MILL MANAGER FIRED ON UNION GATHERING

Blazed at Timber Men From Porch of Home.

SHOTS FROM OFFICE

Wives and Children Exposed to Whisky Crazed Gunmen.

FIVE WOMEN TESTIFY

Belton Men Only Returned Fire to Protect the Lives of Their Families.

LAKE CHARLES, La., Oct. 28.—

An effort to establish an alibi for John Helton, one of the defendants, and thereby in a large measure discredit the testimony of two of the State's witnesses who swore to Helton's participation in "acts of violence," occupied the defense today in the trial of President A. L. Emerson and eight other members of the Brotherhood of Timber Workers, who are accused of "conspiracy to murder," as a result of a clash between members of the union and whisky crazed gunmen of the Lumber Trust at Grabow on July 7.

In addition to the evidence offered in behalf of Helton, the defense continued to pile up testimony to prove its two main contentions, that the unionists went to Grabow by accident rather than design and with peaceable intent, and that the first shots were fired from the company office. Marzook Galloway, Sr., superintendent of the Galloway mill, stood on the front porch of his home, some 100 yards away from the seat of trouble, and fired into the crowd of unionists. Claude Peyton, a 19-year-old youth of rabid, sworn, Peyton, who was the last witness of the afternoon, was the most important of the day. He brought out many strong points for the defense and went through a grueling cross-examination at the hands of District Attorney Moore and Representative Pule, the State's attorney.

Peyton made the complete round-trip from Grabow to Deridder and back to Grabow on the fatal Sunday. He corroborated other witnesses as to Emerson cautioning the men to start no trouble.

"I arrived there in a buggy with Esell and Gerald," he said. Esell is one of the defendants. "Esell went home and Gerald and myself drove up to the commissary steps. While Hayens was speaking, McFetter and John Galloway got up and walked over to the office and went in.

"About five minutes later, when Emerson was speaking, two shots were fired from inside the office through the door, right in the direction of the meeting. The first shot was from a Winchester rifle."

The wives and daughters of members of the brotherhood took the stand to show that the union men had only when it was necessary to protect the lives of the women and children during the Grabow riots.

The testimony of the witnesses showed that women and children were exposed to bullets fired by employees in the Galloway mills and that the lives of innocent relatives who had gone to Grabow were endangered.

Juror Holland, who has been sitting in an invalid's chair while in court, was much improved today, and there is now no danger of a mistrial on his account.

The examination developed the fact that the brotherhood has a large female membership. Each of the witnesses said she belonged to the organization. The membership of women is said to be limited to the wives and daughters of members.

FIGHT OVER "LOTTERY MAN."

A suit by Mrs. Edith Ellis Furness, a divorcee, against Lee Shubert, the gambler, and Mrs. Rida Johnson, a woman, to recover $10,000 as her share of the royalties from "The Lottery Man," went to trial yesterday before Judge Justice Hochstetler. The plaintiff said she had an agreement with Shubert by which she was to act as stage manager at $100 a week and have a share of the royalties of any plays on which she collaborated. She said she devoted most of her time to "The Lottery Man," but that the defendants withheld royalties on it.

POLITICIANS IN MIDNIGHT SESSION PREPARE COMBINE AGAINST LONDON

The bustling campaign of the Socialists in the 12th Congressional District has grown to such proportions this year that Tammany is floundering with fear that its "grafting claw" will be severed.

Tammany is so frightened at the thought that the career of Henry M. Goldfogle, the Tammany candidate for Congress, the office which he has held for twelve years, is to end with the election of Meyer London, the Socialist party candidate, next Tuesday, that every effort is being made to avoid the "calamity" if possible. All means will be used this year to keep the Socialists out of office, and if fair means will not suffice, others will be used.

Finding that London will receive a plurality, all the capitalist politicians in the district are said to be concocting schemes to combine their strength. They recognize that London will be victorious in a four-sided struggle.

From indications during the past few days, it appears that Alexander Wolf, the Republican Congressional candidate, who is virtually an unknown factor in the struggle, will be "sacrificed" on the altar of capitalist politics, in a final effort to save the district to the representatives of the profit system.

A secret conference of politicians of the Democratic and Republican parties was held behind closed doors at the Cafe Boulevard, 16th street and Second avenue, late Sunday night. Present at this pow-wow of "sacrificers" were Samuel B. Koenig, former Secretary of State and chairman of the Republican County Committee; Judge Leonard A. Smithkin, Henry M. Goldfogle, the Tammany Congressman; A. Levinson, a Republican local politician; Edward Mandel, principal of an East Side public school, and Otto Schultz, another East Side politician.

The conference continued for over two hours, from 10 o'clock till midnight, but details of what was decided on were not given out. Some idea of what plan may have been concocted behind the barred doors may be reached by recalling what happened two years ago, when conditions were similar in the district.

On the day before election in 1910 the Democrats, seeing that they were weak, pulled wires and had Levinson, the Republican politician, appointed as deputy marshal by Mayor Gaynor. The appointment was said to be in payment for the swinging of Republican votes to Goldfogle, an dthe quiet "knifing" of the Republican candidate.

A few days ago Levinson, when confronted by London and other Socialists, admitted that the deal was put through two years ago, and that the votes were thrown to Goldfogle at the last hour.

That a similar deal was put through last Sunday evening at the Cafe Boulevard is freely predicted throughout the district and all the voters are watching all moves on the part of the capitalist politicians to see how soon orders for the "knifing" of Wolf will be given out.

Goldfogle, who, despite his six terms in office, has done nothing for the workers who live in the district which he is supposed to represent, is making a last tour through the district and again appealing to the shop keepers and peddlers to vote for him.

One of his lieutenants admitted yesterday that they are not receiving so much encouragement as they had expected. In fact, that as the day of election is drawing nearer the chances of Goldfogle's re-election are becoming weaker.

ROWDIES BREAK UP SOCIALIST MEETING

MINISTER WON'T MEET FARLEY AS CARDINAL

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 28.—Dean Hart, Episcopal rector of St. John's Cathedral, declined an invitation to be present at a reception Tuesday evening in honor of Cardinal Farley, criticized the Catholic religion before his congregation Sunday and read the following statement:

"I do not care to recognize Cardinal Farley in his capacity as a priest of the Church of Rome, and if he does his duty he cannot recognize me as a priest. If I were introduced to him he would regard me only as an excommunicant. I do not care to place myself in that position, therefore I must decline to meet the cardinal officially. Privately, I should be glad to meet him as a man, not as a priest."

BOY MARRIES GIRL HIS FATHER WHIPPED

Macon, Ga., Oct. 28.—Declaring that he wanted to make reparation for his father's cruelty in whipping the girl, Vogt O. Dozier, son of W. S. Dozier, clerk of the Superior Court at Dawson, today secured a license to marry Essie Carter.

Dozier and Miss Carter were married at 9 o'clock tonight by Magistrate Burnett. The girl refused to allow a minister to perform the ceremony. Both Dozier and his wife say they will push suit against the elder Dozier for whipping the girl.

Young Dozier has been infatuated with the Carter girl for some time. The elder Dozier tried to separate them, but failed. Then he, with several friends, dragged the Carter girl from her home in Dawson, stripped her naked and whipped her unmercifully. The girl came near dying from the beating and Dozier's act was bitterly condemned. Recently Essie Carter brought suit in the United States Court for $25,000 damages against the elder Dozier, who is wealthy.

DEBS AUDIENCE PACKS GRAND RAPIDS HALL

(Special to the Call.) GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 28.—Three thousand enthusiastic socialists and their friends packed the largest hall in this city tonight to greet Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist party candidate for President. An admission of 25 cents was charged and every seat in the house was taken.

When T. K. Evans, the chairman, introduced Debs the audience cheered itself hoarse, and it was after repeated attempts that Debs finally was able to get a hearing.

The way that Debs directed attention to the evils of the present profit system had the full effect of wiping out the inherent wrongs of society by petty reforms pleased the audience exceedingly, and applause again and again interrupted the speaker.

Despite the admission charged, a collection was taken up which netted over $75.

Debs will speak tomorrow in Milwaukee, the city which put itself on the map by electing its Mayor two years ago, Emil Seidel, the present Socialist Vice Presidential candidate.

AUTO KILLS AGED MAN

Steven Stiechle, 78, of Shell road, Winfield, Queens Borough, died in the Flushing Hospital yesterday from injuries he sustained on October 22 when he was knocked down by an automobile owned by Richard Rochester, of Seventh avenue, Whitestone, and driven by Richard A. Diagnico, of 17 West 98th street, chauffeur for Rochester.

5 YEARS FOR COCAINE SELLER

James Wilson, of 109 Washington street, Brooklyn, was sentenced to serve five years in the penitentiary by Judge Faucett in the Brooklyn County Court yesterday following his plea of guilty on the charge of selling cocaine and heroin. He was a second offense. Wilson having served three months in Charleston Prison, Mass., less than a year ago.

