Reckening Day Coming For Fake Progressives Who Betray the Workers

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

VICTOR L. Banger, the lone so-cialist congressition, voted in favor of the McNary Haugen Farm Helief Sill and thus gave what aid he coul in its passage.

The socialist pregram is supposed be one segarate from and against the capitalist program. Since the war, however, it has become the practice of socialists, in all countries, to get their leadership trem the capitalists, the soclaust parliamentarians trailing aleng in the wake of their bourgeois compatriots. This was the tendency under the development of the School (Sociaint) International, acclerated by the events following the world war, when the capitalists needed the socialists more than ever to combat labor's struggie for victory.

It is not necessary to array any testimony against Herger to show that he tollows this course, that in other - countries makes socialists members of anti-labor governments and even premiers of the capitalist state. Berger admits it. he confessed it in his speech on the mcwary taugen Bill before the assembled members of the house of representatives and they applauded

Bertier voted against the Mc-Nary-laugen legislation in the last congress. He has now changed his mind, which is siweys the privilege of the socialist pontician who refuses to stand on the firm basis of the chas struggie, but listen to Berge speaking! ... I admit that when the McNary Haugen Bill was up last year I voted against it. I was not quite sure at the time that I did Cent. I am going to vote for it now, and I am not any more certain that I am right now."

Thus Berger says he finds himself in the position of the "Pennsylvaria-Dutch" justice of the peace wno betened to the lawyers in a damage case, "He agreed at first with one of them and then with the other," according to the story. "And inally he said that they were ght, and decided that the constante had to pay the costs. Which brought laughter from berger's leilow congressmen, laughter at the expense, however, not or berger, but of the working farmers of the nation.

Berger's decision to vote for the McNary-Hauges bill was then reached thru this line of reason-

"Thinking the matter over, however," said Berger, "I thought that the various evils before us it might be wise to choose the smallest. And I believe that the Mc-Nary-Raugen bill in its present form is the least dangerous,' which brought more applause.

The Berger bridges the way to support of old party legislation, with the same argument that great

FRESNO, Cal., Feb. 18- sithough efforts to rescue the bodies of the construction workers killed in the snow slide that buried the camp of the Southern California Edison Co. at Big Creek, 75 miles from here, had ceased, reports that some of the men were still alive caused public sentiment to force the company to renew

The Southern California Edison Co. is the power trust which has control of all available water power sites in the southern part of the Sierra Nevadas. It not only provides light and power for the cities, but due to the fact that most of San Josquin Valley farms are irrigated with ground water, pumped by electric pumps, it grips the agricultural life of the community, and levies enormous toil, on dairymen and fruit growers.

The company is continually expanding its system, opening up new power plants back in almost inaccessible parts of the mountains. Its construction gang camps have many times been shut down by strikes organized by the I. W. W. General Construction Workers Industrial Union No. 310.

The fighting point on which the I. W. W. was able to organize the walk-outs was dangerous work, poor food, and mistreatment of the men.

The lastest disaster is nothing more than could be expected, say the workers familiar with Edison Co. work, for the location of the camps is made without reference to the convenience or safety of the men.

THE FUTURE OF THE NEWSPAPERS "Unless we today think of the generations to come and plant the seeds physically, politically and practically there will be no forests, no lumber, no paper, and without paper, no civilization," says B. T. McBain in The Paper Industry (New York). "Eight million and eight hundred thousand tons in 1925 is a lot of paper, but each year we as a nation ure using from 5 to 10 percent more. Where will it all end unless some steps, and strong measured ones, are taken soon not only to perpetuate our pulp timber supply, but to stop this enormous waste of our national natural resources."

Curiously enough the very newspapers, about which experta like Mr. McBain are concerned, are doing everything in their power to perpetuate the system of which waste of natural resources is an integral part. Anarchy in production in the paper industry, as well as the exhaustion of our lumber reserves are part and parcel of the system of capitalist production as a whole

Mr. McBain's proposed adjustments of the problem are temporary in their nature and fundamentally unsound. We would recommend to him and to the workers generally, the support of a newspaper which is dedicated to the task destroying this system and supplanting it with an order of socists which will insure the conservation of our lumber and newsprint paper supply, and also the reorganization of the entire system of production and distribution for the good of humanity as a whole.—BERT MILLER.

Labor Council of New York City, on behalf of over forty thousand workers whom we represent, herewith voice our emphatic protest by our unwarranted and arbitrary expulsion tonight, which was carried through by Joseph Ryan, president of the Central Trades and Labor Council on instructions of William Green, president of the American Federation of

This wholesale expulsion is flatly in violation of the constitution of the A. F. of L., of our respective Internationals, and of our rights generally as workers. The Most Dangerous Weapon of the People's Armies.

