One was instantly killed and the her so seriously injured that he is expected to recover. It is exned that during the night they plained that during the night they had been so accustomed to the intense light of the lamp over which they were working that when they stepped out of doors, while it was not yet daylight, they were unable to recognize the approach of a trolley car, and were run down.

Abel Medwin, an electrician living at 150 Charlton street, Newark, was instantly killed, and his body ground to pieces. Charles Senders, also an electrician, of 89 Monmouth street, Newark, was so severely injured that he may die in the Orange Memorial Hospital.

Newark, was so severely injured that he may die in the Orange Memorial Hospital.

The experimental work was being conducted in the basement of the phonograph works, and Mr. Edison nimself is understood to have personal supervision over the experimental work. For some time the laboratories have been experimenting on a powerful electric lamp. There was a rush to finish the lamp so, as to make thirty-five of them for the special illumination of South Broad street. Newark, next Saturday night, the occasion being the celebrasion by a merchants association. Each one of these lamps will be of 12,000 candle power, it is said, and will diffuse the greatest light ever given by one lamp. Immediately after the accident Coroners' Physician Muta observed that the pupils of both men's eyes were so costracted by the intense light in which they had been working that they were hardly the size of a pin point. This did not admit sufficient light for them to see the apparenching troller car.

The movement declared that he saw the two mas, but that they walled directly into the car, apparently unable to see it, and apparently thinking the gong was on a car on another track.

Mr. Edison said that after working

Mr. Edison said that after working for an hour or more in the flerce glare of the new light it required several hours for the pupils of the eyes to assume their normal proportions, and that he is frequently blinded for hours at a time after leaving the room in which the experiments are made.

Harry Leich, the motorman, was held on a technical charge of manifacignter. The conductor, John J. Jones, was also arrested.

Justice Crane, judging from what he said on several occasions during the course of the trial, will charge the jury that the uestion of Captain Hains' sanity does not enter into the case, but that the vital question is "Did T. Jenkins Hains go to Bayede with his brother for the purpose of seeking Annis and alding his brother in killing him?"

Prosecutor Darrin, in his only dramatic outburst, pointed at the prisoner and said:

"Thornton Hains was the mainter mind that brought his brother from Brooklyn to Enyside to kill Annis."

Edward Conyard, of this city, con-fessed to the police this morning that he had twice burglarized the home of his sweetheart in order to obtain money to buy her pretty presents. He was arrested last night, and when he found that the police had good evifound that the police had good evidence he made a clean breast of it. He was paying attention to Miss Anna Mullaney, daughter of Patrick Mullaney, of this city, but about Christmas time had so money. He said that after spending the evening in the house he returned some hours lates, broke in and stole a gold watch, pawned it and bought his sweetheart a Christmas present. LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 14.—Resolutions of protest have been adopted by the Central Labor Union and the Socialist party of this city against the decision rendered by Judge Wright.

The resolutions declare that "the only laws consistent with republican government are statutory laws. Edicts, decrees, lettres de cacht and government by precedent and injunction sound the death knell of all free governments. They are more haidlous than foreign foes. They are cancerous growths upon the body politic and, like the cancer of the flesh, they consume the vitals before their ravages are discovered."

It is certain that from eighty-five to one hundred laborers and miners were in the mine, and that all are dead. The check-board at the mouth of the mine, bearing the mouth of the mine, bearing the names of the mine, bearing the names of the mine, bearing the names of the mine, bearing the mine, was blown away and destroyed.

They are cancerous growths upon the body politic and, like the cancer of the flesh, they consume the vitals before their ravages are said to influence the conditions that produce mine disasters. When the boys told Ikey Berntein after school yesterday afternoor that the monitor was dragging his brother, Robbie, across the yard, he said. "I've killed men for less than that," and ran back into the building. While the boys were still hang ing around speculating as to whether Ikey would do anything, they saw him emerge suddenly, dragging Robble by the hand, with signs of blood on the lower part of his visage, and ble by the hand, with signs of blood on the lower part of his visage, and pelt rapidly up the street.

Within, on the hard gravel of the yard, lay Sammy Edelson, the monitot, where he had fallen, with a grievious wound in the left side of a his jacket. Policeman Cahill, who was called, stopped long enough to summon an ambulance from Gouverneur Hospital and then went after likey Lehrman, whom he succeeded in overtaking before he had got out of the country.

It all happened at School No. 2. Where Sammy Edelson had just been transferred from Rivington street. His ignorance of how things were with Robbie Berhman made him a little more severe in the discharge of his duties than he might otherwise have been. Robbie, who is 8 years old, fell out of a second-story window when he was 4. Since then he has worn a silver plate in his skull and has not been as sharp as other boys. Yesterday when leaving school, Robbie decided to go out by the wrong door and the monitor had to interfere.