SLAYER OF "WHITE SLAVE" HAS LONG RECORD AS GUNMAN

THOMPSONVILLE, Conn., Oct. 28.—During the two years that he made his home in this village and was employed in the local carpet mills, Joseph Buonomo, the confessed slayer of Jennie Cavallieri, the "white slave" who was murdered in Bridgeport, established a reputation throughout Northern Connecticut as a dangerous gunman.

On January 2, 1911, Buonomo first came into the local police limelight as a result of a revolver duel which he and Chief of Police Edward Bromage, of Thompsonville, who is now chief of police in West Springfield, Mass., engaged in.

IRISH SOCIALISTS AROUSE WEST SIDE

Invaade District and Held Successful Truck Meetings—Lots of Literature Distributed.

The first of the series of truck meetings inaugurated by Branch 4 of the Socialist party was a great success. Over 800 workmen filled the streets and overflowed into the little park at the corner of Clarkson and Hudson streets last night. It was a distinctly Irish crowd, and they gave the Socialist speakers a hearty welcome. They listened with the greatest interest and attention to the speeches of Robert Treat Paine, Patrick Donahue and John Mullen, Socialist candidates for Assembly from the 15th District. The audience heard some good straight talk from the Socialist Irishmen.

John Mullen was especially applauded when he spoke of the express, the teamsters and the garbage collectors' strikes.

"There are lots of you workers," he said, "who have learned solidarity in your labor organizations. You wouldn't scab for all the wealth of Rockefeller. Yet many of you are still political scabs, voting your employers' tickets instead of voting for the workers' party, the Socialist party."

The truck was decorated with red, yellow and Socialist posters and brightly lighted with Japanese lanterns. Eight members of Branch 4 had charge of the truck arrangements, and the distribution of literature. As the truck journeyed from one corner to another, one of the committee played stirring airs on a cornet which helped to draw the crowd. The driver of this working class band wagon had been blacklisted after the garbage strike last year, and as a result joined the Socialist party.

Two other meetings were held, one at Christopher and Bleeker streets, and the other in Abington Square. All the members of Branch 4 were enthusiastic over this form of campaigning and delighted with the response from the crowds. Large quantities of literature were distributed. The truck meetings will be continued all week. Tomorrow the first meeting will be held at 16th street and Eighth avenue.

MAN LEAPS TO HIS DEATH

Max Sadovsky, an operator, 45, of 100 East 114th street, committed suicide yesterday by jumping from the fire escape at the fourth floor of the Montefiore Home, 135th street and Broadway. The police took charge of the body, notifying the Coroner and the man's relatives.

WOMAN SMUGGLER FINED

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 28.—Alice H. Gaynor, a dressmaker of West 35th street, New York, was fined $150 in the United States Court here this morning. She was caught in an attempt to smuggle goods through one of the German lines docking in Hoboken and convicted here.

BULGARS CUT OFF TURKISH RETREAT TO CONSTANTINOPE

Porte's Soldiers Must Accept a Battle at Once.

ADRIANOPE DOOMED

Fall of Important City Imminent—Ottoman Troops Reported Rattled.

VIENNA, Oct. 28.—The military correspondent of the Reichpost, dating his dispatch from the headquarters of the second Bulgarian army and under yesterday's date, makes the important announcement that the Turks' retreat toward Constantinople has already been cut by the victorious Bulgarian army marching on the Ottoman capital.

Owing to the restriction of the railroad communication and the blowing up of the bridge at Toherk-pakul, twelve miles northeast of the town of Tcherliu, and only sixty miles from Constantinople the Turks can only avoid being totally surrounded by accepting battle.

This, adds the correspondent, will be the Turks' last fight. Their strength is estimated roughly at 160,000 men. The fall of the important city of Adrianople, the correspondent adds, is imminent. Some of the defenders may be able to reach the town of Demotika, to the south, but the retreat of the remainder of the garrison of 60,000 men is already cut.

The terrible losses sustained by the Turks in the recent sortie to the northeast of Adrianople have demoralized them, the correspondent states. "As an instance of this, one entire regiment laid down its arms without any resistance to the Bulgarians."

STARA ZAGORA, Oct. 28.—After a long bombardment of the Turkish fort at Kirikli, five miles from Adrianople, in which 2,000 Turks were killed, Bulgarians stormed the works today and raised the Bulgarian flag above it. The railroad depot at Kirikli was burned. This placed the Bulgarians in possession of another important point on the Orient Railway south of Adrianople.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Official dispatches received by the Serbian envoys here indicate that the Turkish troops are abandoning their positions in northwest Albania and are retiring to Monastir. In addition to the Turkish losses in the battle of Kumanovo, already reported, the Ottoman troops also lost eighteen howitzers and a trainload of iron bridge material.

A hundred Arnaut villages have surrendered to the Serbians. LONDON, Oct. 28.—George Higgins Moses, of New Hampshire, former United States Minister to Greece and Montenegro, has arrived in London from the scene of the Balkan conflict. On his way here he passed through Montenegro, and while in King Nicholas' country witnessed the first few days of the fighting between the Montenegrins and the Turks.

When interviewed today, the former American diplomat stated that he was not surprised by the Balkan allies' extraordinary progress. "From the heights surrounding Cetinje, the capital of Montenegro, it was possible to see the general movements in connection with the fighting between the Turks and the Montenegrins," said Moses. "The Montenegrins' plans worked like clockwork. Even if it had been a theatrical performance, the movements could hardly have been smoother. The things King Nicholas told me he would do he did almost to the minute. He is now at the gates of Scutari, and I suppose he will take it. What the Montenegrins have done the allies can do."

MAY COMPROMISE OIL LITIGATION

That there are negotiations pending for the settlement of the litigation between the Standard Oil Company and the Waters-Pierce Oil Company was practically admitted by the lawyers for both sides yesterday.

John D. Archbold was to have testified before Commissioner Jacobs at 37 Wall street yesterday, but the hearing was adjourned until Thursday morning at 11 o'clock by agreement of counsel.

Asked whether these repeated adjournments did not lend color to the compromise rumors, W. H. Gray, one of the Waters-Pierce lawyers, significantly replied:

"You may draw your own conclusions. With adjournments continuing over five ten days it certainly looks as if something is going on, doesn't it?"

MRS. BELMONT FREED OF DISORDERLY CHARGE

Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont, who appeared in Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday afternoon in answer to a summons obtained by Mrs. Alice Clancy, a dressmaker of 467 Fifth avenue, because of a misunderstanding in regard to a pie check bought by the latter in the Belmont suffrage lunch room on Friday, went away legally vindicated.

After listening to the testimony of six witnesses, Magistrate Connor announced that the evidence was insufficient to justify him in holding the defendant on charge of disorderly conduct and that the case was dismissed.

Immediately after the verdict Mrs. Belmont hurried out of the courtroom, accompanied by her counsel, Herbert Reeves, and followed by Mrs. Mary Morgan, superintendent of the lunch room; Grace Smith, who checks umbrellas in the lunch room; Mary Sullivan, who dispenses 5 cent desserts in the lunch room, and Florence Harmon, cashier in the lunch room.

INTERSTATE TRAINMEN NOT LIMITED IN SUITS

Circuit Court Judge William H. Spear, in Jersey City, yesterday decided that the New Jersey Employers' Liability Law, which limits the amount of damages that can be collected by an employee for the loss of life or limb is not effective in the case of accidents to railroad men on trains engaged in interstate commerce.

It was in the damage suit of John Grybowski against the Erie Railroad that the point was decided.

Judge Spear held that injured trainmen on interstate traffic can obtain as heavy damages as a jury sees fit to award under the new federal statute.

GUilty OF MANSLAUGHTER

15-Year-Old Boy Sent to Reformatory. Pleading Guilty. Peter Herma, 15, of Wallington, N. J., was arraigned yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Minturn and a jury on a charge of having killed his friend, Carl Becker. The boy entered a plea of guilty of manslaughter and was sentenced to the Rahway Reformatory for an indefinite term.

The Herma boy was hunting birds last December and fired a shot that struck Becker in the back. He will probably have to serve about a year and a half in the reformatory.

10 YEARS FOR MORGAN BURGLAR

After pleading guilty to having robbed the residence of J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., while Morgan slept, John Bernauer yesterday was sentenced to serve five to ten years in Sing Sing Prison. When arraigned for sentence by Judge Swan, in the Court of General Sessions, Bernauer said that he had been the helpless instrument of a burglar who hypnotized him and forced him to commit burglaries.

PROTEST AGAINST PROPOSED NEW TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 28.—The City of New York, through its Water Supply Department, made vigorous protest today before State Commissioner of Health Eugene M. Porter, at White Plains, against the proposed erection by Westchester County of a tuberculosis hospital at Croton Lake in the northern part of the county. A petition signed by 263 residents of Croton Lake and Yorktown, and a petition by the town Board of Health opposing the project was also submitted to the State's representative.

the water supply of Manhattan, because two streams which flow through the Griffon Farm, which is the proposed site, empty into Croton Lake and not far from the intake of the new Catskill aqueduct.

