Litvinoff Spends Day in Jaunt to the Country

By MARGUERITE YOUNG (Daily Worker Washington Bureau.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 .-The imperturbable little Soviet Commissar for Foreign Affairs serenely drove out to the countryside for some fresh air today, leaving behind an American capital humming with glorified guessing about the outcome of the Soviet recognition conversations.

Amid conflicting gossip, much of it officially inspired, two points remain

1. The resumption of government diplomatic relations, to remove six-teen years artificial barriers between the always friendly American and Russian peoples, stands agreed upon by both sides; 2. the drawing out of negotiations by the Americans troub-les few of the spokesmen, least of all Maxim Litvinoff

To be sure, the lengthening of the conversations was an unpleasant sur-prise, for Litvinoff himself said that he could finish his side of them in half an hour. Before he arrived here, Americans recalled that this govern-ment had indicated in advance that it wishes to discuss the "difficulties which had created the anomalous sttuation" (Roosevelt) Apparently they have stubbornly insisted upon it, and the Russians have gracefully assented despite the fact that formal recognition came first from the governments of Great Britain, France, Japan and Italy. This being the case, it is anybody's logical deduction that Litvinoff will find profitable uses for his time between "conversations" just as he did while the London Economic erence was dawdling to its death. He has followed up the Soviet rap-proachment with France and its friendship ith Turkey, by exchanging diplomatic amenities in the form of social contacts with diplomats here. He is having dinner tonight with Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Governor of the Farm Credit Association and thus

And no doubt the Commmissar is content to let the Americans talk as long as they like about Russian-American problems. Which of these is causing extended discussion is some thing about which conjectures fly like locusts here, but one thing is agreed upon: none can constitute a serious obstacle. The one most often men-tioned is the pre-revolutionary Kerdebt of less than $200,000,000 to the United States—and the slight-ness of this, beside the incalculable damages suffered by the Soviet government both in lives and loss of property as the result of American intervention, is obvious. Among other possibilities suggested as the nub of the parleying is the formulation of a non-aggression pact between the two governments. More plausible, however, is the guess that what they are looking for is a single "formula" to cover the cancellation of claims in addition to opening the way for acceptable credit arrangements

Litvinoff's jaunt in the country lasted more than five hours. He drove with Boris E. Skvirsky, Soviet representative here, and several other

Two Armistice Day Speeches for War

ARMISTICE DAY was brazenly utilized by Roosevelt's Secretary of War Dern, to justify preparations for a new imperialist blood bath. Dern sought to east off the miserable "peace and democracy" shibboleths by means of which the American workers and farmers were driven into the last world slaughter to spill their blood as fertilizer for the wealth of the Morgan's and Rockefellers.

Now, on the threshhold of a new world war, Dern tells the American workers: "WE MUST BE PRACTICAL ENOUGH TO REMEMBER THAT ECONOMIC RELATIONS ARE ACTUALLY AT THE BOTTOM OF WAR AND IF ECONOMIC CONDITIONS CANNOT BE STABILIZED, PEACE CANNOT BE STABILIZED, EITHER."

So! With the crisis entering deeper phases, Roosevelt's war spokesman declares "peace cannot be stabilized," war must come!

"The lofty aims that Woodrow Wilson thought had been accomplished, were, after all, not realized," gloomily stated the Secretary for War. "Victory came in 1918, but peace did not come." Roosevelt, now, so Dern would have the workers believe, is ordained a new world imperialist slaughter to achieve what Wilson failed to get. On the same day, standing over the unidentifiable body of a worker farmer in the grave of the "Unknown Soldier," Edward A. Hayes, National Commander of the American Legion, seized on the occasion of Armistice Day to stir up war hatred against the Soviet Union.

Unable to meet the issues of the last imperialist war and to justify the slaughter of the tens of millions symbolized by the "Unknown Soldier, Hayes vented his hatred against the Soviet Union and "the official recognition of strange tenets," which "through violence and revolution would destroy the American government."

THE TWO SPEECHES FIT LIKE TWO COGS IN THE ROOSEVELT WAR MACHINE.

