NEW YORK, THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1908.

PRICE ONE CENT

MILLIONS FOR CRAFT

Not One Cent for Starting School Children

MILLION CITY DO A TRIP

President of Board of Education Doesn't Care Enough to Return Without Meeting the Conditions

"Don't know" is the important word of the city's political and educational circles when approached concerning money for starting school children, who, according to City Superintendent Mitchell, are to be sent all over the city, without a cent, to the poverty-stricken districts, as is in popularly supposed.

Last night in his comfortable home at No. 124 East Thirty-ninth Street, Attorney Stephen L. Whitson, Jr., president of the Board of Education, said: "I have only heard what the newspapers have printed about it; in any case the board could do nothing except to tell any philanthropic body which might choose to take up the work."

Mayor McAdams, when asked if he intended to do anything towards relief of the starting little children, replied: "What can the city do?"

Superintendent Mitchell said that it was his opinion that the city should provide breakfast and lunch for the children at cost price and give them the necessary clothing.

The Children's Relief Society was organized yesterday afternoon in the office of Miss Julia Robinson, district school superintendent, at No. 124 East Thirty-ninth Street, between Broadway and Avenue C.

The society is a permanent organization, which will continue to work until all its conditions have not improved materially to that time.

The officers of the society are: Miss M. Lacy, lawyer, of No. 220 Broadway, president; Mrs. Sibilla Robinson, wife of a lawyer, No. 249 East Broadway, vice-president; Dr. Max Herbin, of No. 100 West Street, secretary; and Mrs. James H. Hamilton, head worker at the University Settlement.

The new organization includes the members of the local school boards, teachers, and individuals and not as school officials. Plans were immediately completed for soliciting free midday meals of soup, eggs, rolls, butter, and sterilized milk. Twenty-five children will be looked after in the school in need of nutritious food. At the same time $100 was raised by the mothers themselves, and placed in the hands of the treasurer. Twenty dollars more was added to this amount from the mothers of the children, of No. 224 West Thirty-ninth Street, and George O. Hollbrook, of No. 52 Hicks Street, each of whom contributed $10.

The organization has been endorsed by the United Hebrew Charities, the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, the Charity Organization Society and Superintendent Mitchell.

Chairman Abraham Stern of the Charitable Settlement Committee said through proof of its ability to continue the work once started would be provided a class room by the board where a relief kitchen might be established.

A report made of some relief work was demonstrated in two instances where the Relief Society had entirely completed its organization. Freight Officer George Williams, called to inspect the kitchen of the boys without regard to the feeling of human sympathy, almost broke up the organization meeting by bringing before him the children, Mrs. Smith Goldberg, of No. 54 Madison Street, to explain why her seven-year-old daughter Jennie had not been in school since May 22. The mother of six children, carrying a six-month-old babe in her arms and accompanied by the girl Jennie, who had been kept at home in spite of her mother, who was the family's only free to do any kind of work, said she was unable to earn a cent, income, was so weak that she could not walk, and was unable to get to work. The mother was unable to get to work, and was unable to get to work.

BIG SMASH ON NEW HAVEN ROAD

Five Workmen are Badly Hurt at Harlem.

POLICE HASTEN TO GUARD CASH

Fast Freight, with Million Dollar Load, Crashes into Engine and Train is Throttled with Fire

Running over the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad at the rate of fifty miles an hour from Boston to make up for lost time, the "Million Dollar" express freight, carrying currency to the amount of $115,000, crashed into a switch engine at 123d Street and Willis Avenue with terrific force early this morning.

A second later the switch engine and the engine of the train were a heap of scrap iron, and five workmen were seriously injured, while several others sustained severe shocks.

Fire started immediately after the collision and the police were summoned to protect the currency which was on board the fast freight. The first car of the freight was smashed to pieces. The second one was slightly damaged, but the third one came out intact. It was in the third car that the money was, and when this became known a large crowd collected. The police concentrated themselves at this point.

At the same time firemen were summoned, but despite their efforts the fire continued until only the trucks of the engines remained.

Those injured were:

RYAN, GEORGE, twenty-two years old, of No. 145 Broadway Avenue, New Haven, a chauffeur who was stealing a ride on the side of the forward car; scalp wounds and lacerations of the face and hands; Lincoln Hospital.