The Griffon Farm is near the country estates of a number of wealthy New Yorkers, and they are fighting against the proposed institution.

Attorney Clinton T. Taylor, representing Yorktown property owners, caused a lynch when he brought out that hundreds of automobiles travel over the State road close to the Griffon Farm, and that they cause the dust to fly so that the germs might be transmitted to many joy riders.

Andrew J. Provost, a sanitary engineer, and Dr. Herbert D. Pease, a bacteriologist, testified in favor of the site. Dr. Pease said he felt that sewage, of all kinds from the institution could be so treated that there would be no danger to the New York water supply.

Three Policemen Indifferently Watch the Affair.

BYSTANDER PINCHED

Bull Moosers, Encouraged by Officers' Attitude, Mount Box in Crowd.

AUDIENCE INDIGNANT

"Progressive" Whom Karlin Beat in Street Debate Last Week Leads Hoodlums to Fivokne Trouble.

That Socialist street meetings are not regarded as entitled to the protection of the "guardians of law and order" in this city became evident last night, when three policemen did nothing to prevent the Bull Moosers from breaking up a Socialist meeting which was addressed by William Karlin, Socialist party candidate for the Assembly from the 8th District, at the corner of Eldridge and Grand streets.

Instead of the real disturber being arrested, the affair resulted in the arrest of a Socialist.

Karlin was addressing an audience of about 2,000 persons when S. Bernard Tepper, a Bull Moose peanut politician, whom Karlin gave a knockout fight in a debate last week, with a dozen onhangers, deliberately attempted to create disorder in the meeting by shouting and loud talking. When asked to be silent, he started to insult Karlin and refused to be quiet.

Although there were three policemen present in the audience they did nothing to stop the disturbances. Karlin's warnings that he would hold them responsible for any trouble that might arise as a result of this interference was seemingly ignored.

Tepper, encouraged by the indifference of the minions of the law, instructed some of his followers to procure a dry goods box, and set it up right in the middle of the crowd. This they did, and Tepper, mounting the box, started to shout and gesture, and by his actions broke up the meeting.

Disturbers Unmolested. Although the attention of the policemen was directed toward the disturbers of the meeting, for some unknown reason they did not arrest Tepper, but instead arrested Jacob Kaplan, a laborer, of 137 Ludlow street, who was an innocent bystander.

Kaplan was taken to the Men's Night Court on a charge of assault, the charge being pressed by Tepper. The arrest was made by Policeman Gibbons.

Kaplan asked Magistrate House to postpone his case till today so as to enable him to procure counsel and witnesses. The case was postponed till 10 o'clock this afternoon. William Karlin will defend the prisoner.

Three indoor and eighteen outdoor meetings, all well attended and highly enthusiastic, were the climax of yesterday's work in the East Side Socialist campaign.

The meeting held in Great Central Palace, 90 Clinton street, was the most enthusiastic of them all, 500 citizens packing the hall to its capacity. This meeting was held under the auspices of the Reeler Makers' Union, which has endorsed the entire Socialist ticket.

The other hall meetings were held in Madison Hall, 162 Madison street, and Columbia Hall, 66 Sheriff street, while the street meetings were spread over the territory of the 12th Congressional District, where Meyer London and William Karlin run a strong chance of election to Congress and the State Legislature.

Many Speakers at Hall Meetings.

The speakers at the hall meetings were: Meyer London, William Karlin; A. Rosenberg, president of the Clock Makers' Union; Morris W. Chevaly, A. Blawie, general manager of the Clock Makers' Union; Schindler; Helen Marx, secretary of the Women's Trade Union League; I. Phillips; S. F. Kramer, and Abe Capps, candidates for the 12th District.

Truck meetings tonight will be held at East Broadway and Broadway and at West Broadway and Broadway. Speakers at these meetings will be: William Karlin, John Mullen, and John Mullen.

MINERS' CONVENTION HEARS CON FOLEY

Gains Admission to Hall Bearing Letter From James H. Maurer.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 27.—Con F. Foley, the Socialist candidate for Congress in the 12th District, made a speech here before the convention of the United Mine Workers of America.

Foley came into the convention bearing a letter from James H. Maurer, the Socialist member of the State Legislature, addressed to National Executive Committee member Martin Nash. Maurer had charged that Miles Dougherty, when he was a member of the National Executive Committee of the United Mine Workers, received a "present" of $1,000 from Andrew Carnegie.

Maurer waited for several days for an opportunity to appear before the convention to substantiate his charge, and when no such opportunity was forthcoming, he left with Foley the letter addressed to Nash, through which Foley was admitted to the convention.

Nash introduced Foley as the only Congressional candidate in the 12th District who is a friend to labor. When Foley was invited to the platform by President Fahy, Delegate McNamara interrupted Foley by declaring that he had denounced the leaders of the United Mine Workers. McNamara had reference to an incident when Foley, speaking in a schoolroom where there hung a picture of John Mitchell, made a disparaging remark in reference to it.

Foley asked McNamara if he had any other evidence to the effect that he was a union man except the union card he carried. He squeezed McNamara when he asked him to prove that he wasn't wearing scab clothing.

Foley then made a stirring Socialist speech to the convention. He referred to Congressman Lee, the present representative from the 13th District, and Congressman Donohue of Philadelphia. He denounced them both for their attitude on the Erdman Arbitration Act during the strike last April.

Foley is making a vigorous campaign and the prospects for his election are splendid. He has challenged his opponents to debate repeatedly, but they have consistently refused to meet him.

TAGGART THREATENS DIXON.

Objects When Will Irwin Says They Gamble at French Lick.

Nicol, Ansel, Lindsay & Fuller, lawyers of 31 Nassau street, sent the following letter yesterday to United States Senator Joseph M. Dixon, chairman of the Bull Moose National Committee.

"Mr. Thomas Taggart, of Indianapolis, has consulted us in relation to a bulletin entitled 'Taggart the Casino Boss,' which informs us you have caused to be issued from Progressive headquarters and in which he is charged with being the keeper of a gambling resort at French Lick Springs, Ind.

"This charge is unqualifiedly false, and on his behalf we demand that you cause an immediate retraction to be published. Otherwise Mr. Taggart will take such proceedings against you as he may be advised."

A similar letter was sent by the firm to Will Irwin, the writer of the bulletin in the Authors' Campaign Series.

WOMAN AUTOIST KILLED.

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, Oct. 28.—Mrs. F. L. Aisip, wife of a well known manufacturer, was instantly killed in front of her home last night while cranking her automobile. While in front of her machine it suddenly started up, knocking her under the wheels.

NEWSPAPER WRITERS WIN ITALIAN PAPERS

Newspaper Writers' Union No. 4 of the International Typographical Union made another advance yesterday when the publishers of L'Araldo Italiano signed an agreement granting all the demands made by the union. J. Vicario, the publisher of the paper, agreed to employ none but union men and pay the prevailing scale of wages.

This makes a total of three Italian newspapers having granted union conditions. The Bollettino Della Serra and the Giornale Italiano unionized their editorial departments some time ago. The officers of the union are now busy negotiating with the other Italian publishers about unionizing their editorial departments and speedy settlements are expected with all of them.

PRESSURE TO SAVE LIFE OF FELIX DIAZ

But President Madero Stands Fast, and Latest Rebel Leader Will Probably Be Executed.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 28.—Tremendous pressure is being brought to bear upon President Madero to exercise executive clemency in the case of Gen. Felix Diaz, condemned to death by court-martial on a charge of treason. Madero shows no signs of weakening. The most powerful influences in the republic are beseeching him to pardon the newest insurrectionist leader and nephew of the exiled President, Porfirio Diaz.

Secret Service men today captured Francisco Miramon, who escaped jail in San Antonio, Tex., three weeks ago. Miramon was arrested with Emilio Vasquez Gomez by United States operatives a month ago, charged with conspiring against a friendly nation, and was awaiting action by the United States Grand Jury when he escaped. He was captured here in a house which has been the rendezvous for revolutionists ever since the Madero-revolution against Diaz.

Miramon is the first of the insurrectionists that Madero has been able to lay his hands on since General Reyes was captured. He will pay the death penalty, without doubt.

President Madero has submitted to Congress a bill which has for its purpose the prevention of the publication of intemperate and false news in the newspapers of the country.

EDGAR TINEL DEAD.

Composer of "Franciscus" Was Director of Conservatory of Music.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 28.—Edgar Tinel, the composer of "Franciscus" and director of the Royal Conservatory of Music, died here today.

The composer was born in Siny, Belgium, in 1854. He received his musical education at the Brussels Conservatory, studying under Gaevaert, Brassin and Kufferath. A cantata won for him the Prix de Rome.