DERN pleads for a new imperialist war, based on imperialist economic rivalries, in the name of the peace Wilson failed to achieve. Hayes vents his venom against the Soviet Union, where the workers and peasants turned the imperialist war into a civil war and a victorious proletarian revolution.

Nor do these gentlemen merely speak and propagandize. Behind their speeches, like behind a heavily masked curtain, the Roosevelt regime speeds war preparations at a feverish peace.

In the past six months, $950,000,000 were spent for this new war for plunder declared inevitable by War Secretary Dern. Six hundred million of this war fund came from the regular war budget. To speed war still more rapidly, Roosevelt added $350,-000,000 more from the N.R.A. Public Works fund. Still more is asked for-$125,000,000 by the army and $77,000,000 by the navy.

For the starving unemployed there are only charity and government driblets coupled with forced labor.

American imperialism is rushing to war. Its spokesmen are stirring up hatred a gainst the Soviet Union, precisely at the time Roosevelt seeks to give the impression of conciliation and diplomatic relations. Against these war thrusts, the workers must answer with the sternest

London Police Attack Delegation After Demonstration

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Police this afternoon charged 200 Communists attempting to send a delegation to German Embassy, demanding "the release of our innocent German comrades, Dimitroff, Torgler, Taneff and Popoff." The delega-tion was sent by a meeting of several thousand workers in Trafalgar Square. Several workers were injured by the attack of the police.

NEW YORK .- The tide of protest against the contemplated execution of the four Communist leaders on "trial" for the Reichstag burning kept rising higher and higher as many trade union student and professional organizations and individuals threw their entire support behind the fight to save them from the Nazi axe.

The strength of 35,000 workers will mass behind a Needle Trades Workers' Industrial Union delegation when it appears before the German Consul here today to demand the release of Dimitroff, Torgler, Tanev and Popoff.

Raising the slogan of "Swastika Out of New York!" the National Stu-dent League is mobilizing the students of New York in a demonstra-tion Wednesday before the MacMillan Theatre, Columbia University, where Hans Luther, Nazi Ambassador, is speaking. The students will mass at 7:30 p. m. on the corner of 116th St. and Broadway. At Wednesday noon they will picket the faculty luncheon which is being given for Luther at Columbia University,

Ping Pong

THE following is the partial outcome of research during a Saturday afternoon, which is the Daily Worker staff's allotted time for relaxation. We were coming out of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, discussing the problem heatedly, as the

The three of us were rather crumpled and dusty from having played association football behind the building, and the girl at the informaion desk looked apprehensive.
"Pardon me," I said, "Are there paintings or statues of ping pone "Ping pong players?"

She searched behind us, possibly for uniformed attendants, then she turned to consult with the elderly lady, ostensibly an authority.
"We don't know," she said finally,
"but we don't think so." The elderly lady came un

"Do you think there are any in the Louvre or the British Museum?

WE WALKED east down 79th W Street and stepped into the library there and I searched through several dictionaries of quotation and literary allusion but there was nothing about ping pong. It began to appear that the sport had never gained enough of a hold on sensitive imaginations to make its way into belles lettres or the representative arts.

It was at my own home, in volume 18 of the New International Encyclopaedia, that I found the first reference and that was scurrilous: 'A modified form of lawn tennis . . . (sic!)...The game became popular in the United States about 1900, but as it was inherently uninteresting and required comparatively little skill, its vogue was short-lived, and within a few years it had virtually disappeared." Another reference was exultantly pointed out by a youth who found it in a movie magazine: Eddie Cantor, his wife and five adolescent daughters are impassioned devotees of the pastime.

The Encyclopaedia is a 1914 edition and the movie magazine is last month's which not only reflects unfavorably on the New Interna-tionale's accuracy but in a measure indicates the game's current status.

Ping pong has gone a long way since the origin of that snotty quotation. It was a bitter, uphill fight against conditions fraught with mockery, decision and indifference.

The sport (I'll stand by that classification) was ridiculed not only as "inherently uninteresting and requiring little skill" but as effeminate and decadent as well. There was something perverse and degenerate about endlessly pinging and pongresilient celluloid, they said. A game for the immature and incapacitated. for the immature and incapacitated. Red-blooded water polo, ice hockey and roulette players, matadors and pago-pago performers frowned at this illegitimate lawn tennis. Ping pong, the Spurned of Sports, the Pariah of Pastimes.

