LONDON, July 23.

The scene in the stadium yesterday when Carpenter was disqualified in the 400 meter race can only be described as respectable and creditable to all. There was a hideous pandemonium of shouting and yelling on the stands, and in the alleyway outside the stadium knots of angry men, who in nearly every case could not possibly have been in a position to say what had actually happened, gave each other the he and accused each other's fellow countrymen of being a set of swindlers in the lurid language which usually characterizes such word contests.

Officials of the Amateur Athletic Association.

with whom the arena has been filled since the opening of the games, ran along the edges of the track, shouting "Foul!" and appearing very much excited.

Then the arbitrator made the brief statement through a megaphone.

"The race had been declared void, but no reason was given. Still not knowing who a great British diver broke out, and continued for several minutes, men who could not under any circumstances have seen the incident crying 'Foul!' louder than those sitting opposite the spot where the alleged foul was said to have taken place, and who, seeing Haswelle taking a wide turn, thought it a mistake in judgment, as he had lots of room to pass Carpenter on either side."

"Foul!" "Foul!"

It is all nonsense to talk about fouling.

There is one satisfaction to be had, however. It shows that the honest 'British agreement' in the world will do to win. I would rather have this

THE PIRATES HARD HIT

PITTSBURGH, July 24.—The Brooklyns gave the leaders a setback yesterday by getting to Leever in a businesslike way in the fourth inning. The Schoolmaster lost his grip and was pounded for three runs. With Hummel out, Lumley started the catastrophe by hammering a two-bagger. Jordan followed with a three-bagger and Sheehan bounced a two-bagger to a safe spot in left. Two runs were in by this time, and Sheehan came in with the third on Lewis's bunt and Bergen's out at first. After Rucker, too, had made a hit Young struck out. Miller, of the Warheit, Has New Affinity.

In a statement issued to-day answering the attack made by the Jewish Warheit on J. G. Phelps Stokes and the Eighth Assembly District of the Socialist party, Jacob Panken, the well known Socialist of the East Side said:

"In an editorial in The Warheit, Mr. Louis Miller, the editor, says that Mr. Stokes was nominated as candidate for the Eighth Assembly District of the Socialist party by sidetracking me and putting my nomination out of the way."

"I don't know where Mr. Miller got that news, but I want to say emphatically that there is not a word of truth in it."

NEGLIGENCE WRECKED WHITE MTN. EXPRESS

GREENWICH, Conn., July 24.—That the lack of tieplates produced the wreck on the White Mountain express on July 16, which resulted in the death of Miss Margaret Armstrong, was the decision of the Coroner's jury here yesterday, charging criminal neglect on the part of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. The Coroner's charge to the jury was in part as follows: "In law by criminal carelessness we mean that kind or degree of carelessness which shows a wanton disregard of the lives and safety of other people whereby some one is killed. Of course, there are other degrees of negligence which do not amount to criminal carelessness, which is proper enough for you to review if you think it is proper to do so. This evidence at the start was directed more or less to the question of the security of the ties. It was supposed that there might have been some rotten ties, but we have been able to find no witness to testify to any such fact as that. On the contrary, the testimony of the railroad authorities is that this was practically a new track, new ties, which have been down there only a couple of months. If you believe that to be true it seems to me this question of rotten ties should be eliminated from the case."

SPORTING NOTES.