His oratorio "Franciscus" won him a reputation outside of his own country and attracted so much attention in England that it was produced at the Cardiff Festival in 1895. He was appointed director of the conservatory in 1906. He was the author of a book on the Gregorian chant, and among his compositions are the operas "Godoleva," "Katherina," a sacred opera, and several works for chorus and orchestra.

WANAMAKER WANTS TAFT.

In a second letter to the business men of the country on the political situation, John Wanamaker, in appealing for the re-election of President Taft, predicts that a great conflict with labor will be hastened if the tariff reductions indicated in the platform adopted by the Democrats at Baltimore are realized. He further declares his belief that whoever fails to vote the Republican ticket this year will league himself against the working-man.

FIND BODY IN FIRE RUINS.

QUINCY, Ill., Oct. 28.—The body of Mrs. Ellen Williner was found today in the ruins of her home on the Warren road, north of Quincy. The woman was 72 years old and lived alone. The report was common that she had considerable money concealed about the house. The theory is given wide credence that the woman was murdered and the house burned to conceal the crime.

I. W. W. IS PROBING SMALSKY'S MURDER

Will Demand Several Arrests—See Parallel in Ettore Case.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Oct. 28.—The Executive Committee of the Industrial Workers of the World met today to decide definitely whether the organization would demand that District Attorney Atwell proceed against Mayor Scanlon, a prominent Catholic priest, and several well known Lawrence citizens along the same lines in which the State is conducting its prosecution of Joseph J. Ettore, Arturo Giovannitti and Joseph Caruso, who are now on trial at Salem as being "accessories before the fact" to the killing of Anna Lo Pizzo during the successful textile strike in Lawrence last winter.

Anna Lo Pizzo is alleged to have been shot by Oscar Benoit, a policeman. Benoit disclaimed responsibility for the death on the witness stand.

"The committee will rigidly investigate the killing of John Smalsky, the I. W. W. member who was beaten to death by some Lawrence hoodlums because he was wearing an I. W. W. button," said William Yates, I. W. W. leader, today. "Smalsky was beaten to death shortly after the Mayor and several other professional law-abiding Lawrence citizens had denounced the I. W. W. as a band of anarchists and that they should be clubbed out of Lawrence. It is amazing that the officials of Lawrence, who were so quick to act against those poor mill workers last winter, and throw their leaders into jail as accessories to the murderous shooting down of one of their own members, should have to be urged to take action now, when the shoe is on the other foot."

FLIRTING LANDS 2 IN WORKHOUSE

Magistrate Denounces Lads for Pursuing Girls, and Sentences Them to Thirty Days Each.

Peter Gusan, 18, of 1200 DeKalb avenue, Brooklyn, and Valentine Victor, 23, of the same address, were sentenced to thirty days in the workhouse on Blackwell's Island for flirting. Magistrate Conway, in the Gates Avenue Police Court, in sentencing the youths, said:

"You look like two respectable young men. You have no doubt that your parents are really respectable people. But you two, even with your fine clothes, are no better than a corner loafer."

The complaint against them was made by Bertha Bechter, 17, of 925 Flushing avenue, and Mollie Gegg, 17, of 919 Flushing avenue. They told the magistrate they were walking along Knechtbocker avenue when, near Hart street, the youths approached them, asked where they were going, and followed them, saying they would take the girls to the theater.

They could not get away from the two, so the girls appealed to an elderly man for protection. The man threatened the youths, but when they showed signs of leaving, in a few minutes the girls met Policeman Shields. After a chase he arrested Gusan and Victor.

"I admire these girls for their pluck in coming here. If other girls who are annoyed by loafers like these would come into court, they would soon check the loafers." Turning to the prisoners, he said:

"I'll send you to a place where you will be forced to work, where you will have something to occupy your minds, where you can scrub floors and wash windows. If you would do honest work, you wouldn't get into trouble. You'll go to jail for thirty days, and I will not give either of you the alternative of a fine. You'll stay in jail."

$1,000 FOR BROKEN FOOT.

Gets Verdict Against Construction Company for Injuries.

Agnes Flaherty, a young girl living in Greenpoint avenue, Long Island city, was awarded a verdict for $1,400 yesterday against the Onward Contracting company of the Ansonia Hotel. The case was heard before Justice Blackmar in the Queens County supreme Court, Long Island City.

Miss Flaherty was working for a milliner on October 17 of last year when she went to the hotel to deliver a bonnet. In walking down stairs she slipped on a board, she fell, landed, and was thrown downstairs, breaking the toes of her left foot.

"REMEMBER THE PANIC"—TAFT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Probably hoping to scare citizens into voting for him again, President Taft today made public a statement in which he declared that the "four years of depression which followed the second election of President Cleveland" were due to the promise of tariff reform and the Democratic changes in the tariff that followed. The President said that the issue before the voters is clear—"on the one hand, prosperity and real progress; on the other, a leap in the dark."

FIRE NEARLY CAUSES PANIC.

The bursting of an exhaust pipe in the subcellar of the seven-story factory building at 49-51 Elizabeth street, yesterday, started a fire that for a time threatened to cause a panic in the structure filled with 700 employes. The building was filled with the escaping steam in a few minutes, but the entire 700 left the building by the stairways and fire escapes in an orderly manner.

HUSBAND SHOTS WIFE AND DOCTOR

Crazed by Baseless Jealousy, Georgia Man Wounds Spouse and Fires Upon Physician, He Calls.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 28.—While crazed by baseless jealousy today, J. E. Walls, a prominent business man, fired two bullets into his wife's body, then summoned Dr. M. F. Matthews by telephone to attend the wounded woman, and when the physician arrived shot him soon after he entered the house.

Walls came home about noon greatly excited and began to make rambling charges of infidelity against Mrs. Wells. "I'll kill you now," he cried, and drew his pistol and shot his wife in the breast and in the thigh. Immediately after shooting her, he called Dr. Matthews over the telephone and the doctor responded at once.

As Dr. Matthews began to examine the wounded woman Wells cried: "Don't touch her," and began to snap his pistol at Matthews, who backed from the house. As he got out he was shot through the right shoulder at the collar bone. Mrs. Wells is at the hospital in a critical condition and Dr. Matthews is suffering from a bad wound, though not necessarily fatal.

Wells was arrested. He refused to discuss the affair other than to say: "I had cause."

MAC FARLAND HELD AS COUNTERFEITER

Allison Mason MacFarland, acquitted of the charge of murder ten days ago in Newark, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Shields yesterday, charged with having dies and partly completed counterfeit coins in his possession. Commissioner Shields orders him held in $5,000 bail in custody of Marshal Henkel pending the arrival from Newark of MacFarland's counsel, Frank McDermitt.

MacFarland was willing to talk freely of the charge against him. Instead of intending to make false coins, he says, he was at work on a scheme to copy expensive pieces of jewelry and was simply copying 50-cent pieces at the present time because of their intricate design.

RESUME JOHNSON HEARING.

Several Witnesses Called—Falconet-Cameron Proceedings Dismissed.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—The Federal Grand Jury resumed the examination of witnesses in connection with the Jack Johnson case this afternoon. Toots Marshall, manager of Johnson's restaurant, was the first witness called. He was questioned an hour. George Galley, doorman at the cafe, then went before the jury.

Mrs. Ada Banks, singer in Johnson's saloon, is on the program as the final witness. Mrs. Banks' husband has sued Johnson for $25,000, charging alienation of her affections. Her name was also connected with the rumors that Johnson had been shot.

A development in the Johnson case today was the dismissal of the proceedings instigated a few days ago by Mrs. Falconet-Cameron.

AMERICANS BOOZING HEAVIER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The use of whisky, beer and cigars has increased enormously during the first quarter of the present fiscal year, according to statistics of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

From July 1 to October 1 more than 3,000,000,000 cigarettes were consumed, an increase of 1,000,000,000 from the corresponding period last year.

The drinking public used up 33,150,000 gallons of whisky in the three months of July, August and September, which is a gain of 450,000 gallons over the same quarter last year.

In the same period 1,350,000,000 cigars were smoked, which also establishes a record.

A total of 19,500,000 barrels of beer were drunk in the first three months of this fiscal year, an increase of 300,000 barrels over the same period last year.

The increased consumption has, of course, swelled the internal revenue receipts. The receipts for October are $3,000,000 greater than for the same month last year.

SAYS McMANIGAL CALLED ON RYAN

Ex-Stenographer to McNamara Testifies They Had Conference at Hotel.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 28.—In the trial of the iron workers today it was submitted by the prosecution that President Frank M. Ryan, at headquarters, held a conference with Orville E. McManigal, the confessed dynamiter, during the time of the alleged conspiracy.

E. J. Cook, formerly a stenographer employed by J. J. McNamara, testified that McManigal called at headquarters August 25, 1910, and asked for McNamara. Told that the secretary-treasurer was away, McManigal was received by Ryan, the witness said, and spent an hour in Ryan's office, the door being closed throughout the interview.

Cook identified much correspondence, the case in which the government alleged J. B. McNamara carried dynamite, nitroglycerin and the alarm clock, and other exhibits.