WE ALL know how ping pong came through with flying colors. It swept two continents like cross-word izzles or the Three Little Pigs, only it came to stay. People discovered that to be really proficient in it required extraordinary skill, also, that you could work up a devil of a sweat if you were up against a fast player on the regulation table. For a short and disastrous period I attended City College, the institution where they the Louvre or the British Museum?"
I asked.
Both of them pursed their lips and the authority said no, she didn't think so.

Source, the institution where they play football, and it can truthfully be said that if not for the ping pong tables in the alcoves I wouldn't have stuck it out for even three months. The school will still be recognized as one of the cradles of American ping pong when the Umbrella Man will be but a footnote.

In Europe the game has developed to a stage where great international tournaments are run off successfully I know this circumstance will be seized upon by those who ascribe ele-ments of decadence and degeneracy to it, but consider as well its popularity in the Soviet Union. There no recreational center is complete without the green tables and they have a room full of them in the Kremlin itself. For American workers' clubs it's an ideal winter sport. You can play it indoors, accessories are inexpensive, the appeal universal and competition easy to organize.

It's not only to do right by our little ping pong but to display the interesting growth of sport consciousness in the reclusive ness in the revolutionary movement around New York that I print the below letter. It's the second such idea within a few days. Last week they had a wrestling bout at the ball of the Theatre Union.

NRA Unable to Halt Decline in Steel, Auto, Building; Government Bonds Sink As U. S. Enters Fifth Year of Desperate Crisis

NEW YORK .- Entering the fifth winter of the crisis, the economic and financial reports this week give a picture of American economy, after six months of the Roosevelt program, facing a winter of bitter intensification of the economic crisis, with fast approaching inflationary floods, on one hand, and steadily advancing starvation and misery among the workers and their families on the other.

The Roosevelt program, with all its extraordinary inflation measures, its deliberately instigated hysteria among consumers to buy, its heavy purchases for war preparations, and its ballyhoo about the end of the crisis is now back at the very same point at which it started. Conceal Crisis

It is this steady drop in steel pro-luction that is the real explanation this city at a demonstration Monday night.

Financial Crisis The final touch to the picture of steadily advancing crisis is the inten sifying financial crisis. For the first time in many years, U. S. Government bonds are being dumped on the market, and their prices are dropping. This is a sure sign of further inflationary currency measures on the part of the Roosevelt government.

After the war I went to work for the American Railway Express Co. at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., where I was appointed Night Depot Agent in charge of a group of men and express mes sengers. They gave me a title. Night Depot Agent, and I was responsible for thousands of dollars worth of gerchandise, money and valuables, working from 6 p.m. to 7 a.m. at a straight salary of $145 per month. Later they raised me a little.

Learned How Workers Are Framed Here is where I learned how work

One night I needed extra help. I hired a man over 45 and I got hell. Another time I hired a Negro and I got hell. I joined the union, but the boss was always successful in getting a rat to report back. One night about 11 p.m. the boss

I say there is no filthier, nor viler creature than the man who will pro-ceed to sell his fellow men for a few pieces of silver. Let us, there-fore, be on guard against these slimy creatures and their small, thin, dirty work by organizing our movemen one hundred fold by joining a Railroad Industrial Union

JOHN KRYZAK.

(Editor's Note: The present task of the railroad worker is to form opposition groups inside the old Brotherhoods.)

SlowProgress in NewMember Marks 6th Week of IWO Driv

Messengers' Work, With No Rate Rise Youth Section Alone Records Gain As 55 No Young Workers Join Organization

By MAX BEDACHT

The sixth week of the membership drive of the International Work Order broke the continuity of the upward development of the drive. T first week brought 387 new members; the second week brought 469; t third week 535; the fourthe week 646; the fifth week 774. The sixth we went back to 581. Five hundred and eighty-one is a good result. It above the average weekly number of new members needed for the success Tells How Organized of the campaign. But it is not as exactly nothing. The question good as sustained efforts can achieve. What service does the organization The Hungarians maintained their render to the working class? T yardstick by which the fighting wor standard with 155 new members; the Jewish section slipped back to 187 after four weeks of well over 200. I sure was happy to read an article in the "Daily" by a "Railway Express

new members per week, in the sixth union cannot be measured by week slipped back to 29. degree of its avowal of revolution

