USSR Recognition and Socialist Party AN EDITORIAL

IN THE LAST few days Socialist leaders in the United States have heatedly concerned themselves with the task of "explaining" to their followers the meaning of recognition of the Soviet Union. Their false protestations of approval are too flimsy to conceal their rancour and hatred against the victorious proletarian revolution. They, therefore, stoop to the most provocative intrigues, outstripping their capitalist masters.

While the capitalist press went to extremes to hide the significant facts which led to recognition (the advance of socialism as against the further decay of capitalism in crisis and the victory of the Soviet peace policy), the Socialist leaders go them one better by deliberately instigating war provocations.

On the one hand we have Algernon Lee, socialist leader, insisting that the Soviet Government, despite its pledges, will carry on propaganda in the United States, implying that the Soviet Union and the Communist International are one. Lee rushes in at this point of the victory of the peace policy of the Soviet Union and serves his masters by declaring: "I do not take very seriously Mr. Litvinoff's assurances that there will be no propaganda in this country, directly or indirectly promoted by the Soviet

Only Patterson Brought in Court When court opened this morning at 8:30 to resume hearing evidence on the defense motion for a change of venue there were about 100 spectators waiting to get seats in contrast with the jams that stood about during the spring trial. Nevertheless, the court to have information that though everything is seemingly peaceful, attempts to kill the defense at-torneys and the defendants may be made, for every person entering the court room is still "frisked." so nothing was done to him." The deputy who found him with the pistol told this reporter that the gun was loaded and that the man had been jailed. It is obvious that to jailed a man trying to enter with a loaded revolver would have been first rate evidence for the defense's claim for a change of venue and the officials here do not want this to happen. When the two mob moveand their attorneys last spring occurred, the officials also denied though some privately admitted i Such happenings show too clearly the sentiment in the county and would substantiate the defense's claims. When the motion for a change of was re-opened in court this morning the attorney-general played what seemed to be his trump card when he presented evidence that four of the persons named by Victor Ellwood and Chas. Williams in the de-fense affidavits as having made threats against the defendant and their attorneys had died before the Scottsboro cases were transferred to Decatur. The attorney-general tried to impress the court with this in a melodramatic plea for bench warrants for the arrest of the signers on charges of perjury.

Cite Threatening Statements Judge Callahan refused to issue the bench warrants. It was pointed out that the names of the relatives living in the house might still be on the door bells and the investigators might have taken that down when they watched the person they talked to Both men are quoted in the defense affidavits as having made hreatening statements. Both denied hat they had ever said the statezents atributed to them, which the court seemed to expect, since they could not very well get up and admit it in open court.

The prosecution, to counteract the thick pile of affidavits showing mob sentiment and threats in the county countered this morning by presenting a batch of affidavits from citizens swearing that everything is peaceful breath a word against either the Negroes or attorneys. One affidavit inoduced was from the owner of a hardware store in Decatur. He swore that he had not sold out all his arms and ammunition at the last trial, though as one present during the trial this spring, this reporter could say that arms and munitions could be bought here then because they had been sold out.

More Inflation

The fact that the dollar is now at about 60 cents, without the offical devaluation powers having yet been used, points to the situation in the near future where the Roosevelt government will have to cast about for new inflationary measures, if it is to maintain its program of risng pri And this new measure, even capitalist nomists admit, can be nothing other than the issuance of cheap paper money.

Bonds Fall As a result, the quotations for U. S. Government bonds are falling sharply. And this is rapidly depreciating the value of the investments of the banks, causing the shadow of another bank crisis to loom

The Roosevelt Government, however, cannot turn back from its inflationary policy, even though it is bringing up the prospect of another

The Roosevelt Government, howver, is confronted with the necessity of refunding several hundred million of government debt within the next few weeks. And this will it force to put on a front of temporary "conservatism" in its money policies, a front which will be quickly discarded after the refunding will be over.

The Roosevelt inflation is causing the sharpest aggravation of the antagonisms between American imper-ialism and British imperialism. As a result of the Roosevelt inflation, the wages of the American workers are being gradually reduced, although the amount of dollars paid may remain the same. In addition, the rising prices are taking another slice out of the workers' income

This Is the Night

Tonight the Daily Worker and the Labor Sports Union are holding a wrestling tournament at the Harlem Labor Temple in New York.