Cook said that the association had "an emergency fund" to which were charged many of McNamara's big checks during the "thousand-a-month" period. He also said McNamara maintained a personal bank account on which he drew checks payable to Hokin, Frank C. Webb, of New York, and Howard McNabb, of Chicago, McNamara's brother-in-law.

The ex-stenographer also testified that McNamara at one time obtained a lot of information about firearms and ammunition, and he described a box one shipped from the union headquarters that had toys and children's clothes on top, but was so heavy that a truck was required to move it.

J. J. McNamara was a changed man after the Los Angeles explosion, Cook said, when asked how McNamara acted after that affair, and the answer was stricken out of objection by the defense.

Cook told of a telegram received at headquarters in December, 1910, from H. W. Leggett, indicted, of Pittsburg, asking McNamara if he could come to headquarters, to which the latter replied: "Come on, will meet you."

Superintendent Martin Hyland, of the Indianapolis Police Department, was recalled to the stand to continue his story of the arrest of J. J. McNamara and the police raids on the dynamite caches.

On cross-examination by Newt Harding, Hyland admitted that no government representative was present at the raid on the alleged dynamite stores of the Iron Workers, and said that all of his movements that night were directed by Burns and by Walter Drew, counsel for the National Erectors' Association.

W. H. Hart, clerk of a hotel at Lexington, Ky., told of McManigal's visit to Lexington on October 13, 1910, at the time when McManigal in his confession said he was on his way to High Bridge, Ky., to secure photographs of construction work which McNamara planned to blow up.

Hart testified McManigal had registered at the hotel as "William King, Cincinnati."

He then went to a nearby wood and hanged himself.

SHOT AT STEERING WHEEL.

Bullet Is Found to Be of Pattern Used by Government.

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—While he was at the steering wheel of a motorboat today, Barnet Hokenson was hit by a bullet which stunned him so that he fell to the bottom of the boat. One of Hokenson's companions sprang to the wheel, and when the boat reached the landing at South Boston it was found that the bullet is of the government service type for rifles.

It was probably used at one of the forts in target practice, having passed through a target and spent its strength before it reached the boat. Hokenson is in the hospital.

MANY SOCIALIST PARADES ON NOV. 2

Workers Will Hold Impressive Demonstrations All Over the Nation. Big New York Turnout.

New York will not be alone in its parade Saturday night. The Socialist press all over the country is publishing notices telling of the big processions to be held in cities from the Atlantic to the Pacific on November 2, as a fitting climax to the present hard fought campaign.

In this State Schenectady is down for the biggest and best Socialist turnout in its history. New Jersey will see scores of torchlight processions with thousands of working class voters in line. Hoboken is working hard to show up as the banner city in this direction.

Williamsbridge, which takes in the extreme northern belt of Greater New York, will have its own turnout. So will Local Queens, situated across the river. Marshals Becker, Froelich, Flanagan and Stehle will head 2,500 voters behind a big Debs banner and march through Ridgewood, Glendale and Evergreen.

John A. Wall, grand marshal of the big parade that will assemble near the Labor Temple, on East 84th street, Saturday, said yesterday: "The seven marshals elected at last Friday's conference will meet tonight for a final meeting. All signs point toward a big and impressive demonstration. Every Socialist should make an effort to be on hand early and bring some sympathizers with him so that the parade can reach Union Square in good time. Organizations will be assigned to their positions in the line tomorrow."

The downtown parade will gather around Rutgers Square and the Forward building. All reports indicate that it will blaze a way through the East Side that will be a record breaker.

MANY OVERCOME BY FIRE.

Watchman Falls to Stamp Out Factory Blaze—Spreads to Tenements. Instead of calling upon the Fire Department, a watchman in a fur skin dyeing establishment in Williamsburg early yesterday tried to stamp out a small blaze which he discovered in a skin drying box. The fire started in the four-story brick structure occupied by Basileth & Meakin, 17 Hope street. John Calvert discovered smoke coming from the second floor. He was badly burned.

DARING DAYLIGHT BROOKLYN ROBBERY

Thieves Enter Prudential Office, Bind and Gag Girl and Take $1,000.

A daring robbery was committed yesterday afternoon in a busy section of Brooklyn within two blocks of the Bergen street police station. Three men, without the aid of gun or mask and posing as employees of the telephone company, entered the office of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, 245 Flatbush avenue, east, after binding and gagging the girl employee who was there at the time, rifled the safe of about $1,000 and disappeared.

While two of the robbers were engaged on the inside, the third remained at the outer door so he could give the alarm if it became necessary. For fully five minutes his companions had made away with their loot, the lookout remained in his post. The lookout informed Mrs. Morely, of Holley Cottage, Bush Beach, who was coming to pay her insurance, that the girl who was endeavoring to attract her attention from the inside was crazy and that he was going for a doctor.

When Mrs. Morely took in the situation she began screaming hysterically. The outcry attracted Walter Rellly, an agent of the Prudential who was on the opposite side of the street. With a pocket knife he liberated the girl prisoner and took the rag from her mouth. She is Alice Brennels, of 373 Essex avenue, Brooklyn. Several detectives are engaged on the case.

The robbery was a well planned one. The robbers came on a day when Superintendent W. A. Adams was away and at an hour when a second girl employee was out to luncheon.

PROPERTY OWNERS PROTEST AT BUDGET

No More Cops, Cheaper Fire House Sites, Are Some Kicks.

Better protection and no increase in the number of policemen was the demand which Dr. William H. Allen, director of the Bureau of Municipal Research, made yesterday in connection with the proposition for 500 more policemen included in the tentative budget for 1913.

The trustees of the bureau protest against the proposed increase in the Police Department salary list at the present time, said Dr. Allen. They held that this is not a time to add to the number of policemen. We should have more protection, not more police.

We have reason to know from evidence just obtained as to the methods of selecting, promoting and rotating policemen that the adding to the force by these methods does not increase safety. We ask that there shall not be an addition of 500 new policemen to the force until further investigation has been made by the Grand Jury on the question of the police and until the hearings of the Aldermanic committee are concluded.

The protest was made at a hearing on the tentative budget held yesterday morning in the City Hall. The hearing, which is open to any citizen who does not like the allowances made by the Budget Committee of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, allied the Aldermanic chamber to the galleries. Many persons, including women, had to stand.

As soon as Dr. Allen had made his remarks about the 500 new policemen the Mayor, who was in charge of the hearing, said, "Fire Department," and the inquiry shifted to Commissioner Johnson's allowance.

Then Dr. Abraham Korn, representing the United Real Estate Owners Association, attacked what he termed the "motoring" of the Fire Department. He made as good or better time to nearby fires, he argued, and were less expensive. He complained also of the cost of sites for new fire houses. The site at 50th street and Lexington avenue where the city is finishing a new fire house cost $125,000, he said. A site two blocks away, he declared, could have been bought for $50,000.

On the request of the Board of Education for a $10,000 efficiency expert, Dr. Korn said, "What an awful admission on the part of the Board of Education and its superintendent; what an admission of inefficiency."

There were many assaults upon the allowance which the Board of Education intends to use for ungraded classes. Dr. Berk, of the Anti-Trust League, speaking on the allowance for subnormal children, said, "They are rushing in with philanthropic steps, where angels fear to tread. Since the people are taxed already by the State for the care of the weak minded it would be best for the State to do this work."

Appropriations for extra salaries of teachers for summer work were opposed and a long argument, led by John Purroy Mitchell, President of the Board of Aldermen, was started on a matter of Board of Education accounting. The Board of Education left a large sum nominally open for any purpose to which it was pleased to devote it, whereas the real purpose intended was to use it for salaries of more teachers. Mitchell, Superintendent William H. Maxwell and Egerton L. Winthrop, Jr., had it back and forth as to whether the Board of Education should have had a clear position in the beginning.

James Greelman, president of the Municipal Civil Service Commission, said he had no official knowledge of a request for more policemen. About 140 men were on the eligible list already, he said.

Mrs. Scott, in charge of the Bellevue Hospital Training School for Nurses, said that more graduate nurses were needed. Many departments in Bellevue were dangerous and only graduates should go into them, and then on their own responsibility. The tuberculosis ward and the alcoholic ward were two departments which required graduates, she said.

U. S. AND ITALY TO AMEND TREATY

Alien Relatives Will Be Able to Bring Suit Here Where Kin Are Involved.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—As a result of diplomatic negotiations going on here for several months between representatives of the United States and Italy, a treaty is about to be concluded amending Article II of the present treaty of 1871, so as to give alien relatives of foreigners who have died in this country the same rights before the courts as are accorded American citizens.

Through the "favored nation" clause of existing treaties of general amity now existing between the United States and Italy, the amendment to the treaty with Italy will confer similar enlarged privileges upon the nationals of other nations.

