Our funds were limited and we put up as many as we could, and then held back a few to have put up where a big billboard was found to have been skipped. Look for such boards, especially where they are in a conspicuous position in working class districts, and report to headquarters so they can be attended to. Don't neglect this.

NLY four weeks before election," or "still four long weeks"according as you take it. He who says with us, "only weeks," knows that if we would do our whole duty, "only four short period would hardly suffice. Whereas he who thinks: "We have still four weeks time; make haste clowly," will do nothing today, but postpone all till tomorrow. But he will do as little on the morrow because another day is coming, in which he thinks he can begin his task. Thus he will continue to procrastinate until election day is here, and when that day dawns, he will perceive with regret that he has done nothing. All that he can possibly do then is to cast his one ballot for the Social-Democratic party, for Debs and Hanford.

As a soldier of the great international army of Socialists, however, he has by no means done his full duty by merely voting the ticket. He has allowed others to do the fighting and simply plucks the fruit of a victory which he did not help to achieve. He even diminished the extent of the victory by his failure to make new recruits for our cause. His vote certainly counts, but he might have multiplied it five and

Only 30 days intervene between now and the election, but every of this time is precious to the Social-Democrat, while every day is lost which he allows to pass without doing something to further our cause. The celebrated Greek painter Apelles loved his art so much that he would let no day go by without adding at least a few lines to his picture. The Latin proverb, "Nulla dies sine linea" thus originated. Why should not a Socialist manifest as much zeal for the furtherance of Socialism as an artist shows

From now until election let no day pass without directing a stroke against capitalism. One need not be an orator or an agitator

In the early morning-hour, when on the way to work, the Social-Democrat can fly his flag—the Socialist press. In Milwaukee this consists of the "Social-Democratic Herald" and the "Vorwaerts," Everybody knows their meaning and import; or if not, so much the better. That will arouse the curiosity of your companions and lead to all sorts of questions. But those who know what principles these papers represent will be affected in various ways. Our sympathizers will rejoice at finding comrades wherever they go; while it our opponents to see that the revolutionists are constantly increasing. In the one case, our comrades feel encouraged; in the other, the exploiters will be filled with greater fear. The principal thing gained through such agitation, however, is the fact that the ignorant, the doubters and the vacillating ones are thus continually forced to reflect and to inform themselves upon the social question. And if no opportunity for agitation should present itself during the day, you chance to serve the good cause when riding home will surely have a will surely have a chance to serve the good cause when riding home in the evening. Leave your Social-Democratic paper or pamphlet lying on your car-seat for your fellow passenger to read after you have "reached your corner." That is surely the least one can do for the cause of Socialism and centainly easy enough. Every sympathizer of labor and of Socialism should at all times be equipped with a few Social-Democratic hand-bills, leaflets, and papers and deposit these wherever they will do the most good. Women as well as men can aid in this work; especially the former. Naturally we must go about it in a practical and judicious way, not failing to take into account the fact that eight languages are spoken in Milwaylog and visingit. The fact that eight languages are spoken in Milwaukee and vicinity. Thus we must circulate German literature in the German settlement; Italian literature in the Third Ward, Bohemian literature among the Bohemians, and Polish literature among the inhabitants of the Polish settlements on the South and North sides. Although polyglot in its expression, our literature is nevertheless united in its principles. These are the same the world over. As Comrade Vandervelde strikingly expressed it in a mass-meeting in New York, "The tower of Babel built by slaves disunited the nations, they became strangers to each other: they spoke, but did not understand one another. But the spirit of Socialism is again uniting the peoples; they understand each other, no matter what tongue they speak."