There is a bit of undue solemnity about this announcement which I can't very well help because the thing is so important from many angles and it's so near.

The idea was originally conceived to help in this paper's

$40,000 Drive and while I won't say that it has grown to be an Italian training ship. This club is opening a fully equipped gymmore important, very few nasium here next month. things can be more important, it certainly developed added points of Bronx is sending several comparative

THIS meet may be the first tangi-I ble indication of the new interest in labor sports which has recently been making considerable headway. We have heard "new interest" talk for years and it generally turned out to be a rather sad sort of whistling in the dark. But in the past few months I have spoken to literally hundreds of people who voluntarily assured me of their in-terest and asked how they could help. The volume of mail to the column has quadrupled in the past three weeks and the notes are full of inquiries, suggestions. This particular new interest is no whistling in the dark

Tonight's tournament is a great chance for the New York District of the Labor Sports Union to realize its possibilities in wrestling and guage its immediate prospects for similar activity in other sports.

Our material is there and we have the leadership. For the first time tonight two major figures in the American revolutionary movement are going to actively participate in an event of this kind. Clarence Hathaway was enthusiastic when his subject, "Sports and Revolution," was suggested and jotted the date down into a jammed calendar with-out any hesitation. Joseph Free-man, the editor of "New Masses" has been declining speaking engage-ments for weeks just to save his voice for the announcer's job. This is no blarney. It's almost disconcertingly true.

A., the Negro wrestlers who competed in the Scottsboro Benefit Meet. Entries are listed from the Kaytee, Prolets and Fichte clubs, among others.

JUST how good some of the unattached are we'll start finding out at the eliminations which begin at six tonight. Here's an entry blank listing Sol Fisher, the dashing youth who directs sports activities at work-ers' camps in the summer and heads the Metropolitan Workers' Soccer League in season. He has recently returned from a tour of the coast where he has collected for the Daily much as $2 a touch for exhibiting his muscles.

A telephone call in the midst of the preceeding paragraph informs me that some of the boys from the Greek Spartacus are talking things over with Jim Londos who is to come, not in the capacity of a celeb but of referee. I hope he shows up. He will witness a special burlesque of just the sort of comedy wrestling which has been supplying him with bread, butter

When these demands were refused by the company, the strike was declared. NEW YORK.—An indication of the wholesale arrests and intimidations confronting the 2,000,000 famitions confronting the 2,000,000 fami-lies which Pres. Both had been attempting to aid their miserable relief check

In Sebring, Ohio, 200 families were dropped from relief on suspi-cion of having other incomes, whether some infrequent part time jobs or from selling chewing gum on the streets. These families will be forced under the threat of jail sentences to return all relief monies to the city.

The brutal callousness of this action was revealed in Chicago after Mrs. Knebel was sentenced to 30 days by Judge Edickson. "But what will my children do," asked the mother who was being jailed for having a job as scrubwoman. "I haven't the remotest idea," was the judge's indifferent response.

DETURNING from a three months' tour of the United States, lecturing and organizing, I find that a magazine called The Modern Monthly has been publishing a series of attacks on revolutionary arts and letters in the Soviet Union and this country.

During the summer this organ of professional Communist-baiters Tricontained a piece entitled "Artists in Uniform." It consisted of the usual sevowhite-guard and menshevik charges about the alleged reign of terror maintained by the Kremlin in the realm of literature and art.

As one analyzed "Artists in Uniform," it became obvious that the author had not the slightest interest in finding out the truth about revo-Jutionary arts and letters. He was interested in grinding a political axe and in airing personal spleen remarkable even in the annals of bohemian a soliterary squabbles

According to "Artists in Uniform," Michael Gold and myself have been so corrupted by the Kremlin, that we have not written anything worth reserveding for the past ten years.

