his career.

According to the "Daily People" of March 25, 1903, Clark had the following achievements to his credit at that

1.) In 1901 Clark, during the strike of switchmen on the Denver and Rio Grande, made an arrangement with the management of the road whereby the switchmen's jobs were taken by conductors. 2.) In 1902, during another strike, furnish.

THESE early proofs of loyalty to the interests of the railroad capitalists brought their reward and in 1903 Clark was appointed Assistant Secretary of Commerce and Labor.

From 1906 to 1921 he was a memer of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Recently, Clark, appearing for the state of the late Adolphus Busch, defended the claims of the railroads for a higher valuation of their properties. (New York Times, Oct. 10.) At intervals he has given lectures on the railroad situation as a representative of the "public," appearing on the same platform with "Poison Ivy" Lee, of Ludlow infamy, now a railroad publicity man.

What price neutrality? The conductors and trainmen whose vages and working conditions are to be arbitrated by these two "impartial" individuals will get a decision giving the workers exactly what the railroads tell this precious pair to allow and no more.

Paul and Bunny talked, that Friday night, and a lot of Saturday and Sunday, and Paul explained the Russian revolution. There was an easy way for Bunny to understand it, Paul said; if there was anything that puzzled him, all he had to do was to remember their oil strike. "Ask yourself how it would have been at Paradise, and then you know everything about Russia and Siberia—yes, and Washington and New York and Angel City. The Oil Operator's Federation, that set out to smash our strike, they're exactly the sort of men that sent our army into Siberiaoften they're the same individuals. I read in the paper yesterday how a syndicate of oil men in Angel City has got some concessions in Saghalien. I remember one name, Vernon Roscoe. He's one of the big fellows, isn't he?'

Paul said this seriously, and Bunny and Ruth exchanged a smile. Paul had been away so long, he had lost track of the oil-game entirely!

Said Paul, "The operators are the same, and so are the strikers. Do you remember that little Russian Jew, Mandel, a roughneck that was in our strike? Used to play the balalaika, and sing us songs about Russia-we wouldn't let him make speeches, because he was a 'red.' Well, by jingo, I ran into him in Manila, on the way out. He'd been travelling steerage on a steamer, on the way to Russia, and they found he was a Bolshevik, and threw him ashore and took away everything he had, even his balalaika. I loaned him five dollars, and six months later he turned up at Irkutsk, in a 'Y' hut. Lying on a shelf there was a balalaika, and he said, 'Why, that's mine! How did it get here?' They told him a soldier had brought it, but didn't know how to use it. 'You can have it if you can play it,' they said, so he played it all right, sang us the Volga Boatman, and then the Internationale—only of course nobody knew what it was. A few days later there were orders to arrest him, but I helped him get away. Months after that we came on him out in the country, not far from Omsk; he had been a Soviet commissar, and the Kolchak people had captured him, and buried him alive, up to his nose, just so that he could breathe. When we found him the ants had eaten most of his eyes, but there was still some life in him, his forehead would wrinkle.'

It was while Paul was alone with Bunny that he told this: and the younger man sat, speechless with horror. "Oh, yes," said Paul; "that's the kind of thing we had to see- and know we were to blame for it. I could tell you things much worse-I've helped to bury a hundred bodies of people that had been killed, not in battle, just shot down in cold blood, men and women, children, even babies. I've seen a 'white' officer shoot women in the head, one after another; and with our bullets, the relief of the textile strikers. Only brought there by our railway men-I mean our bankers' railway men. A lot of our boys went plumb crazy with it. Out of the two thousand that came off our transport, I doubt if there were ten per cent quite normal. I said that to our surgeon, and he

I used to meet them and have long talks-all kinds of fellows, that had been all over this country. They are people with modern ideas, trying to dig the Russians out of their ignorance and superstition. They believe in education-I never saw such people for teaching; everywhere, whatever they were doing, they were always preaching, having lectures, printing things-why, son, I've seen newspapers printed on old scraps of brown butcher paper, or wrappings our army had thrown away. I learned Russian pretty well-and it was just the sort of thing our strikers printed at Paradise, only of course these people have got farther in their struggle against the bosses, they see things more clearly than we

Bunny was staring, a little frightened. "Paul! Then you agree with the Bolsheviks?"