Worker." I for one started to work The Youth Section alone can register an improvement in the sixth week. for the old Northern Pacific Express From an average of 11 new members an instrument of struggle for per week the first five weeks, they solution of immediate problems of heavily loaded trucks of express from jumped to 55 new members in the 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., all day every other sixth week. Sunday, and a week bfor Christmas

All other sections slipped back. The next two weeks are crucial defense of such immediate intereweeks. They must show whether the of the workers, the more revolution r.W.O. is really engaged in an organ- ary will be the effect of its fur ized drive for new members, or whe- tions. On the other hand, the m ther it permits its recruiting campaign to run by itself.

Forward to one thousand new members per week for the duration of the drive.

A Proletarian Fraternal Organization of the International Workers Order for 40,000 members by January 1st. is sectarianism. Our comrades deliberately belittle the value of the Order for its being. Surely the I.W.O. our leading comrades in Chicago inof the working class, the Commun our leading comrades in Gillego in of the working class, of a substitution of the revolutionary unions; it is r organization as a fraternal order, but a substitute for the L.L.D. or for build it as a class organization." This sounds very radical, but is it?

WRITE FOR THE DAILY WORKER. Little Rock, Ark.

We readers mest report our activity. Write up our successful strug-gles that others may draw conclusions from these experiences. We are not a group of pollyana's. We like to know of the little victories, yes. But as well to learn from our errors.

Comrades, let us make the Workers' Correspondence part of our day day work, along with bringing the Daily Worker to new readers, as part of the "new turn," and as a step toward a mass revolutionary workers paper and a Party.

Another Soviet Worker Writes

THE letter of Anna Smirnova, Moscow factory worker, which I printed here last Friday, has proved so popular among the readers of this solumn that I am presenting another similar letter from a Soviet worker today. This one is written by the lock-smith Semakoff. Both Smirnova and Semakoff have won my regard not only because of their joyful and revealing letters, but because they have enabled a harried columnist with a bad cold to catch up with a good deal of neglected reading.

Well, here is Semakoff's letter. Read it, and if there are any questions you have about life in the U.S.S.R., write to him.

"We Are Not Monks"

HELLO, dear Comrades!

My comrades in labor quite often receive letters from American workers. In these letters from our foreign comrades we are asked to answer estions that are of interest to them. In one letter from a comrade from Chicago he asks whether it is true that we are not allowed to dance in the U.S.S.R. I wish to answer this question:

You ask in your letter if we dance or not. We are not monks, dear friend, who live cloistered behind monastery walls. In the old days under the Tsar and in the time of capitalism we were oppressed and kept back; now we are the masters of our own fate, and whichever way we decide to go that way we are ploughing ahead. We are building our own fate here in the U.S.S.R. In just one year we built our factory "Sharikopodshepnik." We are living after quite a new fashion, friends. Our fashion of dancing is new, as are the songs we sing. Look at our young people. There! one stops his work for a moment

I must tell you, dear comrades, that my life up to the time of the Revolution was not to be envied. It is well known how the working class lived in Russia then. I am now 37 years of age, and of those thirty-seven years I have worked 24 years. My father before me was also a worker. Ours was a large family, and we lived crowded together under conditions that it would be difficult to imagine,-so bad were they. In my childhood I did not know what it was to sleep in a bed. We children either slept on the floor, or on wooden boards.

Now I live with my wife, (who is also a worker), and my little son in a new building, in a new apartment with a great many windows. I come home every evening to a clean, light, cosy place. I hardly have time to wash my hands when my little son pulls me by the sleeve and says: 'Take your harmonica, Papa, and play,-and Mama and I will dance." And, you ask if we dance!

DURING the Civil War on the front I fought against the White soldiers (bandits, they were). In 1919 I had to take part in the suppression of the Kulak uprising in the province of Ufimskaya. I was in charge of a detachment, and always carried a gun with me, and besides my gun I always had my harmonica with me. I would like to tell you a story of my harmonica. We were once stationed out in the country in the Minzelinskom district. We knew that not far away was located a stronghold of the Kulaks and the White bandits.

