MOTHER TIDAL WAVE

ROME, JAN. 11.—REPORTS HAVE BEEN RECEIVED FROM MESSINA OF VIOLENT SHOCKS OF EARTHQUAKE THERE ON SATURDAY NIGHT, FOLLOWED BY ANOTHER TIDAL WAVE WHICH SWALLOWED UP ABOUT FORTY FEET OF THE CITY FRONT. LESS SEVERE SHOCKS CONTINUED TILL DAYBREAK. THE SHOCKS DID MUCH DAMAGE. THEY COMPLETED THE DEMOLITION OF THE BARRACKS. THE BODY OF MRS. OGISTON, WIFE OF THE BRITISH VICE CONSUL, HAS BEEN RECOVERED AFTER A HEROIC STRUGGLE ON THE PART OF A NUMBER OF SAILORS. REAR ADMIRAL SPERRY PROVIDED A LAUNCH WITH A BURIAL PARTY, WHICH CONVEYED THE REMAINS ACROSS THE STRAITS TO THE ENGLISH CEMETERY.

HALF MESSINA COULD HAVE BEEN SAVED

So Says Deputy Felice in Fiery Speech at Meeting of Chamber of Deputies.

ROME, Jan. 11.—The special meeting of the Chamber of Deputies which was called for the purpose of considering the adoption of measures of relief for the devastated provinces of Italy was marked by eloquent expressions of sympathy and grief at the terrible disaster. The government measures for the relief of the sufferers, which were entrusted to a parliamentary committee, were finally adopted by a vote of 496 to 5. The dissenting votes were greeted with howls and hisses, while prolonged applause followed the announcement of the result.

Some of the members of the Chamber, particularly those who participated in the rescue work, criticized the decision of the government to intrust it to the military authorities. The proclamation of a state of siege in the stricken zone was denounced on the ground that it contributed to the isolation of towns and villages.

Deputy Felice, whose brother was killed at Messina, shouted during the course of a fiery speech: "If I had been in charge we would have saved half of Messina!"

Premier Giolitti explained that the government had adopted measures which were rendered absolutely indispensable by the gravity of the circumstances. He declared that the military authorities had never asked that a state of siege be proclaimed, but that it was only thought of when the Prefect of Messina had notified him that looting had begun on a large scale. It was made necessary by the presence among the ruins of bands of pillagers, and the stringent measures had proved effective.

STUDENTS STARVE.

KIEFF, Russia, Jan. 11.—The students of the Kieff University are suffering from starvation. The winter brought severe hardship and the condition of the self-supporting students is critical. In the vestibule of the university building are hung posters that tell sad tales. One reads: "Comrades, help! I have not eaten a thing for several days, though I have sold everything movable. For a few kopeks I will do any work required. I am a good photographer, a capable draughtsman, a modeler. I can paint and can work out mathematical problems."

Another appeal is even more tragic in its brevity: "Help, boys! I am dying of hunger." A group of hungry female students published this: "Give us work! We will mend socks, clothes, underwear. We will iron and wash for you. We are a group of six young student girls, as hungry as wolves and nearly crazy."

One coupon for each purchaser—one for each ticket is unnecessary.

C. F. U. CHAMPIONS WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Decides to Co-operate with Movement to Secure Signatures for Petition to Congress.

Organized labor of this city will make the fight for woman suffrage its fight. By a unanimous vote the Central Federated Union decided yesterday to lend all possible assistance to the Interurban Woman Suffrage Council, in its effort to present a petition to Congress calling for an amendment to the Constitution so that women may have a right to vote.

The C. F. U. will send out petition lists to all of its affiliated unions, and will urge them to secure as many signatures as possible. Credentials will be given to the Council to make a separate canvass of the local unions.

The above action was taken after an address on woman suffrage by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president Interurban Women's Suffrage Council. In the course of her speech she said: "We are going to take a roll call of the country and find out how the American people stand on the question of woman suffrage. If we could persuade all Republicans that we will give them our vote, they would give us the suffrage right away. But we do not promise our votes to anybody. We will use them as we individually think best."

Lunatics Could Do No Worse.

Delegates Hatch, of the Uplifters' Union, said that if women were granted the right of suffrage they could do no worse with the suffrage than the workmen do now.

Delegates of the C. F. U. and the Uplifters' Union made a strong plea for a common struggle between the workers and women for the rights that are denied them. He said that the same class which exploits the workers and women for the disenfranchisement of women.