Paul laughed, a grim laugh. "You go up to Frisco and talk with the men on that transport! That army was Bolshevik to a man-and not only the privates, but the officers. I guess that's why they brought us home. There was mutiny in Archangel, you know-or maybe you don't."

A. F. of L. Leaders Wear Out Their "Red Menace" Issue

The burning issue of the support of the Passaic strike, the attack of the open shop interests of Detroit on the trade union movement, the necessity for some sort of a declaration against company unions and the difficulty of working up any enthusiasm for the "non-partisan" political policy following the slush fund exposures, have served in a way to lighten the dark shades of reaction which Bessarablan revolutionary murdered have colored the sessions of the A. F. of L.

But when the question of recognition of the Soviet Union found its way to the floor of the convention reaction blazed forth in un-Siguranza Admits mistakable form.

The whole battery of the executive council went into action and auxiliary artillery was furnished by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

Mathew Woll, defeated in his attempt to postpone action on aid for the Passaic strikers, crawled back to prominence with a diatribe against the first workers' and peasants' government in the of Tkatchenko, the government and world. President Green and Vice-President Wilson contributed police press must now, under the prestheir bits to the debate and the most viciously worded resolution against the Soviet Union ever passed by an A. F. of L. convention Tkatchenko was murdered. The Diwas adopted without a vote against it.

There should be great joy in the camp of the bureaucrats at what appears to be the conclusion of a successful offensive. But no such feeling exists. This year the denunciation of the Soviet Union is a purely formal matter because it is known to wide circles of labor officials and workers that a trade union delegation is practically ready to leave for Russia.

President Lewis of the U. M. W. of A. weakened the case for horrible tortunes, to "escape" and that reaction by elaborating on the activities of the Communists in the his murder was done on the order of miners' union and "accusing" them of backing the opposition to his administration.

It is not a part of the record that Lewis said anything about the known and proved corruption of leading officials of the union by the operators, that he dwelt at any length upon the fact that the non-union mines, because of the failure of his administration to charges are fanifestly false. organize them, are producing the more than two-thirds of the coal mined in the United States, that the coal operators are violating the Jacksonville agreement almost at will without his doing anything in particular about it except to insist that 200,000 miners must leave the industry, that in the anthracite agreement he surrendered the closed shop enforced thru the check-off and accepted rendered the closed shop enforced thru the check-off and accepted and fought under its slogans. Headed by John Brophy and backed by what is undoubtedly a majority of the membership aroused by the danger to the union, Lewis will have a hard time convincing anyone that the opposition in the miners' union arises simply because of a Communist drive against Lewis as an individual, or that the Soviet Union is urging anyone that the opposition their feet, beat him with their clubs, subjected him to the most refined to the mo simple but all-expressive slogan of "Save the Union."

The Communists in the coal miners' union are, of course, supporting the militant program of the opposition to the Lewis ad. Tkatchenko. ministration. The Workers (Communist) Party will give the opposition all the aid it can and it instructs its members to fight for did not utter a sound which would a leadership which will mobilize the union for a powerful organ- have betrayed his fellow-fighters in izing campaign and put it on a fighting basis in preparation for the the struggle for the liberation of the coming struggle for the life of the union when the Jacksonville Roumanian workingclass. agreement expires next March.

The days when the "red menace" could be used to cover completely the slimy trickery of employers' agents in the union have passed and the best proof of this is that the barrage laid down against the Communists by Green, Lewis and Woll is considered despite the fact that it is populated even by the capitalist press as a mere face-saving devise to fore mostly with Bulgarians. Both, Tkatstall fundamental discussion of the real status of the labor movement under their leadership.

The mass opposition to Lewis in the miners' union is the best proof of lack of popular working class support for attacks on the Soviet Union and the American Communists.

Very soon, long before they are ready to do so, the capitalistminded trade union officialdom, is going to have to discuss basic trade union and political questions on their merits. They will be unable to evade such discussions by the cry of "Communism."