From now on, comrades, until election, consider the time as dif-ferent from usual. These 30 days are fighting days and what you do during this time will redound doubly to your credit, in the sum total of your life. Let your first thought be each day, What task can I fulfill today? To distribute pamphlets, to contribute to the campaign fund (without waiting for the morrow), to gain a new subscriber for the Social-Democratic papers—all this may be done by every comrade. But besides, it is your duty to make new converts for Socialism and the Social-Democratic party, and to convince those who sympathize with us but stand aloof from the party organization, that it is the present to work with and in the party. Teach them that it is the necessary to work with and in the party. Teach them that it is the duty of every one who believes in Social-Democracy to put forth every effort to spread the doctrine, if we would realize its aims speedily and the least possible friction. For the means of bringing about the Social-Democratic form of society is the party organization. Every comrade should consider it a sacred duty to work and, if need be, die for his party and his principles. For the next 30 days let your watchword be: Victor L. Berger. 'Nulla dies sine linea."

the American expression of the international movement of modern wage workers for better food, better houses, sufficient sleep, more leisure, more education and more culture. Those who work with hands and brain are the producers of all wealth, but as laws are now made in the interests of property and the men who own property, the rights of the workers are ignored, although they are in the great majority.

Electricity, steam and many modern inventions have struck the death blow at production on a small scale. Production on the largest scale makes monopoly a necessary condition. Monopoly is here, whether we wish it or not. The only question is whether it shall be a public or private monopoly.

The Socal-Democratic party demands that the production of this country shall be taken away from the control of a small number of irresponsible men whose only aim is to exploit us to the last limit of our endurance.

HE Republican and the Democratic parties do not today differ in any essential points. Formerly the Republican was the favorite party of capitalism, but since the trusts have captured the Democratic party at St. Louis nationally and again at Oshkosh as far as this state is concerned, there is hardly any other difference between the two than that the Democratic party tried to outbid the Republican party in its deference to capitalism. As for Gov. La Follette, he is powerless against the trusts and capitalists, because as a good Republican and as a lawyer he cannot comistently oppose property rights of any kind. These rights are more sacred to all so-called reformers than the rights of man; but, alarned by the growing strength of Socialism, and either unable or unwilling to admit that it is the logical consequence of capitalism, they are now trying to get arcund Socialism by the use of phrases that to them sound "socialistic." Yet none of the reformers dare to attack the only vital point in the present economic system: the private ownership of the means of production and distribution.

And as for the Democratic party, the tion and distribution.

And as for the Democratic party, the less said the better. By recent industrial developments it has lost its economic basis. Since the abolition of negro slavery it has lost its political life. It is now simply the stamping ground for the most crooked politicians and political and other theres in America. Tammany Hall is the type of the only flower that can blosom on that soil, and it has been repeated in endless varieties in every city from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Any man voting that ticket votes for men who have to leave the city whenever the grand jury convenes.

HE trust question is a national question, but in state affairs also the Social-Democratic party stands for every radical change that will bring more wealth, more culture and more safety to the masses of the people. The Social-Democratic party believes in self-government for cities; in a just and equitable taxation, and in the highest development of a reasonable public service. We also demand better legislation for the protection of life and limb in factories and mines, the public ownership of public utilities as a fact and not as a mere phrase, and protection against as a mere phrase, and protection against hardship and raisery in old age—not as a charity, but has a right. If we get the political power in this state we will carry out these and other Social reforms. But we call attention to the fact that the measures we urge are in no way a cure for all the existing evils, nor are they all Socialist institutions. They are to be viewed rather as mere palliatives, capable of being carried out even under the present conditions. Under no circumstances should the pecule rest concumstances should the people rest con-tent with palliatives of this kind. The people should move onward to the con-quest of all public powers, to an entire change of the present system for one which will secure to the people collect-ively the blessings of our modern in-ventions, and a standard of civilization and culture hitherto unknown in history.