An attractive program has been arranged for the stag of the Brown Athletic Club at Hookway Beach to-night. Besides the main bout between two clerks, a wrestling there will be five other bouts between local boys. Kid Carney's Union will play the Navies A. A. team next Sunday afternoon at Union Park, 232d street and Broadway. The Navies are the only team that has beaten Carney's since this season and a good game is expected. WASHINGTON, D. C., July 24.—Tyrus Cobb, the American League champion batsman, and one of the greatest ball players the game has ever produced, is soon to join the ranks of the beauties. It has been reported that Tyrus and Miss Charlie Lombard, an estimable young lady of Augusta, Ga., are to be joined in wedlock the first week of August. The wedding will take place in Augusta. Cobb already having obtained a leave of absence from Manager Jennings for a week for the purpose of entering into the life contract. It is Cobb's intention to make a tour of Japan immediately after the baseball season closes. Mr. and Mrs. Cobb will spend the greater part of the winter traveling abroad. On Monday, July 27, at the Roman Club, 2nd and Orchard streets, Young Oldman and Joe Wagner will box 25 rounds. This will be Wagner's first boxing since he boxed Jimmy Walsh a fifteen-round draw. In meeting Golden Wagner will have a hard nut to crack. The club officials have decided that during the summer months the assessments of the club will be 50 cents and $1, which ought to make a large membership. The final fight between Fred Lewis and Dick Broad. These two appeared at the last show and put up a rattling good bout until Local accidentally fouled Broad in the fifth round. Lewis asked for another chance and Broad accepted. This will prove as good a bout as the best attraction. Four good four round bouts will precede these two bouts. EIGHTH A. D. HOLDS SPECIAL MEETING TO-NIGHT. The Eighth Assembly District of the Socialist party will hold a special meeting to-night at 213 Grand street to consider and act up the national referendum of the Socialist party.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, JULY 24, 1908.

We may rejoice in the fact that one false friend has thrown off the mask and become an open foe. So long as the Jewish Daily Wahrheit pretended to support the principles and the candidates of the Socialist party it was able to cause a certain amount of strife and demoralization among the adherents of our party in the East Side.

WHY THE MASTERS WANT A BIG NAVY.

No one can seriously suppose that, in the improbable event of the United States deciding to exclude workingmen coming from any other country, that country is going to try to bring them in under the guise of warships.

Notions have often resorted to arms to force the admission of the agents of their capitalists to exploit the native labor of another country; but no nation has ever gone to war to compel the admission of its working people to toil for the profit of the capitalists of another country.

Mr. Roosevelt's speech is, in fact, a thinly and clumsily veiled attempt to stir up hostile feeling against Japan. And the object in view is not difficult to guess.

If war with Japan comes, it will not be provoked by the Japanese government in a silly attempt to force the admission of Japanese workingmen into this country; it will be fomented by the capitalists of the United States, in combination with those of England and with the Czar's government.

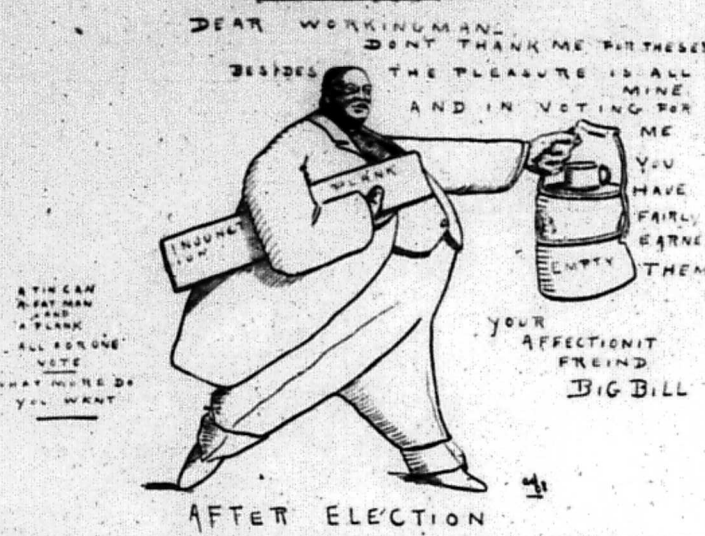

The working people have no interest in war nor in the creation of a large army or a powerful navy. They have every interest in the maintenance of peace and the devotion of all the financial and other powers of the government of this country to the task of developing our own resources and putting them at the disposal of the masses who live and work in this country and produce its wealth—regardless of their race or nativity.

THE COURTS FOSTER CONTEMPT OF COURT.

Who is it that fosters contempt of court? A notorious burglar, who happens to be known as the friend of a local politician, is arrested and brought into court; the Magistrate releases him on ridiculously small bail; he goes into hiding and carries on negotiations for surrender; terms are made with him; he gives himself up, and goes through the solemn farce of pronouncing upon him the sentence which he has declared himself willing to serve.