Sun Chuang-fang's forces have been found susceptible to the same arguments which left Wu Pei-fu without an army when the propaganda machine of the Peoples Government of China went into action.

The imperialist press holds this method of warfare to be especially damnable and if they had to choose between the use of poison gas and the dissemination of the doctrines of Dr. Sun Yat Sen by the Peoples Armies would undoubtedly choose the latter as less deadly both in its immediate and ultimate effects. Poison gas merely disables or kills while the conversion of enemy troops by the propagandists of Chinese national liberation leaves them in fighting trim but with the direction of their fire reversed.

Since the Russian Revolution it is becoming more and more apparent that the hazards encountered by imperialist armies fighting revolutionary troops are of a kind for which the imperialist general staff has not been able to devise a defense. This is especially true when the imperialist nations are compelled to use soldiers of the same race or nationality as the workers or colonial peoples which they are trying to subjugate.

The disaster which has overtaken the forces of Sun Chuanfang south of Shanghai is additional proof of the weakness of the political position of Great Britain and the other imperialist powers in China. Similar proof was given by the simultaneous refusal of the Peoples Government and the generals of the reactionary forces to agree to the Cooli Ige proposal for the "neutralization" of Shanghai.

Great Britain especially has been proceeding on the theory that there is no such thing as a united national sentiment in China and this has led her diplomats into grotesque errors—errors which show that the bankruptcy of British diplomacy is just as far advanced as the decay of the empire.

Even Chang Tso-lin, while he accepts support from the Japanese, is forced to follow a policy which makes some pretense of national independence for the provinces under his control. Unity with Chang Tso-lin, as in the case of Wu Pei-fu, has, because of his orientation to Japan, proved disastrous to every militarist whose troops have faced the People's armies.

The Chinese masses, altho the northern minority is still misled by treacherous militarists, are united against imperialism. This is the one big fact which the imperialist powers will disregard only to make this unity more solid.

We believe it is no exaggeration to state that the bombardment of Shanghai or the actual launching of a land offensive by Britain against the People's Armies will mean the desertion of Chang Tso-lin and Sun Chuang-fang by decisive sections of their forces who will then fight under the banner of the People's Gov-

The People's Government (Kuomintang) is the organized and militant expression of Chinese nationalism and its program has a wide popular appeal. In the face of imperialist intervention the militarist leaders will be swamped.

The beginning of the latest phase of this process is the breakup of Sun Chuang-fang's southern army.

The War on Nicaragua Continues

The Coolidge government certainly is giving service to that section of the plunderbund which has investments in Nicaragua and to the general interests of American imperialism in Latin

Almost all of the ships of the Atlantic fleet are in Caribbean waters; a number of them are patroling both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of Nicaragua. All available marines are either on their way to Nicaragua or already there.

Admiral Latimer has been kept busy establishing "neutral" zones in order to prevent the popular army from sweeping Diaz into oblivion and establishing the Sacasa government on a firm foundation and now the state department appears to be preparing to declare the whole country a "neutral" zone and outlaw the liberal forces

The ease with which the poorly organized and equipped popular army has defeated the Diaz forces, in spite of his support by the American state and war departments, exposes the Wall-Street-Coolidge-Kellogg conspiracy against the liberties of the Nicaraguan people in all its nakedness. Diaz, it is evident, could not last 24 hours without the backing of the United States govern-

It is fortunate that the logic of events has disproved the lying assertion that the U.S. forces have been sent to Nicaragua to preserve order. This excuse is without weight and in itself is no justification for the role the state department is playing, but it might serve to beguile elements who think that it is the duty of the United States to police Latin-America.

As it is now the fact cannot be concealed that the only elements of disorder in Nicaragua are those sent there by the United States and its puppet Diaz.

The popular forces have shown beyond a shadow of a doubt that they represent the vast majority of the Nicaraguan people. This is precisely the reason why the Wall Street government supports Diaz who. contrary to the desire of the masses, is willing to give Nicaragua to Wall Street for a canal zone and a military and naval base for imperialist operations against Mexico and

There is no longer any doubt that, lacking powerful protest from American labor, Wall Street government intends to continue its aggressions in Central America.

Speeches of middle class representatives in congress and the senate are all very well; they focus attention on the rape of Nicaragua but they do not stop it. .

The workers and farmers of America, their organizations, alone have the power to force withdrawal of armed forces from Nicaragua and prevent American imperialism from establishing a base for a future bloody war upon the peoples and republics to the south.