Secretary Bohm, of the C. F. U., received a letter from Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, who, with President Gompers and Vice President Mitchell were sentenced to jail for contempt of court. The letter is as follows: "Dear Fellow Craftsmen:

Your favor of December 28 received, and I want to thank you for the kind expressions contained in your letter. I hope that the particular rights for which labor is now contending—the right of free speech and the right of a free press—can be retained without any injury, punishment or inconvenience to any one. We believe we are right.

Hope Decision Will Be Reversed.

"We hope that the higher courts may reverse the position taken by the lower court; but if they do not, labor's hosts must continue their efforts to have the injunction set aside by an amendment to the Sherman anti-trust law, taking labor from under its provisions, and the enactment of the Pearre Anti-Injunction Bill, so that different classes of lockout injunctions cannot be issued against the members, restraining them from doing those things which they have a legal right to do.

"FRANK MORRISON."

It was decided to have the secretary secure a copy of the injunction which the officers of the A. F. of L. were found guilty of violating. The injunction on the statute by legal aid to see whether it applies to the C. F. U.

Benjamin Wood, of the S. N. Wood Company, made a plea for uniform union label for all crafts. He said the different labels of union labels that obtain at present cause confusion. He suggested the use of moving picture shows to demonstrate the unsanitary surroundings of a non-union shop or sweatshop. The executive committee recommended the indorsement of a circular from the Canaboot Owners and Mercantile Association, which declared that the Erie Canal had been mismanaged by Governor Hughes, resulting in the falling off in the water level. It was decided to find out who are behind the circular and have the committee report at the next meeting.

Resolutions indorsing the administration of Commissioner of Immigration Watchorn were adopted. The same will be sent to the President and to the Senate to influence the re-appointment of Watchorn. The Labor Department of the State Charities Aid Association, in a letter, asked that the Central Federated Union send representatives to a labor conference on tuberculosis at the Manhattan Trade School, No. 209 East 33d street, to-morrow night. It was complied with. It was reported that Cloth Examiners and Spenglers No. 11,680 adopted resolutions protesting against Judge Wright's decision. On a motion of Delegate Wolf, of the Cigar-makers Union, a committee was appointed to try to amalgamate the butchers' unions of this city. Delegates T. J. Curtis, of the Rock-drillers Union, and J. C. O'Brien, of the Hatters Union, were elected president and vice president of the Central Federated Union for the ensuing term of six months.

GENERAL HAINS IS PENNILESS

Said to Have Spent Every Dollar He and His Wife Had in Effort to Save Two Boys.

With his entire fortune spent to save his son, T. Jenkins Hains, on trial for the murder of William E. Annis, from the electric chair, General Peter C. Hains, pale and bowed, smiled to-day as he entered the Supreme Court at Flushing.

"We just want to show the world that Thornton tried to keep his brother from killing Annis, and that the captain was not morally or mentally responsible for the act. Then we will be happy," General Hains said when the question of the loss of his fortune was mentioned.

General Hains has pledged the last dollar of all he had saved to insure the comfort of himself and his wife in their old age to meet the expenses of this trial. The trial of Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., who killed Annis, is yet to come, and the prospect is that the old couple will have to go far into debt to defend him.

Then if there should be a disagreement in the jury holding the fate of T. Jenkins Hains, it will mean another trial and increased expense. The tragedy at the Bayside Yacht Club brought about by a woman's alleged confession of wrongdoing, robbed one family of husband and father and stripped the parents of the Hains brothers of every dollar they possessed and plunged them deeply into debt.

Before the trial started General Hains mortgaged the last piece of property he possessed, John F. McIntyre, chief counsel for the defense, said to-day. "The family has sacrificed everything for Torney and Connie," said McIntyre. "The parents are willing to do everything in their power to save both boys. The devotion of the two brothers always has been remarkable. Thornton always stood ready to protect Connie as a youngster, and when the captain's mind was unbalanced by the confession of Mrs. Hains Thornton gave up everything to look after his brother. He was so sure that Thornton unwittingly took the captain where Annis happened to be, and as a result Thornton is now charged with murder."

McIntyre pointed out that the property which the father owns in Washington and the interest which the general and the captain have in the Hains Concrete Mixer Company have been pledged to raise money to save the two men. There are reports that the brothers will be $20,000, in addition to the cost of witnesses.

