BECKER WILL AWAIT DECISION ON APPEAL IN SING SING PRISON

Defense Took 4,000 Exceptions to Goff's Rulings.

GUNMEN ARE SCARED

Two of Them Will Be Placed on Trial on Thursday, November 7.

Leut. Charles A. Becker, under sentence of death, will await in Sing Sing Prison the decision of the Court of Appeals as to whether or not he is entitled to a new trial. No action by counsel can prevent sentence being pronounced by Justice Goff next Wednesday, but the appeal will act as a stay of execution.

Becker's chief counsel, John F. McIntyre, whose desperate fight to save a bad case persisted until the words were uttered that pronounced Becker the real murderer of Herman Rosenthal, seemed confident yesterday that out of more than 4,000 exceptions he had taken to the rulings of Justice Goff, sufficient grounds would be found to justify the ordering of a new trial by the highest court in the state.

While District Attorney Whitman and, of course, Justice Goff, would not discuss the forthcoming appeal or the merits of such points of law and evidence as are objected to by the Becker lawyers, it is known that they feel that Becker had a fair trial and that, if anything, the main contentions were decided in his favor. Some of the questions as to whether or not the graft evidence should be put before the jury and whether or not Shapiro should be allowed to tell that he had heard one of the gunmen say to another that "Becker had the cops fixed and would be a clear getaway."

It is generally recognized that the effect of Justice Goff's charge to the jury was a powerful aid to the State, but it is pointed out that a judge has great latitude in surveying the evidence, provided he is accurate in quoting from testimony.

The jurors, faithful to Justice Goff's admonition not to discuss the proceedings in the jury room, have said nothing directly as to the effect upon them of the charge, but if transpired yesterday that they had made up their minds that Jack Rose told the truth, and that there was enough of circumstantial evidence, without taking Sam Schepers' story into consideration, to corroborate Rose's accusation against Becker.

With the Becker trial out of the way, the attitude of the gunmen and the plans of the District Attorney regarding them became of the first importance. Becker's conviction shook their defiance and made them realize that they are not as safe as they thought they were. There were positive efforts made in their behalf yesterday to ascertain if the District Attorney will give any sort of terms to them.

Wible Sees Whitman.

Charles G. F. Wible, counsel for Cyp the Blood, Lefty Louie, Whitey Lewis and Dago Frank, called on Whitman. It was taken as a fact that Wible wanted to know what sort of a proposition the District Attorney would make, and that he was told that if the gunmen had anything to say to the prosecutor they could say it, but that the District Attorney would decline to communicate with them until they had volunteered the whole truth about the murder.

Some of the gunmen, probably Whitey Lewis, whose real name is Frank Muller, will be tried immediately after the case of Red Phil Davidson, who murdered Big Jack Zelig, is concluded. The District Attorney will request Justice Goff to try either Whitey Lewis or Lefty Louie on Thursday, November 7.

It would be no great surprise to the District Attorney's staff if one of the gunmen made a confession. The likelihood of a confession was increased by the conviction of Becker. The wife of Lefty Louie Rosenberg has been active in urging him to tell the truth and take his chance with the prosecutor. The District Attorney is not greatly concerned as to whether or not the gunmen have been identified and the case against each one of them stronger in direct evidence than was the case against Becker.

"RED PHIL" IS SANE.

Red Phil Davidson, accused murderer of Big Jack Zelig, gang leader, was pronounced sane yesterday by one of the best known alienists in New York after an examination in the District Attorney's office. Davidson was to go to trial on October 30.

SHOOTS AT MOTHER; WOUNDS SHERIFF

FARMINGTON, N. H., Oct. 25.—Wilfred Glidden, 22 years old, after shooting unsuccessfully at his mother, Mrs. Sylvester Varney, in the house of a neighbor this afternoon, dragged her to their home and barricaded the doors and windows.

Armed with a revolver, shotgun and rifle, Glidden defied the authorities and shot Deputy Sheriff Herman J. Pike, who tried to force a door to arrest him.

Pike received a revolver bullet in the head over his left eye and his condition was so critical that he was taken to a Boston hospital. Later, when a posse had surrounded the house, Glidden fired more revolver shots, one of which wounded a boy.

Mrs. Varney posted the officers on Glidden's movements and when he dropped asleep on a couch she opened a door and the man was seized and placed under arrest.

EXPLORE WEAKNESS AT GRABOW TRIAL

Judge Helps State Prop Up Case Against Timber Workers.

LAKE CHARLES, La., Oct. 25.—Judge Overton delivered a severe blow today to A. L. Emerson, president of the Brotherhood of Timber Workers, and eight other members of the organization, who are on trial here on a charge of "conspiracy to murder" as the result of a clash between members of the union and drunken gunmen of the Lumber Trust, who attacked a meeting of the men at Grabow on July 7.

Overton ruled that the secrets of the union might be told, and that in evidence tending to show that where a strike had been ordered violence had occurred, every circumstance bearing upon these facts is competent whether or not the accused men were directly connected with such events. Overton declared, however, that in case the State failed to establish that conspiracy did exist, the evidence would be ruled out.

This ruling by the judge is taken as an omen that the trumped-up case of the State is very weak and that the prosecution, with the help of the judge, is trying everything possible to find some semblance of evidence to substantiate their claim of "conspiracy."

The ruling came during the testimony of L. T. Mabry, the spy who, in the employ of the Burns Agency had joined the Timber Workers' Union, wormed his way into the office of the State organizer and acted as doorman at the second annual convention of the brotherhood at Alexandria.

The Burns spy declared that at the Alexandria convention, "violence" was counseled by William D. Haywood, member of the National Executive Committee of the Socialist party, and an organizer of the Industrial Workers of the World, with which organization the brotherhood is affiliated.

Only one dissenting voice was heard in the convention, the Burns spy declared. W. A. Russell, vice president of the union, advising against such tactics.

Mrs. William Grant Brown, the president, says that the federation is in the most thriving kind of condition, that sixteen new clubs have been admitted, and that there are 153 clubs enrolled with a representation of 70,000 women of Greater New York.

DR. MABIE CAN'T VOTE FOR T. R.

SUMMIT, N. J., Oct. 25.—Dr. Hamilton Wright Mabie, associate editor of the Outlook, who delayed a trip to Japan on a lecture tour for three weeks so that he could cast a ballot for Contributing Editor Theodore Roosevelt of the same publication, cannot vote, for he failed to register. "It's just disgusting; that's what it is," said the editor when he was finally convinced that he could not vote for

OLD PARTIES YIELD FIELD TO SEIDEL

DEMING, N. Mex., Oct. 25.—A great crowd, made up in a large measure of farmers and sprinkled here and there with city workers, listened attentively to a stirring address by Emil Seidel, Socialist Vice Presidential candidate, in this city this afternoon.

After making a red hot trail across Arizona and New Mexico, Seidel dropped into this town en route to Trinidad, Colo. The Socialist candidate is now working his way eastward after a very successful Western tour. Seidel spoke last night in Globe, Ariz. He left considerable of a dent in the capitalist parties there. Globe is a mining town and a stronghold of the Western Federation of Miners. Several old party politicians were on the train which brought Seidel into Globe. When the Socialist candidate came into Globe, he was greeted by a large band, which struck up a revolutionary tune as he alighted from the train.

Realizing the futility of attempting to hold a meeting while Seidel was in town, the Democrats called off their contemplated gathering. It was a clear acknowledgment of the strength of the Socialists. The Republicans undertook to hold a meeting, but they were soon compelled to abandon it.

In speaking of the retreat from the scene last night of the Republicans, a Globe newspaper today commented as follows:

"Owing to the presence here yesterday of the Socialist candidate for the Vice Presidency, Emil Seidel, former Mayor of Milwaukee, the Republican speakers yielded their arrangement for a meeting and will speak at Miami tonight." The Republican speakers said they would return to Globe after Seidel had left.

"That's turning the tables on them, isn't it?" said Seidel.

DIAZ'S LIFE SAVED BY MADERO'S ACT

Mexican President Spares Leader of Latest Revolt—Two Rebel Officers Executed.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 25.—It was announced today that Gen. Felix Diaz, the leader of the latest Mexican revolt, who was captured at Vera Cruz, would not be put to death.

The life of the revolutionary leader was spared, it was said, by President Madero against the protests of his counselors, including his relatives, who protested against the granting of clemency.

The leniency of the President did not extend, however, to Diaz's officers, and two of these, Major Zarate and Major Cueto, were shot at Vera Cruz this morning after a court-martial.