We received the information that the Whites were making ready for an attack. We waited. It was a dark night. In my detachment there were only young boys. I noticed how sad they had become, all of them looking a little like wet chickens. And suddenly they became seized with panic. It was true that there was only a handful of us to the enemy's many. I saw that things were not going well. And that I had to do something about it, being as I was the leader, the commissar of the de-

I took out my harmonica, went over to the boys, and made ready to And then I broke into a cheery dance tune. The boys could not keep their feet still. And one by one they began to dance. And thus we passed the whole night dancing. And when the morning broke we fell upon the White bandits and drove them back!

HAVE always believed that a cheerful man is a strong man,-and strong alike in the work that he must do. And our young have nothing to be sad about,-they are strong! During an evening at a club house they will dance and whirl so much as to arouse everyone's astonishment.

We dance everywhere: of an evening at our club, during the dinner interval, when we all go for a walk together in the boulevard, on the skating rinks in winter time, and sometimes we even try to dance on skates. And are the summer when we go to the Rest Homes we dance so much that our feet become weary and sore.

We love our work too, dear comrades, and that is the truth of it! We do not only give our strength to our work, but our soul as well. We love to work in the building of Socialism, for in building Socialism we are building a future for ourselves. And we love also to sing and to dance. And if you wish to know how we live, and work, and study, and govern our Workers-Peasants' Government, don't be lazy,-just write, and we will willingly answer all your questions.

Dorothy Wieck, soon to appear in "Cradle Song," is a Nazi and a vigorous defender of Hitlerism. Her husband, Baron van der Decker, arand is under the wing of Paramount Studios of which Emanuel Cohen is head. Van der Decker is an editor on one of the more important German film papers and high in the propaganda department of Goebbels. It appears that it is next to impossible to even approach the Nazi rat for an interview and we hereby venture the opinion that Mr. Cohen, the Jewish capitalist, is deliberately hiding and protecting him! Class solidarity, Mr. Cohen? What is Van Der Decker doing at Paramount? the secrecy? There's something be-neath all this we'd like to know, Mr.

Short Stories from the Experiences of a Home Relief Bureau Investigator as told to HELEN KAY

The following series of short stories are actual experiences of different Home Relief Bureau Investigators in New York City. They are tiny bits of sordid reality showing the degradation, the poverty, the horror and misery of life among the unemployed workers. They show the bankruptcy of charity, the falseness of metropolitan relief, and the need to strengthen the fight for Unemployment Insurance.

Giordano Bruno, Born Into Darkness

I was given application card , number-

The card was already two weeks old when it was put into my hands. It was taken out of a huge file of other cards. Only the words "Very urgent-woman pregnant" made it different from the hundreds of other file cards listing cases of needy unemployed.

I came into the bleak home. It was already dark. I asked the man to turn on the electricity. He laughed bitterly, "It's cut off."

The room was small. The furniture was poor. The woman had just returned from the hospital. She had given birth to a son. She already had three other children.

Their application for relief had been filed two weeks ago. By the time an investigator had been sent the child had been brought into the world. The woman was rushed to the hospital in an ambulance at the When her husband came to take her out, he had only fifteen cents. The three of them, the sick wife, the newborn babe, and the man, had to ride on the crowded subway, from the hospital to their home. When they got home, the lights had been turned off. Their son was greeted with darkness.

"When my undesired guest was born I named him after the great scientist Giordano Bruno, who brought so much light into the world, because my son was born into darkness,"...the man's eyes blazed with anger, as he spoke.

He lit a kerosene lamp. The sputtering light gave the drab room an eerie feeling. He raised the flame and directed my attention to a picture of a young American Army officer which hung on the wall. "Look," he said, "that was I in 1918. I was pretty good for their country when T fought as a ser-geant in the battlefields of France. But I'm no good at all, now. I'm a tramp. A poor man and an un-desirable citizen left to starve with my wife and four children. Well, I'll show them yet. I'll show them!" The woman moaned as she lay in the bed. Her face was drawn and pallid. "Please, give me some water," she asked. He did. I saw the man once again. I was

Roosevelt's Broken Promises

DRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, with every new pronouncement and every new "program" on unemployment, makes it clearer that his policy for the seventeen million unemployed is nothing but charity and forced labor, relief cuts and starvation.