WARREN, RICHARD, twenty-three years old, brakeman, of No. 400 East 143d Street, Bronx; leg broken and concussion of the body; Lincoln Hospital.

WATKINSON, JOHN, twenty-nine years old, engineer of the "Million Dollar" express, residing in Springfield, Mass.; lacerations of right hand and neck; several internal injuries; Lincoln Hospital.

KEENE, MICHAEL A., twenty-nine years old, brakeman, of 123d Street and Willis Avenue, Bronx; scalp wounds and concussion of the left shoulder and body; Lincoln Hospital.

WHELAN, JAMES E., twenty-eight years old, brakeman, of No. 24 Convent Avenue, Springfield, Mass.; concussion of the arms, legs and body; Lincoln Hospital.

Three trainmen on the switch engine were hurled to the ground when the collision came. All were treated and cut by being struck. Their names were referred to the police, and they were sent home in a carriage.

The two engineers, Naughton of the express, and William M. Bradley, of the switch engine, were detained by the police for investigation. Naughton was too badly hurt for detention at the police station, and was taken to the Lincoln Hospital. Bradley was fortunate enough to get out without an injury. He lives at 104 Kimberly avenue, New Haven. Engineer Naughton said that he saw the headlight of an engine ahead, but supposed that because of the numerous tracks in the yards at that particular point, that the engine was on another track. He only discovered his mistaken when it was too late to stop the express and the wreck was inevitable.

Engineer Bradley, of the switch engine, saw the express too late to avoid being run into. He reversed his lever and yelled to Kelly, his fireman, to jump. Kelly stuck, and got injured. Bradley jumped and saved himself. The engine had a large crowd and was on its way to the Oak Point yards.

Watkinson was caught beneath the wreckage of the switch engine. He had been riding on the rear of the engine. He was rescued just in time to avoid the flames of the fire which had crept up close to him.

AMBASSADOR TO GERMANY TO RETURN SOON.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Charles Maguire Tower, who recently resigned as American Ambassador to Germany, sent a dispatch to the State Department yesterday saying that he will present his letters of recall to Secretary William on June 8. It is expected that Dr. David Jayne Hill, former Ambassador to Germany, to succeed Mr. Tower, will be formally presented to Emperor William about the middle of June.

RADICAL TREACHERY REBORN

For the First Time, in Spite of Class System of Voting, Representatives of Working Class Are Chosen to Prussia's Legislature.

BERLIN, June 4.—The most notable result of the elections to the Diet of Prussia, which were held throughout Prussia yesterday, was the election of about five Social Democrats, four of which were victorious in Berlin districts and one in a district of Hannover. This is the first time that any Socialist has been chosen to the Prussian Diet. It is yet uncertain whether the Social Democrats have carried more than three seats.

KINSMAN BISHOP OF DELAWARE

WILMINGTON, Del. June 4.—The Protestant Episcopal diocese of Delaware, in regular session yesterday, elected Rev. Dr. Frederick J. Kinsman, of New York, as Bishop to succeed the late Rt. Rev. Leighton Colman, who died last December.

Only one ballot was taken by the clergy of the 14 votes cast for Dr. Kinsman received 11, and three were cast for Dr. Robert S. Copeland of Baltimore, after which the election of Dr. Kinsman was made unanimous. The late immediately confirmed the nomination. Dr. Kinsman is professor of history in the General Theological Seminary, New York.

UNION PACIFIC TO FLOAT $20,000,000.

The Union Pacific Railway Company is about to sell $20,000,000 of 4 per cent first mortgage bonds. It is said that one-half of this amount will be offered for subscription by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. to-morrow and the remaining $2,000,000 will be sent abroad, where arrangements have been made that assure its disposition.

MARYLAND DEMOCRATS OPPOSED TO BRYAN.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 4.—The Democratic state convention met at the Auditorium Theatre yesterday afternoon to select delegates to the national convention and adopt a platform. The state leaders maintained their opposition to Bryan and all he stands for, and the platform adopted was certainly not a Bryan document, because of the belief that Bryan will probably be nominated at Denver, few prominent Maryland Democratic leaders desire to go to the convention. It was hard to find men of party prominence to make the trip.