The monitor is quite a big boy, being fiften years old, and was too much for both Behrman brothers together, as Ikey is only eleven, and as the only means of saving the day likey resorted to old steel and drew his penknife. At the station house likey admitted having done the deed which he defended on the ground that his brother was "half nutty" and unable to take care of himself.

* THE SUSTAINING FUND.

Comrades, give your help. Last week's wages to office and editorial forces are still unpaid. The paper bill is still to reckon with. During December, actual collections on The Call's business amounted to $4,656.17. Of this amount, the largest item was for advertising, $2,259.07. The total amount oblected on the Sustaining Fund was $3,722.90. If we had not been hampered by old debts we should have covered our running expenses, but old accounts have accumulated, and they must be taken care of.

Now. Comrades, whas will you do with this growing business of The Call? Do went see that our neglect at this time will kill utterly the good work that has thus far been done?

As an organized party, we Socialists invite the working world to follow us, that we may assume direction of the great world's activities.

As an organized party, we Socialists invite the working world to follow us, that we may assume direction of the great world's activities.

Are we sincere in our challenge? If we are, if we believe that our class can organize and finance and manage, let us prove ourselves by carrying to successful issue the largest task that the Eastern movement has ever assumed.

The Socialist movement means sacrifice to every man and every woman engaged in its work. We are not in this movement for our amusement. We expect to be called upon; and now in the struggle, the surely winning struggle of our paper, you want to know what you can do. You can give your help. No individual, no small group can do The Call work. It takes an army. Are you enlisted? If so, do the soldier's part. Get into the line and march. It will mean a portion of one day in each of the coming five months. Give one dollar now and one dollar each month until five dollars have been paid in. Can you spare three and one-third cents a day? If not, ask a comrade to join with you and buy a Call bond together.

The traction companies recently deprived you of transfer privileges. They thereby taxed you ten cents a day—the tax to remain in effect until you grow strong enough to throw them off your back. You didn't say a word. If you now refuse to voluntarily tax yourself for a limited time for one-third of the amount which they extort from you, you will lose the only mouthplece in the city through which you are permitted to say a word.

I have been trying to tell you quietly through the Sustaining Fund reports what the situation here is. If you prefer that the editorial page shall be devoted to a lurid painting of The Call's condition, your preferences shall be honored. This is your paper, and if The Call is worth a dollar to you, pay it now.

The New York Evening Call, 442 Pearl Street, New York City:

I herewith inclose $1.00 to apply upon the purchase of a Five Dollar Bond in The Workingmen's Co-operative Publishing Association. I agree to pay $1.00 on or before the last day of each month until the amount of Five Dollars shall be fully paid in.

The Purchasers' League

From the very beginning of the Daily Socialist it has been recognized that if some way could be found to concentrate the purchasing power of the Socialists of Chicago that it would be possible to secure an advertising patronage that would make the paper a financial success and at the same time give the advertisers value received, while not costing the friends of the Daily Socialist anything besides a little trouble in making their regular purchases.

ist anything besides a little trouble in making their regular purchases.

This sounds like eating the cake and still keeping it, but it is easily possible, and a way has now been found to make this practicable.

This plan is the "Purchasers League." For the idea we are glad to give credit to the Call of New York. It has made it a success, and has given us every help in introducing it here.

The arrangements have all been completed for the organisation and printed matter will be sent to anyone who asks for it.

Every reader of the paper should get in touch with this plan to-day. Every-branch of the Socialist party should make it a special order of business at the next meeting. This is a place where organization and not money is required. If we have an organization, if we can work together, now is the time to show it.

LOOKS LIKE COMPETITION.

But it isn't the kind of competition that will harm The Cail. Quite to the contrary. It will produce a beneficial effect for The Cail and the Chicago "Daily Socialist."

The fact that the "Daily Socialist" has started a Purchasers League shows once more that we are on the right track. All our readers agree with us on this question, we believe.

But because we are working in the right way to make The Cail a financial success it is indispensable that more join the army of willing workers. The income of our paper can be doubled within a few months if the number of workers will increase sufficiently. Leaving the work to the "other fellow" has killed many a hopeful enterprise.

The applicants are representative of many trades and professions. There is the penniless college man, who, with diploma in his pocket, is still looking for some position to "turn up." There is also the professional whom hard times pulled down to the level of the unemployed. There is the bankrupt business man, who was vanquished by his competitor, and there is also the old man who is not wanted by those who look for muscle and blood in exchange for a wage. But most of them are workingmen who are out of employment; mechanics and laborers who are denied the right to work. Most of them are without overcoats, shivering in the cold, with chattering teeth and weather-beaten faces, they are awaiting the distribution of bread—one small plece of bread to quiet hunger, and some coffee to warm their freezing bodies.