ITH this in view the Social-Democratic party of the state of Wisconsin in convention assembled reaffirms its allegiance to the principles of international Socialism, and declares its adherence to the platform of the national Socialist party adopted at the convention in Chicago and pledges itself at the present time to the following:

3.—That the state legislature, the governor and our representatives in congress shall take such action as will be calculated to enact a law, granting every wage worker over 60 years of age, who has earned less than $1,000 a year and has been a citizen of the United States for sixteen years, at least, a presion of not less than $12 a month for the rest of his life. of his life

One of the impressive and somethat painful indications that groes are men as other men, is af-forded by the attitude of the Conervator, a Negro paper of Chicago, egarding the recent strike in the packing houses. This strike was defeated with the gid of Negroes who took the places of strikers. It was as unwise a thing as they could have done, for it served the ends of ended to revive a declining race mimosity among the working class For this the Negroes who took the vacated jobs are not to blame. Presuming that the packers will act in good faith toward the men and women of the race, who within the last few week have faced danger and almost death in many forms to serve them, the precedent once established that Negroes can be depended upon to take the places described by other laborers will at once become contagious and the doors of every industry heretofore closed against him will sooner or later swing open to his approach. During the last years of her life, Frances E. Williard was an avowed Socialist. She saw in Socialism the only reasonable hope for the extermination of the liquor evil by the elimination of all profits from its management.

Is Socialism a dream? No! It is the most practical and pressing political development of today. That is why it is worrying the old party politicians so much. They are at a loss to know how to answer its logic or stem the tide of Socialist sentiment that rises higher every moment. every moment.

"The Socialists have for years been in control in the city council of Berlin, Germany" writes Wm. E. Curtis, in the Chicago Record-Herald," and it may not be a coincidence only that experts in municipal problems are almost unanim-ous in the opinion that the city govern-ment of Berlin comes nearer to the ideal than that of any other great city in the world."

Socialism does not deal directly with marriage, but indirectly it will do much to promote purer and happier relations in this direction. Ministers are just now discussing the increase of the "divorce evil," but it does not seem to occur to them that this has its real origin in the capitalistic system which has put marriage, with everything else, on the commercial basis. The hard conditions of existence drive thousands of women to enter the marriage state with almost. or existence drive thousands of women to enter the marriage state with almost the first man who offers himself regardless of love, with the result that before long the mistake is discovered and relief is sought in divorce. Not until woman is economically free will this "problem" be solved. Socialism, instead of abolishing marriage, will make the real love marriage possible for all.

So it But just what "business" stands under the present But just what "business" stands for under the present system is clearly shown by Lincoln Steffens in his re-markable articles in McClure's Maga-zine entitled "Enemies of the Republic." This is what Mr. Steffens says: "Our political corruption is a system, a re-gularly established custom of the country, by which our political leaders are hired, by bribery, by license to loot, and by quiet, moral support, to conduct and by quiet, moral support, to conduct the government of city, state and na-tion, not for the common good, but for the special interests of private business. Not the politician, then, not the bribe-taker, but the bribe-giver, the man we are so proud of, our successful business man—he is the source and sustenance of our bad government... The trail of the political leader and the trail of the commercial leader are parallells which mark the plain, main road that leads off the dead level of the cities, up cities, up off the dead level of the cities, up through the states into the United States, out of the political ring into the system, the living system of our actual government. The highway of corruption is the 'road to success.'"

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat prints, a long dispatch from Chicago regarding political conditions in that city, which says among other things: "Socialism, according to the men high in labor counsels, is destined to show remarkable progress when the votes are countied in November. If there be any such increase as predicted by these men, the Democratic party is the one which will sustain by far the larger loss of supporters. There is much reason to believe the spokesmen for organized labor sustain by far the larger loss of supporters. There is much reason to believe the spokesmen for organized laborare talking truly. The drift of opinion is easily ascertainable by going among and talking with the rank and file of the unions in this city. There is no mistaking the fact that there is a growing sentiment that laboring men should have a party which they can call their own, and should stick to that party, through thick and thin. The two old parties may as well be figuring on that own, and should stick to that partythrough thick and thin. The two old parties may as well be figuring on that contingency in politics, and be ready for it, regardless of the alleged cisdom or folly of the laboring men in going on a tangent. Michael Donnelly, president of the striking butchers' organization, was not speaking idly when he said the stock yards strike and the attitude of the big packers were driving the laboring men to Socialism. It was not simply a case of the wish being father to the thought. Mr. Donnelly has had a chance to sound the views of the union men. His report is in line with that made by newspaper men in the course of extended investigation at the stock yards."—Cleveland

The N. Y. Worker editorially enumerates the big strikes of recent years that have been waged at terrible cost to the workers and lost, and holds that the strike cannot be as effective a weapon in the class struggle now that capitalists are well organized. The day is not far off when the reactionary labor leading will be brushed aside and the political weapon, strengthened by a class-consciousness, made the great trade upion weapon.