ATTACKS MILITARISM

Yale Professor Declares People Should Check Naval Expenditures.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 11.—"In this country two-thirds of the national revenue is consumed either in preparation for war in the future or in the payment of pensions or interest on the war debts of the past," declared Prof. Henry Wadsworth Rogers, Dean of the Yale Law School, and formerly president of the Northwestern University, yesterday in the principal synagogue of this city in a lecture on "Peace and War."

The professor continued: "To go on increasing armaments while we await an international agreement for a limitation of armaments involves a wicked squandering of a nation's treasure. There is not a nation in the world that thinks of attacking the United States. Our possessions in the Far East do not endanger our relations to any power. No nation wants them. It is high time that the peace loving people of America should call a halt on their naval expenditures." Prof. Rogers insisted that the death knell of war had sounded, that the United States, England and France were bound to enforce the law of arbitration, and that it was the duty of Congress to check the movement to increase the armament of the United States.

CHARLES E. RUSSELL ON "HOLY TRINITY."

A surprising thing happened in New York last week. Trinity corporation, owner of Trinity Church and Trinity's tenements, issued for the first time in its history what claimed to be a statement of its financial condition. This came as a result of the inquiry into Trinity's holdings which was made last year. The one man responsible for that inquiry, the man who began the public investigation that has caused the Trinity Corporation to break its hideous unbroken silence regarding its affairs, was CHARLES E. RUSSELL. THE EVENING CALL took up and published Mr. Russell's articles last year, and did all it could to help along the good work which he had so ably begun. It is only fitting that Mr. Russell should have something to say about Trinity's statement of its finances. He is the one man who can say something that would mean anything—something illuminating and worth hearing. Mr. Russell will have his say in THE EVENING CALL this week—on Wednesday, January 13. Mr. Russell will do this at the special request of THE EVENING CALL. If you want to hear what Mr. Russell has to say on the vital subject of Trinity, get THE EVENING CALL of next Wednesday. Tell your friends about it. THE EVENING CALL IS THE ONLY MEDIUM THROUGH WHICH MR. RUSSELL WILL EXPRESS HIMSELF ABOUT TRINITY.

TILLMAN DOES NOT SAY LIAR, BUT INFERS IT IN HIS SPEECH TO THE SENATE

POLICE OUTRAGES MAKE CRIMINALS

Madison C. Peters Declares Even Russia Would Not Stand for Bingham's System.

"Such outrages—$4,381 innocents thrown into prison without cause—would not be tolerated in Russia," declared Dr. Madison C. Peters in analyzing the report of Police Commissioner Bingham for 1908 yesterday. "The total number of arrests in New York City in 1908," he continued, "were 244,823—convictions, 140,904—and of the 104,000 discharged, 84,381 were discharged on the preliminary hearing. Presumably the arrests were either unnecessary or no evidence of crime was shown."

"Eloises head the list of crimes, including burglars and murderers and criminals of this description. Of arrests for felonies there were 25,309, and only 6,099 convictions. Clear evidence that the police do not get the crooks, but to keep up appearances they arrest 10,000 against whom they have no evidence, while there are 50,000 crooks at large in the city. "The whole system seems to be a criminal factory, making criminals out of those not so by nature and making it impossible for a man once a criminal to be anything else. "There were 13,449 children under sixteen arrested, and 29,564 between sixteen and twenty, and there were only 4,455 excise arrests. More than 300,000 persons were arrested last year for trivial offenses, some disorder, boys playing marbles or baseball. The manner in which the police look up children in a burning shame on our so-called Christian civilization."

CALLS DECISION UNJUST

Gompers Says No Judge Can Put a Stigma on Labor.

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 11.—At a celebration of the local Federation of Labor yesterday, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, characterized the decision of Judge Wright as grossly unjust. He said: "The granting of the injunction by the Government and the sentence imposed by Judge Wright were grossly unjust, and not even a judge nor his colleagues nor myself, nor make criminals of us. The injustice of it is shown by the fact that the very thing we are forbidden to do every other citizen has the right to do, and it is this that we are protesting against."

"Despite the reputed return of good times and the increase in the various industries of the country, there are thousands of men unemployed, and capital is ever trying to force labor to the wall. In order to overcome this state of affairs and the injustice which has been done us, and to assert our rights as free speaking citizens, labor must organize more thoroughly. This is the only way in which we can accomplish those things for which we are fighting."

OUT OF JOB, CABBY KILLS SELF.

BOSTON, Jan. 11.—Rendered dependent by lack of work Daniel J. Mooney, a well known cab driver, committed suicide by drinking four ounces of laudanum at his home, No. 13 Gainsboro street. For a score of years Mooney had been employed by a Back Bay carriage company and was known to thousands of persons here and in other cities.