WORK "BLACK HAND" LETTERS.

NEWARK, N. J., June 4.—Frank Kirk, formerly a watchman for the Kelly Theatrical Company here, was yesterday found guilty of sending "black hand" letters to the president of the company. Kirk made a demand for $500, threatening the death of the company if the money was not forthcoming. The extreme penalty is fifteen years in state prison, but the jury recommended mercy.

SHOT AT DREYFUS

French Monarchist Tried to Kill Man Zola Beheaded.

A SLIGHT WOUND IS INFLECTED

Ceremony of Entombing Great Frenchman in Pantheon Interspersed by Attempt at Fatal Murder.

PARIS, June 4.—Just as the ceremony of the official burial of the remains of Emile Zola in the Pantheon was coming to an end this morning, and President Fallieres and most of the other distinguished personages had come out on the steps of the building to watch the troops march past, a man arose from the press seats and fired twice at Major Dreyfus, who was seated near the catafalque. One of the bullets hit Dreyfus in the left arm. The would-be assassin was arrested and proved to be a man named Gregori, who is a writer on military subjects on a monarchist paper, the Journal. Dreyfus would is not serious.

There were many reactionary demonstrations during the morning and over 80 arrests were made. Gregori is 54 years old.

Monsieur Dreyfus was beheaded his husband when he was shot.

TO EMILE ZOLA

Novelist and Champion of Justice Rests in Pantheon.

THE REACTIONARIES ARE FURIOUS

Cannot Forgive the Man Who Wrote "Cervant," "L'Humanite" and the "Faccus" Letter Against Militarist Ring.

PARIS, June 4.—Preparations for the burial to-morrow of the body of Emile Zola with full national honors in the Pantheon, the French temple of fame, are now complete. The ceremony will be elaborate and impressive, and almost identical with that observed when the body of Victor Hugo, the last great Frenchman to be so honored, was transferred to the Pantheon.

The realization that Zola is being glorified not so much as a reward for his prodigious literary activity, but because he was the first great leader in the Dreyfus affair, which routed the general staff of the army and forged France to purge herself of the charge of social injustice, has revived whatever is left of the old animosities that ten years ago divided France into two camps.

To-night the body, which has been lying under a striking bust of the novelist in the cemetery of Montmartre, was borne in a simple hearse, followed by the widow and other members of the family and a few intimate friends in carriages to the Pantheon, where the coffin was placed upon a high catafalque erected in the middle transept beneath a high cupola.

Thousands of persons who had assembled faded cheeks and grown, the cheeks predominating as the hours passed, and an attempt by a few radicals to start a hostile manifestation proved a failure.

All night the body will be watched over by friends of the famous writer in order to prevent possible manifestations before the tomb. It has been decided to close the Pantheon after the ceremony to-morrow, and to reopen it on Saturday for the admission of the public.

SOME TIPS TO OUR VOLUNTEER CORRESPONDENTS.

When you write us a letter, don't forget to date it and affix your address as well as your name. Give us the facts exactly, not in general terms, fully, but without exaggeration. When you send a clipping, mark it to show the name and date of the paper. Don't wait a week before you send a letter and then wonder at our not using it.

YOU WORKINGMEN OF NEW YORK, REMEMBER YOUR BITTER EXPERIENCES IN RECENT STRIKES. IT WILL BE A LONG TIME BEFORE YOU FORGET THE TREATMENT YOU RECEIVED DURING THE B. R. T. STRIKE, THE INTERBOROUGH STRIKE AND THE BUILDING TRADES STRIKE.

YOU STILL ARE MINDFUL OF THE BRUTALITY OF THE CORPORATIONS THROUGHOUT THESE STRUGGLES, AND HOW THEY WERE AIDED IN THEIR FIGHT AGAINST YOU BY CITY OFFICIALS AND SUBSIDIZED NEWSPAPERS.

YOU STILL FEEL THE BLOWS OF POLICEMEN'S CLUBS AND ARE STUNG YET BY THE STARS OF THE CAPITALISTIC PRESS.

THE FORCES AGAINST YOU WERE TOO GREAT—AND YOU FAILED.