A case which arose in Pennsylvania brought the question before the United States and Italy. An Italian subject riding as a passenger on a train was killed through alleged negligence of the railroad company. His widow, an Italian subject resident in Italy, brought suit against the company for damages. The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania held that as a nonresident alien she had no rights of action, and the United States Supreme Court affirmed this opinion on the ground that the treaty afforded merely protection and security to person and property rights in this country.

The amendment to Article II of the treaty with Italy will give to foreigners residing here the same degree of protection granted by any State or national law to a native, so that in the case of an injury to a foreigner his relative will have a right of action unrestricted on account of their nationality, and will enjoy in this respect all the rights and privileges to which citizens of the United States are entitled. Reciprocally, the same degree of protection will be afforded Americans residing in Italy.

HEBREWS WELCOME BRITISH LABOR MEN

Extend Fraternal Greetings of Socialist and Industrial Movements.

Fraternal greetings from the workers in the Socialist and labor movement of Great Britain to those of this country were extended by Robert Smille, president of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, and J. A. Seddon, organizer of the Shop Assistants' Union, fraternal delegates from the British Trades Union Congress to the convention of the American Federation of Labor which opens in Rochester on November 11, at a meeting of the United Hebrew Trades, 151 Clinton street, last night.

Both Seddon and Smille, who are Socialists and active members of the Independent Labor party, delivered greetings from the workers of Old England, and they were returned by Jacob Panken, Max Pine, organizer of the United Garment Workers of America, and B. Weinstein, organizer of the United Hebrew Trades. Hugh Fraigne, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor, thanked the assemblage for the hearty welcome extended to the British delegates and promised that he would continue to aid the Hebrew labor movement as he had done in the past.

J. H. Lavin, secretary of the District Council of the United Garment Workers, was elected chairman of the evening and after extending a welcome to the British delegates introduced Smille. He said that he was delighted to meet the delegates of the Hebrew Trades and convey greetings to them from the Old World.

Smille stated that he had the honor of being president of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain and represented 600,000 underground workers, the largest labor organization in the world. He gave a detailed account of the recent war of the British, Scottish and Welsh miners for higher wages and talked at length on the Minimum Wage Law.

Miners Fight Starvation Wage.

"Some time before the strike of the miners, they made a demand on the employers for a minimum wage," said Smille. "That is, they wanted to have a wage fixed so that at the end of the week the workers should know how much they were to receive for their toil. It is no uncommon thing for underground workers to work eight and nine hours a day for six days and at the end of the week to receive a starvation wage, and they wanted to have a minimum wage established."

"The labor party is represented in Parliament forty strong. Probably one-half of them are Socialists, but they all work as a unit on all measures. They also have a pledge not to support any of the capitalist groups in Parliament." When the employers failed to grant the minimum wage the strike was called. Nearly a million workers struck together with the blacklegs nor to break the strike, and until the last moment there was not a break in the ranks of the strikers.

"Though some time before the strike started, when Ramsay MacDonald introduced a bill to establish a minimum wage of 40 shillings ($10) for miners, the speakers of both the old parties argued that the government should not in any way interfere with the wages of the workers, yet after the strike was called they all got busy and passed that measure. We had not asked any one to interfere, but they saw our strength and they got busy."

Smille said it was a great victory for labor, and appealed to the delegates to continue their work in organizing the trade they represented. Without organization the workers cannot gain anything, and if the miners had not been well organized they would not have been in a position to force the passage of the Minimum Wage Law.

Plea for Industrialism.

He then made a plea for industrial organization and said the workers in England were bringing about closer relations between their various unions. The interest of the workers can best be served by amalgamation, consolidation or federations of trades, he said. He wound up with an appeal to continue the fight until the workers are emancipated.

Seddon then greeted the delegates and said he was an internationalist industrially as well as politically. "I know no creed or nationality and meet you here as fellow unionists and Socialists," said Seddon.

"No ambassador ever crossed the sea with such a good message as we bring you here tonight. We are bringing the message of peace and good will from the workers of Great Britain. The workers on the other side are beginning to understand that capital is against us all the time, and that they must have the means of production controlled by the workers."

"We also come here in the interest of international peace. The money spent for war and the maintenance of armies and militias is a shame to civilization. There is no hatred between the German and British workers, and yet the British statesmen are now getting up sentiment and are preparing for war with Germany. They are spending money for the preparation for the war that should be spent for the education of the workers," said Seddon.

Seddon concluded with an appeal to the delegates to work for unionism and Socialism and help in the election of working class representatives to the legislative bodies.

Panken said that passage of the Minimum Wage Law was a great service to the working class. He said the capitalist class was forced to recognize the power of the working class by the passage of the Minimum Wage Law. It was economic necessity that forced the passage of the law by the capitalist House of Commons.

Panken said that the workers of this country are beginning to take a lesson from their British fellow workers on the necessity of working class political action and that the Socialists will have at least eight representatives in the next Congress. He told the delegates that it was due to the presence of Victor L. Berger in Congress that the Woolen Trust was forced to yield to the demands of their 2,200 strikers at Lawrence.

Max Pine also said that the Minimum Wage Law was a great thing for the workers and declared the workers here could not have such law passed because even if the legislative body should pass it, they would be declared void by the Supreme Court. He said political action was a great factor, and that until the workers elect their own representatives and make the Constitution fit the life of the country, they cannot expect to have any favorable legislation passed. He related several cases where laws passed in favor of the workers were declared void, and said that only constitutions made by the workers themselves, such as was the case of the Colorado miners who adopted a rule not to work more than eight hours a day, can better their conditions.

B. Weinstein also greeted the workers and told the British delegates that the delegates to the Hebrew Trades were mostly Socialists, but they were called Hebrews merely because they could do better work in organizing those who do not speak English. He told the delegates to tell the British workers that the American working class is waking up and beginning to recognize their own party, the Socialist party.

The British delegates were cheered to the echo, and before they left the hall Smille asked the delegates to the Hebrew Trades to give three cheers for the Social Revolution, which were given with a will.

MRS. MACDONALD TALKS TO ATTENTIVE CROWDS

More than 1,000 people stood at 4th street and Avenue B last night and listened attentively to addresses made by J. L. Kaufman and Marie B. MacDonald, Socialist candidate for Congress in the 14th Congressional District.

Mrs. MacDonald said in part: "Power for the Socialist party will mean power for the workers. Power for the workers will mean the end of power for the capitalist class to exploit the workers. The capitalists do not like this prospect very well. That is why they misrepresent us. This question of Socialism means as much to women as to men." She then told the male element of her audience that they have the power as a multitude to change conditions that do not permit women to express themselves in their ability to build and sustain the nation.

This meeting, as well as others that are being held on the East Side, was featured by the presence of many young men and women who seem to take an exceptional interest in the ideas conveyed by Socialist soap-boxers.

After closing the meeting, Kaufman and Mrs. MacDonald made a whirlwind automobile tour and spoke to large audiences at 4th street and Second avenue and 7th street and Avenue B.

Successful truck meetings were also held by Edward Meyer and A. J. Bundy at 13th street, corner Third avenue, and 10th street, corner Second avenue.

TWO KILLED, 36 HURT, IN COLLISION ON C. P. R.

TORONTO, Ontario, Oct. 28.—The Chicago flyer on the Canadian Pacific Railway, leaving here for the West at 5:30 this evening, collided head on on an hour later at Streetville Junction, twenty-two miles west of here, with a troop train of volunteers returning from the annual Thanksgiving Day sham fight at Milton.

The first car behind the engine of the troop train was telescoped, and every soldier aboard was injured. Privates Murdoch and McKensie of a Company, 48th Highlanders, were instantly killed and thirty-six others were injured, four or five fatally. The more seriously injured were brought to the Western Hospital here tonight. No one was injured on the express train.

RADICALS GATHER TO HONOR BERKMAN

Socialists and Anarchists Celebrate Appearance of His Prison Memoirs.

It was an interesting concentration of the tincture of revolutionary spirits that prevailed last evening at Cafe Boulevard, 10th street and Second avenue. About 350 men and women, anarchists, near-anarchists, and all kinds of Socialists gathered there at a dinner as a testimonial to Alexander Berkman, and celebrated the appearance of his latest book, "Prison Memoirs of an Anarchist."

Harry Kelly presided, and among those who delivered addresses were Hippolyte Havel, William English Walling, S. Janovsky, Marie Jennings Howe, Grace Potter, Elizabeth Freeman, the English suffragette, and Emma Goldman.

Havel declared that Berkman had an inspiration when he attempted to kill H. C. Frick, the Steel Trust magnate, some twenty years ago. He also added that Berkman sought to eliminate corruption by honest, but not Socialistic methods.

Walling, who followed Havel, asserted in the course of his address that anti-political and political revolutionists have about reached the time when it will be necessary for them to unite and put up a solid front against the master class.