South Carolina's Fire Eater Is Not as Severe as He Was Expected to Be in His Answer to the Roosevelt Charges.

THE SOUTHERN SENATOR ALSO ADMITS BEING CAUGHT WITH THE GOVERNMENT

Does Not Deny Having Written the Letters Which the President Caused to Be Published, but in a Volume of Words Endeavors to Convince the Anti-Roosevelt Senate That He Was Only Doing What an "Honest" Senator Should Do for the Other Nine Members of His Family.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, who was charged by President Roosevelt with trying to secure public lands for himself and his family in a statement made public last Friday, began his speech in answer in the Senate at 10 o'clock to-day. The galleries were packed. He said:

"Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege. For the first time in the history of this Government, as far as I have been able to learn, a member of this body has been brought to the bar of public opinion, before the Senate by no less a person than the President of the United States. The manner of the doing of it and the animus and zeal displayed by the Chief Executive are worthy of consideration."

The papers in the case were sent to Senator Hale as acting chairman of the Committee on Appropriations late on Tuesday last. I had no intimation in regard to it until after the Senate met on Thursday. By that time the secret service had evidently come from the White House, directly or indirectly, that a Southern Senator was in the tools of the secret service; and soon it was understood that Senator Tillman was the man.

"I have made no charges of corruption against any member of the present House. If I had proof of such corruption affecting any member of the House in any matter as to which the Federal Government has jurisdiction, action would at once be brought."

"This would simply be doing my duty in the execution and enforcement of the laws without respect to persons. But I do not regard it as my duty to report to the House alleged delinquencies, of members, or the supposed 'corrupt action' of a member in his official capacity. "It therefore follows that he has found no grounds for indicting me in the courts which, no doubt, would have rejoiced him overmuch, and all this fuss, fury and fustian about the seriousness of the case and the gravity of the offense with which he charges me can be attributed to personal malice alone."

On January 4 the President declared what he conceived to be his relationship to the House and that he would do certain things. On January 5 he wrote a letter to Senator Hale, doing the very thing in regard to a Senator which he had declined to do toward a member of the House. Why this difference in my public work here I have not hesitated to criticize and comment on the official actions and utterances of President Roosevelt, and I have doubtless given him good cause to seek revenge. I have at various times notified him in the Senate for tyrannical invasion of the rights of Congress, for usurpation of authority not given him by the Constitution, for disobedience of the law and neglect of duty, and particularly in the case of Mrs. Morris for brutal and cruel conduct toward a helpless woman. I was not aware that these darts of mine had quivered in the Executive hide and stung him so, but the eagerness and intensity with which he has presented his case against me, his making a precedent where none has existed heretofore, his taking from the committee to which he had referred them the papers and giving them to the press before that committee had considered them, indicate that Theodore Roosevelt enjoys to the limit the feeling of getting even with Ben. Tillman and lays on the big stick with the keenest relish, doubtless believing that the pitchfork has gone out of business."

In his letter to Senator Hale I find on page 3 the following: "But a case has just risen of a different kind, which it seems to me I should not put before you as illustrating in striking fashion the way in which investigations begun by any of these various agents in the strict line of their duty may develop facts of high importance, which the investigators would not in the first instance have sought to discover, which, when discovered, ought not to be hidden or suppressed, but the development of which may tend to create an erroneous impression that the agents in question were being used for purposes not within the line of their lawful duty."