It was said on high authority today that General Diaz would be sentenced to solitary confinement in some military penitentiary. The terms of the sentence have been withheld.

General Diaz still has many friends here, where he once was chief of police, and they had feared that he would be shot after a court-martial. The only hope they held was in President Madero's characteristic humanity, and in this they were not disappointed.

There was a split in the Cabinet over the punishment that should be meted out to the majority of the members favored the death penalty. President Madero's uncle, Ernesto Madero, the Finance Minister, and his brother, Gustavo Madero, declared that death was the only fitting penalty for the crime. They urged that unless Diaz were dealt with summarily as an object lesson to others his rebellion would break out afresh under another leader.

ROCK ISLAND EDITOR FOUND NOT GUILTY

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 25.—A jury in the United States court, in the case of Myron Jordan, editor of the Rock Island, Ill., indicted on a charge of sending improper literature through the mails, today returned a verdict of not guilty.

Jordan, an editorial writer on the Rock Island News, was indicted, together with John Looney, editor and publisher of the paper, because of an attack on Mayor Scriever, of Rock Island.

KANAWHA MINERS GREET GENE DEBS

Two Thousand Cheer Veteran Socialist Campaigner at Charleston, W. Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 25.—Two thousand persons, most of whom were miners from the Kanawha Valley district, where the strikers were compelled to take up arms to protect themselves from the murderous attacks of the private detectives in the employ of the mine owners, stood and cheered the battle cry of the working class as voiced by Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist party nominee for the Presidency.

The miners, recognizing Debs as the champion of their class, applauded him as he exposed the methods of the Socialist party to help them in their struggle for freedom.

Debs directed the attention of his audience to the class struggle as exemplified by the bitter strife between the miners and the operators and referred to the capitalistic leaning of the Governor, who, finding that the miners would protect their lives with guns against the mine owners' gunmen, sent the militia into that section and declared martial law.

When the miners, declared Debs, refused to be intimidated by the subservient troops, the operators disarmed the miners from the mine-cribable shackles and were ably assisted in their nefarious work by the militia-men, who, instead of protecting the miners, stood idly by and watched aged men, pregnant women and little children thrown out on the streets.

While the troops were perfectly willing to be used to the mine owners, Debs continued, no help had been given the strikers, the Governor believing that property rights stood above those of human lives.

When John Brown, who is well known in this section, introduced Debs, he was greeted with applause and his short speech of introduction was well received.

MINERS REPORTED BACK AFTER WAGE INCREASE

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 25.—Reports from the Kanawha district declare that 1,000 miners returned to work in the mines at Dorothy today, after being on strike since last spring.

The reports also stated that after a long conference the operators had conceded to the strikers an increase in wages of 22 per cent above the wages fixed by the understanding with the United Mine Workers of America, and that the operators declined to recognize the union.

POSTAL SERVICE WILL COST MORE

Maintenance of System in Next Fiscal Year to Require $281,791,508.

Railroads, Get $49,661,000.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—It will cost $281,791,508 to maintain the postal service in the fiscal year that will begin July 1, 1913, according to estimates just made public by Postmaster General Hitchcock.

This amount is more than $12,000,000 in excess of the sum made available to cover the cost of the postal service in the pending fiscal year. Nearly $10,000,000 of the increase will be required to make effective the new postal regulation enacted this year.

It is estimated that $7,240,000 will be needed to organize the parcels post system, $1,350,000 to meet the conditions imposed by the new Eight-Hour Law, $750,000 to provide for the reclassification of the railway mail clerks and $160,000 to establish village mail delivery. Only $2,000,000 is added to current appropriations, representing an increase of less than 1 per cent, which is the lowest rate of increase in the history of the service.

Economies in administration was effected coincident with the disappearance of the postal deficit, which is regarded as one of the "big business accomplishments" of the Taft administration.

As usual, the largest item in the postal estimate is $49,661,000 to pay the railroads for carrying the mail, an increase of $2,015,000 over the amount allowed for the service this year. For wages in the railway mail service an estimate of $24,739,850 was submitted, or $1,296,450 more than was called for in this account last year.

Postmaster-general Hitchcock requires more than $50,000,000. To cover city delivery by carriers there is an estimate of $24,366,000, an increase of $2,167,825 over last year's appropriation for the purpose. To maintain and extend the rural free delivery service the Postmaster General submits an estimate of $47,500,000, an increase of $500,000 over last year's estimate. Provision is made in the estimates to meet the growth of the postal savings system.

D. AND H. SHOPMEN WIN THEIR STRIKE

ALBANY, Oct. 25.—The strike of the Delaware and Hudson shops at Corona, which has been in progress since Tuesday was settled tonight, when a portion of the strikers returned to work.

The remainder will resume their duties Monday. About 500 men were involved, the controversy arising over the employment of three nonunion men.

BRIDGEPORT WOMAN'S FUNERAL POSTPONED

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 25.—The funeral of Jennie Cavalletti, victim of a supposed plot of white slavery, was indefinitely postponed this afternoon by order of County Coroner John J. Phelan. Coroner Phelan said in connection with this order that he will hold the remains for a week, if necessary, awaiting their identification.

So far, the only identification came through the statement of Chicago Joe Buonomeo, her slayer, who says she used both his name and that of Cavalletti, her deceased first husband. Owing to the strange complications and the indications of white slavery's revenge as a motive for the murder, the Coroner said he would go to unusual lengths to establish positive identification of the body.

Following a long conference with the State policemen and agents of the Federal Government, Coroner Phelan announced that the inquest, which will probably begin tomorrow, will be in part behind closed doors.

BUILDING TRADES TO PARADE TONIGHT

Will Protest Against Issuance of Injunctions in Labor Struggles.

A demonstration to protest against the issuance of injunctions in labor struggles will be held under the auspices of the Building Trades Council of Greater New York, at 8:30 o'clock this evening. This will be an especial protest against the injunctions that were hurled recently at the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners' locals in this city.

Nearly all the locals of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and of the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters, together with all the other building trades unions, will turn out to the demonstration, and to music furnished by a score of bands, will parade down Fifth avenue from 59th street. After the termination of the parade a mass meeting will be held at Cooper Union, where addresses will be made by prominent trade unionists.

Transparencies, with inscriptions protesting against the issuance of injunctions and denouncing the American Anti-Boycott Association, an organization of lawyers said to have banded together to fight organized labor by encouraging bosses to start suits against unions so that they can get legal fees.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor; James Duncan and James O'Connell, vice presidents of the American Federation of Labor, and Organizer Hugh Franey will address the meeting. Daniel Harris will act as temporary chairman and Eldridge E. Neal, secretary of the District Council of Carpenters, will act as permanent chairman of the meeting at Cooper Union.

The Manhattan locals of the carpenters' unions will form in line on 57th and 58th streets, between Lexington and Park avenues; the Brooklyn local will congregate on 57th street, between First and Park avenues, and the Bronx locals will get together on 56th street, between 71st and Park avenues.

IMPORTING LABOR CHARGED.

A government suit was brought yesterday in the Federal District Court against the Sutherland Paper Company, of 49 Crosby street, to collect penalties aggregating $2,600 for alleged violations of the Contract Labor Law. The complaint charges that in the early part of the year the defendant company imported, under contract, two aliens, and employed them in the operating of crepe paper machines.

POLICEMAN BENOIT TESTIFIES AGAINST LAWRENCE LEADERS

Denies He Fired Shot Which Killed Anna Lo Pizzo.

MILITIAMEN CALLED

They Too Disclaim Responsibility for Death of Girl Striker.

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 25.—At the trial today of Joseph J. Eitor, Arturo Giovannitti and Joseph Caruso, charged with the death of Anna Lo Pizzo, killed during the successful textile strike at Lawrence last winter, Oscar Benoit, the policeman who is alleged to have done the shooting which resulted in the death of Anna Lo Pizzo, was the principal witness for the prosecution, when he testified to his version of the shooting.

He said that he saw Caruso in the lead of a crowd of about 100; that he stood with his back toward them, and a revolver flash flashed over his shoulder. Simultaneously he saw a woman, standing at the corner, drop immediately after this he heard fifteen or twenty more shots. He testified that before the fatal shot was fired he felt a pain in his back. It proved to be a knife wound, he testified, and he was carried to the hospital in the same vehicle with the dead woman.

The first attempt by the defense to show that the bullet which killed Anna Lo Pizzo might have been fired by a militiaman was made when Attorney Sisk, cross-examining Captain Thomas Cody, brought out that the militiamen used a bullet identical to that which killed the girl—a .33-caliber soft-nosed bullet.