The campaign speeches of President Roosevelt were filled with promises to the unemployed workers. These speeches paid lip-service to the deep going need and demand for social insurance in order to catch votes. Roosevelt said in a campaign speech on October 6, 1932. "We need for them (the unemployed); a greater assuranc of security. Old age, sickness and unemployment insurance are the minimum requirements in these days." On October 20, 1932, Roosevelt repeated his nise to the unemployed as follows, "If starvation and dire need on the part of any of our citizens make necessary the appropriation of additional funds which would keep the budget out of balance, I would not hesitate to tell the American people the full truth and recommend to them the expenditure of this additional

The "full truth" is now apparent. These demagogic, vote catching promises have been forgotten. The government has taken all measures necessary to protect the pocketbooks of the bankers and employers by refusing the demand for social insurance. President Roosevelt, in his campaign speech in Boston on October 31. said. "Immediate relief of the unemployed is the immediate need of the hour. We must do all we can in the way of emergency measures. But no mere emergency measures of relief are adequate . . . As to immediate relief: The first principle is that this nation owes a positive duty that no one shall be permitted

WHEN thousands of workers, under the leadership of the unemployed Councils, sent delegations to Washington, to demand the enactment of the Workers Unemployment Insurance Bill, Roosevelt refused to even discuss with them the question of adequate unemployment relief and of social insurance.

A year after these high-sounding campaign promises were made, Roosevelt said, "The first objective, the first necessity is that the citizens of the community through the churches, the community chest, the charitable organizations of the community, are going to do their share to their utmost extent first" (Sept. 8, 1933, speech in Washington at opening of Community Chest drive for funds from the employed workers.)

When campaigning for votes, the first necessity is that no unemployed shall starve. When putting into effect the program of the bankers and the employers, the N.R.A. wage-cutting, speed-up, unemployment, strikebreaking drive, the first necessity is taxation for the unemployed. It is more convenient for the Roosevelt government to give the unemployed forced labor, to separate the youth from their families in militarized conservation camps, to cut workers off the existing relief lists, and to forget embarrassing campaign

The workers, in all organizations, can see from Roosevelt's campaign promises, and from his present actions against the unemployed, that Roosevelt is carrying out a program which means starvation for the mployed and security for the employers and bankers. Only the united action and demand of the masses the unemployed and part-time workers can force the bankers' government of Roosevelt to enact the Workers Unemployment Insurance Bill. The national convention of the unemployed in Washington on Jan. 13, to which all worker's organizations should elect delegates, will be a decisive step forward in forcing relief and social insurance from the Roosevelt bankers'

A Fascist War Call

VESTERDAY, the Fascist government of Germany held an "election" in which the German masses were terrorized into going to the polls to give their "approval" to Hitler's withdrawal from the League of Nations, and his demand for "equality."

But this "election" is meaningless as far as the real sentiments of the German masses are concerned. The cunning Fascist Hitler and his advisers have placed the question upon which the German masses must vote in such a way as to conceal its real purpose. The German masses are asked to express their hatred of the Versailles Treaty, Naturally, the German masses hate the Versailles Treaty, which adds to their exploitation by their "own" German capitalist exploiters the yoke of foreign exploitation.

But behind this profound hatred for the Versailles Treaty, which the German masses feel, the Fascists ire preparing for a war for the re-division of Europe and the colonies.

The Fascist rulers of Germany represent German Anance capital, Prussian landlords, and the militarist ureaucracy of the Kaiser. This reactionary clique ights against the Versailles Treaty only in order to stablish a new slavery for the German workers and for the toilers of Europe and the colonies.

THE election was conducted under conditions of the greatest terrorism. The "election" itself is an act of terrorism against the German masses no less sinister for its being disguised in electoral trappings.