It is well to note that the President's recollection of the extraordinary character of his action as well as the unlawful use he has made of the Secret Service, he pretends that his case against me has been worked up by accident, by reason of the discovery of the fraudulent transactions of one Bryan R. Dorr, and that the facts "ought not to be hidden or suppressed." The President says: "Senator Tillman denied the statements of this circular, and expressed a wish for an investigation; and upon his request the Postoffice Department, through its inspectors, made such an investigation. He stated in reference to this circular: "I have not bought any land anywhere in the West nor undertaken to buy any. I have never been connected through the West. I simply want the people of the country to be put on notice that this swindler for whom I have no warrant whatever for continuing to investigate others into his game." The President then goes on to state: "This is a confidential report of a type usually not furnished, but in this case the matter is so serious that I feel I should put it before you. It also contains exhibits D1, D2, D3, D4 and D5, photographic facsimiles of letters and envelopes and telegram from Senator Tillman and his agent, William E. Lee. "I do not deny the authenticity of the letter or the telegram of which photographs were made. I presume the letter from William E. Lee is also a correct copy, but I was not aware of its existence until now, and I am not in anywise responsible for its publication. It was expressed in it that the President says: "On October 20, 1907, Senator Tillman wrote a letter (Exhibit D 3) to Messrs. Reeder & Watkins, of Marshall, Ore., who were attorneys for the prosecuting people who were applicants for the purchase of certain water road and grant land; Dorr was a land agent making his filings through Reeder & Watkins. Senator Tillman's letter was as follows: "I wired you from Wausau, Wis., as follows, and write to confirm it: 'William E. Lee, my agent, will see you about land. I want nine quarters reserved. With forward application and money at hand, members of my family are entrusting the matter to you. (Signed) B. R. Tillman. "I write now to say I wired Mr. Lee, who resides at Moscow, Idaho, to go to the land, to locate quarters for the seven members of my family who are of age, and one for my private secretary, J. B. Knight, whom I desire to let into the deal, and, of course, he wants a quarter for himself. "The letter continued, stating in detail what was to be done, in order to enable the Senator to get the land. "It will be noted that I accused Dorr in the Senate of having swindled me, while the Postoffice Department issued a fraud order against him. Dorr declared in his circular: "So sure is Senator Tillman of our success that he has subscribed and paid the necessary fees for a quarter section for himself and ten other quarter sections for ten of his nearest relatives. "It was this bold and outrageous falsehood, mainly, that caused me to denounce Dorr as a swindler, as well as to declare in the Senate that he had no warrant for the assertion. The sleuths which the President put upon my trail have made their report, and a perusal of it will show to any fair-minded man that so far from endeavoring to justify the fraud order against Dorr, they were really put to work to investigate me, and endeavor, if possible, to discover something to my discredit, while the Postoffice Department issued a fraud order against him. Dorr declared in his circular: "So sure is Senator Tillman of our success that he has subscribed and paid the necessary fees for a quarter section for himself and ten other quarter sections for ten of his nearest relatives. BROOKLYNITES HEAR INTERESTING DEBATE

Professor Kirkpatrick and Dr. Guthrie Discuss Socialism Before Large Audience.

More than 800 persons crowded into Metropolitan Senger Hall in Brownsville last night to listen to an interesting debate between Professor George R. Kirkpatrick, of the Socialist party, and Dr. William B. Guthrie, of City College, on the proposition that "Socialism in operation would yield a greater measure of social welfare than capitalism yields."

Professor Kirkpatrick started the ball rolling by stating that he presumed that everybody was agreed in believing that society yielded good results in proportion as it was democratically managed and raised the standard of the people's life.

Professor Kirkpatrick said that the only way that the people had ever been able to check the abuses of government had been demonstrating it, and therefore, they must do the same thing with industry.

Professor Kirkpatrick closed the debate by stating that Dr. Guthrie had not touched the problem of unemployment caused by the private ownership of the modern machine, and by saying that the question of remunerating the capitalists for their holdings would be settled by the people when they came to it.

THE STAGE

THIS WEEK AT LOCAL THEATERS.

The only novelty at the Broadway theaters this week will be the first production in New York of Edward Childs Carpenter's play, "The Barber of New Orleans," at Daly's Theater next Friday evening by Will H. Hays...

At the New German Theater, Madison avenue and 55th street, tomorrow evening the regular stock company will produce "The Talon," a play by Henri Bernstein...

Mrs. Fiske begins her last week in "Salvation Nell" at the Hackett Theater this evening. The entire production will be at the West End Theater next week...

"The Devil," with George Arliss in the lead, also closes its run at the Belasco on Saturday evening next, after which it will be taken to the Lyric company this year number 55 persons.

This is the last week of De Wolf Hopper and company in "The Pied Piper" at the Majestic Theater. It will be succeeded by "The Three Twins" which had to vacate the Herald Square Theater after the recent fire...

"Peggy Macross" also begins its last two weeks at the Broadway this evening. Joseph H. Adams will be with himself popular with his charming singing and John D. O'Hara and Adrienne Augarde have assisted greatly in bringing success to the production.

"Little Nemo" begins its last two weeks at the New Amsterdam this evening. It is a most enjoyable entertainment, and it should be seen before it leaves.

David Warfield begins an engagement at the Academy of Music this evening in his perennial success, "The Music Master." He has a good company, and as popular prices will prevail there is no doubt that crowded houses will be the rule as usual.

"Marcelle," with Louise Gunning, a charming singer and actress, leading to the attraction at the West End.