Captain Cody said that he, with other members of his company, was in the vicinity of the shooting when it occurred. Cody said that neither he nor any militiaman with him fired his revolver.

Frank S. Elliott, another militia officer who was on duty at Lawrence, said that he was not on duty when the shooting occurred. Sisk cross-examined Elliott minutely regarding the caliber of the weapons used by the militiamen.

Elliott also testified that they used .38-caliber smokeless bullets.

District Attorney Atwill, in line with his attempts to show that the strikers carried revolvers and were ready to use them, called Private Daniel J. Harrington. He said that on the day of the murder, a striker hit him on the jaw with a club; another pointed a revolver at him and he (Harrington) hit the striker with the butt of his gun. He also testified that he saw two other strikers with revolvers near the place of the shooting several hours before it occurred, and that he heard a man say: "Let's go out and get 'em boys."

Thomas J. Quinn, a special policeman, said he saw Caruso near the scene of the shooting on the day it occurred. He swore that Caruso was armed with a long club earlier that morning. Quinn testified that later on he saw Caruso on the bandstand on the Common together with Eitor and Giovannitti. He testified that he did not know Caruso by name at that time, but identified him on March 11, when Caruso was arrested, as the man he saw. He said that he was on duty near the scene of the shooting when it occurred.

Sergt. Walter Spranger of the Lawrence police, whom the defense in the examination of police witnesses tried to show gave the orders for the police to shoot, testified that shortly before the shooting by the "rioters" he ordered his men to disperse a crowd, but did not order them to draw their guns until he heard shots. He testified that he then said "Get your guns." He testified that his revolver was of .33 caliber, and he said he did not discharge it that night.

ADmits KILLING FATHER.

LOUVEVILLE, Oct. 25.—William Schuler, 22, has confessed to the police that he killed his father, Joseph Schuler, whose death in August, 1911, had been a matter of police investigation for over a year. At the time of the elder Schuler's death it was thought he had fallen down the steps of his home. His neck was broken. Schuler declared he was soured to the death by his father's brutal treatment of his mother.

HARD WORKERS WANTED.

Socialists speaking English and registered voters are needed to canvass between 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. in Meyer Landau's district. Report to I. Phillips, Apollo Hall, 125 Clinton street, before 6 p.m.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 25.—

Archibald Allen, aged 14 years, a little broken boy, had both arms ground to a pulp and his little body so badly mangled today that internal injuries will probably cause his death. When his mangled form was carried from the Empire breaker to the mine ambulance, the boy pleaded pitifully to be driven home in order that he might kiss his mother.

BREAKER CLAIMS CHILD VICTIM

front of the house, Mrs. Allen, his mother, crying and sobbing, rushed to the ambulance and climbed to the side of her boy.

Lifting his head from the blankets she kissed him and again. The boy signed a relief, and on the stretcher was led into the house, the boy's mother, who had been in the ambulance, was so overcome with grief that she could not speak.

"I'm sure I can save the child," said the little doctor, and a few minutes later he returned to the ambulance.

He pleaded so earnestly that his request was granted, and when the ambulance arrived, the little doctor was waiting for him.

CURRAN WITNESSES IN CONTRADICTIONS

Oliver Shrieks Stanton Is "Guilty as Damned in Hell."

The Aldermanic police investigators applied themselves again yesterday to probing into the case of former Lieut. John F. Stanton, who was dismissed by Commissioner Waldo, shortly after he testified before the committee to the effect that some of the men appointed to the force by Waldo bore bad characters. Detective Richard P. Oliver, who charged that Stanton, as head of the bureau for the investigation of applicants for appointment, had tried to shake him down for $250, was recalled to the stand when the committee reconvened at 10:45 o'clock.

Oliver said that a man known as Harry, unknown to him, acting as go-between for Stanton, had made the money proposition to a friend of his, Thomas P. Gibeney, a retired fireman. Oliver said he had not Gibeney, as a good friend of his, to go see Stanton and see why he, Oliver, couldn't get appointed to the force. Emory R. Buckner, counsel to the committee, tried to get Oliver tangled up with his testimony given at the police trial. Buckner wanted to know why, if Stanton had started talking money, Oliver hadn't put the thing through and got him.

"I put it through all right," retorted Oliver. "I got appointed. As for trying to 'get' anybody, as you put it, I'm not that sort."

Alderman Smith, Democrat, stormed out at the reshaping of the police trial testimony, and wanted to know what right the committee had, anyway, to review a case by Commissioner Waldo. The Smith objections were overruled and Mr. Buckner continued.

Buckner established that while Oliver had sworn at the police trial he was appointed on November 7, 1909, and that it had been arranged that the $250 was to be passed early that morning, the actual date of his appointment was November 8, and that November 7 was Sunday. Buckner made much of the discrepancy.

"Is this a sample of the accuracy of the testimony with which your broke Lieutenant Stanton?"

"Guilty as Damned."

"He's as guilty as the damned in hell," shouted the witness, very much excited. "You're trying to make it appear that I perjured myself to break a man. It's simply a mistake in dates, that's all."

Then Buckner inquired why Oliver hadn't given Stanton marked money and exposed him the day he started in as a policeman.

"I didn't know how powerful Stanton was," was the reply. "I wasn't looking to fight any bosses. He acted like a boob all the way through and I just didn't pay the money."

Charles Donovan, stenographer to Chief Inspector Schmittberger, testified that Schmittberger dictated the affidavit in which Oliver accused Stanton. Oliver swore Thursday that he dictated the affidavit.

Gibeney was called to the stand next. At Thursday's session former Fire Chief Croker and a number of friends gave Gibeney a bad reputation as a "horrorer."

"That has been my only fault through life; that I acknowledge," said the witness when Buckner harked back to yesterday. "Some of it I paid back, some of it I didn't. I gambled with most of it."

Gibeney was positive that November 7 was the date on which Oliver was appointed and the $250 was to have been paid, and added that if that date was wrong he didn't want any of his story believed. When shown that November 7 was Sunday and Oliver was appointed on November 8 he said that he had made a mistake as to the date, but that everything else he had sworn to was correct.

Gibeney had not been in the Aldermanic chamber when Oliver was tripped up over the date.

Gibeney Falls Into Traps.
Where Oliver had been suspicious and deliberate, Gibeney prattled on, falling into most of the traps laid for him by the cross-examination and often failing to give the same answer to the same question when it was repeated after a minute or two. After he had fallen into a number of errors and admitted them and had fared rather ill in corroborating the details of Oliver's story, Buckner walked over to the witness and asked:

"Won't you withdraw the charges against Lieutenant Stanton? You've withdrawn the date, you've withdrawn what you had to say about your affidavit—now won't you withdraw the charges?"

"And lay myself open to charges for libel? I guess not," replied the witness, with some heat.

The "affidavit" mentioned by Buckner was a document which the witness had been led on to telling about in great detail, but which so far had not been found ever to have existed.

Of the other witnesses of the session, which lasted all day with an hour off for lunch, John J. Kearns, now a policeman, had been brought into the case through an affidavit he had made exonerating Oliver from a charge made against him by Kearns and six others at the time of the chauffeurs' strike in 1906.

Oliver was Strike Leader.

Oliver was one of the leaders of the strikers; Kearns was a special policeman, and had been a complainant against Oliver on a felonious assault charge. After leaving the employ of the taxicab company, Kearns swore to an affidavit contradicting his affidavit made in complaint against Oliver. He said yesterday that he had become doubtful of his identification of Oliver and didn't want to do an injustice.

Stanton himself took the stand to give his record and to make a general denial of the statements in the charges.

Then Commissioner Waldo took the stand.

Secretary Winfield R. Sheehan's name was mentioned by Commissioner Waldo when the Commissioner was asked from whom he received the first information concerning the charge of Detective James F. Oliver against Stanton. On the police trial, the counsel for the committee said, Commissioner Waldo did not recall where he had received his first information against the lieutenant.

The investigation was adjourned to next Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

PRISON STRIKE FOR BROTHER.

ORGANIZED LABOR AIDING SOCIALISTS

East Side Union Men Determined to Elect London and His Comrades.

Organized labor on the East Side is rapidly rallying to the aid of the Socialist party, which is putting up a fight to elect Meyer London as Representative from the 12th Congressional District, William Karlin to the Assembly from the 8th District, and several other candidates. The Vest Makers' Union of the United Garment Workers of America held a successful ratification meeting at Clinton Hall, 151 Clinton street, last night, hundreds of people being turned away because of lack of space.