I do not know in what remote idyllic lands the author of "Artists in Uniform" has been living for the past ten years. But it is a matter of easily ascertainable record that Michael Gold and I have both published Mil Thost of our work in the past decade. Thousands of people in America and other countries have read with pleasure Mike's "Jews Without Money, which appeared three years ago. And it was during the past ten years that I published "Dollar Diplomacy" and "Voices of October" in collaboration, and "The Soviet Worker" on my own account. All three of these books received good notices here and abroad, and have been read by many people. During the past ten years I have also published much prose and Indeed, the Modern Monthly is the last publication in the world to complain that I have written nothing worth reading in the past ten Vears. To judge from some of the articles published by gentlemen connected with this magazine, they have not only found my pieces published during the past ten years worth reading but even worth remembering. A little too well, one might say.

TOWEVER, all this is childish nonsense unworthy of serious discussion. November Modern Monthly entitled "Stalin's Literary Inquisition." This piece, too, is full of misinformation and personal malice. But it is worth touching on one or two of its wild fantasies because it may be possible through them to illuminate some problems of general interest.

The author-perhaps I should say inventor-of "Stalin's Literary Inautisition," having said a few months ago that I have written nothing in cofthe past ten years worth reading, suddenly finds it worth his while to read my first chapter in Voices of October, which appeared in 1930. However, in justice to our anti-Communist scribe. I must say that he does his best to be consistent. He maintains that Voices of October is a terrible book and my chapter a terrible chapter. What is of general interest, since the scribe speaks in the name of pure and lofty political ideals, is the saymanner and method he employs to prove his thesis. Here is how the Modern Monthly's expert on Soviet literature characterizes Voices of "The book of Joseph Freeman, Joshua Kunitz and Louis Lozowick, Voices of October, was published in 1930, at the very height of the Literary Inquisition, when the authentic voices of October were practically reduced to a death-rattle. How much of the real truth was to be found in its suave pages of documentary optimism—and in general what trust can be placed by critical minds in the United Square re-writes of official dope from Moscow, which are passed out as first-hand information about life min the Soviet Union-may be seen in the fact that the regime these authors describe as a paradise of proletarian creative life, is now, since the regime ended, described by the officials themselves as a veritable death-

The author and inventor of "Stalin's Literary Inquisition" is to be congratulated not only upon the richness of his imagination, but upon the excellence of his literary style. If a good style is one in which an author says most in the least space, our Scribe has it. In two sentences he has packed in a truly remarkable number of lies.

Take, for example, that subordinate clause in which our Scrbe charges the three authors of Voices of October with sitting in Union Square and are-writing "official dope from Moscow" which is "passed out as firsthand information about life in the Soviet Union." Surely even a rabid partisan could have found out the simple facts of the case.

BOTH Joshua Kunitz and Louis Lozowick speak, read and write Russian fluently. They have made many visits to the Soviet Union. They have travelled extensively from Moscow to Siberia. They have worked in the De literary and artistic circles of the U.S.S.R. They have a wide personal acquaintance among Soviet writers and artists, ranging from the extreme left to the extreme right. Much of the material they used in Voices of October was gathered in the Soviet Union.

In knowledge of the Russian language, or of Soviet art and literature. I can in no way compare with Kunitz and Lozowick. Yet the fact remains that I have lived and worked and travelled in the Soviet Union. I have been in contact with Soviet workers, peasants and intellectuals. I learned the language and spent some ten months gathering the material that went into my chapters in Voices of October.

As you can readily imagine, Union Square is not as good a place from which to study Soviet life as Croton-on-the-Hudson or Martha's Vineyard. But the fact remains that I learned about Soviet literature, art, the cinema and the theatre from direct personal contact in the Soviet Union with some of the best men in Soviet arts and letters. These men were tic extremely generous in helping me to gather material, and, what was more 1932 important, in grasping the living reality. I had many illuminating conversations with members of the proletarian group around Na Postu, like TRATT-Serge Dinamov and Heinz Kogan; with leaders of the Futurist group, like Mayakovsky, Ossip Brick and Asseyev; with leaders of the film world, such as Serge Einsenstein, and of the theatrical world, such as Meyerbold. I knew many fellow-travellers, and I even talked with and learned from that "victim" of "Stalin's Literary Inquisition," the critic-editor Vyacheslav Polonsky. Nor did I confine my investigations to Moscow. I talked parts of the R.S.F.S.R., in Leningrad. with writers and artists in the Caucasus, in the Ukraine, in the central