The old parties are made up of rascals, principally, their paign fund comes from the trusts and the rascals handle it. Probably all of them have sticky fingers and the interesting fact is that they do not show the people a record of where the money goes. This is shown by the following from Walter Wellman, who is on the inside:

"During national campaigns, the books of the treasurer and manager are kept in a peculiar way. Instead of entering accounts by name, each account is given a number, and is thus carried throughout the campaign. The key to this legendary system is known only to two or three trusted men and the accountants who keep the books have not slightest knowledge of what state committee or other organization or individual that stands behind the number. After the campaign is over the books are burned and all the records, except possibly some private memorandum kept by the manager, are wiped out of existence. Such a thing as the auditing of campaign expenditures was never known, and probably never will be known, so far as national campaigns are concerned." or individual that stands behind the number. After the campaign is old parties do not dare to show where the money they did the crime of buying elections and lining the pockets of the party monkey-workers would be exposed. With the Social-Democrats it is different. No campaign money comes from the trusts, it is contributed by party members, who sacrifice in order to do so. Every penny received is accounted for in print and every penny spent is on record. The Social-Democrats do not have to burn their books for four the record of the provided by the social spends of the social spe fear they would show crimes against 'the sanctity of the ballot!

Who can measure the iniquity of child labor or society's crime against childhood which the enforced poverty of the parents entails? A city is a bad place in which to bring children up at best, but when a child is forced to spend its play time of life in close city streets, in slummy neighborhoods, in contamination from pavements and alleys alive with filth, strewn with cigar butts, the expectorations of sickly humanity, and other forms of impurity that a city cannot escape, it is a melancholy, a terrible indictment of the prevailing economic system. Instead of little baby fingers coming in contact with city filth and baby lungs breathing in contaminated city air, those fingers should be dirty with the clean dirt of country field or lane and the little lungs should be storing up benefit from the aromatic breezes of wood and meadow and sunny orchard. The city resident districts of the rich form a fair substitute for the country play grounds, it is true, but we are speaking of the children of the working class, not of the children of the rich. Now, do not imagine that the wrongs of the slum baby will go unrevenged. Nature does not forgive a violation of its laws, and there is a terrible retribution ahead for all this wrong. When society makes slum babies out of its youngest citizens the crime is avenged finally. It is a serious and a terrible thing to brutalize the rising generation, and the penalty will have to be paid in one way or another.

The Evening Wisconsin, Milwaukee, says: "Postmaster Gen. Payne possessed a quality of imparting enthusiasm to others." We grant it. Notoriously he was a buyer of men, a skillful purchaser of votes in bulk, and as long as he was the Republican county chairman of Milwaukee the election went Republican. There has been a marked change in the political complexion of certain purchaseable districts in Milwaukee since Mr. Payne was succeeded by a Democratic "imparter." Wisconsin claims that Payne did the country a service by cleaning up the postal department, although the rascals were members of his own party. Go, tell that to the simpletons. It is well remembered how Payne sucered at the efforts to carry on the postal investigations, calling the disclosures "hot air," and even going to the length of claiming that those who made charges were trying to defante McKinley, because the rascals liable to be disclosed had been McKinley appointees. This tack of his caused such a storm in the press of the country that the tack of his caused such a storm in the press of the tack of his caused such a sorm in the press of the country that the smarter politicians in the Republican party forced him to recognize the investigation as justifiable. Payne was always a political monkeyworker and corrupter of legislation. He was an enemy of the people, a man of low political morals, who was not at all redeemed by the fact that he had undoubted ability as an organizer.