The Cohan and Harris Minstrels are at the Grand Opera House, with Geo. Evans and a company of 100 people, including Julian Eltinge, Eddie Leonard, Alice and Fanny Brumberg, and other popular vaudeville acts.

Hall Caine's play, "The Eternal City," is at the Metropolitan with the regular stock company, and Hoyt's farce, "A Milk White Flag" is at the Yorkville.

"An International Marriage," with Digby Bell in the lead, will be with us at Weber's on Saturday, and Joe Weber will return to that theater for two weeks in "The Merry Widow and the Devil," beginning next Monday.

Although "Via Wireless" is reported to be still drawing large crowds to the Liberty previous arrangements will require its withdrawal next Saturday to make room for "The Merry Widow" which will be followed by "Kismet." A tour of "Via Wireless," that will finally land it in Chicago for a run, will begin as soon as it leaves the Liberty.

So great has been the demand for seats for "What Every Woman Knows" at the Empire, that the original eight weeks' limit for Maude Adams' annual, "What Every Woman Knows," has been extended to sixteen weeks.

Henry Dixey continues to win favor as Miriam Perkins in "Mary Jane's Pa," the pleasing comedy by Edith Ellis which Henry Dixey is playing at the Garden. Mr. Dixey will begin a spring tour after the run at the Garden.

"The Man from Home," with William F. Hodge, continues its successful run at the Astor; Billie Burke is delighting large audiences in "Love Watches" at the Lyceum; "A Gentleman from Mississippi" is in its fifth month at the Erie; and "The Bachelor" will soon finish her season at the Hudson in "Lady Frederick"; "The Battle" is still at the Savoy; William Collier looks like a permanent resident at the Garden in "The Fighting Hope" at the Stuyvesant; William Gillette is a strong attraction in "Samson" at the Criterion; "The Chaperon" at the Maxine Elliott continues in "The Chaperon" at the Maxine Elliott.

The musical plays that appear to be in for indefinite runs are: "Frieda" in "The Prime Minister" at the Knickerbocker; Marie Cahill in "The Boys and Betty" at Wallack's; Eddie Foy, in "Mr. Hamlet of Broadway," at the Casino; "The Blue Room" at the Lyric; and "The Blue Room" at the Lyric; and "The Blue Room" at the Lyric.

SUFFRAGE PLAYS DRILLIANTLY READ

Mrs. Marion Craig Wentworth Delights Audience at the Berkeley Theater.

If the attendance at the reading by Marion Craig Wentworth of Elizabeth Robins' play, "Votes for Women," at the Berkeley Theater on Saturday evening last was somewhat disappointing, the reading itself was not. Mrs. Wentworth more than confirmed her already well earned reputation as a dramatic reader of exceptional ability, and those who did not hear her on Saturday night missed a rare treat.

The reading was given under the auspices of the Equality League of Self-Supporting Women, and Mrs. Harriot Stanton Blatch, president of the league, presided. There were more empty seats in the little theater than the occasion warranted, but as it is understood that nearly all the tickets issued were sold, the affair was a financial success. The Equality League of Self-Supporting Women was represented in one box, which was decorated with a purple banner, while another box was filled with representatives of the College Equal Suffrage League, and bore college flags. Socialist women were in another box, in front of which hung a flag bearing the arm and torch of the Socialist party.

Mrs. Blatch prefaced the introduction of Mrs. Wentworth with a short speech outlining the development of the woman suffrage agitation in England and explained the reasons for the adoption of the militant tactics which have attracted so much attention to the cause in recent years. At the conclusion of the reading Mrs. Blatch announced that the reading of "Votes for Women" will be repeated on Monday night at the Berkeley Theater, and that she will celebrate the release of Mrs. Pankhurst, the leader of the English suffragette movement, from Holloway jail, which was to have occurred that day, but the action of the British government in releasing Mrs. Pankhurst before her term of imprisonment expired had anticipated the celebration. Mrs. Blatch, however, proposed that the following cable message be sent to Mrs. Pankhurst at the meeting: To Mrs. Pankhurst, 4 Clement's Inn, London.

The government feared you and freed you, and so our congratulations are late. "Votes for Women" was written mainly for the purpose of presenting the argument for woman suffrage in dramatic form. Stripped of this feature, it is doubtful whether the story of the English suffragettes is sufficiently interesting to command prolonged attention. But with the suffrage question made the instrument of introducing the story, the dramatic interest is maintained and an absorbing play is the result.