THE RIGHT WING'S BIG BROTHER

Woton Sinclair

The upshot of the debate was that no one of them was sure the enterprise would be a success, but all the young ones were willing to pitch in and help, if Bunny was determined for a try. And Bunny said that he had already been looking about for a site, with good land and plenty of water, somewhere about fifty miles from Angel City; he was going to make a first pay-ment on land as soon as he could get the cash, and meantime they would work out the details. would give his own time for three years to getting the institution on its feet, and if it proved possible to develop the right discipline and morale, he would make the institution self-directing, and furnish whatever money could be used effectively. They would need teachers organizers and business agers, so there were jobs for all. And meantime, Bunny must go back to the interviews with lawyers, to try to save as much as possible of the estate. It meant long wrangles with Bertie, for their affairs were in a snarl, and getting worse every day. Verne insisted that Ross Operating must have funds to meet its current expenses: and did they want him to assess the stock, and force the estate to raise the money, or did they want him to buy the lease to the Ross Junior tract, the only asset of Ross Operating, except the claims against the insurance companies? Verne could do what he pleased, because the directors of the concern were himself and his trusted young executives. He was proposing to form another concern, the Paradise Operating Company with other trusted young executives as directors, and sell himself the lease which had twenty years still to run, and was worth nobody could tell how many millions of dollars, for the sum of six hundred thousand!

All right then, said Verne, let the estate do better. Bertie took up the challenge, and exchanged long cables with her husband in Paris and went out among her rich friends-to make the embarrassing discovery that people who have six hundred thousand dollars in cash do a lot of investigating before they spend it, and then want to hog the whole thing for themselves. Bertie spent much worry and hard work-and what made her most furious was that she couldn't do it for herself alone, but had to do it for the whole estate, giving the incompetent Bunny and the infamous Alye the benefit of her labors. She got a proposition; and then the lawyers of the infamous Alyse turned up with another proposition; and Bertie declared they were bigger thieves than Verne.

And then Ross Consolidated needed money, and Verne was going to assess that stock-meaning to drive the estate to the wall and plunder it of everything. Presenty he made a proposition-there was the Roumainian oil venture, into which Dad had put a million and a quarter in cash. Verne offered to purchase this back for the same amount, and the necessary papers were prepared—the heirs all had to consent to the sale, and they did so, and then the court must approve the proposal. This meant delay, and meanwhile the estate was delinquent in the assessment on the Ross Consolidated stock, and this stock was to be sold out. The money from the Roumainian deal was to save it, but to the consternation of the lawyers, the court refused its consent to this deal. There were technical points involved -- the court questioned the authority of Mrs. Alyse Ross's lawsignature, attested in France. In short, the estate couldn't get money in time for the sale, and it was Vernon Roscoe who bought the Ross Consolidated stock at a pargain.

Oh, how Bertie raved and swore -the veritable daughter of a muledriver! Verne, the filthy swine, had put that trick over on them! Not content with having stolen Dad's papers, he had diddled them along like this, and got one of his crooked judges to hold up the order, so that he might grab another plum! Bertie threatened to take a gun to Verne's office and shoot him down like a dog; but what she really did was to abuse her brother, who had been such a fool as to make a mortal enemy out of te most powerful man they knew.

It taught them a lesson. They would get themselves out of Verne's clutches, get rid of everything that he controlled. Dad had put nearly a million into a concern called Anglo-California, which was to develop the big Mosul concession; and the lawyers of Alyse got an offer for that stock, but it included time payments, and Bertie wouldn't agree to that, and the lawyers wouldn't agree to Verne's cash offer, and Bertie was in terror lest Verne would do some more hocus-pocus-organize an Anglo-California Operating Company, and lease the Mosul tract to do it, and swipe all the profits!

Amid which wrangling came a letter from Alyse to Bunny. She was sure that he would not let horrid money troubles come between him and her, and break their sacred bond, the memories of dear Jim. Alyse had gone to consult her favorite medium, immediately upon her arrival in Paris, and at the third seance Jim had "manifested," and ever since then Alyse had had his words taken down by a stenographer, and here was a bulky record, big as the tra of a legal trial, and tied with blue ribons of feminine elegance. Alyse holed that Bunny had not failed to consult a medium, and would send he whatever dear Jim had had to sas in his old home.

Sunny went through the record, and it gave him a strange thrill. There were pages and pages of sentimental rubbish about this happy shore and this new state of bliss, with angel's wings and the music of harps, and tell my dear ones that I am with them, but I am wiser now, and dear Bunny must know that I understand and forgive—all stuff that might have come out of the conscious or sub-conscious mind of a sentimental elerly lady or of a rascally medom. But then came something that made the young man catch his breath: "I want my dear Bunng to know that it is really his father who speaks to him, and he will remember the man who got all the land for us, and that he had two gold teeth in the front of his mouth, and Bunny said that some-body would rob his grave." How in the name of all the arts of magic was a medium in Paris to know about a joke which Bunny had made to his father about Mr. Hardacre, he agent who had bought them options on ranches in Paradise, Caliornia?