In view of these facts, to say that Kunitz, Lozowick and I re-write in Union Sq. "official dope from Moscow" which is "passed out as first-hand information about life in the Soviet Union," is to sink to the lowest depths either of intellectual and moral irresponsibility, or of charlatanism. And that is a great pity. For the author of these preposterous charges is by nature an honest and intelligent man. It is his misfortune that in slandering the Soviet Union he can think of nothing better than falsea hoods which can be exposed in the light of easily-verified facts. He is no exception to the rule that anyone who attacks the Soviet Union is complelled to resort to lies.

Tomorrow I shall take up another phase of the Modern Monthly's attack on revolutionary arts and letters.

These three mothers were far from strong. They were already weakened by long years of toil on farms and fields and in white peoples' kitchens. They were weakened also from insufficient food. Traveling from city to city, meeting strange people, appearing at one meeting after the other, was not easy for them.

But the work and efforts of Ada Wright stands forth a monument of urageous motherhood for all time I never saw a tear in the eyes of this brave woman. "I will fight" she said. "I don't care what happens to The I.L.D. has shown me the way. Whether my boys live or die I am in this fight for the rights of my people till death."

Suffering from various organic weaknesses, Ada Wright yet found the strength to go from meeting to meeting from one city to another and finally crossed the ocean accompanied by J. Louis Engdahl, then national secretary of the I.L.D. pany, it will be remembered, with Eugene Williams and Heywood Patter-

"Engdahl was ill in Europe," Mrs. Wright said, upon her return to the U. S. "He never stopped working. He was always writing or speaking. THE NEW FILM

By IRVING LERNER.

CRADLE SONG, a screen drama adapted by Marc Connelly from the play by G. M. Martinez Sierra, directed by Mitchell Leisen and presented by Paramount Pictures at the Paramount Theatre with the following cast: Dorothea Wieck, Louise Dresser, Sir Guy Standing, Evelyn Venable, and Kent Taylor.

If you're the kind of person who sheds mechanical tears at most of the Hollywood synthetic "soul stirring dramas"-in movie language, "tear jerkers." -- you'll certainly saturate othea Wieck (Made in Nazi-land) exhibit some of the oiliest glycerine tears that have come out of Hollywood in a decade. As a matter of fact, Paramount proudly announces (in its publicity sent out to theatre managers) that they have had this play for 12 years and had no excuse for making it. The silent version of "The White Sister," dealing with the Catholic Church, its nuns and their struggles with Love, Marriage, and Sex, had earned all the money there was to earn with such a tale. Besides, racketeers, high society, prohibition, and sex brought in surer returns.

But importing actresses is an expensixe proposition. Especially those with reputations. Dorothea Wieck, transformed into a Bernhardt of the cinema by high pressure publicity in connection with "Maedchen in Uniform," is noted for her "delicately restrained acting" in that much overrated film. Thus you see the reason for dusting off the skeleton.

In its way, "Cradle Song" is competent enough. It is a well-constructed and highly polished celluloid teargas bomb. The story of life in a His rate, he says, is 85c per hour, Spanish convent is as synthetic and the working day consists of 7½ the pseudo Spanish "cottages" Spanish convent is as synthetic as hours, 5 days per week. According to movie magnates and stars. However, his own statement this scabby cona competent technical job and white cern runs three shifts. Now if we go into figures we find that 5 times 7½ is commonly accepted as good acting into figures we find that 5 times 7½ makes 37½ and 37½ hrs. times .85 equals $31.87. So, thanks to the cast one can expect from the well-equipped Hollywood studios and smith-Griffin gang the tool and die Smith-Griffin gang the tool and die high-salaried "stars."

M. G. M. tried to beat Paramount of Owen Davis' new play, "Jezebel," all" is the usual allusion to the boys which Gutherie McClintic is planning at the benches.