Care has been taken that the same persons do not come to both places. The difference in the time set for distribution of bread is but one hour. At Fielshmann's the hour is for 12 o'clock, and at the Bowery Mission the distribution takes place at 1 o'clock in the morning. As the lines are being formed for hours in advance there is no chance for any "ulprit" to attend both places in one night and get a double portion.

Starvation Rcal.

Rev. J. G. Hallimond who is managing the Bowery Mission, said that many who are in opposition to the work they are doing accuse the poor of the bread line of being imposters. "We are giving out bread and coffee at 1 o'clock in the morning. If a man who waits for hours in line, or gets out of his bed to get a plece of bread may be called an imposter, it is doubtful whether imposition is a crime. If any one wants to 'cheat' the Mission by obtaining an additional plece of bread you can imagine how badly he needs it."

"Does not the work of the Bureau tend to lower the scale of wages? Mr. Earl was asked.

He said he did not think so. Besides, he said that it makes him angry to hear people speak of the average earnings of the laboring class.

"What is the average earnings of the laborer?" he asked. "It does not matter what it is you may divide it in three parts. There are to-day in the city, 200,000 workingmen who are too proud to beg and who are supported by their brothers and friends who have positions. A workingman does not apply to charitable societies unless he has exhausted the resources of his immediate family. The working class is the most generous in helping a fellow laborer, and no matter how little one earns some of it goes to support the man who has no Joh."

Speaking on the physical conditions of the applicants in the bread line. Mr. Earl said that it takes sometimes more than a week to feed a man before he is in proper condition to be sent to work. "Many of them are run down with hunger and if sent to work immediately would simply not be able to do it from sheer weakness. Then 'would' have letters telling us that the men we sent were telling

With the high pressure system the engine companies, except those answering first or second alarms outside of the district, are gradually to lose their fire engines and become hose companies and carry more and stronger hose, as well as special nozzles and nozzle holders in special wagons, for, with the higher pressure, it is impossife for the firemen unaided to hold the hose, and even with moderate pressure some mechanical device is essential. Accordingly, there is employed either a spiderlegged arrangement or a nozzle holder whose prong rests on the pavement. Or the streams may be led to a water tower nozzle or its deck pipe, or to some form of turret or other nozzle mounted on a tender or battery wagon.

Desnit the direct releashons companies to sustain them and their families until the following pay day.

On the 19th of the month they laid down their tools and gathered behind a chapel. "We are hungry." they said, "and there are eighteen days before the next pay day." They charged the paymasters with dishonesty, saying that they gave false measure. The pagmasters charged the men with want of foresight in feasting too well while the rations lasted.

After long discussion the men de-News, Office.

Dear Sir:

I beg to offer myself as applicant for the position as advertised in this evening's paper. I am a young man 45 years of age, I have had 28 years experience at tool making and distinking, have spent considerable time as a marine engineer; I have also followed up the carpenter business. Have just returned from Alaska, after setting the machinery fixed up to such an extent that repairs will be unsecessary for at least 50 years.

Besides the above qualifications I am not only good on hammer power forging, but am also an expert horse shoer and am considered the champion automobile repairer; am experienced snow shoveler, a first class peanut roaster, and also have a gold medal for singing the "Star Spangled Banner" and "Our Country Tis of Thes."

Despite the direct telephone communication between the fire and the engineer of the pumping plant, there is not at present sufficient means of regulating the pressures at hydrant or nozzle, since often it is desirable to send a man with a single line of hose to some interior point of vantage, and, the pressure on that particular line should not be greater than he is able the strike was again in full force and or nozzle, since often it is desirable to raised at once. Sleeping sickness, the most feared disease in tropical Africa, is spread by the tsetse fly. So great have the ravages of the disease become that the English government has established a national sleeping sickness bureau in London to act in co-operation with the Sudanese government and the Royal Society. METHOD IN HIS MADNESS.

There is really no mystery about Bingham's frenzied tirades against the Jews and the Italians. He acts crazy, but there is method in his madness. The poor people of these two nationalities in New York's crowded East Side are the most helpless victims of police extortion and police brutality. It is part of "the system" for the Commissioner to cover up these outrages, and by hurling a general accusation of criminality against the Jewish and Italian people the present incumbent of that office probably hopes to distract public attention from the just complaints of the East Side.

LET THE GOOD WORK GO ON.

The Call takes a certain pride in having been the only paper to I only know my sharp distress, report in full Keir Hardie's speech at Carnegie Hall Tuesday evening, as it was also the only one to report in full the Gilman-Shaw debate last week. These two achievements are but earnests of what The Call is going to do to make itself a paper absolutely indispensable to anyone who wishes to have the completest and most accurate This information on the great questions which are now agitating the Has missed the Spring: who knoweth public mind. It undertakes this practically without capital, and relying on the steady devotion of all its friends to strengthen it for the task by extending its circulation, swelling its advertising income by patronizing its advertisers, and contributing to its Sustaining Fund till it is put on a self-supporting basis. Let it be remembered that "Every little bit helps."