The meeting was held in conjunction with the Campaign Committee of Branch 2 of the Socialist party. William Karlin delivered an address on the economic insecurity of the workers and told the audience that only through joining the unions of their trade and through electing the Socialist party candidates can their hope to have their conditions improved be realized.

Samuel P. Kramer, candidate for Assembly from the 4th District, urged the audience to disregard the appeals of the capitalist party candidates to their racial feeling and to vote for the Socialist party candidates who are the only representatives of the working class. Max Fine, organizer of the United Garment Workers, and president of the Forward Association, spoke of the record of the candidates of the capitalist parties, and said it is about time that the workers gave up sending their bosses' puppets to represent the vast majority of workers in legislative bodies. R. G. Braverman and S. Epstein also spoke.

The Cloak Makers' Campaign League held two citizens' meetings at 404 East Houston street, and Manhattan Hall, 115 Lewis street, last night. Abraham Rosenberg, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers; L. Phillips, candidate for Assembly in the 6th District; Nathan Stuppiker, organizer of the Waist Makers' Union; Samuel J. Rinker and George Bundy addressed the Houston street meeting.

Sol Metz, organizer of the Neckwear Makers' Union; S. Epstein of the Dry Goods Clerks' Union; S. P. Kramer, candidate for Assembly in the 4th District; and Max Fine addressed the Manhattan Hall meeting. In both places the committees in charge were compelled to hold overflow meetings on the nearby street corners.

J. L. Kaufman and I. Cohen, Socialist party speakers, who were addressing a meeting at Lewis and Stanton streets, stamped a Bull Moose meeting and made the Moozers take to their heels after they had challenged the Rooseveltites to debate the subject of "Socialism vs. Progressivism."

The District Council of the United Garment Workers has engaged Odd Fellows' Hall, 95 Forsyth street, for meetings this afternoon to ratify the candidates of the Socialist party. The Garment Workers are making a special canvass of their members to get them to vote for Meyer London.

The Mineral Water (Seltzer) Workers' Union will hold a grand rally on Rutgers Square tonight to ratify the candidacy of London and the other Socialist party candidates. A band of music will play revolutionary airs, while addresses will be made by London, Karlin, Pine, B. Weinstein, S. Leibowitz and others. Many unions on the East Side are following the example of the Cloak Makers' Union and are electing committees to cooperate with the Cloak Makers and the East Side Campaign Committee of the Socialist party.

The Campaign Committee of Branch 2 will have ten trucks to cover the East Side tonight, while an automobile containing William Karlin and Charles Solomon will make a whirlwind tour through the 8th Assembly District. will be held at 151 Clinton street at noon tomorrow.

That part of the 8th Assembly District, which centers about Broome, Grand, Eldridge and Forsyth streets was the scene of intense excitement when William Karlin, the Socialist party candidate in that district, addressed audiences which totaled more than 1,000 persons on the 24th.

Karlin, accompanied by Max Sherover and Hubert H. Harrison, went through the district in a large automobile, stopping at the most crowded corners to address eager listeners. Five monster meetings were held, with average audiences of 2,000. The two most eventful meetings were at the corner of Eldridge and Grand streets and Broome and Eldridge streets.

The Eldridge and Grand streets meeting was addressed by Sherover and Harrison, and when Karlin was introduced some one in the audience suggested that he challenge the Bull Moozers, who were holding forth on the opposite corner, to debate. Karlin at once issued the challenge, which the Bull Moozers refused to accept. As a result, the Bull Moose audience came over to hear Karlin, and the followers of the mighty hunter were compelled to fold their tent and silently pass away.

The Socialist auto then moved to the Broome street corner, where Sherover introduced Karlin as "the next Assemblyman from the 8th District," amid deafening cheers.

If sentiment is any criterion, then Karlin had better procure his mileage book for Albany.

$3,000,000 PROFIT FOR MORGAN FIRM

Got That Amount for Formation of the Harvester Combine.

William Pearson Hamilton, son-in-law of J. P. Morgan and member of his banking firm, testified before Special Examiner Taylor yesterday that J. P. Morgan & Co. made $3,000,000 out of the formation of the International Harvester Company.

In return for promoting the company the banking firm received 165,000 shares of stock, for which it paid $10,000,000 cash and about $3,500,000 on account of disbursements and expenses. As the shares had a par value of $100, the profits therefore were the difference, or $3,000,000.

Hamilton would have testified on Thursday, but he was in the country. He was on the stand Wednesday and was asked to get certain documentary evidence, with which he appeared yesterday.

Edwin P. Groves, chief counsel for the government, which is seeking to dissolve the combination or to convict it of violating the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, asked Hamilton what papers deposited the stock of the subsidiaries with his firm.

The witness answered that from the books it appeared as if all the stockholders of the big companies that went into the merger, the McCormick Company, the Deering Company and the Plano Manufacturing Company and Walter Bushnell and the Milwaukee Harvester Company, the McCormick stockholders were Cyrus H. McCormick, Anita McCormick Blaine, Harold F. McCormick and Stanley McCormick, principally. The Deering Company stockholders, chief of whom was Charles Deering, was the other.

The last witness of the day was John D. Tell, editor of a trade paper. The paper in question carried the advertisement of the D. M. Osborne Company for nearly two years after it sold out to the combination in January, 1903. Tell had papers to show that during the time mentioned the D. M. Osborne Company held itself out to be "the largest independent company in the world."

Thomas Mott Osborne and some other witnesses once connected with the Auburn Harvester Company testified on Thursday that they did this in order to collect their accounts receivable. Secrecy had been preserved at their request.

This was the last hearing here. The next hearing will be held in Chicago, October 29.

ALL'S READY NOW FOR BIG PARADE

Thousands Will March in Mighty Socialist Demonstration on Nov. 2.

Next Saturday night—the last Saturday before the Presidential election of 1912—the two big Socialist parades will begin their long march to Union Square.

The uptown parade will assemble near the Labor Temple, East 84th street, while the downtown section will gather near the Forward Building and Rutgers Square. Both will unite and pass the Plaza in Union Square, where mass meetings are to be held at three different points.

Every Socialist and sympathizer is invited to join the ranks. The marching orders for the great Saturday night parade are as follows: At a meeting of the Parade Committee held at 239 East 34th street, last night, the following arrangements for the parade were made: The uptown division of the parade will pursue the following line of march: From the Labor Temple at 84th street and Second avenue, to First avenue, down to 57th street, across to Eighth avenue, to 14th street, through to Broadway and up Broadway to Union Square. Here thousands will gather to listen to addresses by Charles Edward Russell, Socialist candidate for Governor, Gustave A. Strebel, candidate for Lieutenant Governor; Joshua Wanhope, candidate for Congress in the 13th District, and many others of prominence. In a coach at the head of the parade will be Russell and Strebel.

Besides the bands which will be furnished by the different bodies who will participate in the parade, twelve bands will be supplied by Local New York of the Socialist party, under whose auspices the great parade and demonstration will be held. Four powerful calcium lights will be carried in the parade.

John A. Wall will be grand marshal. The following will act as field marshals: Arthur D. Marsh, Morris De Young, William A. Murray, Oscar Faft, Fred Gaa, Charles J. Pluckham and Frederick Schwab. The directions issued by the Parade Committee are as follows:

FORMATION
CAPTAIN
5 abreast
5 feet between lines
Don't crowd!

CAPTAIN
5 abreast
5 feet between lines
Hold your space!

CAPTAIN
5 abreast
5 feet between lines
Hold your space!

Detailed Orders.
March five abreast.
Take pride in your lines.
Keep a distance of 8 feet between lines—this doesn't mean 3 feet or 4 feet.

Don't worry about the line back of you—see only that your OWN line is what it should be.
Every second line should have a captain. If your captain don't keep your line in shape, RECALL him and elect another to his place. Obey your captain.

If you find your lines without a captain, elect one on your own initiative.
Captains should take their jobs seriously.
Line your men up according to size—don't put the tallest man next to the shortest.

A well organized parade stands for harmony, solidarity, power. Make this a stirring demonstration.

TO RATIFY TONIGHT.
A ratification meeting under the joint auspices of the 16th and 18th Assembly districts, Local New York of the Socialist party, will be held tonight at Paul Sommer's Hall, 1033 First avenue. The speakers will be John A. Wall, candidate for Congress in the 17th District; Louis Egerter, candidate for Assembly in the 18th District; and E. Wolf, Assembly candidate in the 18th District.