"It would speak to like at the det to make that amount in one of the "White Sister." Of course, it not merely for two or three months was a flop as sure as "Cradle Song" the way in which there runs through the whole exhibition the importance that the theoretical founders and leaders of the revolutionary movement attached to the Dictatorship of the Proletariat. If ever there was an array of facts that completely repudiate the social-democratic theories of "using the capitalist state in the interests of the working class revolu-

Of greatest interest to me was the portrayal of the Paris Commune and the two panels (Numbers 8 and 9) dealing with that world-shaking One quotation appearing in event. these panels is invaluable and shows how Mark, during the stormy days of the Comune, wrote on April 12, 1871, to his friend, Kugelman, saying: 'You will see, in my opinion, that the next upsurge of the French revolution will be an attempt not to transfer the bureaucratic state from some to others, as has been done hitherto, but to break up that machine. This s a preliminary condition of every real people's revolution. This was precisely the attempt of our heroic Paris comrades."

U.S.S.R. Recognition and the Socialist Party

his we have the intimation of Mr. Lee, Socialist leader, hat they will continue to do so.

NLY the day before, the Socialist Jewish "Forward," sensing the widespread enthusiasm among the Amercan working masses over recognition of the Soviet

"A feeling of joy ran through the United States, as throughout the world, when it became known that the United States recognized the Soviet Union ... and no one feels more sincerely happy than the Social-

Every worker will have the greatest cause to doubt and look with scorn and contempt on your "sincerity," Socialist leaders, when they remember your support o every plot against the Soviet Union. You supported with funds and organization the interventionst deeds of the counter-revolutionists, Dan and Abranovitch. It is only a few weeks since that you printed he Hitler slander of starvation and cannibalism in he Soviet Union. Nor will all your straining at puting a smile on your face, cover the fact that you now with more hatred than ever before spread your lying provocations against the Soviet Government.

Certainly there is the deepest enthusiasm and joy among the rank and file of the Socialist Party for this creat victory of the Soviet Union, led by the Comnunist Party of Lenin and Stalin. This joy you share only with Judas words, but fight against with your provocative deeds.

Having unburdened themselves of this lip-service estimony, they proceed to yeoman service for those vho want war against the Soviet Union, or dread this reat victory of the Proletarian Dictatorship.

The Jewish Daily "Forward" vituperates on recogsition conditions as follows

"With these words (referring to section 4 of the recognition terms) that are underlined here nothing else is meant than the Communist International and nothing could be meant. The Washington newspaper correspondents have specifically declared, and not out of their own sleeves, that for the first time the Soviet Government pledged itself to curb the I Communist International."

The Daily Worker, in its leading editorial yesterlay, has already answered the root of all these disortions. The emphasis which the Socialist "Forward" lives to these misinterpretations by saying that cercorrespondents "have specifically declared" that Communist International will be curbed, is exactly t the capitalists desire to cover up the unpalatable of having been forced to reverse their policy.

It is an open defense of American capitalism's Teat in reversing its recognition policy through the idest distortion of the facts and of the recognition

WHAT is the purpose of it for the Socialist leaders? They must cover up the bankruptcy of the Second nternational, of the failure of the N.R.A., which they ed to solve the capitalist crisis: they must cover ip the success of the proletarian revolution in the Soviet Union. And the manner in which they seek o cover up their naked counter-revolutionary deeds s more extreme than the most vicious of the capitalist

Just as the Fishes, Wolls, and Easleys try to disupt the established relations on the basis of trying o identify the Soviet Government and the Communist 'nternational, the Socialist "Forward" rushes forward with "evidence" of this non-existent identity. They ige it in order to attack the Communist Party of the Inited States, and unburden their venom against the Communist International

The "Forward" goes at it hammer and tongs, topping at no distortion in order to make its point. In its editorial it refers to Washington corresponients' "understanding" of the meaning of the recognition terms with reference to the Communist International. However, the "Forward" slinks when it comes to taking credit for its own Washington corespondent who questioned Litvinoff in an effort to ead things into the recognition terms that do not here exist.

WHY is the "Forward" silent on Litvinoff's clear and categorical answer? Litvinoff declared:

"The Third International is not mentioned in the document. You must not read into it more than was intended."