The story of the play has been related recently in these columns so that a repetition at this time is deemed unnecessary. To Mrs. Wentworth's reading only the highest praise can be given. The presentation by one person of a play in which there are many diverse characters is always difficult, but Mrs. Wentworth met all the demands made upon her. Her performance was singularly free from faults and full of intellectual power and passion. There was a complete control of the situation projected by the play, and the characterization was true, swift and vivid. The elocutionary art, which was so notable and the effort throughout thoroughly effective and well sustained.

Especially good was the presentation of the difficult second act, in which the suffrage meeting in Trafalgar square is depicted. This call for an extraordinary effort on the part of the reader, as the characters introduced are many and varied, the dialogue ran from Cockney to the Manchester working class dialect. That Mrs. Wentworth was able to clothe each of the characters with reality was little short of a triumph. After the scene, which was so full in its power and truthfulness, the last act seems tame by comparison, and it speaks well for Mrs. Wentworth's ability to say that she carried the interest of the audience up to the very last word.

This reading should be heard by a larger audience in New York, and it is hoped that an early opportunity for this is soon provided. W. M.

OLD AGE PENSION IN IRELAND.

The latest figures of the old age pension scheme in Ireland show that 210,000 claims have been made. Of these 19 per cent. have been approved by the commission, against 91 per cent. in England, 93 per cent. in Scotland and 90 per cent. in Wales. It is estimated, a correspondent of the "Daily News" writes, that the total amount of money that will go to Ireland under the law will closely approximate $10,000,000 yearly.

"Rienzi" Overture Welcomed at Campanini Concert.

Of chief importance in last night's Cleofonte Campanini popular concert at the Manhattan Opera House was the rendition by the orchestra, under the personal direction of Maestro Campanini, of the overture to Richard Wagner's lyric drama, "Rienzi." The work was finely delivered, the wind instruments especially qualifying in the organ-like nobility of their tone, while the strings were admirable in their production.

"Rienzi," the only opera of Wagner's creation to be known to English-speaking people, is a dramatic composition that is not regularly represented in this city. It is a music setting of the Bulwer-Lytton historical romance which is so well known to English readers. The overture to the Wagner opera is one of the most inspiring orchestral compositions penned by the master. And the opera is one of his best productions. In Germany, in Austria and in Northern Italy it has been a success of the principal theaters since its premiere at Dresden, in 1842.

The soloists of the program included Mile. Gerville-Resche, who rendered "Les Lettres de Werther" from the Massenet opera, Mmes. Espinasse and MMs. Vieille, de Segurilla, Valles, Parola and Gianoli-Galetti. The latter provoked laughter and much applause by his singing of a comic monologue entitled "The Stutterer," from Pietro Mascagni's newest opera, "Le Maschere," which, despite the "no encore" prohibition printed in the programs, he was obliged to repeat. He was Mile. Gerville-Resche here.

Marcel Charlier, the associate conductor of the Manhattan, was the accompanist for each singer appearing.

Gabrilowitch Gives Recital. Representative of the standard schools of pianoforte composition was the array of works presented to a general matinee audience in Carnegie Hall, yesterday afternoon, by Ossip Gabrilowitch. But not content was the young virtuoso's multitude of hearers with even his generous program. For encores he enthusiastically demanded and gratefully accepted the offerings of M. Gabrilowitch were Beethoven's E-minor sonata (opus 90), Schumann's "Phantasie" in C-minor, a Chopin group, and an E-minor opus, opus 10, lately composed by the soloist, which was well received.

"Jagd Quartet" at Klein "Pop" Concert. Yesterday's "Pop" concert at the New German Theater, opened with a Mozart quartet, performed by the members of the Flonzaley quartet. The work selected is numbered 458 in the "Koechel" catalogue. It is generally known as the "Jagd Quartet" on account of a correct translation of the title, "The Flonzaley quartet," in A-flat (Opus 108), besides being known as the "Hunting" quartet, in two movements from Brahms' quintet in "F" minor (Opus 34). The pianist contributed two groups of soli, the first comprising pieces by Bach, Schumann and Chopin, the second an "Impromptu" by Gabriel Faure, little known here, and Liszt's "Rigoletto" fantasia.

Mrs. Harriet Foster, an American mezzo-soprano, whose singing in London last season, at Mr. Henry Woods' concerts, aroused the praise of the English public, rendered, among other vocal selections, Schubert's "Wohin," and Saint-Saens' "La Cloche."