AND WHILE YOU REMEMBER THESE THINGS, THERE IS SOMETHING ELSE YOU SHOULD NOT FORGET—

THERE WILL BE OTHER STRIKES, AND YOU WILL AGAIN BE CONFRONTED BY THE SAME CONDITIONS.

YOU FAILED BEFORE BECAUSE YOU HAD NO MOUTHPIECE—BECAUSE YOU LACKED AN ORGAN OF PUBLICITY AND COULD NOT GET A HEARING.

YOU NOW HAVE AN OPPORTUNITY TO CHANGE THIS ORDER OF THINGS. THE CALL HAS COME AS YOUR CHAMPION—IT WILL PUBLISH THE TRUTH ABOUT STRIKES AND ALL OTHER LABOR MATTERS.

THE CALL WILL FIGHT YOUR BATTLES BEFORE THE PUBLIC, AND ALL IT ASKS IN RETURN IS THAT YOU WILL HOLD UP ITS HANDS AND HELP IT TO STAY IN THE FIELD AGAINST THE FORCES THAT YOU WILL SEE YOUR OWN INTERESTS AND SERVE THEM.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT HAS A CLOSE CALL

Thrown From Spirited Young Horse in Rock Creek Park—Water Shallow, but Broke Force of Fall.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—With the possible exception of the collision between a trolley car and a carriage in Florida, Mass., in which a secret service officer accompanying President Roosevelt was killed, Mr. Roosevelt was never in a more dangerous incident in his life than he was late yesterday afternoon.

The President was thrown from his horse, which on this occasion was a young and spirited animal, and landed in the water of the creek at a point where it flows rapidly over small boulders, which cover the bed of the stream, and at some points project above the water.

It was accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and by Cornelius McDermott, the military sergeant who has attended the President on all his horseback rides around Washington for several years. McDermott had a young horse from Fort Myer of the staidest variety and full of mettle, and nothing would do but the President must try him out.

They started toward Rock Creek Park, the military sergeant a few rods in the rear, and soon entered one of the roads which lead from the park entrance, a distance of several miles to Chevy Chase.

The sergeant was interested in watching the behavior of the young horse, which the President was "trying" for him, and all went well until they reached Boulder Bridge, about a mile from the starting point.

At a meeting held in the Labor Temple, 243 East Eighty-fourth street, Tuesday evening there was organized a Building Trades Socialist Propaganda Club, whose object is to spread a knowledge of Socialism among workmen of the Building Trades unions.

ALL ABOUT BOOZE, BY A WASHINGTON JUDGE

Corn Juice, Barley Malt and Bourbon Are Technically Defined in Important Pure Food Label Decision at Capital.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—A notable addition to the literature on the subject of "what is whiskey?" has been made by the decision of Judge Robb, of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, in the case of Levy vs. Uri.

"For many years the public has been led to believe that the whiskey sold under this mark was a pure old rye whiskey, when in truth and fact it was very far from being such a whiskey.

"It may be, as contended by counsel for appellee, that a similar mixture containing more than 50 per cent of real rye whiskey is so pure for the purpose of internal revenue assessment; but the acceptance of such a mixture as pure old rye whiskey or pure rye whiskey would impose altogether too great a tax upon our credulity.

"The Century Dictionary tells us that a thing is pure when it is free from extraneous matter; separate from matter of another kind; free from mixture, unalloyed." It is well known that a pure rye whiskey is exactly what the term imports—a whiskey made solely from malted rye. Such a whiskey has all the characteristic properties of the grain from which it derives its name, and in the mind of the consumer is associated with that particular grain and no other.

"We think it very clear that to advertise and sell a mixture containing around 50 per cent of neutral spirits, whether in flavoring and coloring matter or not, as a pure rye, to deceive the public. It follows that we do not recognize any property right in this.

FOUR WORKMEN HORRIBLY BURNED

Tim-miths in Long Island City Distinct Factory Face Damaged As Great As Those of War.

Four tim-miths employed in the West Disinfecting Works, at the foot of Orchard street, Long Island City, were terribly burned by the explosion of a gasoline heater apparatus about 8 o'clock this morning.