The European correspondent of the New York Herald-Tribune, certainly not a mortal enemy of Fascism, gives the following picture of the conditions of yesterday's "elections":

"Uppermost in the minds of the German men and women is the dread that the Nazis will penalize them if they dare oppose Hitler's will-by handing over their names to the secret police—and will provide a new excuse to send thousands to the jails of the secret police to be horse-whipped." It is also a well-known fact that the German election boxes are so arranged that every ballot marked "no" can be traced to the worker who marked it. Thus every worker who even stayed away from the polls will be marked for Fascist jail and torture.

THE advent of Hitler to power has intensified every imperialist antagonism which leads to war. Hitler's withdrawal from the League of Nations is a signal again for colonial markets, and for a re-division of Europe.

The Allied imperialists, particularly France, on the other hand, are arming to defend the Versailles boundaries. The imperialist war for markets and colonies for exploitation is thus breaking down the whole Versailles structure. This means war. But, the central policy of the Fascist war policy the plan to conquer and divide the Soviet Union. The Hugenberg memorandum; in which Fascist Gerimperialism, invites the leading powers of to unite in a military war of intervention against the Soviet Union, still remains the basic element of Fascist foreign policy. Hitler offers world capitalism the rich loot of the Seviet Union, in return for the restoration of its "equality" with the other imperialist robbers.

It is significant that Hugenberg was high up on the Pascist ticket in vesterday's elections.

It is well to remember that the Fascist butcher, Hindenburg, is still President of Germany by virtue of the fact that in 1930 the leaders of the German Social-Democratic Party united with him against the Communist Party in order to defeat Hitler! It is well to remember that this monstrous Social-Democratic betrayal of the German workers was approved in this country by Morris Hillquit and Norman Thomas, who called Hitler's present President, Hindenburg, "a great democrat"!

VESTERDAY'S election is Fascism's call for war. Fascism, the desperate brutal stand of a dying capitalist system, cannot solve the crisis, give the German workers bread and work. Like a mad dog, it turns to blood for nourishment—the blood of the work-

The resolution of the Communist International on Gurmany has been confirmed by events. "Hitler leads Germany to catastrophe," it declared. Only the German Communist Party fights for the real way out of the crisis, against the hideous Versailles Only the proletarian revolution, the establishment of the proletarian dictatorship can break the chains of the Versailles slavery and the exploitation of the German capitalists who rob and oppress the German masses.

Only the proletarian revolution can stop the insane war plans of the Fascists against the Soviet Union. It is this lesson that every day is being rammed home to the German masses by the heroic German Communist Party, whose growing leadership over the German masses is the spectre that haunts the dreams of the Fascist war mongers.

A Costly New Deal

THE Roosevelt regime charges the workers heavily for the privilege of starving. The New Deal, we learn, is an expensive proposition which the workers are paying for now, and will pay for more heavily in the future, if Roosevelt and his class have their way.

A balance sheet of the cost of the New Deal was published yesterday by Dr. Virgil E. Jordan, president of the National Industrial Conference Board, a capitalist statistical agency.

From this financial summary of the price paid for the continuation of mass starvation we learn that Roosevelt's New Deal has already cost $15,135,000,000. Dr. Jordan kindly pro-rates it on a per capita basis, stating that it means every man, woman and child in the United States will have to pay over $100 to the government, in some way or other.

Where did this fifteen billion dollars go? The greater portion of it went to banks and huge corporations. The next biggest slice went for war appropriations, under the guise of public works. Some more was supposed to have gone to farms and for relief. But the farmers are demonstrating that they received no help whatsoever and are resisting starvation. The unemployed are being yanked off of the relief rolls and told to starve as best they may.

The fifteen billion dollar New Deal was a hand-out to the big trusts and the war industries. The very same Industrial Conference Board previously admitted that under the New Deal real wages (the amount of food, clothing, etc.) the workers can buy went down under the New Deal.

Now the workers are told they must pay for lower wages, increased unemployment, greater attacks against their rights, and for war preparations.

THE logic of the New Deal is to lower the standards of living, smash the workers right to organize and strike, and then hand the workers and farmers a bill of fifteen billion dollars for it.