In quoting Gustave Hervé, the noted French anti-militarist, Walling said: "The saddest day in the revolutionary movement was when Bakounin and Marx separated and it is to be hoped that the revolutionists of today will get together. Every Marxist and revolutionist looks with favor on the day when they will band together. The underlying difference between Havel and myself is a matter of tactics. But our final purpose is a common one and will always remain the same. We revolutionary Socialists are worlds removed from the opportunistic Socialists. They would like to put us out if they could. And we would like to put them out if we could. Nevertheless, I am glad to stand as an associate of Berkman and Havel."

S. Janovsky, editor of the Freie Arbeiter Stimme, a local anarchist organ, scoffed at the Socialists for laying emphasis upon the fact that economic circumstances mold the individual. He affirmed that individual development was all a matter of strength of will.

Emma Goldman, who was the last speaker, said if Berkman had not committed his first deed, that of trying to kill Frick, he would never have performed the second deed, which was the writing of his book. She closed her remarks by saying that if it were not for youth, the revolutionary act would never have been committed. "Only the young men and the young women," she added, "storm the world and do not give a hang."

CARS KILLED 24, HURT 5,877 IN SEPTEMBER

The summary of railway and street car accidents in New York in September, as prepared by the Public Service Commission, shows that twenty-four persons were killed and 178 were seriously injured. In September, 1910, thirty-seven were killed and 195 seriously injured.

One hundred and twenty-one persons were hurt in car collisions, compared with 161 in 1911; 1,436 were struck by cars; 737 were hurt getting on cars; 1,026 were hurt getting off; and 2,545 persons were hurt in car accidents, compared with 5,729 in 1911 and 5,439 in 1910.

Of those injured, 2,569 were passengers and 692 were employes.

BOY BURGLAR KEEPS MUM.

Will Not Tell Where His Loot Is and Is Committed to Cell.

Raymond Beck, the "choirboy burglar," was sent back to the juvenile asylum by Justice Ryan in the Children's Court, Brooklyn, yesterday. He still kept his lips sealed as to the whereabouts of the hundreds of dollars' worth of loot which he obtained from Brooklyn homes, and said that he'd get out of prison again before long.

He escaped from the Dot's Ferry institution Friday night after forging a tin pass check given only to trustees who do errands for the guards.

PLENTY OF ROSE AT FIRE.

Small Blaze Attracts More Than 3,000 "Star Gazers."

Three thousand men congregated on Broadway and 39th street yesterday and agreed that silk and not cotton hosiery is the real thing these days. This view followed an inspection of about a score of shapely women and girls who had rushed to the fire escapes of the seven-story Kaiserhof Building when a fire broke out in the basement.

The actual loss was only $25, but most of the sidewalk "star gazers" agreed they would have paid that amount for the show they witnessed.

TROLLEY KILLS JERSEY LAD.

Jumping from the rear of a wagon on which he was stealing, John Nadler, 7 years old, of Passaic avenue, Harrison, N. J., ran in front of a westbound trolley car on Harrison avenue near Dry street last night and was terribly mangled. He died fifteen minutes later. The body was taken to the Harrison morgue.

MARCONI LEAVES FOR TURIN. ROME, Oct. 28.—Guglielmo Marconi, the wireless inventor, who recently lost his right eye as the result of an automobile accident, left Spain, where he has been treated, today for Turin, where he will obtain a glass eye and undergo further treatment.

streets, Michael Rosenberg, S. Feldman and Rizer; Rivington and Cannon and Broome and Lewis streets, Kreichner, J. Carroll and H. Wolf; Ridge and Rivington and Stanton and Attorney streets, L. Langer, Marksheld and Kramer. Speakers will report at 234 East Broadway, at 7:30.

As election day is nearing, the demand for help becomes more imperative than ever. The newly elected East Side Campaign Committee, in conjunction with the Cloak Makers' Meyer London League, is doing its utmost to make the remaining days of the campaign as effective as possible.

Isadore Phillips, the manager of the canvassing bureau, is highly optimistic over the reports he receives from the army of canvassers that go out daily into the tenement houses and interview the citizens. But in order to make this work more effective and to leave no room for doubt as to the election of the Socialist party candidate for Congress and the Assembly, Meyer London and William Karlin, 3878 Phillips, this work must be carried on with a good deal more vigor and the number of men and women doing the work must be increased.

"If every Socialist and sympathizer," said Phillips last night, "could realize the great possibilities that lie before us on the East Side, I have no doubt that I would have more volunteers than I could handle. There is no longer any question of London's election—it is a foregone conclusion. Let every Socialist come down at least for one day this week and give us a lift and thus be able to feel that he or she has partly helped to release the East Side from the stranglehold of Tammany Hall."

No fewer than 20,000 persons in the 12th Congressional District during the last two weeks have received an assortment of Socialist literature by mail, according to Sidney Forgelman, who is in charge of the literature distribution and circulation. He told a Call reporter last night that at present a staff of twenty-five men and women are working overtime folding, wrapping, addressing and mailing out literature. Here, to say the least, we could utilize about a dozen more volunteers to help dispose of the tons of literature that are yet to be distributed.

YONKERS INDORSES CAR MEN'S FIGHT

Mass Meeting of Citizens Cheer Speeches by Union Leaders Denouncing Railroad President.

YONKERS, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Union leaders who addressed a mass meeting of 1,200 citizens, held in North Broadway here tonight to determine whether the conductors and motormen on the Yonkers and Westchester Electric railroads would have public sentiment back of them in the threatened strike to gain recognition of their unions, denounced Frederick W. Whittridge, president of the Third Avenue Railroad Company and its subsidiaries in this country, to the accompaniment of cheers from the crowd.

"Mr. Whittridge may be a great lawyer, but he is a novice and an incompetent in the street car business," said Charles Lang, president of the Yonkers union. "When we ask him to arbitrate our demands, he tells us we're his servants. We are not his servants. We are the servants of you people who pay your nickels on the cars, and he is your servant, too."

Petitions to be sent to Whittridge asking him to arbitrate were circulated. Mass meetings will be held again tomorrow and Friday nights.

The Yonkers Federation of Labor and the Building Trades Council have endorsed the trolley men's stand.

Second Deputy State Commissioner of Labor William G. Rogers, chairman of the State Board of Mediation and Arbitration, conferred with Whittridge today. He said that Whittridge refused to change his mind about arbitrating.

Mass meetings also were held at Mount Vernon and New Rochelle tonight.

KILLED WALKING ON TRACK.

Harold W. Durar, aged 19 years, of New York, was struck and killed by a passenger train on the New Jersey Central last night walking on the track to the Plainfield station, N. J., to take a train to New York. He had been visiting his father.

O'KEEFE SHADES MORGAN IN HARD FOUGHT BOUT

By JOHN J. HAYS.

Three good ten-round bouts enlivened the spirits of a big crowd of boxing fans which filled Madison Square Garden comfortably last night.

In the main event Eddie O'Keefe, of Philadelphia, outpointed Eddie Morgan, the English fighter, in a fast affair.

Morgan again showed the possession of a tough punch, but lacked initiative powers. He did his best work in the second and third rounds, staggering O'Keefe several times with heavy right and left swings to the jaw.

O'Keefe took the fourth round, keeping away from the swings and poking in left jabs that brought the blood from Morgan's mouth.

Bill Fleming, of Maine, and Jack Goodman drew in the first ten-round number. The pair had the sports yelling like mad at the pace they set and continued till the end.

Horace Fogel defies the National League. President T. J. Lynch of the National League received yesterday a reply from Horace Fogel, of the Philadelphia club, to the charges brought against him, growing out of Fogel's alleged statements reflecting upon the integrity of Lynch and the umpires under the latter's control.

While Lynch refused to discuss Fogel's reply, it was said last night that before the end of the week there will be sensational developments at present entirely unexpected.

In Philadelphia yesterday Fogel announced that he had called off all dogs for the purchase of his club and had made arrangements to proceed with his business affairs in the usual way.

ATHLETICS OFF FOR CUBA. Macken will play in South before reaching Havana. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—The Athletics left this morning for their trip to the South and Cuba, where they will play twelve games with the best teams on the little island.

Tramps About City of Auburn With Scarlet Fever—Room for Cows, but Not for Him.

AUBURN, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Gilbert Davis, 22, a young Englishman who has been in this country since February, 1911, was found walking the streets here while afflicted with an extremely severe case of scarlet fever.

Dr. Thomas C. Sawyer, the local health officer, who tried to secure aid for Davis, declared yesterday:

SOCIALISTS MEET STRONG OPPOSITION

But Elections in Minneapolis Likely to Show Heavy Increase.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 26.—In the last stages of the Minneapolis campaign all endeavors of the capitalist press and politicians are centered in defeating the Socialists. The ring politicians are striving in every possible way to defeat Van Lear for Mayor.

At once the capitalist dailies, editorially and otherwise, denounced the Socialists for trying to circumvent majority rule.

The newspapers, in the name of patriotism, called upon one of the two Republican candidates to withdraw, thus making a fight between the Socialists and their opponents.