Safonoff at Piano in New Davidson Work. On Thursday evening, in Mendelssohn Hall, the new Hess-Schroeder Quartet will make its initial bow to the New York public.

The quartet is composed of Prof. Willy Hess, leader and first violin; Mr. J. von Theodorowicz, second violin; Mr. Emilie Ferris, viola, and Mr. Alfred Schroeder, cello. The members are widely known and distinguished artists with valuable experience in the high art of quartette playing. On this occasion the quartet will have the distinguished assistance of Mr. Wersly Safonoff, who will play the pianoforte part in the Davidoff quintette, a work which was dedicated to M. Safonoff by the composer, and which will be played here for the first time. The balance of the program will be given over to the Beethoven quartette in E flat major (Opus 74) and the Schumann quartet in A-major (Opus 41, No. 3).

This will be the first of a series of three chamber music concerts which the quartette is to give here this season—the second in February and the third in March.

Safonoff Reading of Tschaiowsky's 'Fifth' By HARRY CHAPIN PLUMMER. When Wassy Safonoff concludes his stay in this metropolis and returns to Moscow, this spring, the performance of Peter Ilitch Tschaiowsky's E-minor symphony (No. 5, Opus 64), which was effected, under his direction, by the Philharmonic Society of New York, at its fourth evening concert in Carnegie Music Hall, will stand forth among the notable achievements of the Russian maestro during his three years' leadership of the big symphonic organization. So masterfully commanding and potentially aspirational a reading of the brilliant tone epic has not been heard here in years past. Absolute harmonies, vigor and cleanliness of sound production and the utmost conception of the full depth and beauty of the work were the marked characteristics of the orchestral delivery.

It is not often that the execution of a symphony arouses a furor of applause, and the conclusion of every movement, such as those of the Tschaiowsky creation. The graceful andante cantabile was the special subject of the enthusiasm of Saturday's hearers, while the noble introduction, the idyllic waltz and the stirring finale each were rapturously greeted. Franz Schubert's "unfinished" eighth symphony in B-minor and the A-minor concerto for violin-cello and orchestra (opus 33), of Robert Volkmann, were the other compositions brought forward at the concert. The two completed movements of the Schubert work were accorded a revival of more than ordinary interest; Maestro Safonoff exercising his full ability in his comprehensive and his painstaking rendition of the score of the "father of the German lieder." Leo Schulz, the soloist, gave an agreeable presentation of the technically formidable Volkmann concerto, and on account of a correct translation of the title, "The Flonzaley quartet," in A-flat (Opus 108), besides being known as the "Hunting" quartet, in two movements from Brahms' quintet in "F" minor (Opus 34). The pianist contributed two groups of soli, the first comprising pieces by Bach, Schumann and Chopin, the second an "Impromptu" by Gabriel Faure, little known here, and Liszt's "Rigoletto" fantasia.

Mme. Emmy Destinn held the audience in a grip of interest by her vivid portrayal of the hapless Maria, and pleased equally by the heroic beauty of her vocal utterances. The shepherd Pedro, Erik Schmedes, the Wagnerian tenor, who soon is to return to the Imperial Opera, Vienna, to complete his unexpired contract with that institution, labored all afternoon against an attack of fever which, at the close of the first act, caused him to faint. He pluckily insisted upon finishing the opera, but at the tragic finale was too weak to carry the heroine, Maria, from the scene. Despite this, Fritz Feinhaus again was the rapacious Sebastiano, and gave an artistic study of the character. Allen Hinkley enacted faithfully the Elder, Tommaso. The chorus was in excellent form, and the orchestra, under Maestro Hertz, accomplished splendid results in support of the stage action. Saturday's representation of "Tiefand" was expected to be the last at the Opera House this season. It is probable, however, that the big matinee audience has encouraged the directors in the consideration of a future performance.

Schmedes Fights in "Tiefand." With Alfred Hertz again conducting, the new Eugen d'Albert music-drama, "Tiefand," was heard for the first time at the Metropolitan Opera House, Saturday afternoon, before a full house. With the exception of Adolf Muehlmann, the same singers who essayed the principal roles in the first and subsequent New York performances, and repeated their very capable impersonations, M. Muehlmann was the Moruccio, and, as in the one Brooklyn presentation of "Tiefand," at the new Academy of Music, wherein he appeared in the part, he failed to sustain the pitch. Mme. Emmy Destinn held the audience in a grip of interest by her vivid portrayal of the hapless Maria, and pleased equally by the heroic beauty of her vocal utterances.