PACK PALM GARDEN IN SOCIALIST RALLY

Brownsville Reaches Climax in Campaign for Working Class Candidates.

The climax of a housing campaign in Brownsville was reached last night at the ratification meeting in New Palm Garden, Sackman street and Liberty avenue. The steady work of the Socialist party members of the 23d A. D. was rewarded by a hall packed to the doors with workers and their families, who listened eagerly to the straight talk of working class candidates.

Barnet Wolff, candidate for Congress in the 10th District, showed the audience exactly what they could expect from the candidates of the other three parties. He was greeted with cheers and applause, for he is well known to the workers of Brownsville.

"We expect to send Wolf to Congress," said Chairman Shiploaf. "The response we have had in this campaign has been wonderful. We have worked for it. We hold just such crowded meetings three or four times a week in several halls simultaneously. Then we have our street meetings besides. On Sundays fifty men and women Comrades come to headquarters for leaflets to be distributed in a careful house to house canvass. We have worked hard, and we are setting results."

There were many women in the audience, many of them housewives. It was to them that Mrs. Theresa Malkiel spoke.

"Politics is women's business," she declared. "Working women in the factory need the vote to help them in their fight for economic freedom. Housewives need it just as much to protect their children and their families. And while you women haven't the vote as yet, you must call the men to account for the way they use it. Never before," she said, "was there greater difference between rich and poor, and women feel the high cost of living more than men, as they are the ones that must spend their husbands' money and make it go as far as possible."

The Socialist candidate for Assemblyman, Charles S. Vanderporten, was sanguine over the outcome of the campaign. "We get more enthusiasm here than all the other parties combined," he said. "The only difficulty is that many of the workers in this district are not naturalized. Twenty-five years ago it was very easy for a workman to get his naturalization papers. The capitalists could use them. Now they can't do it. The workers are using their heads when they vote. So for the last fifteen years it has become increasingly difficult for any workers to become citizens. But we'll get them!"

Other speakers at the meeting were Morris Winchivsky and Sol Fieldman.

SUGAR BOSS FINED FOR GIRLS' NIGHT WORK

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—Otto J. Peterson, general manager of the Spreckels Sugar Refining Company, was fined $50 and costs by Magistrate Carey today on charges of allowing girls under 18 years of work all night in the sugar refinery. The women learned that the children went to work at 3 o'clock at night and worked until 6 o'clock in the morning with forty-five minutes for lunch.

BULGARS AND SERBS ROUTED BY TURKS

Greeks Reported to Have an Ottoman Force at Their Mercy.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 25.—On the other side of the peninsula, Zekki Pasha, with an army of 30,000 troops is reported to have attacked the Serbian army north of Kumanova just a large force of Bulgarians was sent to effect a junction with it.

The Servians found the four divisions of their troops broken up and they fled in confusion back across the frontier, leaving a battery of artillery and a general's flag behind them. The Turks took many prisoners and found a large number of dead and wounded on the field.

Zekki Pasha then turned his attention to the Bulgarians, whom he attacked and routed, driving them back across the frontier with the loss of four of their field guns.

Eight battalions of Bulgarian troops attacked the village of Maras yesterday and were repulsed by the Turkish troops with heavy losses.

The Turks have 150,000 of the finest troops on the west by the line from Kirk-Kiliseh to Adrianople, from which latter city is garrisoned by other 60,000 men. Still another 100,000 guard the line from Adrianople back to Lule Burgas.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—A Turkish force of 22,000 men, commanded by Riza, is faced with the alternative of unconditional surrender or useless slaughter near the town of Servia, according to a special dispatch from Athens. The Turkish troops are hedged in on the east and high cliffs and on the west by the remnants of the River Aigikmon, the waters of which are held by Greek highlanders. On the south and southwest, too, there is a Greek army, flushed with victory.

After their defeat on Wednesday, Turks threw away their rifles, gas coats and everything likely to help their fight. Riza Bey and his officers vainly tried to rally their troops and save the artillery. Their surrender was only a matter of a few hours.

HOCKIN AGAIN HIT IN DYNAMITE CASES

Attorney Drew Swears Secretary Gave Keys of Headquarters to Burns.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 25.—Over the unanimous objection of lawyers for the defense, Walter Drew, of New York, counsel for the National Erectors' Association, this afternoon in the dynamite trial swore that Herbert S. Hockin, acting secretary and treasurer of the Iron Workers, gave the keys of the headquarters of the union to the district attorney's office, bearing out the district attorney's statement that Hockin "double-crossed" his associates.

"I guess you have met me, but I do not want to be the only goat," was a remark Drew said Hockin made when he turned over the keys.

The finding in the vaults at union headquarters and in the rented stable in the outskirts of Indianapolis of dynamite and nitroglycerin, clocks and fuses, after the arrest of J. J. McNamee, was graphically described by Drew, of New York, for six years counsel for the National Erectors' Association, arch enemy of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers and alleged to be closely allied with the Steel Trust.

CRISIS IS DUE TODAY IN PHILLIES' AFFAIRS

A crisis in the affairs of the Philadelphia National League club will be reached before 12 o'clock tonight according to the statement of President Thomas J. Lynch, of the National League, yesterday.

Lynch would not go into details, however, being satisfied to await developments. From two National League club owners it was learned that Horace Fogel, who holds the presidency of the Philadelphia club, will be out of that office not later than Monday.

One of these National League club owners said that Fogel was anxious to make terms by which he would receive a bonus of at least $50,000 before retiring from the presidency of the club.

MORGAN TO BOX AGAIN. Clever British Bantam Should Find In O'Keefe a Tough Customer.

Many followers of boxing are of the opinion that Eddie Morgan, the English bantam, will meet his match in Eddie O'Keefe, of Philadelphia, when they get together Monday night in Madison Square Garden.

In all probability, the most spectacular of the ten-round bouts will be that in which Louis De Pontlieux, lightweight champion of France, meets Young Shugrue, of Jersey City.

Jack Goodman, the local welterweight, will have his hands full with Bill Fleming, an aggressive fighter from Old Town, Me.

LAFERRY TO BOX FOR TITLE.

QUESTION OF TACTICS.

Editor of The Call:

If there is a mortal on this planet earth exceeding in stupidity the average strike leader, he has not yet appeared on the horizon.

Imagine, if you can, a general on the field of battle sending a dispatch to the head of his opposing forces, telling him that is just what the strike leader does.

Between now and November 1 the managers will have enough strike-breakers ready to snap their fingers at every union man in their employ.

SYNDICALIST LEAGUE FORMALLY UNDER WAY

A number of people believing in the necessity for a league to spread the idea of syndicalism in the United States recently sent out a call for a meeting to discuss the question.

On October 11 the second meeting was held at the league and formally launched. The Syndicalist League is to be purely educational in character, placing itself, however, at the disposal of workmen who request information and assistance in organizing unions in those industries which at present are unorganized.

It was decided that monthly dues of 25 cents should be paid, and that Secretary Hippolyte Havel and Treasurer Harry Kelly, both without salary, were sufficient to transact the business of the league.

Applications for membership and letters of information should be addressed to Secretary Havel, 63 East 107th street.

East Side Campaign Committee.

S. P. Kramer, candidate for Assembly from the 4th Assembly District, presided at Wednesday's meeting of the East Side Campaign Committee. I. Sackin was present, representing the City Executive Committee. After a long discussion it was decided to notify Branch 2 that inasmuch as it is represented on two campaign committees that we ask the branch to withdraw its members from one of the two committees. Comrades Loontj and Flanser were elected to appear before the Executive Committee of Branch 2 and ask them to call a special meeting of the branch to notify them of our action. The campaign treasurer reported briefly as to conditions of the treasury. Very little money has been received from the East Side unions since the last two weeks. It was decided to issue another call for funds through the Forward, and Epstein and Loontj were elected to draw up the appeal. Rosenfeld and Marksheld were elected to appear before the Forward Association, Thursday, for help.
The campaign manager reported that Clinton Hall had been engaged for the rest of the campaign. Indoor meetings will be held every night from Thursday on. The Ladies Waist Makers' Union will hold a mass meeting to ratify the ticket on October 30. The type of a Jewish leaflet by Winchevsky on Straus being available, it was decided to order this leaflet with some slight changes. The committee to see about a special East Side campaign edition of The Call reported, but no action was taken with reference to same, as the cost would be too high.
It was decided that the Campaign Committee should have charge of the watchers on the East Side, and Kramer, Slobodin and A. Schaeffer were elected as the Watchers' Committee to take care of the work. The Watchers' Committee was instructed to inform Executive Secretary Gerber of Local New York of our action. All Comrades who are citizens and are capable of doing the work are asked to report at the Socialist party campaign headquarters, Clinton Hall, 131 Clinton street, and their names will be taken.