T. B. Walker, the most class conscious of the local capitalists, is waging a campaign against Socialism. However, his mouthings against evolution fail to make an impression.

Each Sunday morning 50,000 pamphlets are distributed, one in every home in the city, by the Socialist organization, refuting some of the false and extravagant assertions of the capitalist press or teaching the Socialist philosophy.

R. R. ARBITRATORS AGAIN IN SESSION. The Arbitration Committee of Seven, which is passing on the demands of the University of Wisconsin, president Daniel Willard, Oscar S. Straus, P. H. FIRE COMMISSIONER JOHNSON ATTACKS CITIZENS' UNION

Declares President William J. Schieffelin Opposed Work of Bureau of Fire Prevention Out of Base and Selfish Motives.

In a letter from him to Mayor Gaynor which is dated October 25, but which was not made public until yesterday at the meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, Fire Commissioner Joseph Johnson makes William J. Schieffelin, president of the Citizens' Union, the object of a bitter attack.

Johnson charges that Schieffelin, actuated by base and selfish motives has sought to interfere with the work of the Bureau of Fire Prevention, through the exercise of the influence of the Citizens' Union.

The Johnson letter follows: The Fire Department has requested the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to double the present appropriation for the new Bureau of Fire Prevention for 1913.

Secretary Hammit is the same Hammit who, together with Mr. S. H. Ordway, of the Civil Service Reform Association, and a body called "The Committee of Safety," sought to discredit before the Board of Aldermen the temporary appointments made by the Fire Commissioner in the Bureau of Fire Prevention pending the Civil Service examinations for those places.

Here Johnson cites in detail the forty-two alleged violations by the Schieffelin company.

The charge made by the Citizens' Union was that Commissioner Johnson organized the Bureau of Fire Prevention with political incompetents recommended by Boss Murphy of Tammany and Boss McCooey of the Brooklyn Democracy.

There seems to be a motive for the opposition of this so-called Citizens' Union to the work of the Bureau of Fire Prevention. The president of the so-called Citizens' Union is William Jay Schieffelin.

These imminently perilous conditions were sure to exist by Mr. Schieffelin during all the months in which he has been criticizing and obstructing the administration of the Bureau of Fire Prevention; nor did he show any intention to correct them until forced to do so by a formal order of the Fire Department, disobedience of which brings upon him civil and criminal prosecution.

Editor of The Call: I desire to inform you of a matter of vital importance to our party in the forthcoming election, and which should have the thorough consideration of the Executive Committee and all the Comrades, to whose noble sacrifice and incessant labor we owe our ever increasing power, and who rightfully expect the results of their labor on ballots.

Editor of The Call: I have on various occasions spent a few idle moments at a clear store in the wholesale district, and on several occasions I was one of an audience of traveling salesmen who listened to the open boast of a young man, who is some sort of a Republican leader of the 8th Assembly, 9th Congressional District, during election.

Editor of The Call: In reference to the fact that there are Young People's Socialist Federations being organized throughout the States of New Jersey and New York, I would suggest that a conference should be held in order to bring the federations in close touch with each other and to decide as to whether it would be advisable to have a society emblem or button made for the members of all the federations.

Editor of The Call: I hate to take the valuable space of The Call, but I believe it is important to answer Comrade Lindgren. If the committee knew that more people would apply for admission at the Lyceum than could be admitted, as Comrade Lindgren states in his reply, why in goodness name did they not print tickets for each hall separately and not first bring the people to the Lyceum and then send them to Prospect Hall? It would have been all right if those two halls were near each other and not one half mile away from the other.

The members of Branch 7 will march in conjunction with International Painters' Local 1, Bakers' Union Local 305, Consumers' League of Harlem, from headquarters, 143 East 103d street, to 84th street, and will join the main division there. All progressive working men and women of Harlem are invited to take part in this demonstration and help make it a great success. The parade will start at 6 o'clock.

WILL RATIFY CANDIDATES.

A mass meeting for the purpose of ratifying the candidates of Branch 7 of the Socialist party, arranged by the International Painters' Union, Local 1, will be held on Thursday at 8 p.m., at Harlem Terrace, 210-12 East 104th street. Speakers, Meyer London, candidate for Congress, 12th Congressional District; Nicholas Aleinikoff, candidate 20th Congressional District. Samuel Benaim, candidate for Assembly, will preside.

PREPARES FOR BIG MEETING.

It will take 4,000 people to fill the New Star Casino on Sunday afternoon, November 3, and make the ratification meeting arranged by Branch 7 on that date worth while. It is expected that this will be an easy matter, considering the prominence of John Spargo, the main speaker, and the fact that he has not been heard in New York for a long time. The popular admission price of 5 cents makes it easy to sell tickets by the thousand. Come to headquarters tonight; there are thousands of leaflets, showcards and tickets waiting to be distributed.

TO HOLD JEWISH MEETING.

Branch 7 will hold a Jewish open-air meeting today at 99th street and Park avenue. Speakers, Brice, of the Jewish Branch; Meyer Weinstein, and Morris Steitzer.

Rand School Notes.

The Rand School is now making preparations to move into its new home at 140 East 19th street, and after November 1 all who wish to secure information concerning the winter's work or to register in the classes now forming should call there at any time between 10 a.m. and 10 p.m. during the week and between 1 and 5 p.m. on Sunday.

The classes for the winter term all open the week beginning November 10, which date will mark the usual social affair at the beginning of the Rand School season. It will be an occasion of unusual interest because it will not only celebrate the opening of the seventh year of the school's activities, but will also initiate the occupancy of a new home, a home well equipped with steam heat, electric lights and newly decorated throughout.

There is some work still left in sending out circulars and bulletins and a little help on the part of some of the old students will be greatly appreciated either afternoon or evening for the next few days. The preliminary registration of the new classes is very promising and it is safe to say that the activity of the school will be greater than ever before. The Rand School as an active center has been greatly missed during the past five months and hundreds of Socialists in New York and vicinity will welcome its moving back into a location of easier access.

All who have received little blue blank slips should be sure to send in a list of names of people whom it is important to interest in the Rand School courses. The school is the only institution where thorough study of Socialist and labor subjects can be made, and there must be hundreds of young workers in the vicinity who would be anxious to learn if they knew of the opportunity. Address Rand School, 140 East 19th street, New York City.

Union Hill.

Volunteers wanted at headquarters, 420 Garden street, tonight, to fold leaflets.

Irvington.

From present indications the town of Irvington, N. J., after November 5 will appear on the map along with Schenectady, N. Y.; Butte, Mont.; Berkeley, Cal., and other enlightened communities which have resorted to Socialist administration.

Irvington is laboring under a heavy burden of taxation and inefficient management of its government by officials, who, for a long period, have failed to qualify as the "thorough, practical business men" they prevailed upon the voters to believe that they were.

In this campaign there are five candidates for the office of Mayor, and in each of the three wards of the town four candidates for Councilman. As against the united stand of the Socialist party nominees on one platform, the candidates of the two old parties—"Progressive" party and the "Independent" candidates have for the first time proclaimed their individual "platforms" with which to fool the unwary voter.

All these platforms declare for the municipal ownership of the water plant, lighting plant, etc. These platforms are composed of material and ideas appropriated from platforms drafted and circulated for years by the local branch of the Socialist party.

The attention of the party members and sympathizers living in Irvington, Newark and surrounding towns is being directed to the splendid opportunity to elect the entire Socialist ticket for the town if they will get busy among their neighbors and friends and prevail upon them to vote for the local Socialist party candidates.

Socialists employed in Newark, Bloomfield and the Oranges will at once start an active campaign among their shopmates and acquaintances living in Irvington. The Irvington Socialist party will canvass their immediate neighborhoods tomorrow.

In 1810 Albert J. Lacombe, the Socialist party candidate for Mayor, was defeated by fewer than 200 votes with but one opponent in the field. In this campaign Albert J. Lacombe, the candidate for Mayor, has four opponents for the office.

The local candidates are: For Mayor, Albert J. Lacombe; Councilman, 1st Ward, Joseph J. Brown; 2d Ward, Fielding W. Mead; 3d Ward, Karl E. Olson.

Branch Irvington is in need of immediate financial assistance to pay the expenses of the campaign. Donations will be received and acknowledged. Send checks and money orders payable to H. Emmett Phelps, organizer, Branch Irvington, 41 Linden avenue.

show how Socialism was bound to come to the people, that the present conditions are a direct and natural result of the profit system, that the concentration of wealth, the combination of the money interests must be checked if the common people would come into their own and that this change in affairs and conditions must come sooner or later, either by a peaceful revolution or the most bloody revolutionary fight that the world has ever known.

The Socialist National Campaign Committee reports that it has taken an account of stock and discovered that although the accounts might have been closed even about a month ago, orders for tons of free literature are on file, to fill which will insure a considerable deficit in funds. It now looks for help in wiping out the deficit. Contributions can be sent to the Socialist National Campaign Committee, 111 North Market street, Chicago, Ill.