The four victims are all residents of Manhattan. They are: John Remelius, 25 years old, of 10 Grinnell avenue, Newtown; Louis Cooperstein, 30 years old, of 168 West Eighteenth street; Jacob Bleckner, 24 years old, of 224 East Tenth street; and Louis Budin, 29 years old, of 124 Lexington avenue.

The men were at work in the room where the disinfectants are canned for shipment. A gasoline furnace was used for heating their soldering irons, and when they started the furnace this morning it exploded.

"Appelle admits the use of neutral spirits in the mixture sold as 'pure rye whiskey,' but does not state the proportion used. In view of this admission, however, it is safe to assume that a substantial proportion was used. We do not think a mixture of spirits and rye whiskey a pure rye whiskey, and we do not believe the public would so regard it.

"After the fire was extinguished the four men were injured and removed to St. John's Hospital, while Frazer had his burns bandaged and went home.

COMMENCEMENT AT UNIVERSITY HEIGHTS

Four years of intelligent, faithful work in the average college gives a young man a decided advantage in the work of the professional school. Four years of college, spent in the most liberal of colleges, prefer to spend them, is not more than wasted. Lord Bacon wanted students to allot their time one-third to sleep, one-third to meals, recreation and prayers and one-third to work. Many colleges, especially in the larger colleges, prefer to amend the third division. Their allotment would be read thus: One-third sleep, one-third to meals, recreation and college prayers when required, and one-third to the study of the name of the student on the college roll.

The degrees were next conferred. The candidates numbered 511, or 25 per cent more than the record of last year. Of the graduates were conspicuous among them were students from Japan, Russia, Cuba, Turkey and Eastern Europe. Nearly fifty women took degrees of one sort or another. One was made master of laws and eleven others were made bachelors of laws. Others became doctors of philosophy, holders of the various grades in pedagogy and masters of arts. One attained the degree of bachelor of commercial science. Among the guests were Mrs. Russell Sage and Dr. John C. Munn, member of the university council. The grounds on University Heights looked their best for the great occasion. They were filled with flowering shrubs and plants in bloom. The buildings, standing out amid the natural decoration, were the gathering place for the ceremony of the various divisions of the university procession, which marched through it on its way to the Auditorium. Many for whom there was not room within doors remained out on the campus during the commencement ceremonies. Throughout the afternoon the grounds were thronged with friends of those identified in one way or another with the day. The music within doors was that of the university organ, that outside was by the Twenty-second Regiment Band.

A SOCIAL SERMON.

The Disobedience of the Rich to the Social Law of Ancient Israel. By REV. JOHN D. LONG. Text, "They have Moses and the Prophets, let them hear them." Luke 16:29. What was the sin for which Dives was sent to torment in the parable of "The rich man and Lazarus?" Nothing whatever is said against the rich man's character. Why then was he held up as such a fearful example? The text tells the story. When Dives asked that a ghost be sent back to warn his brethren he was reminded that they had refused to obey the teachings of Moses and the Prophets, and that there was no likelihood of disembodied spirit being more effectual.

Now, the existence of purple-clad wealth necessitated the coexistence of ulcerated beggary. Swollen fortunes for the few compel poverty for the many. This is an economic necessity that requires no argument. What, however, were the teachings of Moses and the Prophets to which Dives had refused to hear? It was plainly the social law of ancient Israel which required for the purpose as is expressly stated, Deut. 15:4, "That there be no poor in the land." That ancient law forbade aristocratic estates. "The land shall not be sold forever. The year of jubilee is proclaimed. The land means the making money through money rather than by labor, profit and interest were likewise taboo under the ancient social arrangements. With us, now, the money open market has become the rule. And if the brother has more than his hand full of it, he shall show it to his neighbor. He shall not interest or profit of him; but fear thy God, that thy brother may be with thee. Thou shalt not give him the money open market; nor lend him thy vitals for interest." These provisions of the law were emphasized continually by the prophets. And yet, despite these solemn warnings, the rich in Jesus' day added field to field, covered villages with houses and were enriched by profit and interest. Jesus sought to restore and fulfill the ancient law. He sought to bring in a co-operative system which would make great fortunes impossible, but which would bring good fortune to all. It was for his economic gospel, and not for his theological gospel, that he was done to death.

The Changing Style.