A. SCHAEFFER, Secretary.

Branch 2, Special Meeting.

By direction of the Executive Committee a special meeting of Branch 2 has been called for tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the campaign headquarters, Clinton Hall, 131 Clinton street. Campaign matters of great importance are to be decided. All members of the branch should make it their business to be present. Every one's voice must be heard.

Branch 3 Wants Help.

Branch 3 is in need of Socialists to address envelopes and carry out literature to the voters. All Socialists not working this afternoon or evening should report at Branch 3 headquarters, 264 East 10th street, to do their share.

Rally in Yorkville.

A Socialist rally will be held this evening at Paul Fohrer's Hall, 1032 First Avenue. Addresses will be made by John A. Wall, Congressional candidate for the 11th District; Louis Egerter, Assembly candidate for the 16th District; and Elias Wolf, Assembly candidate for the 18th District. All members of the district are urged to bring their friends.

Branch 4 Activities.

Every night next week, beginning Monday and ending Friday evening, the branch will hold truck meetings on corners and in territory not yet covered in this campaign. Practically new corners will be selected every evening, especially on Ninth, Tenth and Amsterdam Avenues. The truck will leave headquarters sharp at 8 o'clock, and the Campaign Committee is urgently requested to get on the band wagon in time to start for the meeting.
Every member of the branch is requested to come to headquarters to fold leaflets, as the committee intends to distribute from 6,000 to 10,000 pieces next week.
This will be a grand finale to a splendid outdoor campaign the branch has conducted. JOHN MULLEN, Chairman Campaign Committee.

Branch 5 Campaign Dance.

Branch 5 will hold an entertainment and dance tomorrow night at the headquarters. This will be the feature of the pre-election season, the only campaign dance. A good entertainment has been arranged. But nine days before the victorious 5th! This will be a great gathering of old comrades. Tickets are on sale at headquarters, 260 West 125th street, Room 8, or at the pharmacy of George Oberdorfer, 129th street and Eighth Avenue. Tickets, 15 cents. Admission at the door, 25 cents.

Harlem Socialist Sunday School.

A club is being now organized of the boys and girls of high school age in conjunction with the school, for the purpose of studying the social and economic questions of the day. A series of lectures by prominent teachers will be given. Debates, discussions and original compositions by the members will be a prominent feature. Social entertainments, outings and dances will also take place from time to time, as the club has for its use a large room and a large garden with a large piano and a large library, all free. The dues are nominal. Meetings every Sunday forenoon from 10 to 12 o'clock at 143-45 East 103d street, City.

Branch 5 Literature Distribution.

The last two distributions of the campaign can be made especially effective if every Socialist determines to do his share. The branch has the best available literature, and it should be made to fulfill its function. Instructions and matter given out today 5 to 8 and tomorrow morning 9 to 12.

Truck Meetings in Harlem.

To show the people of upper New York that the Socialist party is able to carry on a campaign, Branch 5 will hold numerous truck meetings in various places, commencing this evening and all next week.
The 17th A. D. will be made the point of attack tonight, equipped with bundles of free and salable literature and several convincing speakers. A wagon properly decorated with transparencies and lanterns leaves 140 West 125th street, at 7:30, arriving at Amsterdam Avenue and 106th. From there the truck proceeds to 109th street and Columbus Avenue, winding up at 95th street and Broadway.

Branch 7, Notice!

One hundred and fifty comrades are wanted at headquarters, 143 East 103d street, tomorrow, Sunday, morning, for the distribution of literature and posters announcing our grand pre-election rally, which will be held at the New Star Casino, on Sunday, November 3, at 2 p.m. This meeting will be the closing gun of the campaign of 1912 of Branch 7. The speakers of this meeting will be John Spargo, S. John Block, and Candidate for Congress Nicholas Alejnko. The chairman will be Dr. Simon Berlin, candidate for Senator.
If every member of the branch will do his duty, this meeting will be an overwhelming success. Call at headquarters tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Branch 9 Lecture.

Due to the fact that the hall, though large, has been overcrowded at previous lectures, Branch 9 has engaged the larger hall for the Sunday night lectures at the Lincoln Building, 1358 Boston road, so that all comrades may be accommodated. Tomorrow, at 8 o'clock, Max Schenberg will lecture on "Socialism vs. Progressive Reform." The young members of the branch are asked to come early and assist in arranging the chairs.

Branch 9 Distribution.

Branch 9 has arranged for a big literature distribution tomorrow forenoon from Lincoln Hall, 1358 Boston road. Twelve thousand pieces of literature must be disposed of at once and it will be necessary that all members call early for their assigned portion.

Bronx Branches, Attention!

All Socialists of the Bronx are urgently requested to call at the Bronx Labor Lyceum, 705 Courtlandt Avenue, tomorrow to help address the 20,000 copies of Berger's speech which have just arrived from Washington. It is only one week before election day, and if any members fail to respond to this call it will be impossible for the Bronx Agitation Committee to dispose of this large amount of literature in time to be of any value.

Branch 10 Watchers.

It is most essential to have watchers at every voting precinct for both day and evening. There are about fifty-six polling precincts in the 23d Assembly District. At least two or three persons are needed for each. This means about 150 volunteers will be required. It is therefore requested by the organizer that every Comrade should volunteer his or her services and to obtain as many reliable friends of the movement as can be procured, and send the names and addresses to Organizer, 124 West Fordham road. A meeting of watchers will be called before election for instructions and obtaining credentials.

Women's Entertainment.

The Women's Branch, Socialist party Bronx, have arranged a splendid entertainment and dance tonight at the Bronx Labor Lyceum, 705 Courtlandt Avenue, Bronx. Like every year, this affair is to be held for the purpose of providing a supper for the watchers on election day, and every Comrade ought to be present to make the affair a big success. This year especially a large number of watchers will be on the job all day and the committee intends to reward them for their labor with a good square meal. A good time is in store for everybody tonight.

Y. P. E. A., Bronx.

Every member of the Young People's Educational Association and their friends will be at the entertainment and ball given by German Women's Branch, Bronx. This supper is prepared and served absolutely free by the German Women's Branch, composed of all housewives, who have made themselves popular by their good cooking on previous elections. The Y. P. E. A. appeals not only to its members but to all comrades, to attend this affair tonight at the Bronx Labor Lyceum and help swell the proceeds for the big watchers' supper election night.

Y. P. S. F., Circle 1.

Mary G. Schenberg, just elected director of Circle 1, will deliver her initial address at the circle's club rooms, 266 East Broadway, at 2 p.m. tomorrow. Members of Circle 1 are especially invited.

A New Circle, Y. P. S. F.

A new circle of the Young People's Socialist Federation has been organized at the headquarters of Branch 5, 260 West 125th street. George S. Gelder, of Branch 5, will direct the circle, which will meet regularly on Sundays from 2 to 5 o'clock. All young people are invited.

Junior Socialist Club.

There will be a meeting tonight of the Junior Socialist Club, at 1322 Prospect Avenue, Bronx, at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to attend.

Courses for Foreigners.

Every foreigner who makes his home in America is anxious to accomplish two things: First, to be able to speak and read the English language easily, and second, to become a citizen.
The Rand School of Social Science, 140 East 19th street, New York City, offers two courses which will answer this need, as follows:
First, English to Foreigners in two classes. The elementary class will meet every Monday and Thursday from 8 to 10 in the evening. The work in this class will consist of reading, writing, spelling, dictation and exercises in speaking English. People who can read an English Second Reader and those who have had no practice in reading English, but who can read some foreign language, are eligible for this class.
The advanced class will meet on Sundays at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The work in this class will consist of reading, spelling and composition. The reading exercises in the class will be conducted with a view to perfecting the pronunciation and articulation of the pupils. Pupils will also be expected to read certain classics outside of the class and make reproductions of the same. These compositions will be corrected and returned to the pupils.
Both classes will be under the instruction of A. I. Shipiloff, who has had many years' experience in teaching foreigners, and who has the additional advantage of understanding German, Russian and Polish.

Second, Elementary Civics.