But such clear answers do not satisfy those bent on war provocations. It does not satisfy those who have so much to hide in their past and in their present. even the capitalist press, which made the same arument, did not dare to come to such conclusions, ich flow so easily from Socialist leaders.

This is open and unabashed war provocation by Socialist leaders in the United States. It lays the edjogical basis for a rupture of reference how went to take it. proceed on this step whenever they want to take it.

ME MUST remember and impress indelibly on the minds of all workers that it was the Socialist leadrs, MacDonald and Henderson, of the British Labor Party, who through the use of the forged "Zinoviev leters" that helped British imperialism to break relations once before with the Soviet Union. It was the very same Socialist leaders in Germany, who later paved the way for Hitler, who themselves raided the offices of the Soviet trade organizations in Germany in 1925 and rifled the safes of the Soviet Embassy in Berlin with the same cry that the Socialist "Forward" nouths today in the United States.

Nothing irks the Socialist leaders more than the overwhelming and tremendous support of the American nasses for the establishment of relations. They could not brush aside the deep feeling for the Soviet Union among the American masses. They hate, with all the counter-revolutionary venom in their heart, to admit

WHAT do the American workers see in recognition? They see a land ruled by the workers and peasants building Socialism. They see the growing economic, political and military strength of the Soviet Union, defeating its bitterest enemies in the camp of capitalism and the Second International.

At the same time, the Socialist leaders, part and parcel of the Green-Lewis strikebreaking bureaucracy, intimately bound up with the N.R.A., see the wider separation between the working masses and their A. F. of L. and Socialist leaders. They know that the warm support they gave to the N.R.A. as a solution of the capitalist crisis is causing deep questioning among the rank and file of the Socialist Party. These same Socialist workers look with more and more sympathy to the revolutionary way out of the crisis, symbolized in flaming letters by the victory of the Five-Year Plan and Socialist construction in the Soviet

Hence we find the Socialist "Forward," answering the Daily Worker editorial on "Soviet Recognition and the American Workers" with the following lie out of

"And this is written at a time when everyone knows that the organized workingmass in the United States were the ONLY ones who consistently fought bitterly against recognition."

WES, Socialist leaders, you are bound up with Messrs. Green. Woll and Lewis, who broke the strike of the coal miners and steel workers, fought against any steps towards recognition of the Soviet Union. You lost no occasion to slander the Soviet Union and its aims. You, Socialist leaders, are still continuing your support for Dan and Abramovitch, proved tools of the Deterdings and Hugenbergs, working for armed intervention in the Soviet Union to restore capitalism.

On this question you never spoke for the rank and file of the American Federation of Labor.

Need we mention the hundreds of resolutions endorsed by local unions of the A. F. of L. during all the years when American capitalism resisted recognition

It is true that by your deeds, you have "consistently fought bitterly against recognition," as you, Green and Lewis have fought bitterly and consistently against the efforts of the American workers to beat back the posses' attack throughout the whole period of crisis.

The entire provocation of the Socialist leaders, especially as expressed by Mr. Lee and the Socialist 'Forward," centres about two basic points: 1) In the interest of American capitalism they seek to identify the Soviet Union with the Communist International, and "warn" American capitalism about this danger; giving it a platform for further intrigues and war agaiunst the Workers' Fatherland. 2) They want to confuse the masses on the meaning of recognition to cover up the bankruptcy of the program of the Second International which hailed the N.R.A. and its Fascist deeds; with its policy of the "lesser" evil paving the way for Fascism in all capitalist countries; with its treacherous program of collaboration with the ruling class parties as a "peaceful" road to Socialism.

Out of the filth and mud with which the Socialists seek to surround the significance of this great historical victory of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republies certain facts stand out with impelling boldness.

IN THE Soviet Union, under the leadership of the Communist (Bolshevik) Party, the party of Lenin and Stalin, a classless society is being constructed. In the capitalist countries, the workers are being driven to deeper misery and war. Only under the leadership of the Communist Party can they achieve their liberation, only through the revolutionary way, through the overthrow of capitalism and the establishment of their own Dictatorship of the Proletariat.

Every worker in following and studying the experience of the Russian proletariat and its party in overthrowing capitalism and building Socialism, will find in it the greatest lessons and inspiration.