The women readers of The Call will find much to interest them in its department of daily fashion hints. It will be conducted by a woman for several years at the head of a dress-making shop in this city where more than a hundred were employed. Her wide and varied experience will be found valuable. Modesty prevents the use of her name, so she will write anonymously.

JUMPER GOWN OF LINEN OR VOILE

The illustration shows a simple and smart little gown for summer wear. The design being suitable for linen, voile or many of the attractive cotton fabrics shown in the shops this season. The model was of pale bluish gray cotton voile, the panel in front being cut in one with the jumper. Oblong medallions of white flax lace, embellished with a little hand embroidery in black, was used on the corsage and the band of voile which outlined the gulle and edged the open sleeves was embroidered in black dots. The jumper was worn over a chemise and sleeve of tucked white batiste, and the yoke and collar were of dotted flax net.

PHYSICIANS GATHERED AT CHICAGO SAY EXPERIMENTATION ON ANIMALS SAVES HUMANS FAR MORE SUFFERING THAN IT BRINGS.

CHICAGO, June 4.—Judging by the ideas expressed at the convention of the American Medical Association, the 30,000 doctors represented in it will make war against the anti-vivisection movement which is being so strenuously advocated all over the country. Seconding a motion on the question of appointing a committee for the defense of the method of animal experimentation yesterday, Dr. C. F. Cantrell, of Greenville, Texas, said: "There are some people who apparently think more of cats, dogs and pigs than they do of their children. They took up the matter as a fad, and they have carried it so far that they have become wild with the idea that has possessed them. They do not realize the responsibilities that will rest upon their shoulders if they should succeed in crippling science in the manner they propose. Dr. Joseph D. Bryant, of New York, asked that the convention 'take decided and far-reaching action' to preserve the right of investigators to study the causes of disease and the best methods of treating it by experimenting on animals. The consensus of opinion of the convention is that occasional abuses are grossly exaggerated by the anti-vivisectionists, and that the enactment of laws such as they demand would result in far greater suffering among human beings than it would save to animals. Dr. Jabez Jackson asserted during a discussion on abdominal surgery that this is rapidly becoming a nation of appendicitis victims. 'According to the present statistics,' declared Dr. Jackson, 'it will only be a few years before every one in the country is afflicted with appendicitis and is forced to undergo an operation in order to prevent death.' As a practicing physician surgeon in New York and the South for a number of years, Dr. Jackson has made a specialty of abdominal surgery, and some say he has performed more appendicitis operations than any other surgeon in the country. Prof. Chipault, of Paris, who read a paper on 'Surgery of the Base of the Skull,' agreed with Dr. Jackson in theory, and declared that the people of France were also laying the foundation for an appendicitis plague. High living, wine and dining, late nights and irregular habits were some of the causes given by Dr. Jackson for the rapid spread of appendicitis. 'The whole question resolves itself into one whether we are not exceeding the speed limit of living,' he said. 'I do not believe that we are. In fact, it has been scientifically determined that we are living too high, and that is one of the greatest causes of appendicitis, the malady which is found to grip everybody in this country of the conditions and circumstances are not changed.'

VEHICULAR MORALITY.

By B. L. The Third Avenue Railroad Company has caused to be displayed in all of its cars two placards entitled "Thou Shalt Not Steal," and reading "Every passenger who does not pay his fare STEALS" and "Every conductor who fails to turn in fares STEALS." These signs are intended to be conducive to the moral uplift of the passengers and the conductors, and are not posted for any other purpose, although my cynical friend insists that the railroad company is prompted by its desire to gather in a greater daily harvest of nickels and not by the lofty and noble desire to inculcate moral ideas. Let us therefore examine this proposal. It commands passengers and conductors not to steal. From whom? Why, from the Third Avenue Railroad Company, of course! Its morality is peculiarly confined to itself; its mandate is committed against itself. The company does not give a thief's dam whether you steal from anybody else, but suddenly turns moralist when the thief affects its own coffers. In the eyes of the Third Avenue Railroad Company stealing from the Third Avenue Railroad Company is monstrous immorality. In the eyes of the country place at North Caldwell, and makes her home there when not filling engagements. She filed her first naturalization papers in Cincinnati several years ago. In a letter, requesting the postponement of her final hearing, she said: "I love America and am only too glad to become a real American citizen. America has brought me luck, name and fortune. Its people have always been kind to me, and I am eager for the time to come when I can call myself one of them."