By golly it was something to think about! Could it really be that Dad was not gone forever, but had just disappeared somewhere, and could be got hold of again? Bunny would go for a walk to think about it; and through the streets of Angel City he would hear the the radio. Eli's Tabernacle was packed day and night, with the tens of thousands who crowded to see the prophet who had been floated over the sea by the angels, and had brought back a feather to prove it; all California heard Eli's sice, proclaiming the ancient prom-Behold, I shew you a mystury: we shall not all sleep, but we stall all be changed, in a moment, if the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump; for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised inforruptible, and we shall be

Liberals.—They are fair to everybody and everything. The capitalists, communists, fascisti, politicians, clergy, etc., etc. The have open minds on everything. The fear that sometimes so how they may have judged harshly or spoken sharply gives th nightmares. And so they change their views twice daily, imped action, do tight-rope stunts, and generally get in their own ether people's way. It doesn't matter that they are wrong on the whole, so long as they are just and considerate in detail. If only liberals could cure themselves of their paralyzing fairness the would be quite tolerable. But then they wouldn't be liberals. The would be useful conservatives or radicals.

Swiss Justice Smells Like Swiss Cheese.-Ivan De Justh, who attacked the Hungarian premier in Geneva, has been sentenced by a Swiss court to 24 days in prison, ten years' exile and 500 francs fine. The court of the same country acquitted the murderer of Vorovsky. De Justh probably realizes that his mistale was in not killing the premier outright.

THE SYSTEM AND ITS COURT CLOWNS.

A Suggestion to the Nation.—The Nation the other day staged a dinner at which Ruth Hale, Lorine Pruette and Freda Kirchwey defended the thesis that woman is superior to man. The girls made a brave argument. They left the only male speaker, John Macy, no more than two legs to stand on. But the men and the audience who had forked over-$2.75 for the dinner of some female companion felt that there was something fishy about the argument. In justice to the speakers, a customer of this column suggests that in future meetings to establish the superiority, or even equality, of the female of the species, she be compelled to pay for her own meal. It will make the thesis more convincing.

Judging from the amount of sacramental wine being confiscated by the booze-sleuths, there has been a very decided revival of religion in this land.

How the World Reports a Lenin Meeting.

"Some time ago," A. B. Magil writes, "you may recall there was a Lenin Memorial meeting. Well, what do you think happened? The New York World, which, as every child knows, is the great liberal newspaper of the United States, sent a reporter to Madison Square Gardenor maybe it wasn't a reporter. Anyhow, the next morning, gazing over my favorite family journal, I spied the story trying to sneak around a corner of the second page. It consisted of about two paragraphs. The story recorded the fact that there had been a Lenin Memorial meeting and that more than 20,000 Communists had been present. (This must have been heartening news to the comrades who are trying to build up a strong party in New York.) It also said that speeches had been made, but it forgot to say who made them and what they were about. And it ended up with a tasty bit of newspaper writing by saying that 50 policemen kept order and listing the names of the sergeants in command of the diligent cons.

"This struck me as a swell idea, democratic and everything. I would suggest that the World carry the idea into its other departments to be consistent. Why not have Woolcott and Chotzinoff give the names of the head usher, the man at the box office and the janitor in their dramatic and musical reviews? The program and the performers don't Women Hold Most Phone Stock," says the headline to a financial item. We don't know about phone stock, but they certainly hold most phone booths, especially when a fellow needs one badly.

He signs himself "Young Sweeney" and writes to us "as one conducto to another." But his is not the pleasant job of conducting a column. He works on a rapid transit line, works on it all night long, cheerfully answer a lot of questions, and is paid next to nothing by a company which made a million dollars more this year than ever before. (The information comes to us in rhymes.) And now he asks a question in turn:

"Now what I want to know "Is where does all the money go?"

The answer is too easy. As Young Sweeney grows older he will fin out. Or maybe he's only teasing us. Maybe he knew the answer all the time. If it is any consolation to Sweeney and his fellow-workers on the rapid transit, he is welcome to the news that at least one conductor is paid even less than they. Give you one guess.

We lament the decline of pornography. Post-war realism (a lopsided kind of romanticism) has done for it. That realism finds its popular expression in the picture papers and the nude revues. The world's becoming shock-proof. Crude, thick, vulgar, obvious stuff has dulled the taste for such things. The only way Rabelais could get any attention for his work in New York today would be to hire a go-getting publicity man who in turn would get after Sumner to get after the police. Intimate bedroom stuff-in a novel or a divorce court action or a play-is as conventional as the happy ending and as little satisfying. Of finesse and subtlety there

Maybe that explains our plight. A scribe who shall remain un named sends some verses with the assurance that they are pornographic. A diligent search in, between and around the lines fails to disclose the thrill. Nothing short of a picture postcard with accompanying charts will be recognized nowadays, alas, for what it is intended.