This course will consist of six lessons and will be held every Tuesday evening at 8:15, beginning November 13. This course is intended to instruct persons who wish to apply for citizen's papers. The instructor, I. Sackin, has had great success with his classes in this subject in the past.
All interested are invited to call at the office of the Rand School any day from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., at 43 East 23d street, before November 1; after that date at 140 East 19th street.

Ries will give an organization talk to the comrades after the regular lecture. Don't fail to hear his "Ohio whirlwind." At Brooklyn he held the audience for two hours after Debs left the hall, a feat which speaks volumes for Ries' oratorical ability.

Hoboken.

The Socialists of Hoboken are waging a vigorous campaign this year. Almost every night meetings are held all over the city. The crowds that attend are larger than ever before, and the attention paid speakers is encouraging. The collections taken at these meetings amount to quite a little and the literature sales surpass all former campaigns. The unions and other societies are contributing liberally to the campaign fund, and the activities will be rounded out with a monster parade and mass meeting next Saturday evening, details of which will be announced later. A special issue of the Hoboken Socialist is being printed, a copy of which will be sent to every voter in the city. This entails enormous work, and any Socialist who has an hour or two to spare is requested to call at the organizer's office, 719 Clinton Street, to lend a helping hand.
We do not expect to put Hoboken on the map this year, but we do know that the work carried on now will lay the foundation for a healthy, militant movement in this reactionary town.

LEADING HIM ON

Panics and Presidents

In a recent editorial the New York Evening Post waxes sarcastic at the expense of those political campaign managers who seek to further the pretensions of their Presidential candidates by representing them as possessing the ability to control economic laws and their workings. The utterance in question runs as follows:

"Any indication that campaign appeals to the people are based on the assumption of a high degree of intelligence in the electorate must be welcome to patriotic citizens, irrespective of party preference. It is for this reason that we have taken such keen pleasure in observing that one of the great electric signs—about sixty feet high and fifty feet wide—flashed out from the advertising tower at Broadway and 42d street, reads as follows:

"Remember the panic of 1833.
Remember the panic of 1907.
No panic under Taft.
Better be safe than sorry."

"Here we have no rhetoric, no bombast, no appeal to prejudice or passion. The voter is simply confronted with the incontrovertible fact that during the whole three years and six months of Mr. Taft's Presidency there has been no financial panic. He is left to do his own thinking. Could anything show a more sublime confidence in the intelligence of the public? The Taft managers know that a word to the wise is sufficient. The voter will say to himself, 'Why has there been no panic since 1907? Is it not customary for panics to follow each other in rapid succession? Would there not have been another panic in 1910 if Roosevelt had been President, and probably one regularly every year if the terrible Democrats had been in power? The man that saved us from these calamities is surely entitled to my vote. If Taft is not elected after this, what encouragement will there be for the use of sound arguments in a political campaign?'"

This is all very well, no doubt, but what has the Post for that matter, its other capitalist journal ever done to make it plain to the voters that individuals, even if candidates for the Presidency, are not in control of the economic forces of society? Where is there one of them has said so bluntly and openly and insisted upon the fact? Is it not true that the capitalist press in general has fostered this idea in and out of season? If it were not so, the campaign managers would never dare to bring out this motto against Taft. And is it not a fact, also, that practically the entire literature of the Republican party in the present campaign centers around the idea of Taft being the savior and preserver of the nation from crises and panics? The principal piece of campaign literature now being issued by them is an illustrated pamphlet, containing pictures from Harper's Weekly and other magazines, portraying scenes in various great cities from the panics of 1833 and 1867—all of them scenes in which workingmen are represented as filling bread lines, crowding into soup kitchens, or being clubbed by the police during unemployment demonstrations, the whole ending up with a fervent adjuration to the voters to elect Taft and thus secure the country from a visitation of similar nature in the future.

This particular bunco game is especially intended for the consumption of working class voters, as it is their vote alone which are portrayed. The Post is correct enough in its sarcastic reference to the "high degree of intelligence" assumed by the campaign managers as residing in the working class electorate. But the awkward fact is that if they were really intelligent in such matters, neither Taft, Roosevelt nor Wilson would be elected. It would be a case of Socialism first and the rest not necessary if the system of exploitation is to endure.

The other side of this idea is that Taft's opponents, Roosevelt and Wilson, if elected, will just as certainly bring on industrial depression as Taft will avert it. They are, therefore, responsible for it.

This particular game of exalting the powers of the individual would be all right if there were no reverse side to it. But there is, and it is from this exaggerated "individualism" that the types of Czolgosz and Schrank are generated.

It may be remembered that McKinley was heralded as the custodian and bearer of prosperity just as Taft is now. He was almost depicted as carrying in his Presidential hands the dinner pail to the starving workers. And though he was elected, naturally enough there were people who dissented from the above view and believed that McKinley had failed to come up to the specifications in the political advertisement. One of them was Czolgosz, who had voted for him under that impression. The wretched creature, whose deficient mentality was amply attested by his swallowing of this political dope beforehand, was unemployed and starving, and he came to the very natural conclusion that the foregoing promises that McKinley had failed to bring the promised prosperity. What more logical, then, than that if he were to put him out of the way, another might take his place who would fulfill those promises? So Czolgosz slaughtered McKinley in Buffalo and gave Roosevelt his chance.

The people who were basically responsible for the murder of McKinley by that lunatic were those who encouraged him in his lunacy to believe that his victim possessed such power as they attributed to him in the political campaign literature. They were the real "anarchists," not Czolgosz.

And now Roosevelt is out again for the Presidency, and the reverse process of reasoning brings somewhat the same results. The press and politicians in opposition denounce Roosevelt as the would-be destroyer of the nation by his horrible offense of seeking for a third term, and depict the hideous woes that will fall upon the community in case he is elected. They invest him with a supposed power to destroy the nation, just as they invest Taft with power to preserve it. A "savior" is clearly wanted. If Roosevelt were put out of the way, this catastrophe which would assuredly follow a third term might be averted. And Schrank, in an appearance with his Colt .38 and makes his pathetic but unsuccessful attempt to "save the nation" from its alleged destroyer.

He had read those papers and campaign literature. He was weak minded enough to believe them, and the logical result followed. Had he succeeded in slaying Roosevelt, for whom he had previously voted, as Czolgosz voted for McKinley, Roosevelt would have fallen a victim to the exaggerated power for evil ascribed to him by his political enemies. Just as McKinley fell a victim to the benevolent miracle working powers ascribed to him by his political supporters. It is this "individualism" that produces both hero and villain, savior and destroyer, McKinley and Czolgosz, Roosevelt and Schrank.

In some Latin countries when images of saints, from whom miracles were expected for the relief of the faithful, refused to perform, in answer to persistent prayer, they were often, when the patience of the faithful was exhausted, lashed and battered and subjected to other indignities for nonfulfillment of their supposed miraculous function.

And it is exactly the same with the alleged political miracle worker. If he fails to perform the miracle, or some vicious idiot who trusted him imagines that he has not performed it, the miracle worker runs the risk of assassination from his ignorant devotees. There is not much real difference between religious and political superstitions, after all.

The unfortunate politician, no matter how "honest" he may be in other respects, is forced to appear in the role of "confidence man" by his political supporters, and as for Deba we have not the word of a pious Brooklyn ecclesiastic that the Socialist should be stopped by a bullet if need be? In the case of the latter, the "anarchism" that hides itself when the murder of a capitalist candidate is in question, comes out openly and plainly. There is not much danger in declaring that a Socialist should be put out of the way. If it is safe for Roosevelt to say so, it is safe for Father Belford, or for anybody else, for that matter.

While such impossible powers are ascribed to individuals in politics it is folly to reiterate, as the capitalist press does after such an event has taken place as the murder of a President, that "assassination changes nothing." One or the other statement is a lie. If one individual can dominate, either for good or evil, the social and evolutionary forces of society, as the Tafts and McKinleys were presented as being able to do, it follows naturally that the individual who is able to shoot them can prevent them from doing so.

The thing the Post complains of rests upon the necessities of the situation. If the capitalist system is to be preserved, the mass of the voters must be deceived. This deception may and does result, at times, in the murder of a McKinley or a Roosevelt, but the system can well spare them for its own preservation. For capitalism to "appeal to the intelligence" of the mass of the voters would simply mean planning its own suicide. It can survive the sneers of journals like the Post easily enough, but the adoption of the other proposition would be fatal.

HINTS FOR SPEAKERS

Compiled by A. T. Craig

Well known facts are enough to establish the theory of Socialism. Don't discredit it and yourself by stretching the truth or by saying things that your audience will not believe.