SCHUMANN-HEINK TO BE AN AMERICAN CITIZEN.

NEWARK, June 4.—Because of the inability of Mrs. Schumann-Heink, the contralto, to appear in the Court of Common Pleas to receive her final naturalization papers, all the naturalization cases before the court were adjourned by Judge Van Eyck until June 16, when the prima donna will be able to attend. Mrs. Schumann-Heink owns a

THE EVENING CALL VOLUNTEERS.

Inspired by the magnificent reception given to The Call, the editor wants to ask the young men and women of the movement who are particularly enthusiastic, to organize into an army of Evening Call Volunteers. For the time being, the men who feel that they can give any portion of their time to this work, whether writing for the paper, in the way of cartoons or photographs, and in the equally important work of distribution, campaign for advertising, etc., are requested to communicate with John Liske at the office of The Call, 6 Park place. Mr. Liske, with Fred Merrick and Louis Kopelin, will undertake the preliminary work of organization. All the women who can help the work are asked to send their communications to Mrs. Bertha Mally at The Call office. She will be the force, and as soon as each organization is completed some arrangement will be made for a union of forces. In no movement more than the working class is it realized that the ancient division of the sexes is harmful, and The Call believes both should meet in its interests on terms of absolute equality. All who want The Call to succeed (and the first day's sales indicate this number at close of 100,000) are urged to join in this work. Organization of this wonderful enthusiasm will increase the fruit of its labor a hundred-fold. Let all communicate at once with the respective committees and meetings will be called for the discussion of details.

CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT OF THE CALL WILL BE A BIG SUCCESS.

That the Children's Department of The Call will be a big success is indicated by more than three hundred letters received by its editor. She says she welcomes every suggestion and requests all having an interest in this work to communicate with The Children's Department, The Call, 6 Park Place.

INGERSOLL'S GOLDEN PLEA.

I do not know what inventions are in the brains of the future; I do not know what garments of glory may be woven for the world in the loom of the great ocean of discovery; I do not know what science will do for us. I do know that science did just take a handful of sand and make the telescope, and with it read the starry leaves of heaven; I know that science took the thunderbolts from the hands of Jupiter, and now the electric spark, freighted with thought and love, flashes under the waves of the sea; I know that science stole a tear from the cheek of unpaid labor, converted it into steam and erected a giant that turns with tireless arms the countless wheels of toil; I know that we have taken advantage of fire and flames and wind and sea; they have no backs to be whipped; they have no children to be sold, no cradles to be violated; I know that science has given us better pictures and better books; I know it has given us better wives and better husbands and more beautiful children; I know it has enriched a thousand-fold our lives; and for that reason I am in favor of intellectual liberty.—Robert Ingersoll.

EVENING CALL PATTERN. A DAINY SUMMER FROCK.

Frocks that are made in what is familiarly known as "jumper" style that can be worn with any separate gulle, are the unquestioned favorites of the season and this one is exceptionally graceful and attractive. The model shown given by the trimming produce the slender effect that is always desirable and the frock has an altogether dressy and smart air while in reality it is exceedingly simple. The blouse and the plaited skirt are joined beneath the belt and the narrow kimono sleeves are attached under the plait while the trimming is arranged under the front edge and extends down over the box plait of the skirt. In the illustration the colored linen is trimmed with white embroidery, but there is scarcely any material of the season that cannot be utilized for this design. It would be desirable for the thinner, lighter ones, such as white, lawn and the like, quite as well as in the dark, and it can be utilized for the pretty simple designs, including the plaited, which girls are wearing extensively just now and which treated in this way are not over smart for even a summer afternoon. Suitable bands to serve as trimming are to be found at every store and if a simpler effect is wanted contrasting material cut into straight bands can be utilized in place of the embroidery. For the twelve year olds will be required 5 1/2 yards of material 24, 44 or 48 inches wide with 2 1/2 yards of banding. A Call pattern, No. 6021, sizes 8 to 14 years, will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper on receipt of ten cents. (If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage which insures more prompt delivery.)