For the present, at any rate, it seems that Judicial Dignity remains a valuable asset of the Oil Trust.

A DAY IN THE CHARITY SCHOOL.

By JOSEPH RAY.

A Socialist could pick up much interesting material these summer mornings should he seek out the top floor of the Charlites building at the corner of Fourth avenue and Twenty-second street, and sit down quietly to listen to the sessions of the Summer School of Philanthropy.

This charity is of course necessary under the present scheme of civilization. Economically considered it is a portion of what labor consumes. Labor is caught so tight under the steam roller of the present system that it cannot even consume the whole of that small portion which comes to it, under the comparatively independent and respectable form of wages, but must accept a part of it in the degrading shape of charity.

How Can They Fail to See? It is, however, amazing to see these people can discuss the social problems they do day after day, and never by the slightest hint recognize any underlying cause for all the terrible conditions revealed by their own respects; never recognize the futility of much that they do; and never by any chance fall a word of sympathy for the victims of those conditions.

For instance on the morning of July 10, Dr. Janeway, an employee of the Charity Organization Society, told the story of a man who had been the head of the perfume department in Wanamaker's store. He had occupied his position for years, and was an expert in his occupation. With the arrival of the depression the store cut down its staff, and he lost his position, as he was getting a little old, and the management decided to keep the younger men. He had several children. He went several months without work, until to use Dr. Janeway's expression "he got on his uppers."

And They Laughed! "He became so weak and sick from insufficient food," said the speaker, "that he went to a clinic for pneumonia consumption. They examined him, told him he had no pulmonary consumption, but he wasn't eating enough, and they gave him a tonic to improve his appetite."

This statement was greeted with a burst of laughter. Dr. Janeway laughed, everybody enjoyed the joke.

"We found him a place as chambermaid in a boarding house, where he had fourteen beds to make," said Dr. Janeway; and he laughed again, and all the school laughed with him. The assembled company seemed to find something piquantly ludicrous in the thought of a man who had brains enough to be the head of a department in a big department store, coming down to making beds in a boarding house.

Among the "Handicapped" for whom this committee was organized, were enumerated the crippled, the deaf, the partially blind, those with criminal records, or those with bad records for inefficiency—in short, people who for any reason are below the normal, and cannot compete with normal workers without help.

Good Feed Makes Bad Slaves. Other remarks of Dr. Janeway were enlightening, questioned as to the possibilities of employment for tuberculosis persons, he said: "We have a very serious social problem to face in the mental and moral effect upon a workingman sent to a sanatorium for treatment for tuberculosis.

from their toll—was not remotely hinted at. That admirable provision as to the carelessness of a co-employee, under which, if an engineer on a railroad is maimed for life he cannot recover damages because it was the fault of a telegrapher serving the same company a thousand miles away, was not mentioned.

It is the inveterate shallowness of the charity worker which disgusts. I appreciate the fact that this school is for the purpose of discussing methods and conditions, not causes. But had there been in that assembled company any knowledge of, or any sympathy with the whole subject of employers' liability, some one would have injected a question on that subject as they did about the trade unions.

The entire futility of all this work seems never to once have struck the Committee for the Handicapped, or any of the students. There are some forms of charity which must remain, even should the economic system attain perfection. So long, for instance, as some children are born idiots, they must be cared for by society without any return to society on their part.

The Futility of It.

But there is no such feeling of an end accomplished in this work of the "handicapped." In the course of some eighteen months 968 handicapped persons had been found positions. For this purpose an office had been maintained, and at least three persons had received salaries which aggregated some thousands of dollars.

"What is gained in the end? It is like a squirrel running around on a wheel. When the charity worker goes out and gets a job for somebody, he simply takes that job away from some person who would have had initiative and ability enough to get it for himself.

One can pardon superficiality on the part of persons who have had no opportunity to know better. It is literally true that thousands and millions of well-meaning people do not realize how the other half lives—a fact particularly true in the country and smaller places where extremes of riches and poverty do not meet.

There is no place where Socialism is more unpopular than in the purities of organized charity. Among the students at the Summer School this year there is a boy who is inclined to Socialism. The boy is young, and doesn't know very much