Every time a worker takes a bite of bread he contributes to the fifteen billion dollar war and corporation loan item. If the worker buys a shirt, or other piece of cotton goods, he contributes. But the mountainous cost of the New Deal is young and growing lustily. Roosevelt's wild inflation schemes will cost still more, and the workers will be told to foot the

More loans will be given to the banks, more inflationary measures will be inaugurated, prices will go up still higher, and the workers will be hounded by the double attack of a lowered standard of living and ment's expense in carrying out this policy.

Roosevelt's New Deal is not only full of cards marked against the working class but the whole pack contains the insignia of the skull and cross bones of starvation for the toiling masses.

NRA Cuts Wages Again

THE thousands of employes of New York's hotels and 28,000 restaurants have had their wages sizeably reduced in the decision of the local compliance board of the N.R.A. that their tips be included in their minimum wages. The N.R.A. again proves itself an employers' body, using every trick and every possible method of reducing the workers' wages. The restaurant workers, who are working under the blanket code, were given the impression that to their minimum wage of not under twelve dollars a week would be added the tips, thus giving them a minimum wage at least the amount they were receiving before the

The N.R.A. compliance board has functioned smoothly for the employers, agreeing with all of the restaurant owners' demands and deciding that the tips which bring the workers' wages above the blanket code minimum will be taken from them. Before the code. most of the restaurant workers were getting much more than they will get under the N.R.A. decision.

In the food industry, as in all industries, the workers will have to carry on a fight against the wage cutting practices of the employers' board-the N.R.A. The program of the Food Workers Industrial Union, for union wages and working conditions in all branches of the food industry, can be won providing a militant struggle for this program, and against the wage-reducing campaign of the N.R.A., is carried out,

Our Ally

THE most important allies of the American working class are the poor and small farmers. These farmers, as well as broad sections of the middle farmers, are hardest hit by the whole development of post-war capitalism and especially by the economic crisis and are most brutally exploited by the government, by the banks, by the trusts and the insurance companies. Their interests are consequently directed objectively against finance capital.

In this situation the main task of the Party in its work among these toilers consists above all in the organization of the agricultural workers independently of the farmers, in organizing them into the Party and trade unions, in organizing and leading strikes of the agricultural workers, which in many places already played an important role in the development of the farmers' movement. At the same time the Party has the possibility of mobilizing not only the poor and small farmers, but also broad sections of ruined middle farmers, for the struggle against capitalism on the side of the proletariat, while at the same time it can neutralize other sections of middle farmers. The winning over of broad masses of farmers as allies of the working class is an important prerequisite for a successful struggle against the offensive of capitalism, against fascism and for the defense of the Soviet Union, and finally for the victory of the proletariat. -From the Open Letter.

Chinese Red Army Advances; Seizes Arms in Szechuan

Sixth Anti-Communist Drive Failing to Stop Gains

SHANGHAI, Nov. 11—Severe fighting is now going on in the provinces of Kiangsi and Szechuan, with the Chinese Red Armies of the Soviet districts making advances against the furious attempt of Chiang Kai Shek to stem the gains of the Soviets by a heavy concentration of troops in the Sixth Anti-Communist drive.

The greatest gains of the Red Army are being made in Szechuan province, in the western portion of China. In its drive towards the Yangize River, the Red Army cap-tured the cities of Hsuiting, Hauiduan, Wanyuan and Chenkou. The objective of the attack is the seizure of Wanshien, which would give the Soviets in Szechuan control of river traffic going into the province and a base for penetration eastward towards Hankow. The Red Army seized 20,000 rifles and 10,000,000 rounds of ammunition in its latest advance. This means more workers and peasants can be armed, and the Red Army strengthened for greater

Severe Fighting In Kiangsi

The fighting in Klangsi, seat of the Central Soviet Government, is especially severe, with many dead reported. For five years, Chiang Kai Shek has concentrated hundreds of housands of soldiers in this territory in an effort to destroy this district His efforts have failed miserably. The Red Army during this period has been able to extend the Soviet territhe famous 19th Route Army.

While Chiang Kai Shek increases his war against the Soviet territories the Nanking government yesterday decreed that there should be no antiimperialist propaganda permitted on the occasion of the celebration of the ovethrow of the Manchu dynasty. All of the Kuomintang newspapers admitted that the conditions of the Chinese masses are "infinitely wo than they were 20 years ago."