Don't say that wage slavery is worse than chattel slavery. It is not. The wage slave can be threatened with starvation, but the chattel slave could be tortured or killed at the whim of his master. It may be hard for the girl employee to keep her chastity, but for the slave girl it is impossible.

We preach Socialism, not because the lot of the worker cannot be worse, but because it can be better.

The most primitive form of government was a mere fighting organization, such as that of the American Indians.

The next stage was when prisoners of war were not killed, but made to work. Society was then divided into a ruling class of fighters and a subject class of workers. From that day to this the most common ambition of men has been to get out of the working class and to get as far as possible from the necessity for work.

Socialists are accused of hating work. Don't deny it. All mankind has always hated work, and success in life has always been measured by the degree to which one has removed himself from the necessity for it.

We object to having the virtue of industry preached to us by people who do not work for a dollar than we do. Since work must be done, let us divide and estimate so as to make it easier for all of us.

Because the workers are robbed of three-quarters of their product is no sign that the capitalists get the rest. They have to spend all they can spare of it in fighting each other for a chance to rob the workers. That is why labor organizations can do little. Even if they get all the profits of their employers they cannot recover what is wasted in competition. Only by abolishing competition can the workers get the full value of their product.

We talk a lot about the system, but there is a very little conspiracy about it. The capitalists are at each other's throats all the time. They unite in robbing the workers only because the workers are such easy marks. It is like the book agent who was kicked down the top flight of stairs by an irate tenant. On the next floor below another man heard the rump and kicked him down another flight. At the next floor the same thing happened. The agent, when he reached the bottom, gazed ruefully on the stairs and said: "My God, what a system. He was the system."

Did you ever see a lobster trap? Easy enough for the lobster to get in, but very hard for him to get out. That is the way with the supply of gold. As gold gets cheaper, prices go up; the capitalist thinks it is the gift of God, waters his stock and increases his expenses. When the worker tries to even things up by asking for a wage increase, he is produced to prove that while prices are higher the rate of profit is the same. The worker must then fight for lower his standard of living. Great game, what?

What the Lyceum Work
•Will Do for Your Local

By WILLIAM R. SHIER.

It will stimulate the Comrades into renewed activity.

It will drill them in propaganda and organization methods.

It will secure for the movement a great deal of favorable publicity in the newspapers of your locality.

It will arouse interest in Socialism among all classes of people, break down their prejudice against our party, and effectively educate them into an understanding of our principles and ideals.

It will treble the sale of Socialist literature in your community and make people more disposed to read the Socialist leaflets you distribute from house to house.

It will, if properly managed, place your local organization upon a sound financial basis, leaving after all bills are paid, a substantial surplus in the local treasury.

It will energize the Comrades, build up the party membership and win for you the best of the revolutionary political army many new recruits.

It will put hope into the working class, help roll up a big Socialist vote and prepare the way for victory.

Labor Press
By Agnes Thecla Fair

You have no power in the world so great as the sheet you daily buy.

You may build a press that would more than pay for itself.

For all, if you only try.

Only a nickel or dime, you say.

Then add to the power of your class.

If you will, think why not also think of the fellow who has the glass?

Not only the glass, but the brow tereis as made by the workers' hands.

The power you have you never will know, in a thousand separate bands:

The bread you eat, the clothes you wear, The songs that fill your heart Are but a sign in every clime. Some toiler does his part. For you may work in a foreign clime, Far across the sea, Remember the power your press may gain From those like you and me.

It is safe for Father Belford, or for anybody else, for that matter.

While such impossible powers are ascribed to individuals in politics it is folly to reiterate, as the capitalist press does after such an event has taken place as the murder of a President, that "assassination changes nothing." ARMAGEDDON

Or "The Swish of the Big Stick."

By ME.

By ARTHUR E. MARSH.

I'm the Cosmos' whole intention.
By my word:
I was first to draw attention
Progressward,
And I'm pledged to strict abatement
While I'm passing this convention,
For we stand at Armageddon,
And we battle for the Lord!

I'm the people's admiration,
All the while,
And of Heavenly approbation,
Why the smile?
But a fiery libation
Filled my head with inspiration,
Till it feels like Armageddon,
The' it rattles like a gourd.

I'm the great big buck Bull Moose:
I WILL RUN!
Tho' my wheels seem getting looser
Than my son (in-law's),
And I'll get a third term, too, sir,
For I'm going to cut loose, sir,
If they fall for Armageddon,
And my battle for the Lord.

I have chased the mountain lion
To his den,
Shot a Spaniard's back, while flying
From my men,
Still, to please the trusts, I'm tryin'
Just to keep our fat a-fryin'
Till they hand, at Armageddon,
Out a fat and juicy wad.

When canals require solution
Over night,
I can make a revolution
'Thout a fight;
But I'm needing abolition
For a certain contribution
Which I got. What? Armageddon!
'Ll have to stand it 'thout a word.

I'm opposed to domination
By a boss;
For I got the nomination
In the course
Of a splendid demonstration,
By tremendous acclamation,
As at glorious Armageddon,
We did battle for the Lord!

But a base, ignoble section
Of my foes
Dares to question the connection
Which I chose
When I made the wise selection
Of my backers. Such objection
I can stand when Armageddon,
As our battle cry is heard.

It will be a battle royal!
I'll be there
With my trusty, tried and loyal
Men to swear
That they've stacked the cards to spoil
All our long, expensive toil,
But we'll hand them Armageddon
And the short and ugly word!

I can prove it, if they try us,
On a bet!
In the Order Ananias
They will get!
For they're LIARS, and the plous,
Simple souls cannot deny us,
For they'll land at Armageddon,
Like dumb cattle in a herd.

I will be there
With my trusty, tried and loyal
Men to swear
That they've stacked the cards to spoil
All our long, expensive toil,
But we'll hand them Armageddon
And the short and ugly word!

The Court Supreme will never
Say me nay,
Nor with ME will they ever
Dare get gay!
They will hall me wise and clever,
Never seek to break their teeth,
For they'll think of Armageddon,
And remember I'M the Lord!

To a slaughter they'll be heading
On the run!
So don't spoil the news by spreading
All the fun,
Tis an ordeal they are dreading:
They're in trepidation treading,
Toward our band at Armageddon,
Armed to battle for the Lord.

But another bunch is bending
Steps this way!
'Tis the voting herd a-wending
O'er the lea,
To them messages I'm sending
Of devotion, deep, unending,
So they'll stand for Armageddon,
And for me, their mighty Lord.

I can talk more loud and faster
In a test,
Tho' I serve the self-same master
As the rest,
With a little old shin plaster
Of reform I'll longer laster
Than them all; at Armageddon,
They will scatter at my word!

For with strong determination
For the sight
I will plunge the whole damn nation
In a fight,
And, mid others' occupation,
I can chuck my usurpation,
And I'll sit at Armageddon,
On a horse, the only Lord!

When I'll master I will rule
With iron hand,
And then woe to any fool
Who dares to stand
For reform or starts to drool
Of a far Ultima Thule,
For I'll stand no Armageddon!
Since that battle I'M the Lord!

Then all parties Socialistic
Of persuasion,
Preaching notions anarchistic
On occasion,
Will be met with forces fistic
Or an end annihilate!
If they mention Armageddon
Or any other single word!

I will guide the evolution
Of the trust;
Have no silly prosecution,
Make them bust,
And the dear old Constitution,
When I reach my OWN solution,
Will be handed Armageddon,
And will answer not a word!

The Court Supreme will never
Say me nay,
Nor with ME will they ever
Dare get gay!
They will hall me wise and clever,
Never seek to break their teeth,
For they'll think of Armageddon,
And remember I'M the Lord!

So I'm must'ring all the cattle
For the fight,
For I know in every battle
Might is right,
And above the roar and rattle,
You will hear me prate and rattle,
For we stand at Armageddon,
And we battle for the Lord!

Why not get out on strike and
Our prosperous fellow men in naked night? Do they not hold man is made in the image of God? So we refuse to debase masterpiece of God. No longer we soil our limbs, those beauteous those wondrous limbs, with stinky filthy rags.

Where is the worm so low, who is the beast so wild, the reptile the bird so base in kind, that was not be insulted, shamed to wear garb like most of those that claim to be the creation's kings disgrace the bodier with?

If you be choked with our nudity, ye masters that refuse clothe your slaves, then give us the wool that we have shorn woven into cloth, the garments we made and that you stole to for ransom that we cannot pay,
We'll not be satisfied with castoffs; we want our own; we wish to get our own.