THE BLESSINGS OF POVERTY.

Whenever, as so often happens, we hear some smug capitalist or some smugger administrator of capitalist "charity" talk patronizingly to the poor about what he calls "the blessings of poverty," recounting the responsibilities, troubles, and dangers that beset the pathway of the rich and urging the poor to be content with their lot, we are reminded of Alkali Ike's demonstration that the Indians are great lovers of whiskey.

Alkali used to tell how, when riding alone over the Arizona desert, he met an old Indian mounted on a pony. They fell into conversation, and the Indian soon proposed to swap his blanket for a pint flask of fire-water. When Alkali refused, the Indian offered to throw in his rifle. Then he offered his saddle besides, and finally the pony, too. "Well, you made a pretty good bargain that time," Alkali's interlocutor would exclaim. "What," Ike would reply. "You tion't suppose I took him up, do you? Why, that was the last pint of whiskey I had! But it just shows how crazy them Injuns are fer whiskey."

We have yet to find the smug capitalist or the smugger administrator of capitalist "charity" who is willing to barter his profits or is fatal to individuality. his comfortable salary for the "blessings of poverty" that I eloquently extols.

A NEW PHASE OF "ANTI-JAP" WAR.

It is interesting to observe that the movement against the Japanese in California is coming to be less and less a labor movement and more and more a movement of small business men and property being brought in, under the law or in violation of the law, to work invested in gas stock; but they issue solemn warnings that this must at low wages in competition with white laborers. But now that Japanese workingmen are learning to demand American wages and other Japanese immigrants are going into business in large numbers and acquiring real estate, the "upper classes" are taking up the crusade in pretty much the same proportion as the workingmen are becoming less interested in it. They propose that no Japanese shall be allowed to be a director of a corporation, in order to limit the expansion of businesses owned by Japanese. They propose that Japanese residents shall be restricted to certain quarters of the cities, because, they say, the neighborhood of Japanese reduces rentals and real-estate values. If this latter plan is adopted, we may expect it to Forum address, to launch a boom for the formation of a "labor party" be extended first to the Negroes, then to the Jews and the Italians, and finally to working people of whatever race or nation, so that the poorer classes may be officially segregated and the residential districts of the "better classes" protected from social contamination or depreciation of real estate by the neighborhood of people who are It is, perhaps, a hopeful sign of the times that the leader of the delenot considered "respectable."

"No thief e'er felt the halter draw with good opinion of the law." is a couplet that forces itself on one's memory as one reads the replies of Foraker and Tillman to Roosevelt. And another saying, equally appropriate, is that proverbial maxim, "Set a thief to catch a thief." Not that there are any ordinary petty thieves in Washington,

But why were they stale?

Simply because the grain trust prices for chicken feed is so high the transportation rates are so high there are so many wholesalers', jobbers' and retailers' profits, and you own wages are so low at the job which you count yourself lucky to have when so many have none, that by the time the eggs get to you the ones you can afford are the culls.

And yet you blamed your wife, ohn Smith! What?—you didn't think? Just as I said, John.

On your way to work you had to force your way into a car which already contained twice as many passengers as it had seats; you elbowed your way in like a brute, John; and you swore under your breath about the Manhattan Rotten Transit. Yes, John, you did.

Considerable excitement has been aroused in Paris, says the Paris correspondent of the London "Express," by the question raised by Dr. Bosredon, of Brive, and taken up by his Paris colleagues, whether a doctor has a right, under certain circumstances, to take a man's life.

But facts and figures. I should be the last one to depreciate the need of exact information of a statistical sort upon all social questions. INJUNCTIONS ON ETIQUETTE.

In sentencing the officials of the American Federation of Labor to jail the Court makes a terrible charge

A man must not be unrefined. One may as well learn now as later that this is America, and that we will not tolerate unrufinement.

Editor of The Call: Miss Crystal Eastman publishes an article on Pittsburg in "Charities" for January 2. Mr. Arthur Bullard, in last Thursday's Call, terms it "maudlin," and says that it is unfortunate "it should appear in a collection of studies which is otherwise so estimable." He says further:

'The theory' that stutifying work—fatherless children—rendering the

The unrolvable syntax of this sentence may be passed over without comment. It is not clear what is meant by the cryptic term "stutifying work." yor is it clear how a "hard, unsympathetic attitude" can be proof that one is a "sentimental philanthropist." It is sufficient to point out that nothing in Miss Eastman's article indicates that she holds a "hard, unsympathetic attitude toward the tragcedies of poverty," or that she is a "sentimental philanthropist," or that she has striven to make a "defense of social injustice."

Miss Eastman's article is a simple recital from first hand observation of the effect of industrial casualties upon home-life. It's power lies in its truth, its simplicity, its directness. I should