The Milwaukee Sentinel, which is worried because so many of the victims of capitalism commit suicide by carbolic acid, now editorially calls for a law against the sale of carbolic acid to any one who asks for It wants to have the victims of the class it stands for prevented from putting themselves out of their misery! But its way is a very poor one. The only sensible way would be to prevent those who are committing suicide from wanting to die and that could only be done by abolishing the exploitation of labor-which the Sentinel would never do in a thousand years!

Are you thinking about how you are going to cast your vote? Be a man! Cast it for principle. You pretty well know, whether you will admit it or not, that both the capitalist parties are corrupt to a shameful degree even for parties that stand for the rights of wealth as against the rights of men. You must see that they are rotten because they are guided by commercial ideals and interests. Vote to give the worker the 'ull product of his toil, if you would have a clear conscience. Try it!

moral man is Congressman Otjen of the Fourth Wisconsin dis-A moral man is Congressman Otjen of the Fourth Wisconsin district. His sanctimonious smile is only skin deep. Back of it is the cunning that stoops to such tricks as that of making the government foot his campaign bills. The past week he deluged his district with private mailing cards of large size, circulated by government frank, and bearing extracts from his alleged speeches in congress. This large lot of campaign stuff did not pay a penny of postage! This is about as shady as a good deal of Otjen's past labor-fleecing record!

Socialism means a chance to really live. The poet has told us that "some men are dead who are walking about," and there are a good many dead people serving their time out on earth, working day in and day out and living in shacks and hovels—mere work machines for the benefit of the capitalists who deplete them at all opportunities. Socialism will bring a wholesome higher civilization, one that will not be a libel on Creation, for all will be able to participate in it.

Dear Herald: In reply to H. B. Ash-plant's queries in No. 313: 1) Cloth that has been put upon the market of the value of $7,000; 2) out of the $7,000 that cloth is worth, my wage workers receive $2,000, I receive $5,000; how can I get $5,000 profit when the wage worker can fork up only $2,000?

I get $5,000 profit when the wage worker can fork up only $2,000?

Let us for instance assume society today is divided into 10 classes, i. c., a. b. c. d. e. f. g. h. i. k. From a financial standpoint class k. is the extreme wealthy, class a. the extreme poor; according to rule money or wealth its supposed equivalent is today the means of exchange; but another rule which kreates all discordance; the rule products are not exchanged at cost, but above cost, or profit; therefore the buyer is compelled to expend a greater amount than he receives in return (please look for a contradicting statement later). Therefore if his (the buyer's) resources to buy do not last longer than his life, in other words, if his life lasts longer than his resources, he will become a victim to bankruptey. Let us assume Mr. H. B. A. belongs to class g. or h.; I to class c. or d. I have an overcoat, cost $25.00, shirts, trousers, shoes, etc., etc., but no other means to obtain subsistence for life except physical motive power, which I can not dispose of, as it is not needed or perhaps not wanted; therefore I dispose of my overcoat at an exchange value of $5.00. The buyer in this case is not to be found in classes d. c. b. or a, because haps not wanted; therefore I dispose of my overcoat at an exchange value of $5.00. The buyer in this case is not to be found in classes d. c. b. or a., because they are in the same fix or worse off than I am; the buyer in this case is in classes e. or f. (and please note former contradiction). This buyer receives a greater amount than he expends, because it is always the upper class that terminates the value both at buying and selling; this transaction has placed me from class c. or d. into class b. or c., because this petty bankruptey has reduced me from a higher class to a lower.

reduced me from a higher class to a lower.

And if H. B. A. is in class g. or h. and perhaps has for years disposed of cloth on an average profit of $5,000, but unless he has also availed himself of the opportunity to get something for nothing or receives a large amount for small value, expended, his future looks

The Marxian theory of surplus-value, briefly stated, amounts to this: T at the difference between what the workers receive for their labor and what they produce by their labor constitutes a 'surplus-value'—i. e., a value 'for which the capitalist has not paid and which is the source from which real profit, and interest are derived. That being so, any reduction of the working day is, other things being equal, a reduction in the time during which this surplus-value is being extracted, and, consequently, a reduction in its bolk—Justice, London.