EVERY section of the Communist International, leading the struggle for the overthrow of capitalism the world over, grows out of the class struggle in its own country. It is composed of the exploited workers of that country and is the vanguard of the revolutionary proletariat in the struggle for the overthrow of capital-

These parties, fighting their own capitalism, recognize that their most important weapon in the world, in the fight against their own exploiters and world capitalism, is the revolutionary teachings of Lenin and Stalin, builders of the Workers' Fatherland, leaders of the world proletariat for the final victory of the world

These war provocations of the Socialist leaders, U. S. Contacts Soviet under the Judas cloak of "joy," will not keep the workers from seeing the victory for the Soviet Union; it will not becloud the main issue—the victory of Socialist construction in the Soviet Union and the decay of world capitalism. And against the war provocation and counter-revolutionary propaganda of the Socialist leaders, the Communist Party of the United States will carry on the sharpest struggles, winning the broad masses of toilers and especially the honest Socialist workers for the overthrow of capitalism and the building of a classless society.

The Unemployed Convention

IN SCARCELY seven weeks, on Jan. 13, 14, 15, the mass national unemployed convention will be held in Washington, D. C. The preparations for this convention come at a time when President Roosevelt is engaged in the most far reaching attack on the unemployed workers, removing two million workers within the month from relief rolls.

The Roosevelt program, now being put into effect, would nullify the militant battles of the unemployed workers of past months, who, through mass action, have forced the government to give at least a small part of the jobless workers inadequate relief. Instead, Roosevelt's plan condemns the unemployed to forced labor. The entire preparations for the National Unemployed Convention should center around a fight against the Roosevelt forced labor scheme.

The call printed in the Daily Worker on Nov. 11 demands the immediate development of struggles for the local demands of the unemployed workers, and the working out of Workers Relief budgets. The local relief struggles are to be linked up with the national struggle for the Workers Unemployment Insurance

The plan includes the immediate calling of local and county united front unemployed conferences, to take place in the middle of December. The national convention preparations are an answer to the N.R.A. Public Works program, which gave the unemployed nothing. They are an answer to Roosevelt's forced labor program, which is already removing the unemployed from the relief rolls. The convention, to meet the attacks of the Roosevelt government, must be a broad unity convention, including representatives of unemployed organizations additional to the Unemployed Councils, particularly A. F. of L. locals; T.U.U.L. and independent unions; veterans; Negroes; youth and women; farmers and small homeowners.

But the campaign for the convention has not gone forward quickly enough. Only a few cities, such as Detroit and Pittsburgh, and the West Coast, report intensified unemployment struggles or the calling of local conferences. The campaign for the Workers Unemployment Insurance Bill is still lagging.

The intensified crisis, the renewed attacks of Roosevelt on the unemployed, calls for a change in the method of preparing this convention of the unemployed. The preparations must not be left for hurried and superficial emergency measures in the last two weeks. The convention must be based on the struggles of the unemployed, must be based on a broad struggle for unity of all unemployed workers, regardless of organization and on unity of the employed and unemployed. The directives of the Unemployed Councils should at once be put into action in all districts and all cities.

Conference Arranges Greetings to U.S. Workers' Groups

NEW YORK.—The American workers' delegation of the Anti-Imperialist League will leave New York Thursday for Havana.

HAVANA, Cuba, Nov. 21.-Police and soldiers raided the center of the Tobacco Workers Union after five o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Over 80 workers were arrested among them Cesarr Vilar, secretary of the National Labor Confederation, all printing press workers, the youth secretary of the Confederation, who was later released.

The soldiers burned all papers of the union and wrecked the print shop. Loret de Mola, Secretary of Labor, made a speech over the smouldering ashes of the print shop, saying that he is a Socialist of the extreme left. Guiteras, the Secretary of State, arrived late to assist in identifying the prisoners. The cause of the raid was the preparation of a general strike of tobacco workers against a lock-out declared by the companies in reply to a powerful united front organization movement of the workers led by the Confederation.

The situation calls for action by the Trade Union Unity League and all other workers' organizations in the United States against the terror. All factories here are mobilizing for
